The agents, representing the eleven fire insurance companies carrying the risk, met Mr. Maltby and the firm yesterday and the loss was adjusted to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, who refuse to state the exact amount. The insurance companies treated the firm with every consideration and allowed everything asked. The firm are very well pleased with the work of their adjusters, Miller & Maltby.

The companies carrying the risk are the Sun, of London, Globe & Rutgers, Norwich Union, Prussian-National, Stivesant, Home, of California, National, of Elizabeth, Nassau, Orient, Hartford, London & Lancashire. The Prussian-National, Stivesant and Nassau were represented by Herbert Buxton, of this city.

Acting to the terms of settlement, Wodhull & Martin keep their stock and the same will be placed on sale possible next Saturday. The clerks at the store are now busily engaged in arranging the stock for the sale. The firm is now prepared to receive orders for goods handle by them and orders can be left at the temporary headquarters in the Schepflin building.

NO CLUE YET.

But Police Are Looking for the Men Who Stole the Jewelry From A. C. Vail's Home.

No definite clue has been obtained by the police which will aid in any way to locate the thieves who on Tuesday evening made the large theft of jewelry at the home of A. C. Vail, of West Eighth street. The ground has been gone over minutely but nothing has been revealed.

Chief Kiely has taken steps to head off the thieves if they try to get rid of the booty by sending circulars to all the police departments in this part of the country. A detailed description of the ornaments is given and the pawnshops and "fences" will be closely watched.

HORSE WAS KILLED.

Now Francis Phoebus Wants Damages From Electric Light Co.

Mr. Phoebus claims $5,000 in compensation for personal injuries and for the loss of a horse.

The accident happened during a recent storm, the animal coming in contact with a fallen wire and the owner being thrown from the seat of the vehicle in which he was riding. William G. DeMeza represents the plaintiff.

NO CLUE TO RELATIVES.

Undertaker H. DeMott has placed the remains in his morgue. Friends are endeavoring to locate the dead man's relatives, all of whom are supposed to live in Poland. Marck left no papers, by which the relatives might be found.

THOUSAND AT MINSTREL SHOW

Concluding Performance Was Even Greater Success Than First Night of It.

HOPE CHAPEL PACKED.

New Jokes by End Men, More Verses to Thos. Muir's Topical Song, and Changes in the Olio All Added to the Enjoyment of the Programme—A Dinner.

It will require months to efface the spirit of minstrelsy from the minds of the West End youth and all on account of the minstrel show of the Young Men's Association of Hope chapel, the concluding performance of which was presented last night. The success of the first night was lost in the overwhelming reception which was accorded "Bones," "Tambo" and all their friends. Fully a thousand people were packed into the Sunday-school room of the chapel while several hundred went home because they could not get even so much as a peep inside the door.

It only took a few mintues after the doors were opened to fill every seat and then the aisles and all the vacant spaces were packed with people. As the evening was unseasonably warm and the programme rather long, the aisles were cleared a trifle before the curtain was rung down on the final sketch. There was, however, no difference in the enthusiasm of the audience which received everything on the programme with much evident enjoyment.

The opening was good, the chorus singing being particularly fine. Again Thomas Muir made a decided hit in his topical song "If I Only Had Been Born a Millionaire," for which several new stanzas had been turned out. They were as follows:

I would make our friend, Prince Hen, think he'd ought to come again,
If I only had been born a millionaire,
I would drive him up and down and I'd take him 'round the town,
If I only had been born a millionaire
I'd show him the City Park and the Boulevard
by dark,
If I only had been born a millionaire,
And I'd have the Omer Moore's give a party out of doors,
If I only had been born a millionaire.

Carrie Higgins, cruel one, nevermore would draw his gun,
If I only had been born a millionaire;
For I'd fix the pest house up for each poor and friendless pup.
If I only had been born a millionaire;
Soon I'd have a pack of hounds, each of which would know the rounds,
If I only had been born a millionaire:
Then I'd have an easy cinch and Vail's burglars
I would pinch,
If I only had been born a millionaire.

Chief Doane's heart I'd fill with cheer and he'd grin from ear to ear,
If I only had been born a millionaire;
For an engine house complete I would build on every street.
If I only had been born a millionaire;
And I'd buy the water, too, and the hose they squirt it through,
If I only had been born a millionaire;
And there'd ne'er be fire in town that we couldn't quickly drown,
If I only had been born a millionaire.

There were some new jokes by the end men and all their funny sayings appeared to take well. Some of the well-known people in the chapel were not forgotten in the distribuiton of "roasts." Matthew Sweeney told his famous "elephant" story with added gusto. Fred Dixon had another supply of regret from prominent personages who couldn't be present last evening. George Cose's song, "Everybody Has a Whistle Like Me," gained him much applause. John Cose made an excellent interlocutor.

Several minor changes were made in the numbers in the olio which added a trifle to its length. The comedy acrobatic turn was done by Clarence Pope, Wliliam Hickey and Frank Shepherd. On account of illness, Bert Hansen could not take part in this number. The Sherman brothers received a flattering reception. Jos. Loughead's musical selections were very good.

The sketch, which concluded the programme, furnished more cause for laughter. The young men entered in to the spirit of the parts and gave them with life and enthusiasm. It concluded a programme that was really worthy of much commendation.

When it was all over and the participants came back to earth, as it were, many words of praise for the excellent showing made came from all sides. Compliments were showered on City Judge Runyon, who acted as accompanist and coach and to

THEATRICAL.

The popular and successful musical comedy, "San Toy," which ran for almost an entire season to capacity business at Daly's Theatre in New York last year, will return to that theatre Monday, April 7. It is staged in two acts, the scenes of which represent a street in Pyna-Pong in China and the great audience hall in the Emperor's Palace at Pekin. The brilliant costuming of the Chinese and their quaintly artistic surroundings have afforded the scene painters excellent opportunities for the display of their art in this production, of which full advantage has been taken, with the result that, scenically, this piece has had few equals in the history of the American stage. "San Toy" is, in the main, a humorous story, involving Chinese and English characters. The lyrics, written by Percy Greenbank, Adrian Ross and Lionel Monckton, are especially attractive for their cleverness and brilliancy. The music by Sydney Jones has become unusually popular, even for an extraordinary successful production. The title role will be sung by Marie Celeste, who created the character in America. The part of Yen How, the Chinese mandarin, is sung by Geroge K. Fortesque. The principal comedy interest is exploited by Samuel Collins as Li, an eccentric Chinese boy who gets into all sorts of trouble and extricates himself with remarkable cleverness.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Plainfield City Council has crawfished on the bills consolidating North Plainfield with Plainfield. A few days ago that body adopted a resolution calling on the senator and assemblymen of Union county to oppose the bills. On Thursday night last, after a long discussion, they rescinded this resolution, and the senator and assemblymen are now at liberty to push the bills along.—Elizabeth Journal.

It is probable that Newark officials are unnecessarily alarmed over the prospects of Senator Francis's trolley freight bill becoming a law. Unless there has been a revolution in railroad sentiment upon this matter, there is little reason to apprehend any immediate danger of trolley lines being transformed into freight carriers. Nobody have heretofore regarded the bill seriously. and some irreverent newspapers have even gone so far as to intimate that it looks suspiciously like a "striker."

If trolley lines are to be given the privilege of transporting freight it can only be with rigid restrictions. It must be self-evident that railways whose lines traverse the busiest city streets cannot be given unlimited privileges in the way of freight transportation. The first object of trolley lines is to provide rapid transit for passengers. Any other use must be strictly subservient to this, and also to the use of the streets for other kinds of traffic. For fifteen hours out of twenty-four the trolley lines of Newark are today unable to accommodate the passenger traffic, and it is obvious that if they are to be given freight privileges the right of exercise must be confined to those hours of the night when there is little or no passenger traffic.

More liberality might be granted to lines penetrating the farming districts. Unquestionably the trolley would in this way be of almost inestimable benefit to the farmer, gardener and fruit grower, and there is no sufficient reason why they should be refused the advantages which it offers. Some means must be devised which will at the same time assure to rural communities the beenfit of quick and cheap transportation and preserve the rights of urban residents to the unobstructed use of the srteets. It is not necessarily an unsolvable problem.—Newark News.

WALLER EXPEDITION

Details of the Terrible Journey Across Samar.

NINE MEN CRAZED BY HUNGER.

For a Period of Fifteen Days Before Their Rescue the Party Had Been With Only Roots and Pulp of Plants For Food.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The eastern mail has brought the report of Major Waller on the famous expedition conducted by him across the island of Samar. Major Waller's reports are formal and do not go into details, but the news of the affair is contained in a report from Lieutenant W. R. Shoemaker, U. S. N., who conducted the relief expedition that succored the marines. After detailing the arrival in the American lines of Captain Porter and Lieutenant Williams, with a portion of the men, the report says:

"On Jan. 1, being then on half rations, with very little food left, Major Waller decided to split the party, he taking fifteen of the strongest men and pushing to Basey and Captain Porter following on his trail as rapidly as possible with the main body. On the 2d a native came back from Waller with a note stating that he (Waller) had given up the idea of getting through and would return and directing Porter to make directly for the river and build rafts for the entire party. This Porter tried to do, but failed to find wood that would float.

"It was raining hard at this time, and the river was about ten feet above its normal level and running with violence. As Major Waller did not appear, Porter sent Captain Bearss to him to ascertain his plans, then return and report. Bearss failed to return, but he reached Waller and went on with him.

"On the 3d, I think, Porter pushed ahead to get assistance with eight of the strongest men, leaving Williams to follow with the crippled and lame as far as the boat, secreted on the way up to be used in an emergency like the present. Porter reached the boat, but found she had been damaged and was unfit for use. So he started on a twenty-five mile 'hike' for Lanang, reaching there with three men on the afternoon of the 11th. Five men had given out; but, living on two dogs that strayed their way, they finally reached the post.

"The relief expedition under Lieutenant Williams, First infantry, on account of the height of the river, was unable to get away until the morning of the 14th. Williams deserves the highest praise for his twenty-five mile fight against the current and up the rapids, hauling his boats along by hand a good part of the way. It was not until the morning of the 17th that he reached the starving marines in their last stopping place, near the river. Their condition at the time was terrible. For days no man among them had strength to carry a rifle. Nine of them had either gone crazy or had fallen by the trail half dead from starvation and exposure. It had rained steadily for eighteen days. Lieutenant A. S. Williams had made every effort to get them along, but had to abandon them. He could only save the men who were able to reach the boat by the river, the probable point of arrival of the relief expedition. He got there on the night of the 16th inst., his party having been without food, except roots, the pulp of plants and a very few sweet potatoes, for fifteen days.

"Just before reaching the river two bearers tried to kill Williams, stabbing him about the chest with a bolo. He tried to shoot, but had not sufficient strength to pull the trigger. Then they tried to kill him with his own pistol, but did not know how to work the weapon. Williams was rescued by a few of his men who tottered up, armed with sticks, and the natives took to the bushes.

"It took practically all of Jan. 18 to get the sufferers, thirty-one in number, including two officers, eighteen in stretchers unable to move, across the river and out through the surf to the vessel. The job was finished at 6:30 p. m., and at 7 we started for Tacloban direct, as an army surgeon said at Lanang that an hour saved in transit might mean an arm or a leg to some. We reached Tacloban at 8 a. m., and the worst cases were at once transferred to the hospital.

"The others, including eight or ten natives not included in the above total of thirty-one, I transported to Basey, seeing Major Waller. His party appears from the statements of the officers to have been reduced to nearly the same extremity as the others. They had practically given up hope when the opportune capture of a small boy, the only native seen, resulted in their getting through to the coast."

MORE MEN GO OUT.

Twenty Thousand Now Idle In Boston.

EFFORTS TO SETTLE STRIKE FUTILE

A Conference of Citizens and Business Men Called at the Instance of Governor Crane — Freight Business at a Standstill.

BOSTON, March 13.—With 20,000 men idle, their ranks likely to be greatly swelled by sympathetic votes of the building trades council and the Boston Central Labor union, which meet tonight, and the entire city beginning to suffer from the effects of congested traffic, the only ray of light visible is the hope that the conference of business interests which has been arranged may lead to a settlement of the strike.

This conference, which is due in a large measure to the influence of Governor Crane, was arranged at a meeting of representatives of the Boston chamber of commerce, the Boston associated board of trade and the Boston Merchants' association with the state board of arbitration.

Everybody present realized the seriousness of the situation, and after an interchange of opinions it was decided that the best way of getting at public opinion would be to call a conference of the business men of the city, to which among others the presidents of the Produce Exchange, the Coal Exchange and of all the railways will be invited. It is also hoped that Secretary Easley and other representatives of the Civic federation may also be present.

During the day Governor Crane had a long talk with the committee of the allied transportation council having the strike in charge, but at its conclusion he announced that he could see no way at present of solving the problem. Later he sent for Mayor Collins, and the two executives were in conference for some time.

The railroad company against which the strike is chiefly directed, the New York, New Haven and Hartford, shows no inclination to ask for interference by the National Civic federation and reiterates what it has said from the first, that its duties as a common carrier are defined by law and that it is compelled to handle all freight delivered to it, whether by union or nonunion teams, and that it has no option in the matter. This position if adhered to by the company may result in the refusal of the federation to interfere in the quarrel, as it desires a request from both sides before taking up the matter.

Freight business at the various railroads, wharfs and docks is almost at a standstill, and the moving of accumulated merchandise is becoming a most serious matter to merchants.

The strike of coal teamsters is one of the most aggravating features, and its effect was quickly felt at hotels, restaurants and places having accommodation for only a limited supply of coal.

There is a movement to call out the hack and cab men, who since the strike of the Armstrong Transfer company's drivers have been transferring more or less baggage for passengers across the city.

The brewery employees will, it is said, be locked out by Friday if the strike continues, as the supply of coal on hand at the various breweries will give out by that time, and work will have to be suspended.

Denver's Invitation Accepted.

BOSTON, March 13.—The executive committee of the board of trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor met at the headquarters of the society at Tremont temple yesterday. Invitations to hold the international Christian Endeavor convention in Denver in July, 1903, were presented from the Colorado senate and house of representatives, the Commercial club, the board of trade and the Christian Endeavor union, and the invitation was unanimously accepted. The St. Louis union, which had previously extended an invitation for the convention, gracefully withdrew and indorsed Denver's invitation. Inspiring messages were received from Secretary John Willis Baer, who is making a 20,000 mile convention tour on the Pacific coast.

Molders on a Strike.

CLEVELAND, O., March 13.—Union machinery molders to the number of 500 are on strike to enforce their demand for a minimum wage scale of $3 per day. Eleven shops are idle. Should the strike be a protracted one several thousand men would be thrown out of employment. The molders have rejected a compromise offer of $2.85 per day and declare they are prepared for a long struggle.

Kentucky Bank Looted.

NEWCASTLE, Ky., March 13.—The Bank of Newcastle has been robbed of $4,500 in cash, a lot of jewelry belonging to Isaac W. Kelly, its president, and $500 worth of stamps deposited by the postmaster. Citizens were aroused, but were held at bay until the six burglars made their escape.

Aged Couple Killed.

BRIDGETON, N. J., March 13.—Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gardner were struck by a train on the West Jersey and Seashore railroad at Hardingville station, and both were killed. The couple were quite aged and lived on a farm near the station. Their carriage was wrecked, but the horses were not injured.

Rhodes Not Out of Danger.

LONDON, March 13.—Although hope continues, cables the Cape Town correspondent of The Standard, the breathing of Cecil Rhodes is frequently most difficult and labored, and all the dangerous symptoms remain.

LAKE YACHT RACES.

Lipton May Take His Challenger to Chicago In 1904.

CHICAGO, March 13.—President Furber of the Olympian games committee has received from Professor Cox of the United States weather bureau a report that may determine the matter of a great yacht race off Chicago while the Olympian games are in progress.

When Sir Thomas Lipton was invited by the Olympian games committee to be present at the games in 1904 and if possible bring the new American cup challenger over here to sail on the lakes, Sir Thomas said:

"If the difficulties can be overcome, I will show Chicagoans the challenger. If that is impracticable, I might consider building a boat for the special purpose of competing on the lakes. At first glance the problem of getting a boat of the size of the challenger through the canals does not appear so great as the Chicago committee fears. The pontoons on which the Shamrock II. was launched are still available and ought to carry it through."

Acting on this, President Furber started to work at once investigating lake data as to winds and depth of water. He has just received a report from Professor Cox which is extremely assuring. In closing the professor says, "I assure you that there will be plenty of wind and water to sail any races."

AMERICAN MINUTEMEN.

A Successor to the A. P. A. With Two Million Members.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Frank J. Batcheller of Boston, chairman of the national committee of the American Minutemen, has issued a call for a meeting of the national committee to be held in Boston Wednesday, May 21. The purpose is to perfect plans for a thorough organization and for an aggressive campaign in every state in the Union for the election of members of congress and other officials. Mr. Batcheller says that the American Minutemen is the successor to the A. P. A., which has passed out of existence.

In a statement the chairman tells of the causes which led to the disruption of the A. P. A., which, he says, was wrecked by politicians and others who used the movement for their own advantage. The American Minutemen was formed some months ago and has been growing quietly until now, it is stated, the membership has reached 2,000,000, with adherents in every state.

Doorkeeper Glenn Dead.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—W. J. Glenn, the doorkeeper of the house of representatives, died here at 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon from pneumonia following an attack of grip. He was thirty-nine years old. At the deathbed were a number of old Allegany county friends. Mr. Glenn leaves a widow and two sons. His remains will be taken to his home in Cuba, N. Y., this evening and will reach there shortly after 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mr. Glenn had been chairman of every delegation sent from Allegany county to state Republican conventions during the past seventeen years. He was a stanch supporter of Senator Platt. He was a member of the state Republican committee from 1890 until his death and of the state executive committee during the past seven years. He was a printer on a local newspaper at an early age and at twenty-one years of age started the Cuban Patriot, published in Allegany county, and has owned it ever since. This was his fourth successive term as doorkeeper of the house.

An Inhuman Guest.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., March 13.—Cornelius Jones has been sent to Paterson hospital in a dying condition as a result of a knife wound which, it is alleged, he received from Feride Meyhert, who was being entertained at Jones' home. It is also asserted that Meyhert during the quarrel threw an infant on to a stove, and the child will probably die. Meyhert was arrested at Goshen.

GREENFIELD, Mass., March 13.—The Franklin county grand jury has indicted Louis Bitzer, the Turner's Falls jeweler, for the murder of his clerk, Miss Ida Columbe, and of his son, Louis Martin Bitzer, on Dec. 31 last. Bitzer was not in court. No report has been received from the experts who were to examine into his mental condition.

TWENTY-ONE DROWNED.

Mississippi River Steamer Capsized by a Storm.

VICKSBURG, Miss., March 13.—The steamer Providence, plying between this port and Lake Palmyra, was overturned in the early morning by a sudden squall at Ione Landing, and twenty-one of her passengers and crew were drowned.

The dead: Captain William Cassidy of Vicksburg, master; Charles Roup of Vicksburg, chief engineer; Clyde Scott of Vicksburg, cottonseed buyer; Dr. N. A. Lancaster, a prominent physician and planter of the Palmyra neighborhood, and seventeen colored roustabouts and deck hands, whose names have not been reported.

The ill fated boat left here at noon on her regular trip, carrying a large miscellaneous cargo of freight and a number of passengers. Just as the steamer was entering Lake Palmyra a sudden wind and rain storm of cyclonic proportions came out of the west, catching the Providence broadside on. The little vessels was lifted almost entirely out of the water, her upper works blown away and the hull turned bottom up in forty feet of water. Most of the crew and passengers were asleep at the time, and only nine of the boat's company were saved. The property loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

Messrs. Cassidy, Scott, Roup and Lancaster were all married men and leave large families. A steamer carrying caskets and divers left for the scene immediately and will attempt to recover all the bodies.

A HORRIBLE CONFESSION.

Texas Woman Reveals Workings of Gang of Murderous Thieves.

BEAUMONT, Tex., March 13.—Mattie Bennett has confessed to Sheriff Lindley that she was at the head of a gang of negro women and white men who for months had been luring men into her house, drugging them, beating them and robbing them. If they died, the victims were dragged to the river and thrown in. If they were only stunned, they were taken out of the house to a remote part of some street and left for pedestrians or policemen to find.

A fear is felt that more than twelve men who have come to Beaumont and were afterward reported as missing have been murdered and that their bodies are now at the bottom of the river. In the last three months at least fifty inquiries for missing men have been received, and, while no one supposes that the gang has murdered so many as fifty, there is a fear that some of the disappearances are due to their work.

Five bodies have been found in the river since the first of the year. The Bennett woman was arrested Sunday on suspicion of being connected with the murder of Benjamin Pearson, one of the five known victims. She denies being guilty of this crime, but admits that one of the gang of which she is a member discussed the commission of the deed. On the strength of her confession a white man, "Punch" Prim, and a negro woman, Mary Jane, have been arrested.

A Brave Act Recalled.

BERLIN, March 13.—General Mechuen, who was British military attache at Berlin from 1877 to 1881, made many friends while here. Among the stories related of him is that upon one occasion when he was going to the palace to visit Emperor William I. in 1881 he jumped into the Spree and saved the life of a drowning child. The time required to change his clothes made him late at his audience with the emperor. For this he apologized, but did not give the reason for the delay. A few days later at a reception in the palace the emperor drew the British attache aside and pinned the Rescue medal on the breast of his coat.

Liberals Capture a Town.

COLON, Colombia, March 13.—Information was received here that Chiriqui has been captured by the Liberal forces. The Chiriqui district is extremely rich in cattle, and the isthmus actually depends upon that district for its supply of beeves. Recently, however, cattle have been brought to the isthmus from Cartagena. It is reported that during the attack of the revolutionists on Agua Dulce on Feb. 20 General Jose Antonio Ramiroz was killed. His death is deplored by the Liberals, as he was one of their best leaders.

Wants Chain Broken.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The postoffice department has been appealed to by a Miss Griffin of Australia to aid in breaking a "Daisy chain" which had been started by her to collect canceled stamps. The "chain" has grown to large dimensions, and the postoffice at which she is located has complained of being overcrowded by her mail.

Hay and Root to Rest.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Secretary Hay and Secretary Root have left here on the president's naval yacht Sylph for a few days' rest and recreation. The Sylph will cruise in Chesapeake bay and adjacent waters and probably will make a short stop at Fort Monroe. They expect to return by Monday at the latest.

Lamp Explosion Causes Fatal Fire.

ISHPEMING, Mich., March 13.—A lamp exploded at the home of Mrs. Marie Rankson in this city, and her daughter, aged thirty-eight years, was burned to death in the fire which followed. Mrs. Rankson and her three sons were also badly burned, but they will recover.

A White House Recital.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The president and Mrs. Roosevelt gave a largely attended piano, song and violin recital at the White House last night, beginning at 10 o'clock.

FOR NICARAGUA WAY

Senate Committee Decides to Report Hepburn Bill.

HANNA'S OPPOSITION IS OVERCOME.

The Measure to Be Reported Is the One Recently Passed by the House — Chinese Exclusion Bill Is Also Favored.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The senate committee on isthmian canals has decided by a vote of 7 to 4 to report the Hepburn bill providing for the construction of an isthmian canal via the Nicaraguan route.

When the recitation of the report had been completed, Senator Hanna suggested that probably the Colombian minister had been detained by untoward circumstances and proposed that action by the committee should be delayed until opportunity could be had to ascertain Colombia's position. This suggestion met with a strong protest from the friends of the Nicaragua route, and Senator Mitchell moved to report the Hepburn bill as it passed the house. Senator Kittredge moved to amend by postponing action until next Monday, but his motion was voted down—4 to 7.

Senator Mitchell's motion was carried by the same vote reversed.

The Hepburn bill authorizes the president to acquire territory for right of way for a canal from Costa Rica and Nicaragua, directs the construction of a canal of sufficient capacity to accommodate the largest ships from Greytown, on the Atlantic, via Lake Nicaragua to Brito, on the Pacific, under the supervision of the secretary of war; authorizes surveys of the harbors at the two ends of the route, guarantees the use of the canal to vessels of Costa Rica and Nicaragua and appropriates $10,000,000 for beginning the work.

The senate committee on immigration has agreed to report favorably the Mitchell bill for Chinese exclusion.

Again the ship subsidy bill occupied practically the entire time of the senate. Mr. McCumber (N. D.) presented a carefully prepared argument in which as a representative of an agricultural state he favored the bill on the ground of its protective features.

Mr. Depew (N. Y.), one of the members of the committee on commerce, delivered an elaborate speech, in which he analyzed the arguments both for and against the proposition to pay subsidies to the shipping industry. Both as an argument and as an oratorical effort the speech was brilliant and was listened to attentively by senators and by throngs in the galleries. His peroration, in which he pictured in glowing language the results of the operation of the bill, elicited hearty applause from the galleries.

General debate on the postoffice appropriation bill continued in the house yesterday, a number of topics being discussed.

Compromise Likely.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Overtures have been made for a compromise of the conflict over tariff concessions to Cuba, and there are evidences that the two elements will come together, probably on a proposition to have the 20 per cent reciprocal reduction apply for one year from next December and covering one sugar crop.

Would Vote For Beelzebub.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 13.—Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden in concluding the Lyman Beecher course of lectures on social economy before the Yale Divinity school took occasion to remark upon the difficulties that beset reformers in municipal politics. He attributed their chief difficulties to the dilatoriness of the best classes of people and remarked that the majority of moral people would vote for Beelzebub if he were the regular nominee of their party. Dr. Gladden favored less interference in municipal affairs on the part of state legislatures and a greater measure of home rule for the cities.

New Danish Ship Coming.

COPENHAGEN, March 13.—The Oscar II., the United Steamship company's new 10,000 ton vessel, has started on her maiden voyage to New York. The royal family of Denmark visited the steamer during the afternoon. The manager of the line, Captain Hein, is a passenger on board the Oscar II. and will preside at a banquet to be held in New York harbor on board the steamer in honor of the local authorities.

Half Holiday and More Pay.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 13.—The Allis-Chalmers company has posted a notice announcing that a half holiday on Saturday the year round will be given and that a 5 per cent increase in wages will be allowed to all men paid by the hour. The increase will about make up for the loss in pay that the half holiday will entail. It is about equivalent to a weekly half holiday with pay.

Chicago Building Collapsed.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Frost leaving the ground has caused the destruction of a new four story brick building valued at $60,000 here. The structure, owned by the H. J. Heinz company, was begun last December. Apparently sufficient calculation of the then frost hardened earth was not taken, according to the city building commissioner.

Charged With Smuggling Horses.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., March 13.—B. Demsy, a peddler, charged with smuggling horses from Canada, was captured near Raymondsville after an exciting chase by Deputy Marshal Smith of Ogdensburg and brought here. He was arraigned before the United States commissioner and held for the federal grand jury at Syracuse.

INVESTIGATE FULLY.

Very commendable is the action of the Councilmanic police and fire committees in deciding to thoroughly investigate the stories of rumored negligence on the part of city employes at the Babcock building fire. Such rumors have been heard on the street with increasing frequency since the day of the fire. It behooves the members of the Common Council to discover whether the charges are not well founded and thus clear the reputations of the city officials or find out just who was to blame and see that it is placed where it belongs.

Now that these stories have gained credence, there is no other way to effectually stop them than by thoroughly investigating the case. A more important reason, however, for such official investigation is to discover if it is true that the employes in any city department are not performing their duties as they should and, if such is discovered to be the cause, to remedy it without delay.

While no city department has conducted without criticism from some one, it has generally been supposed that the fire and police departments were of unusually high standard for a city the size of Plainfield. That is what the tax-payers are paying for and that is what the Councilmen have been trying to secure. If there is any defect in either of these departments, the sooner it is discovered and remedied, the better it will be for Plainfield.

However the investiagtion may turn out, the Councilmen can be counted on not to "whitewash" the record of any city official unless it is found that the evidence will thoroughly bear them out. If the fault is found to be with the system and not with the men, then the Council can be counted upon to act in the matter at once. But by all means let the subject be given the fullest investigation for it is not pleasant even to hear the suggestion that any city employes are even indirectly responsible for any of the great loss incurred at the Babcock building fire.

The result of the election in North Plainfield was fully expected. Only the most unexpected landslide could have turned the tide in favor of the Democrats. The men, who were elected to seats in the Borough Council, will without dobut serve the borough well. Robert Clark, Jr., has been tried there and not found wanting. He has been one of the most useful members of that body and his renomination was made at the solicitation of many who take no interest in political affairs but urged his candidacy simply on the ground that he was the man for the place. James K. Arnold is not an unknown figure in the Borough Council and, as he is in business in the borough, he promises to be of particular value in assisting to govern North Plainfield.

bill to permit trolley companies to carry freight. Mr. Hudspeth opposed the bill. He said trolley companies had already acquired great rights for ltitle or no compensation and offered an amendment that no freight station should be built on the public highways.

Mr. Cross offered a further amendment that no freight station should be built on city streets Mr. Hudspeth accepted the amendment, which was adopted. Senator Reed made a speech favoring the bill and making vigorous attack on steam railroads. Mr. Hudspeth offered a further amendment that the trolley companies should pay 5 per cent. of their freight receipts to the municipalities through which they run. This was lost.

An amendment by Mr. Gebhardt limiting the freight-carrying privilege to ten years was adopted. An amendment by Mr. Hudspeth prohibiting the carrying of freight Sundays and limiting the freight-carrying to the hours between midnight and 5 a. m. daily was lost. The bill then went to third reading.

The Senate passed the bill permitting the use of voting machines and the bill creating a uniform law regarding negotiable paper.

Senator McCarter introduced a series of bills for the codification of existing laws on marriage, divorce, justices of the peace and other subjects.

Committee Was at Fault.

The members of the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, at Watchung, desire The Daily Press to state that the failure in holding the recent anniversary service was the fault of the committee in charge. AID OF FOREIGN MISSIONS

ANNUAL MEETING OF WOMEN'S SOCIETY AT CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

Members Listened to Letters Telling of Death of Miss Rachel Mair—Election of Officers.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church held its annual meeting Tuesday afternoon. when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Samuel Milliken; vice presidents, Mrs. Humphrey, Mrs. W. R. Richards and Mrs. Lawrence Myers; secretary, Miss Scribner; treasurer, Miss Emily Tracy.

Miss Tracy, treasurer, reported the year's receipts to be $1,100, all of which except $50 was expended. The latter amount will be given to the Board of Foreign Missions.

An interesting and very touching feature of the meeting was the reading by Mrs. E. R. Taylor of letters written to Plainfield relatives telling of the last days and burial of Miss Rachel Mair, who was a missionary in Africa under the Presbyterian Board. These letters were written by Miss Foote and Miss Arms, co-workers with Miss Mair in Liberia. The meeting took the form of a memorial for Miss Mair and resulted in the advancement of a deeper interest for mission work abroad.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

There is much complaint on the part of the residents here and also of many others who have to pass through here, about the very bad condition of the road between South Plainfiled and Plainfield. In one place, above the bend at Chamberlain's corner, the condition of the road is simply deplorable. This is a veritable trap for all horses and vehicles, and especially so for those which have a load, if even a light one. Teamsters are continually getting stuck at this place, and they have to wait for some other teams to come up before they can get out again. What is worse, the road does not appear to improve any, nor does any one put in an appearance who ought to improve it.

Joseph Eckert, who now resides in Plainfield, having moved from this town only last fall, has been seriously ill with pneumonia for the past ten days. He is better now, however, so that he is up and about a little.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Patronize home industry by buying your cigars at M. C. Dobbins' store on North avenue. All his brands are made on the premises by experienced cigar makers.

There's all kinds of brushes, even those between horses, but there's nothing like those tooth brushes sold at the Plainfield Pharmacy, corner of Park and North avenues.

Frucht will comence his auction sale of high grade bicycles and sundries, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. This will afford you an opportunity to get a wheel at your own figure.

Have you noticed those neat tailor-made dresses and perfect fitting skirts offered by the Paris Cloak Company, of West Front street? They are made perfect in every detail and are guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Kirch's grocery, corner Liberty and Fourth streets, has the famous Red Shield brand of canned goods and grocery specialties. The largest and best line of canned fruits and vegetables can always be found at this store.

If you would know the latest styles in millinery, just what is going to be the fashionable style of hat for the spring and summer season, consult Bonn, of West Front street. He is an authority in these matters and can save you money.

R. H. Keenan, the East Fifth street grocer, is offering some bargains this week that admit of no excuse for not buying. He has always made it his policy to give the best goods at a price that attracts. Orders phoned will receive prompt attention.

One of the signs of spring is the increasing number of nobby turnouts on the roads these days. If you don't happen to own a handsome rubber tired vehicle, at a small cost you can hire such a one with a fine horse at the livery stable of Andrew Love, Jr., on East Second street.

It is simply astonishing what one can buy these days for a little money. A perusal of Daley Bros.' advertisement will convince you of the truth of this assertion. They are offering specials in every line well worth consideration. They keep a first-class grocery with a complete stock.

The display of fresh vegetables at Neuman Brothers is well worth looking at even if you don't intend purchasing. They have everything in and out of season and at prices that are reasonable. Tomorrow the list will include fresh tomatoes, Boston head lettuce, cauliflower, cucumbers and Brussel sprouts.

ACTING PRESIDENT.

Rev. Dr. G. H. Whitney Will Take Charge of Hackettstown Institute.

Rev. Dr. Charles W. McCormick, president of the Centenary Collegiate Institute at Hackettstown, has resigned his position to take effect April 1. The trustees have elected as president, Rev Dr. Eugene A. Noble, now general superintendent of Seney Hospital, Brooklyn. He will assume his office July 1.

Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney, president emeritus, who was president of the Insitute for twenty-six years, has been elected acting president to serve from April 1 to July 1. Dr. Whitney was the founder of the institution. He resigned his position on account of ill-health in 1895, and has since resided in Plainfield. The Institute was totally destroyed by fire October 30, 1899. It has been rebuilt at a cost of $250,000 with great beauty and elegance. It was dedicated December 5, 1901 and Dr. Whitney delivered the dedicatory address.

Arrested for Throwing Stones.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 13—Ed. Austin and Elias Condit, two youths who were in search of big game, pelted Simon Pellis' house so vigorously with stones, Monday, that Officer Koch thought it best to take these boys in custody. Justice Kitchen released each in bail to await the action of the next Grand Jury.

Jeremiah VanWinkle, Jr., as district deputy grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, has received his insignia of office from headquarters.

Practically Starving.

"After using a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure my wife received perfect and permanent relief from a severe and chronic case of stomach trouble," says J. R. Holly, real estate, insurance and loan agent, of Macomb, Ill. "Before using Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she could not eat an ordinary meal without intense suffering. She is now entirely cured. Several physicians and many remedies had failed to give relief." You don't have to diet. Eat any good food you want, but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will always digest it for you. L. W. Randolph.

News Notes from the Commercial and Industrial Centers of the World.

Boundary Dispute Settled.

CHILI, classed as the bully of South America, has effected a peaceful setlement of her boundary troubles with Argentina. The contention over the boundary lines between these two nations at one time threatened to result in war, and while both countries maintain that they have upheld the dignity of their positions, yet it is probably due to the fact that Argentina, in a diplomatic way, concurred in the claims of Chili, that war was averted.

The boundaries between the two nations was defined by the treaty of 1828 as the snowy summit of the Cordillera of the Andes. Until recently settlement had not advanced sufficiently near to this line from either side to cause the exact location to be brought into question. Within the past year or two, however, Chili, always more progressive than her neighbors, began the building of roads through the mountains and the policing of the country, and advanced into what Argentina claimed as her territory. She demanded an explanation of the so-called invasion in the usual South American way, and by so doing came near bringing on a war in answer to her brusqueness.

Diplomacy, however, came to the rescue in time, and now Argentina withdraws her claims under the guise of a misunderstanding of previous treaties, and Chili has won.

The territory in dispute is of but little value unless minerals should be discovered. It lies almost in the summits of the Andes mountains, and offers no inducements whatever to the agricultural settler. M. C. D.

Iron Mines in Siberia.

THE industrial development of Siberia is largely dependent upon her production of coal and iron, especially the latter, and the following data from an official report show that Russia's huge northern provinces do not lack rich deposits of this metal.

Of the numerous iron ore mines in the Urals, the largest are, first, the Komaroff mine, containing 1,600,000,000 tons of 50 per cent. brown hematite; and second, the Magnithaya Gora mine, which has not yet been fully developed, but is claimed to be the largest mass of magnetite in Russia, if not in the world. Among other rich mines in the southern Urals are the Baikal mines, which are believed to contain 5,000,000 tons of ore in the portions belonging to the government, and 16,000,000 tons in that owned by the Simsky works; and the Elnitchi mines, near Baikal, in which about 1,000,000 tons of ore have been discovered. It is claimed that the latter group of mines, lying to the south of the Tcheliabinsk-Ufa branch of the Siberian railway, will yield 2,400,000,000 tons of iron ore. The Vyoskaya Gora, Mount Blagodat, and Sindrsky mines are to the north of the same railway. Engineers report that the first contains 16,000,000 tons; the ore in the second was estimated at 6,400,000 tons when first examined, but upon reexamination was found to amount to 13,000,000 tons. No definite estimate was made concerning the last mine, as it abounds in pockets which sometimes come to an abrupt termination. It is claimed that the Ural mines are capable of producing 24,000,000 tons of ore, or about 10,000,000 tons of pig iron, per annum for the next century; but as this quantity of ore can scarcely be worked, even with the additional coal from the Ekibaz-Tuza and Sudjenka mines, the more conservative engineers reckon the output at 5,000,000 tons a year, at which rate the ore in sight will last 200 years.

SOME interesting figures have been collected regarding the wine production of the world during the year 1901, and are given here by continents:

Europe.—The French crop is given at 1,330,223,200 gallons, showing a diminution of 247,869,600 gallons, compared with 1900. The production of 1901 is 475,200,000 gallons above the average for the ten preceding years.

There has been an increase in the area devoted to viticulture of 12,093 acres in the past year, which gives a total area of 4,288,937 acres.

After France, the great producers of wine in the world are Italy, with 1,013,760,000 gallons in 1901; Spain, with 520,080,000 gallons, and Portugal, with 155,760,000 gallons. In Austria the crop was estimated at 116,160,000 gallons; in Roumania, at 87,120,000 gallons; in Russia, at 76,560,000 gallons; in Bulgaria, at 73,920,000 gallons; in Germany, at 60,720,000 gallons; in Turkey (including Cyprus), at 50,160,000 gallons; in Switzerland, at 31,680,000 gallons; and in Servia, at 23,760,000 gallons.

America.—Chili harvested, in 1901, 87,120,000 gallons; the Argentine republic, 55,440,000 gallons; the United States, 39,600,000 gallons; Peru, 36,960,000 gallons; Brazil, 12,672,000 gallons; Uruguay, 2,376,000 gallons; Mexico, 924,000 gallons; Bolivia, 660,000 gallons.

Africa and Australia.—Aside from Algeria and Tunis, which produce, respectively, 146,445,800 gallons and 4,488,000 gallons, the vine is not seriously cultivated in Africa, except in the islands owned by Portugal (Madeira given in a normal year 7,920,000 gallons), and at the Cape, which produces 3,168,000 gallons. Australia produced 8,316,000 gallons.

Asia.—Asia, which is the cradle of the vine, occupies a low place in the statistics, perhaps because Asiatic religions do not sanction the drinking of wine. Outside of Asia Minor the vine is not cultivated, save in Persia, where 765,600 gallons were produced in 1901. In China, an Austrian company has embarked in the planting of vineyards. They occupy a vast territory and several places are in full bearing. According to a French consul, the grapes are large and numerous, but they rot when the rains come and ripen too fast when the sun shines. The wine, too, is inferior, and must be mixed with that of Europe before being fit to drink.

There is a general crisis for wine growers, because of an overproduction in the entire world. J. C. C.

The Forests of Russia.

THE gradual deforestation of Russia is attracting increased attention throughout the empire, and the Forestry society, as well as the forestry department of the ministry of agriculture and domains, are discussing means for regulating the consumption of timber and for propagation. "Wooden Russia," as it is familiarly called, does not appear to be in any immediate danger, as a recent official report states that forests in this country now cover a gross area of 464,548,000 acres. Among European countries, Sweden comes next, with 44,478,000 acres of forest. In Russia the forests cover 36 per cent. of the whole imperial area. The Swedish forests occupy 44 per cent. of the total area, and the Austro-Hungarian 32 per cent. of the territory of the dual monarchy. Reckoned by the population, there are 4.9 acres of forest to each inhabitant in Russia, 9.5 acres in Sweden, 10.4 acres in Norway, and 0.69 acre per head in Germany.

The forests have a greater importance for Russians than for people of west European countries, as villages and country houses are largely built of wood; stone and brick houses being almost unknown, and the forests furnish the main sources of fuel supply. While the imperial committee complains that it is private owners who are recklessly devastating the forests and urging that adequate laws and regulations be enacted to prevent this, the Forestry society calls attention to the fact that, according to the official report of the forestry department of the ministry of agriculture and domains, the crown forests furnished a revenue of $9,064,000 in 1890 and $24,720,000 in 1899. It is claimed that this advance in nine years could not be due to the natural increase of timber growth, and it is urged that the government set an example in moderation. W. R. H.

The Boy and the Dime.

Capital does not necessarily mean wealth. As illustrative of its powers, the head of a great manufacturing establishment in Philadelphia recently cited this incident: "About a year ago a little fellow stopped me on the street and asked me for a cent to help him buy two papers, so he could start as a newsboy. I gave him a dime. The other day a neat little fellow caught hold of my hand on the street and said: 'Don't you remember me, mister?' I did not, and said so. He seemed surprised. 'I'm the boy you gave a dime to to buy some papers, mister, and I've had money ever since,' he said. The incident touched me deeply, and I believe it conveys a valuable lesson."

New Woman Works and Ways

HOW great a task the feminine sex has yet before it in the so called civilized United States is manifest from a set of resolutions passed by some male students of the so called civilized Columbia university, New York city. Under the wing of the university is one college for women, Barnard, and the faculty of Columbia recently gave to the girls one little evening in the week to learn to swim in the pool connected with the gymnasium. Youths of the male sex are sometimes notoriously crude, rude and callow, and the men students of Columbia lived up to this reputation magnificently. A number of them passed resolutions demanding the entire exclusion of women from the gymnasium and college campus during the school year. They declared the presence of women in the grounds "is a bar to that spirit of cordial fraternity," etc. Perhaps the Columbia males understand what they mean by this, but certainly nobody else can. It is a pity that women are ever born into the world, but since they are they must pull themselves together and make mightier effort than they have yet done to conquer a foothold for themselves in educational and industrial fields. They are strong enough to do it, and they will yet prove it even to the most boorish and ignorant white male ever graduated from Yale, Harvard or Columbia. Let girl students the country over make the most and the best of every opportunity offered them. Let them not yield an inch of the ground gained, but stand firm to their task, quiet, courteous, strong, not antagonizing the callow males needlessly, but developing all the power there is in themselves, making themselves splendid in physique and mentality, not talking overmuch, but doing, ever doing. The ancient emblem of silence was Læana, a tongueless lioness—silent, but a lioness. So let the girls face the brawling, blustering white males.

There is one dead sure way in which a girl can earn a living, and a good one. That is to make of herself a skilled cook and housekeeper. Half the disagreeableness of housework comes from the fact that those who perform it allow themselves and their kitchens and bedrooms to become and remain dirty. The kitchen girl who keeps herself and her belongings immaculately clean and neat must command respect. In the Atlantic coast cities the average wage of kitchen girls is $4 to $5 a week. On the Pacific slope the houseworker is paid sometimes as much as $10 a week, and he a Jap or Chinaman at that. There is not a self made millionaire in America who received at the beginning of his career so much as $10 a week and his board.

Housework is only degrading when the one who does it makes it so.

John Slonosky, a Pennsylvania miner, has more respect for woman's muscle than he had three months ago. He and his mates had annoyed the village postmistress beyond endurance by their importunity when there was no mail for them. Finally John Slonosky said openly that she did not know her business or else she would have had letters for him. Thereupon the lady snatched him up and hurled him through the postoffice door, whirling him whack against a telegraph pole, bruising him seriously before he knew what had struck him.

Princess Sophia Dhuleep Singh is proving herself one of the promising young medical students in the Chicago Northwestern university. In spite of being handicapped with the distinguished reputation of her royal ancestors, the maharajah of Lahore, her father, and Bunjeet Singh, her grandfather and the owner of the great Kohinoor diamond, the princess is quite a girl of herself, like a Yankee young woman medical student.

Under the new constitution of Alabama a man whose wife owns forty acres of land may vote, though he himself have not a cent's worth of property. Is this "forty acres and a mule?"

One of the most successful farmers in this country is Mrs. Eshleman-Sherman. Nearly twenty years ago, while yet unmarried, she bought 585 acres of land near Fresno, Cal. She began mixed farming, fruit culture, dairying and live stock rearing. She attended strictly to business until she had a splendid estate worth nearly $200,000. She won a premium for butter making at the California state fair and another at the Citrus fair for the greatest variety of products from one ranch and for the best oranges grown in the San Joaquin valley. Then, finding herself able to support a husband, she married.

Miss Isabel Little is a student at the Baltimore School of Mines, and a brilliant newspaper reporter says that at the close of her freshman year she stood at the head of a class "composed of seventeen young men besides herself." Miss Little chooses mining and electrical engineering for her branch of the profession.

"Young marster, you don't mean dey gointer tek up ole miss's chile?"

"I can't say positively. If I thought so, I would have her out of this city in six hours, and you with her."

"De kerridge come for me in er rush des fo' day an' we took up de doctor at es office on de way hyah. When we go in dere, Miss Frances settin' in de big chair shiverin'. "Is that all?"

"Fo' God!"

"Do you have any idea who the man that was shot is?"

"No, sah. Ain' hyah 'em mention es name nair time."

"Mammy, you have been blind if you are telling the truth, and I think you are telling what you know. Now listen: if you wish to remain with me after I am married do just as I tell you. Go and find your daughter's husband—what is his name?"

"Joe, sah."

"Make Joe tell you all about this affair. Get back at once and come to my room. Don't speak of this matter to anyone—don't say the man is dead. And quietly prepare to leave the city with your Miss Frances. If it becomes necessary to leave, we shall have no time to lose. Go; I rely upon you."

"Joe done gone, sah!" she said; "doctor done sont him up de kentry."

CHAPTER X.

Holbin received the negro woman's report in desperation. Upon the second night after, casting aside all scruples, he went to his mother's room. She had not retired, but was busy with her correspondence, which she put aside as her son entered the door. Without seeking to read them he saw "Washington, D. C.," upon several sealed letters, a fact that he recalled later. The smile of pleasure which lit up her severe countenance disappeared when she noted the look of anger and distress on his face.

"Well," she said, "are you still dissatisfied?" It was their first meeting alone since the death of John Brookin.

"Do not congratulate yourself too soon, mother. The game is but half played out, and we may find that strong cards are held against us."

"What do you mean by that?"

He walked the room, pausing at times before her as she sat in her armchair. Her black eyes followed him. Her white face was frozen into an impenetrable mask. He described the occurrences of the last few days, and made a clean breast of it all, reserving only certain facts in connection with his experience with Louise, among which was the existence of a child. These reservations he mentally classed as irrelevant.

It is not likely that Raymond's confessions greatly surprised his mother. She was, in fact, already familiar with most of his history. The disturbing elements of his statement were the dangerous character of Louise and the astounding circumstances of the shooting. Yet these drew from Mrs. Brookin no comment, no evidence of excitement or dismay. She regarded her son silently and sternly for a few moments, then dropped into a chair. A flush at length overspread her white face. Raymond knew that it was the advance wave of a tide of anger and hesitated when she ordered him to ring the bell. She arose calmly, and crossing the room pulled the bell cord as deliberately as though to summon her carriage. A few minutes after, during which time she stood rigidly looking down on her son, William, the butler, appeared.

"Go to Dr. Brodnar immediately," she said, "and tell him to come to me; that Miss Frances is desperately ill."

"Mother!"

She waved the servant away and turned upon her son with unrestrained anger. "Do you think that I fear him? Do you think that I shall sit quietly by and let him introduce people into this house—into my stepdaughter's room—in the night and entangle us in his plots? Oh, that I were a man!" She was now a caged tigress, and giving freedom to long-suppressed fury. "It would be nothing less than the cowhide!"

"You forget Frances."

"I forget nothing! I realize, on the contrary, sir, that both Frances and her doctor are at my mercy now. He dare not betray her! And this comes of your shameful dallying with that woman—you!—my son!—the puppet, the—anything, the slave of a—"

"Wait, mother! You forget yourself, at least—and me. I am not a child. A little more, and I shall leave this house not to enter it again. Be careful what you say—and be careful of Frances. Prove her guilty of any crime and you defeat your own plans."

No amount of pleading, no love or affection on the part of her boy, could have swayed the tempestuous woman as quickly as open defiance. In such moments he resembled the one human being whose fiery temper and relentless brutality had ever awed her. Raymond played his part well: "You shall not denounce me for one infamy only to link me to another."

"If you had shown such spirit with Brodnar," she said, bitterly.

"If I had! Words—blows—a duel! Then the truth would have come out. To accept the responsibilities of the will afterwards would be contemptible. No, mother, you women see but one side of such a matter. What would become of us should Louise make herself known? Start the police upon this matter, and they will ferret her out."

"Why have you not taken her away? You have been imprudent in delaying that."

"Nervous prostration. I have a nurse with her. To-morrow, if she may travel, I shall get her out of the city. For God's sake give me time to do that. You have no idea what you are risking."

"Doctor out, ma'am," said William, returning at this moment. "Young doctor say he will sen' 'im roun' des soon as he come back—dere now! front do' bell ringin' dis minute like somebody tryin' to pull it tru' de do'. Dat's de doctor, ev'ytime."

"Stand behind the portiere in my dressing-room," said the mother to her son, who was preparing to depart, "and under no circumstances let yourself be seen!" Almost immediately Dr. Brodnar entered the room.

"You sent for me, madam," he began. "Where is Frances?"

"Asleep, I suppose. I have been guilty of a fiction, but my intentions are good. Dr. Brodnar, who was the man you took from my house wounded, and for what purpose was he here? I demand an instant answer!"

"I decline to make any statement, madam, touching my professional business or to discuss this matter with you. Good evening."

"Hold, sir, or I shall place the affair in the hands of the police."

"Hardly, I think. But proceed in that way if you prefer. Good evening."

"You think that I am afraid of publicity; wait and see! I shall denounce you, sir, over my own signature. I shall make your name a football for scandal mongers in every town in this state."

"And how about your son's, madam? You desire above all things that Raymond Holbin shall marry your stepdaughter and inherit under the will of the man you coddled and bullied out of his senses. The name of the man who was shot I shall not tell you, but I will tell you the name of the woman who shot him—I thought you were the woman. I was mistaken, and for this error I owe you an apology."

"This is infamous!"

"I was mistaken, I say, honestly. For I thought that the woman who would retreat from her dying husband, appealing to her with his heart in his eyes, who would link an orphan girl to a libertine, might easily pull a trigger to remove a lesser obstacle." The woman rushed up to him with hands clenched.

"Scoundrel! If I had the weapon now I would prove your judgment! Out of my house!" Dr. Brodnar smiled wickedly.

"I was mistaken," he continued, coolly; "the woman who shot this unknown gentleman lies, half delirious, in room 28 at the Spotswood, and her name is Louise. And, madam, I will do her full justice; she erred in her information and her aim. For the man she hoped to destroy was this libertine, cashiered, swindling, cheating son of yours. Denounce me, but breathe a word against the fame of Frances Brookin, and I shall go before Richmond with my cause. Good even—"

FIRM FOUNDATION.

Nothing Can Undermine It In Plainfield.

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit and they cannot be blamed for so many in the past have been humbugged. The experience of hundreds of Plainfield residents expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation.

Mr. Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says: "I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time, or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid little attention to them. They, however, grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Something for the Sports and Athletes to Talk About

It is getting to be a "strenuous thing" to be a champion swimmer. The dignities of the honorable position in the aquatic world rest heavily upon some of the young men. Recently at a sportsman's show the management undertook to gather together some of the best amateurs—all champions in their respective classes—and give the patrons of the exposition the treat of seeing Amateur Athletic union contests.

Amateur Swimmers and Attendants.

"Come at once, we pay expenses," wired the director of aquatic sports.

"Must allow me regular expenses and same for my trainer," telegraphed one champion. "If I come you must pay expenses of trainer and valets" wired another. Needless to say that the men who wanted to bring a retinue as large as that which came to this country with Prince Henry were politely but firmly "turned down."

The champions are a particular set, it would seem. They dislike to be beaten. They must enter into preliminary training before meeting another champion. It is not consistent with their prominence in the athletic world to go near a swimming tank unless they have trainers, rubbers and attendants galore.

"Notwithstanding the luxurious ideas of some of these swimmers about the attendants to look after their wants," remarked President Liginger, of the Central association, A. A. U., as we watched the swimming races, "you cannot blame the champions. They get no pay for their services. They travel long distances to participate in championship events and all they receive for their victories is the usual gold or silver trophy or medal. I find that they are all amateurs under the ruling of the A. A. U. even if they take expense money. Schaeffer, Brewer, Leary, Wenck—all of the young men who give their time for the success of the swimming events of these shows—are out money on the propositions. They cannot make anything on the daily allowances of expense money permitted by the rules. Swimming is such an important art that every time you give high-class exhibitions of it you stimulate people to greater efforts to learn. Taken altogether, the appearances of the champions are of great benefit."

March 15, George Brittner, the oldest carver of billiard balls in the United States—there is no record of any veteran maker of the ivory spheres in Europe that antedates Brittner's—will celebrate his seventy-third birthday anniversary by giving a dinner to all of the old-time billiardists he can succeed in locating. Mr. Brittner has made billiard balls for every champion, every player who has contested in a championship, and for thousands upon thousands of other followers of the gentlemen's game for over a half century.

Oldest Billiard Ball Maker in U. S.

It was my pleasure to be invited to his ivory retreat not long ago to watch him select some rough blocks of African ivory, from which he was to make some sets of balls for Champion Jacob Schaefer to take with him to Paris for play in the games with Sutton and other kings of balk line. Those rough blocks had been "curing" down in a little close, stuffy room for many years, and were supposed to be proof against checking in ordinary temperatures. The unerring eye of the veteran selected the blocks needed, and in a jiffy he had one of them on the "chuck lathe" turning off the rough corners. By degrees the ball grew under his deft fingers. In an incredibly short period he placed in my hand a perfect sphere—as nearly round as the genius of a human being and turning tools could make one. The sense of touch is so acute in the old ivory-worker's finger tips that he can detect the slightest irregularity.

After the balls are turned, his skill comes into play in selecting "brothers and sisters"—balls of the same resiliency and life, weight and grain for the same set.

"Well, if you had been handling the turning chisel for more than 50 years you would have it down as finely as I have," said the old man, when I expressed surprise over his rapidity of working and the excellence of his work. "Mine is an exclusive sort of a profession. There are but few of us, and, anyway, if there were a hundred ivory ball turners, the champions would want the man who had been making balls for 50 years to turn out their spheres. Ivory is just as human in its properties as any inanimate substance can be. The turner produces a finished article, but the slightest breath of cold air is likely to throw his work out of plumb. Ivory is as perverse as a man. It does all sorts of unexpected things, and it is hard to keep it true. Substitute for ivory for billard balls? Well not while I live. There is no need of it. We get all the ivory we need from Africa—lots of it has been buried for many years—and to dethrone King Ivory would be to take a lot of life out of the game. I expect to make all the balls for the champions for many years to come."

This is the season of bench shows. Throughout the east the always popular exhibits of canine beauties have attracted record-breaking throngs, the quality and quantity of entries has been uniformly larger than in any previous season and the vogue of the Boston terrier has been established beyond contradiction. It was not so many years ago that a Boston terrier was a curiosity at a bench show. The Great Danes, the intelligent collies and the ever-popular, sad-eyed and sagacious St. Bernards—rough coats — enjoyed the major portion of the public popularity.

A Type of the Boston Terrier.

The fancier was in rare good luck if he found more than four or five good specimens of the shaggy coated Newfoundland dog; more than a pair of Russian wolf hounds; a specimen of the English sheep dog or a kennel of Airdale terriers. Great strides have been made in the breeding of Boston terriers. Since the days of Toney Boy, Champion Montie, Barnard's Mike, Buckley's Paddie, Welt's Ephis, etc., the Boston has become the pride of many enthusiastic votaries of kenneldom.

Why are the fox terrier classes so large? That is what is prompted by seeing the classes for the little dogs so well filled. George Whitney, well known as one of the best authorities in the kennel world west of the Alleghanies, recently told me that there was scarcely no market for fox terriers. Those who owned kennels had a lot of them on hand and showed them all at the nearest bench shows.

George Gould, who pays a great deal of attention to dogs, has been a frequent prize winner at eastern and western shows, does not care about the slump in popularity of the fox terrier, evidently. Both he and the less well known nominators in the east profess to believe that after the fad for Boston terriers has run itself out, the public will settle down to its usual admiration of collies, St. Bernards, fox terriers and the hunting breeds.

"Will the 'Welsh Rarebit,' Jimmy Michael, get enough to eat in France?" "What is the ordinary menu for the jockey in Loubet's land?" "How long will $2,500 last the little fellow abroad when meats are so high?" These and many other queries were asked when it was learned that the once famous middle distance bicycle champion had taken all of his worldly possessions and sailed for Havre with a group of American freelance jockeys to ride race horses in France.

Midget Michael at Dinner.

Michael is a good type of the thriftless athlete. It can be safely said that since he came to this country, heralded as the greatest wonder of the cycling world—the 97-pound cycling marvel—he has actually earned $200,000. Since last August the income of the diminutive Welshman has been twice as much as the salary of a cabinet officer for a year. Had Michael taken care of but a fair percentage of his earnings on the wheel he might have been independent now. As it is, the wheeling game is "dead," so far as making a comfortable living is concerned, and Michael has to resort to the precarious life of the jockey. Once he gave this a trial and met with indifferent success. Now it is a case of "have to" with him. Perhaps he will draw a grand prize abroad—he may win a Grand Prix—and then the volatile French owners will shower golden Napoleons upon him. Then he may return to the United States with as many trunks and valets as the inimitable Tod Sloan had after meeting his royal highness Albert Edward, now King Edward VII.

How did Michael, "Jimmy," the petite, almost feminine looking man, spend this large sum? Friends say it went in high living. It is no uncommon thing for the "Rarebit" to sit down to a dinner of more courses than he has fingers and to consume apparently enough food to bring his weight up 20 pounds. It is predicted by the followers of racing that he will have none of those elaborate feasts in France unless he makes the business of riding horses for the nobility a paying one.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Whittier Eagles will have a nine on the diamond this season.

The North Plainfield Juniors will place a nine in the field this season. This team did not lose a game in all its contests last year.

The baseball squad of the Y. M. C. A. is asked to meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Those wishing to join the nine should report at that time.

The baseball squad of the Plainfield High School was practicing yesterday afternoon for the first time this season. Pittis' field is being used temporarily.

It is expected that the team representing the Park Field Club will be composed practically of the same players as last year. The nine will play on the Rockview avenue grounds.

It is understood that the Leal's School will place no team on the diamond this season. Pittis field, which was used by the Leal's nine last season, will be the home grounds of the Plainfield High School team this year.

E. D. George, Jr., captain of the North Plainfield High School baseball team, had his squad of candidates out for practice for the first time this afternoon. The boys are using the old cricket field, which they hope to secure for the season.

WHIST.

The first game in the whist tournament arranged by the members of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, was played Monday evening. The play was under the direction of Arthur F. Freeman, one of the Park Club four, and it was a great success from the start.

There will be a prize every two months with the player finishing with the highest average score and a second prize for the player finishing second. No player can have the same partner for two successive games. Strong combinations are thus broken up and the weaker players have more of a chance. The next game will be played Monday evening, April 14.

The following scores were made at the first game:

North and South.

Hall and Reid	Plus 6
Saunders and Martin	Plus 4
Freeman and Buxton	Plus 2
Conger and Templin	Minus 12

East and West.

O'Keefe and Goss	Plus 4
Woolston and Littell	Average
Kenyon and VanWinkle	Minus 1
Pope and Osmun	Minus 3

BASKET BALL.

A game of basket ball between the Plainfield High School and the Hasbrouck Institute teams will be played at Jersey City tomorrow afternoon.

A basket ball game between the first team of the Y. M. C. A. and the Leal's School aggregation will take place in the former's gymnasium tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Quietly Married.

ANNUAL DINNER OF COMPANY K WAS GIVEN AT HOTEL PLAINFIELD.

Capt. Browning Acted as Toastmaster—A Few Invited Guests Present.

The annual dinner of Company K was held last evening at the Hotel Plainfield, and it was in every respect a most enjoyable affair. The full membership of the company was present and in addition there were present as guests, Councilman B. Frank Coriell and Clarence L. Murphy, Assemblyman William Newcorn, Collector Frank H. Smith, Freeholder William A. Westphal, L. B. Woolston, of this city, and Captain Wherley, of Somerville.

Captain W. Kempton Browning occupied the honor seat and was toastmaster. After a few introductory remarks by him, speeches were made by each one of the guests. These remarks were all of a congratulatory nature and the company was highly complimented for its fine showing and excellent progress in drilling.

There was some talk regarding an armory, it being an open question as to whether it would be better to have a detached armory or rooms in some other building. The matter was earnestly discussed and all agreed that the company should have suitable quarters. Among those who spoke in behalf of an armory was Sergeant Robert M. Clark.

The dinner prepared and served under the direction of Manager McConnell, of the Hotel Plainfield, was excellent, and all joined in complimenting him for the fine menu and service. It was about 10 o'clock when the company and its guests sat down to dinner and it was 1 o'clock this morning when the affair terminated.

Horse Was Injured.

A horse, belonging to John Hennessey, ran away on East Front street yesterday afternoon. It fell and injured its knee and also broke the shafts of the wagon to which it was hitched. Two young girls in the wagon at the time escaped uninjured by jumping out.

whose indefatigable efforts much of the success of the minstrel show is due. He had an able lieutenant in Alex. Muir as stage manager. His work was done well.

After the performance when the participants had shed their playing clothes and assumed their own complexions, the entire troupe, forty in number, was marched to Timbo's restaurant. Each forgot his fatigue during the disposal of an excellent meal and despite the fact that the young men had been constantly on the go for three days, when the inner man had been satisfied, an impromptu performance was given. There were a number of excellent solos rendered and the end men sprang a number of original jokes that caused roars of laughter even from the "professionals."

Cheers were given for everybody who had assisted in making the affair a success and there were a number of informal speeches. The fun ended at 1:30 o'clock and the troupe broke up for the last time.

GIRL WITHOUT A HOME.

Taken in Custody by the Police But Released This Morning.

Evaline O'Neil, an eighteen-year-old girl who admitted that she had no home, was arrested at 3 o'clock this morning, on East Front street by Patrolman Charles Flynn. She had been acting in a disorderly manner and the officer had watched her for some time before taking her into custody.

In the city court, this morning, Chief Kiely declared the girl made it a practice of walking the streets at all hours of the night and that she was wayward. The young woman made no defense but said she would go to her mother's home in Nyack, N. Y., Sunday, if she were allowed to go. On this condition City Judge Runyon continued the case.

MUCH INTEREST.

Exclusive Story of the Investigation Received With Great Interest.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the exclusive mention in The Daily Press of the investigation to be made by the fire and police committees from the Common Council, this evening. It is the purpose of the city officials to thoroughly investigate all matters relative to the big fire and ascertain who is to blame for certain deficiencies alleged to have existed. So far as can be learned the firemen and policemen welcome the investigation.

Annoyed Passengers.

The actions of a quartette of men, all wearing the uniform of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central New Jersey Street Railway Company, caused considerable annoyance to the passengers on the trolley car, which left Westfield for this city at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Their antics led some of the passengers to believe them intoxicated. When the car reached Terrill road the men got off and started to walk back to Scotch Plains.

New Treasurer.

At a meeting of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, held Tuesday evening at the home of E. T. Barrows, on West Eighth street, F. W. Yates was elected treasurer of the club in place of Jan vanHerwerden, who resigned owing to his recent change in business from New York to Philadelphia. At the meeting nine new members were elected.

On Duty Sixteen Years.

Stephenson R. Hope, the janitor of the Bryant school, yesterday rounded out his sixteenth year in that capacity and fittingly celebrated the day. He has held the position from a time even before the completion of the building.

Runaway on Somerset Street.

Isaac Winan's horse ran away at Watchung, this morning, and came dashing down Somerset street. It was stopped opposite Adam Fritts's house by Augustus Mobus. The wagon was entirely demolished.

Lost Her Pocketbook.

Miss Carrie Swope, of Somerset street, while returning from the minstrel show at Hope chapel last evening, lost her pocketbook containing a sum of money.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruptions. DeWitt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy condition and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Hooper, Albany, Ga., says: "I took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness. They were just what I needed. I am feeling better now than in years." Never gripe or distress. Safe, thorough and gentle. The very best pills. L. W. Randolph.

A social was held in the Friends Meeting house last evening and an enjoyable time was had. Fifty members of the society were there. The affair was held under the auspices of the social duty committee.

DEATH OF JOHN P. ALTGELD.

Former Governor of Illinois Stricken at a Pro-Boer Meeting.

JOLIET, Ill., March 13.—Former Governor John P. Altgeld, whose death occurred in this city yesterday, had not been a well man since the failure of the Globe Savings bank in 1896, in which he was involved. For some months after the Spalding crash is was feared that his life was only a question of a short time. Even when serving his last year as governor his health was none too good.

Mr. Altgeld was stricken at the close of an address delivered at the Opera House in behalf of the Boer women and children in the concentration camps of South Africa.

The stricken man was carried across the street to the Hotel Monroe, where he partly regained consciousness, but later he lapsed into unconsciousness.

In his speech Mr. Altgeld made a forceful plea for the Boer women and children in the concentration camps in South Africa.

The speaker said that the people of America had raised a large sum of money with which to relieve the distress of the Boer women and children, but were unable to send it to them because Lord Pauncefote, the British embassador at Washington, objected to it. He further charged that Lord Pauncefote had for years meddled in American affairs.

Ex-Governor Altgeld's career is an interesting study. Born in Germany in 1847, he was brought to this country when three months old, his parents settling near Mansfield, O. He received a common school education. At the age of sixteen he entered the Union army and fought until the close of the war.

The conflict ended, he went to Missouri, where he first taught school and then studied law, being admitted to the Missouri bar in 1869.

In 1884 he was the Democratic nominee for congress from the Fourth Illinois district, but was defeated by George E. Adams. In September, 1886, he was nominated for judge of the superior court and was elected the following November, holding his position on the bench until July 2, 1892, when he resigned to look after his private interests.

In 1893 he was elected governor of Illinois, serving until 1897. In 1899 he was defeated as independent Democratic candidate for mayor of Chicago.

HIGHEST STATE HONOR GIVEN V. W. NASH

Elected This Morning to the Office of Grand Master Workman, in A. O. U. W.

A SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

HAS LONG BEEN A PROMINENT MEMBER OF THAT FRATERNAL ORDER.

Well Known in This City Where He Has Large Property Interests—He Has Worked Hard to Advance Interests of the Order.

Vincent W. Nash, of this city, who was today elected Grand Master Workman of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, at the convention being held in Trenton, is probably one of the best known lodge men throughout the State. For a number of years he has travelled extensively from one end of the State to the other visiting various lodges. The new honors just bestowed come as a fitting recognition for earnest work. Much credit is due Mr. Nash for the success of the order he represents, for through his efforts the membership has been increased until today the order is one of the strongest in New Jersey.

The present membership in this State is 7,542, and the total membership in this country is 424,287. Since the organization of the two local lodges there has been paid out in death benefits a little over $40,000. The local membership is 375.

Mr. Nash was born in Brooklyn in 1844 and lived there until 1875, when he took up his residence in Plainfield. By trade he is a marble cutter, and worked at this for several years. When he first came to this city he continued his trade for a few years. It was twenty years ago that he was elected a justice of the peace and this office he had held ever since. He was re-elected each year without opposition excepting one year, when he received a larger majority that his opponent had votes.

Mr. Nash is a member of the following lodges: Long Island Lodge, No. 382, F. and A. M., of Brooklyn; Protective Conclave, No. 505, Improved Order Heptasophs, Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., Exempt Firemen's Association, formerly being a member of the old Gazelle Engine Company for over seven years. He is also past sachem of Paughcaughnaughsinque Tribe, No. 193, Improved Order Red Men, and for a number of years was a representative to the Great Council. He is also a member of Star of Plainfield Lodge, No. 25, Shepherds of Bethlehem, and a charter member of Columbia Lodge, No. 58, Ancient Order United Workmen.

Columbia Lodge was organized in 1893 and Mr. Nash was its first foreman. In 1895 and 1897 he was sent as a representative to the Grand Lodge and in the latter year he was elected outside watchman of that body. After that he was gradually advanced to every office in the State Lodge, filling each office with credit to the lodge and himself. Last March he was elected grand foreman of the Grand Lodge and his work has received the highest endorsement of every member.

In addition to being grand foreman, he was also supervising deputy and he faithfully looked after the interests of his district. In recognition of his services a handsome gold badge was presented him last year by the State lodge. In 1895, Columbia Lodge presented him with a gold badge as a token of esteem for the earnest work he performed in behalf of the order.

Aside from his lodge duties, Mr. Nash has been an active politician in the Republican party. In the Second ward he has also been active in politics, working for the success of his party. As a citizen Mr. Nash has always held the high esteem of all. He owns large property interests in the city and is one of the heavy taxpayers.

The Workmen, who have promoted him to the highest office in their order, have every reason to believe that the coming year under Mr. Nash's leadership willl be one of prosperity and increase in membership to the order. During the past few years Mr. Nash has devoted considerable time to the Ancient Order of United Workmen, much against the wish of his wife. She often complains regarding his absence from home, but Mr. Nash has worked hard in the interests of the order and has endeavored to make the lodge one of the best and strongest in the State.

GRAND MASTER WORKMAN V. W. NASH.

RELIGION IS MISREPRESENTED

LAST EVENING'S SERMON BY REV. MADISON C. PETERS.

Said That Religion Has Been Advertised Wrongly—Where the Mistake Is.

A fair sized congregation gathered at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last evening to listen to Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters. He was full of energy, declaring that whining sanctimonious Christians are a caricature on the genuine article.

After prayer by Rev. Mr. Short, and Messrs. Cuming, Watts and Harris, and a duet sweetly sung by the Misses Delia and Emily Runyon, the speaker said in part: "Religion has been advertised wrongly. The popular notion is, that from the moment a man becomes a Christian, he must bid farewell to every pleasure. This hard and thorny way of being saved, while seldom preached from the pulpit, is preached by the people in the pews, people who are 'in the snare and yellow leaf' of life. It is this joyless view of religion which makes children hate the weary name. If you want to turn your children against Christianity, surfeit them with severe religion.

"He is the greatest enemy of religion who would make it irksome and contrary to common sense. Most people talk religion in an unatural tone. The moment they change the subject and talk about anything else, they cease to moan, their faces light up like sun rise, and at once give the impression that they have come out of the irksomeness of religion, into that which is natural. This view of religion so inconsistent with the teachings of the New Testament, keeps many conscientious people out of the church.

"Christianity draws the line at the sinful things, at the things that harm. The Christian life is not a penance, it is a privilege. It is not a sepulchral thing, even though the walls of some of our churches are used as the back ground for undertakers signs. Christianity is not a hearse to carry out the dead, it is a chariot in which the living are to triumph gloriously. The Christian is enfranchised with a joy to which the worldling is a stranger.

"What joy can be compared to the consciousness of peace with heaven, the sweet hope of the blessed immortality and the gladness of reunion with the loved ones who have gone before. The moral strength and courage, which divine grace imparts, will do more to smooth the wrinkles of care from your brow, to give joy to your heart, sparkle to your eye, and elasticity to your step, than all the sinful pleasures and frivolous enjoyments of the world up together."

Tonight, the closing meeting will be held. It has been a great pleasure to listen to Dr. Peter's earnest eloquence, and if no results are secured, certainly the fault will not be the clerygman's. On Sunday he begins his work in Baltimore.

INVESTIGATION HAS STARTED

Councilmanic Committees Began Their Work of Investigating Conduct at Fire.

CHIEF DOANE TALKED.

Told His Story of the Babcock Building Fire in Detail—Committees and Other Prominent Officials Were Present—Other Meetings to Follow.

The fire and police committees from the Common Council, together with President B. Frank Coriell, of the Council, and Mayor Jenkins, met last evening in the Mayor's office, to investigate matters relative to the conduct of the city employes at the recent fire, as already reported in this paper. The officials realize that it will take several days to thoroughly investiagte the many questions that have arisen as a result of the fire. They are particularly anxious to learn something regarding the absence of water pressure the morning of the fire. It will be remembered that for over an hour after connections were made to the hydrants the pressure was insufficient and wholly inadequate to cope with the fire.

Superintendent Amos Andrews, of the water company, says that there is a pressure of seventy-two pounds at that point, which is sufficient to throw a stream to the top of the Babcock building. He says that he found the hydrants part way open when he arrived at the scene, and in some cases opened them full. This gave the full pressure. But by this time the fire was well on its way toward the lower floors. Chief Doane has already confirmed the statement made by Mr. Andrews, but he says that he sent competent men to the hydrants believing that they would properly attend to them.

The officials will examine singly those who had to do with the fire. Last evening Chief Doane met with the committee and he told the members his side of the story, which was in substance as told in this paper. He described more minutely the story, telling of the part he and his men took and how they fought the fire. The facts were taken and will form part of the complete investigation, which will be reported to the Council.

Others to be examined will be Superintendent Andrews, of the water company, and several firemen, who manned the hydrants. The police on duty in the business section will be asked for their story and anyone else knowing facts about the fire will be examined.

A representative for The Daily Press met President Coriell and Councilman Gloak, last evening, after the meeting, and they said as yet no conclusion had been reached. They said the committees would thoroughly investigate the matter and until then no charge or blame would be fixed upon anyone.

Those concerned in the investigation are pleased that the matter is to be taken up and many of the men can tell some things which will tend to throw light on the subject. Chairman Lee, of the fire committee, is in favor of regular fire drills. This he believes will correct in a large measure deficiencies that have heretofore existed.

Another matter that will no doubt be attended to in the future is the frequent testing of hydrants. In some cases there are hydrants that have not been used in many months and that regular inspection is necessary is proved by the recent fire, as it has been reported that one of the hydrants was in such condition that it could not be opened for some minutes.

FIRE SALE FOR SATURDAY

WOODHULL & MARTIN WILL DISPOSE OF THEIR GOODS.

Sale Begins Tomorrow Morning—Goods Damaged by Water Only.

Commencing tomorrow at 7 o'clock, Woodhull & Martin will put on sale the immense stock of goods in their store, consisting of dry goods, furniture, household furnishings, etc., which have been damaged by water only.

This will probably be the largest sale of the kind ever held in this city and everything must be sold at once at a great sacrifice. There are $25,000 worth of goods to be disposed of and there will be no end to the bargains offered.

The plan adopted by the firm is to allow only a limited number of people in the store at a time, as many as the clerks can conveniently wait on. They will then leave to make room for others. There will be no spirit of favoritism and in order to give the people of this city the benefit of the bargains, the sale has not been advertised outside of Plainfield. The carpet store for the present is located at 334 West Front street.

FIXING UP NEW SCHOOL LAW

MINOR AMENDMENTS AGREED TO BY STATE EDUCATIONAL AUTHORITIES.

One of Them Increases State Superintendent's Salary, and Extends His Term of Office.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 14—To partially meet the objections of Newark officials to the McKee bill, designed to take the place of the Stokes School law, the State educational authorities have agreed to one or two minor amendments in the measure.

One of these bills will allow school teachers in cities to be paid on a general payroll, instead of compelling the president of the Board of Education to sing individual warrants for each one. Another amendment agreed to will allow the school money to be turned over to the custodian in small amounts, upon requisition, instead of in a lump sum.

Chancery Clerk Stokes, the author of the former school law, says he did not see how the Board of Estimate provision objected to by Newark could be amended or eliminated, as he believed that provision to be one of the best in the act.

Several other amendments are said to have been agreed upon. One of these increases the salary of the State superintendent to $5,000 a year and lengthens his term of office from three years to five years. Salaries of county superintendents are also increased $500 all around, making the minimum $1,300 and the maximum $2,000, instead of $800 and $1,500 as at present.

President Hill, of the Newark Board of Education has been in consultation with members of the State Board of Education's Law Committee. He is said to have expressed himself as in favor of the Board of Estimate provision.

Two More for Children's Home.

The Board of Managers of the Children's Home met yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. Routine business only was transacted. Two applications for admission to the institution was granted. There are twenty-four children in the home at present, and the place is not large enough to accommodate more than twenty-six.

OPPOSES CHANGING OF THE COUNTY BOUNDARY

Boroughite Writes His Reasons Why He Believes Line Should Not Be Changed.

EFFECT ON SOMERSET.

DOES NOT SPEAK FOR OR AGAINST CONSOLIDATION SCHEME.

Some Suggestions as to Why This Method of Securing Greater Plainfield Has Been Followed—Borough's Part in County.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The strong stand which has been taken by The Press during the past few weeks in favor of the consolidation of the borough of North Plainfield with the city of Plainfield leads me to contribute a brief article to your columns. It is not my intention to deal now with the subject of such consolidation. I take it for granted that, if the Legislature should pass the bill providing for such a possible merger of municipalities, the referendum clause in the bill will be maintained, so that it may be voted upon directly by the people. It is entirely fair that in a matter of municipal government, whether concerning consolidation or any other question, the majority of the voters should decide the issue. This is democratic, and, whatever the result, must be abided by.

True, there has already been one decision on this subject by vote and this was overwhelmingly against the merger of the two municipalities. But if proposed to be taken again such procedure cannot be considered unfair. Nobody objects to such a vote at a proper time and way. I have no doubt that the same verdict will be arrived at when the second poll is taken, for various reasons which need not now be discussed, but for the purposes of this article this is neither here nor there. For, be the result on municipal consolidation as it may, the Legislature has undertaken, during the present week, to do something else, which is a monstrous proposition and at which it is time somebody rebels. The Assembly has already passed almost unanimously a bill, which has gone to the Senate, absolutely severing the territory of the borough of North Plainfield, with two-and-a-half millions of ratables, from Somerset county and attaching it to Union county. This has never been voted upon and is not to be voted upon. It is to be a theft pure and simple. Let us call things by their right names. A similar transaction performed as to personal property on the highway would be termed highway robbery.

Whatever the citizens of North Plainfield borough might say, after due discussion, upon the subject of merger of municipalities, there never has been a vote, nor an expression of opinion, favorable to the carrying off of this territory bodily from Somerset county, to which it has belonged since that county was created and organized nearly two centuries ago (about 1717), nor have the citizens of Somerset county at large been in any manner consulted. The territorial area of North Plainfield, now grown rich in taxable property as well as in votes, has ties connecting it with Somerset county—historical, financial and moral—which cannot be severed unless by somebody's consent who should have the right to consent. Somerset county itself must have something to say in the premises. It is a matter of honor that it be allowed to do so. It has expended money within the borough limits for bridges and for roads for more than a century and a half. It has created debts which North Plainfield township and borough are interested to see paid. The Legislature has no shadow of moral right, without tendering proper compensation to Somerset county, to take $2,500,000 of taxable property away from Somerset and hand it over to Union. It has no political right to do so, then, without the consent of the property owners of North Plainfield borough.

To carry out such a project without the consent of the territory concerned, and some fair understanding with Somerset county, is so bold and impudent a piece of larceny that it seems incomprehensible that anybody connected with the Legislature, or with the government of the city of Plainfield, or with the government of the county of Union, could be a party to it, and I do not believe these officials are, with open eyes. The scheme, which seemed fair enough on

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Rev. Madison C. Peters appeared here Wednesday evening in a borrowed overcoat. Thieves had entered his home in Brooklyn and stolen all his wearing apparel they could lay their hands on, but the divine was bent upon keeping his engagement at the Park Avenue Baptist church evangelistic services so he borrowed an overcoat. The strange thing about the incident is that at the time of the burglary, the clergyman and his wife were away identifying some silver which had been stolen from their home three years ago. On returning home they found that thieves had again entered the house and stolen valuable property.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Senator Reed has placed himself on record as opposed to the continuous and everlasting tinkering with the game laws. The Senator is right. All that our game laws want is to be repealed and then superseded by others which will shorten the opening season and protect the game, and they will be all right.—Somerset Messenger.

The New York and New Jersey Legislatures have passed enabling legislation which will make it possible for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to begin work upon its tunnel under the North and East rivers, crossing Manhattan Island, as soon as it shall have reached a suitable agreement with the New York city authorities. In order to meet the heavy expenditure involved in the tunnel enterprise and to pay for needed cars and locomotives to haul its increasing tonnage an issue of bonds to the amount of fifty million dollars has been authorized. This is stupendous expenditure; but it is undoubtedly warranted by a stupendous demand for increased traffic facilities.—Philadelphia Record.

It is the fate of a statesman to be caluminated. Seldom is it that he is credited with other than selfish and interested motives. While his every public act may have its source in the purest devotion to the general weal, and while he may be governed only by the loftiest patriotism throughout his entire career, he cannot hope to escape the slanders of the malicious and the aspersions of the envious. Current history of the New Jersey State Senate furnishes an apt illustration of this regretable tendency to depreciate the honesty of those who stand in high places. Taking as their text, the bill permitting trolley companies to carry freight and the "hold-up" of the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel bill, certain newspapers have not hesitated to say things about Senators Reed and Francis which must have been as corrosive acid to the sensitive souls of those gentlemen. The former has been charged in language which would infer unprintable things with "holding up" the Tunnel bill, while the Trolley Freight bill has been characterized as a "club," whatever that means.

Now it is perfectly obvious to a candid mind that if Senator Reed is really imprisoning the Tunnel bill in the committee's hands he may have a thousand and one good reasons for so doing, and as for the trolley Freight bill, have not the Grangers, time and again, demanded its passage? If this thing of charging improper motives is not checked it will be impossible after awhile to persuade really good men to run for the Legislature.—Newark News.

BOSTON STRIKE ENDS

Freight Handlers and Sympathizers Return to Work.

GOVERNOR CRANE'S GOOD WORK.

He Pledges the Strikers to Use His Best Efforts to Have Men Reinstated and Bring About Reforms Asked For.

BOSTON, March 14.—Through the united efforts of representatives of the great mercantile bodies of the city, seconded by the chief executives of city and state, in conference with the recognized leaders of organized labor the great strike of freight handlers and kindred trades represented in the Allied Freight Transportation council has been broken. Fully 20,000 men who have been idle for four days returned to work this morning.

The result was attained at a conference last evening at the office of Governor Crane. The decision was at once reported to the Allied Freight Transportation council at a special meeting and unanimously indorsed.

The day was filled with conferences between representatives of the various labor unions and the city's business interests, in which Governor Crane, Mayor Collins, Secretary Easley of the National Civic federation and the state board of arbitration took important parts. Everyone was fully impressed with the gravity of the situation and felt the absolute necessity of an immediate settlement.

As early as 8 o'clock Secretary Easley, who had arrived from New York on the night train, met a number of labor leaders at Young's hotel, where their side of the controversy was explained to him in detail.

At 12 o'clock those in attendance proceeded to the rooms of the state board of arbitration at the statehouse and met representatives of various mercantile bodies of the city, the officials of the various railroads and Mayor Collins, when a free interchange of ideas was had for more than three hours.

Governor Crane, although not present at this meeting personally, had a representative in attendance and was kept in close touch with all its proceedings, in which he manifested the greatest interest.

The outcome of this meeting was the appointment of a committee of seven to devise some plan that might be mutually agreed upon as a basis of settlement in consultation with Governor Crane. This committee then waited upon the governor in his private office, where they were closeted for two hours. Meantime a large number of labor leaders had arrived at the statehouse, and they went into conference in the council chamber, which adjoins the office of the governor.

The door between the rooms was open a good part of the time, and there was a general exchange of ideas and propositions between the two deliberative bodies. Every one was given an opportunity to express his opinion, and while there was unanimity of sentiment that everything possible should be done to bring the strike to a quick termination there was a diversity of views as to how this much desired end could be attained.

Governor Crane, while impressing upon those present the fact that he had absolutely no authority to make pledges for any of the interested parties, made the following proposition:

"If the strike is declared off and those of the men who can will return to their work, I will, as governor of the commonwealth, use my best efforts with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to have them adopt rules that will be in conformity with those already adopted by the Boston and Maine railroad regarding the loading and unloading of teams."

The Boston and Maine road's rule is that freight handlers are not required to go upon trucks of forwarding concerns and assist in unloading freight.

The governor further agreed to see the officials of the Boston and Maine, Boston and Albany and New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads and the various steamship lines and urge them to reinstate as many men as they possibly can.

Governor Crane impressed every one present with his deep interest in the matter, and it was largely through his influence that the representatives of labor present unanimously agreed to recommend to their various unions that the strike be declared off and that every man now on strike return to work today.

This decision was received with intense satisfaction by all who had participated in the conference.

When the conference with the governor ended, nothing remained for the committee except to make its report to the meeting in the board of arbitration rooms which had delegated it, and after the report had been adopted the meeting dissolved.

its face, to pass a bill giving the people a referendum on the subject of municipal governments, has been seized upon deliberately—so it would seem—by some politicians to effect political ends, and this is something to which I do not believe Somerset county or North Plainfield borough will tamely submit.

On the subject of indebtedness and taxation it may be added that there has not been a single indebtedness created in Union county nor in the city of Plainfied itself to which the borough of North Plainfied has been a party or which should be assumed by it. Granted that this may be adjusted by provisions in the bill; it should at least be first understood how it is to be adjusted and afterward the people permitted to vote upon the annexation before it takes effect.

The following figures ought to be of some interest to North Plainfield taxpayers in this connection:

Somerset county's indebtedness is	$ 128,188
Its whole taxable property is	$21,688,701
Union county's indebtedness is	$ 441,000
Its whole taxable property is	$42,775,400
Somerset's indebtedness compared with its ratables	.0059
Union county's indebtedness compared with its ratables	.01
City of Plainfield's indebtedness is	$ 132,123
Plainfield's taxable valuation is	$ 8,488,080
North Plainfield borough's indebtedness is	$ 12,500
North Plainfield borough's taxable valuation is	$ 2,542,665
Plainfield's indebtedness relative to taxables is	.0015
North Plainfield borough's indebtedness relative to taxables is	.00049

These figures mean that Union has twice the proportionate indebtedness of Somerset, and Plainfield three times the proportionate indebtedness of North Plainfield. In compiling the above tables I have used the last official report of the state comptroller.

What is the real object of this bill to annex territory to valuable Union county? Not to consolidate the two municipalities of borough and city, because, as everyone understands, that can be done, if necessary, and the county lines remain unchanged. Is it to give Union county additional territory from which to claim taxes, regardless of the rights of Somerset county? Or is it chiefly for political purposes?

The rumor is current—how well founded I do not know—that those who are looking after the Congressional plum from the Fifth District (now rather close politically since Warren has been added to it) desire to have two or three hundred more certain Republican majority added to their next fall's count and they do not know where better to secure them than in the borough of North Plainfield. It is to be hoped this rumor is unfounded. It cannot be that the few politicians who have during the past week manifested at Trenton so much interest in this one legislative bill are so lost to decency as to push it for selfish ends regardless of business honor. Should it be true, it might be they will be sowing the wind to reap the whirlwind.

It is a matter of common notoriety that this annexation of territory bill was drawn by Mr. Frank Bergen, president of the Plainfield Water Company. What interest Mr. Bergen can have in the annexation of the borough territory, not to speak of the merger of the two municipalities of city and borough, it is not for me now to suggest; I do not know and the public may not care. It may have been only a professional engagement. This, however, is certainly true, that when Somerset county territory is to be annexed to Union county, the bills should first have the sanction of the parties actually interested before they should receive serious consideration at the hands of our legislators.

If the borough territory is to be made a football in politics, or a football as connected with the interests of the Plainfield Water Company, or a football for any purpose whatsoever, there will be a force of voters, regardless of politics, in the borough, who, whenever they secure a chance to vote upon any subject connected with this proposed theft, will make themselves felt. There are certain lines along which the people perhaps may be fooled; but "you cannot fool the people on everything all the time."

Everyone not in the inside of things was surprised to read in last evening's newspapers that all three of the bills concerning the annexation questions went through the Assembly "with bells on." The "Unionist-Gazette," of Somerville, of today's issue, whose editor was at Trenton during the passage of the bills, contains the following news item in regard to this matter: "No blame should rest upon the shoulders of Assemblyman Hoagland for the passage of the Plainfield consolidation measures through the House this week. Mr. Hoagland was watching them and believes he had sufficient votes to defeat them, but at Senator Reed's request he withdrew his opposition. The Senator was anxious to have the bills get through to the Senate where he could arrange a hearing and give the North Plainfield people a chance to be heard. He assured Mr. Hoagland that the bills would not pass the Senate. Mr. Hoagland has also consulted with Governor Murphy, who has assured him that he will withhold his signature from them in their present shape, should they get through."

This is a most remarkable explanation; fully as remarkable as the character of the annexation bills themselves. It is proposed to have all these measures pass the popular side of the Assembly in order that they may be decently killed when they reach the Senate, and, if not, that they may be vetoed by the Governor! Comment seems superfluous.

The hearing next Tuesday afternoon before the Senate committee will undoubtedly be attended by representative citizens from various parts of Somerset county and from the borough. Of course the Somerset Senator and Borough Mayor will be there to oppose it; it would be a most unique thing in our local history if they did not.

There is time yet to arouse public sentiment—should such be necessary—so at least what is attempted to be done shall not be done without full money consideration to Somerset county, without a vote of the people, and without loss to public honor.

A. V. D. Honeyman.

North Plainfield, March 13.

THEATRICAL.

Manager Proctor continues to exercise unlimited push and enterprise in the conduct of his pretty theatre in Newark. The coming of Sandow, the man of marvellous strength, is already being heralded as the forerunner of a series of remarkably noteworthy bookings for his pretty theatre on Military Park, but there will, meanwhile, be presented some exceedingly strong attractions in the general vaudeville line. For instance, next week Tom Nawn and Company will be the leading feature presenting a novelty in the comedy line, entitled "Pat and the Genii." Patrons of vaudeville will find a notable collection of stars in their line at Proctor's Twenty-third Street. Nearly twenty-five acts will be employed to conduct the continuous show which is in vogue at this popular resort, the topping feature being the Beaux and Belles Octette which will then appear for the first time in downtown vaudeville. The Martinetti Troupe, wonderful acrobats, who recently arrived from Europe to star the Proctor circuit, will be another exceptionally interesting factor. At the Fifth Avenue Marie Doran's popular dramatization of "Nell Gwynn" will be featured by the Proctor Stock Company. "A Happy Ending," a little comedy by Bertha Moore, will serve as the curtain-raiser. Hoyt's "A Trip to Chinatown," which the Proctor Stock recently presented with marked success, will be the offering at the Fifty-eighth Street, preceded by "A Duel by Proxy." Up in Harlem the Proctor Stock will be seen in "Our Strategists" with Clay N. Greene's burlesque, "The Gentle Mr. Bellew, of France," as the curtain-raiser.

Kubelik's Farewell Appearances.

Jan Kubelik will brieg to an end, this coming week, his very successful tour of this country. It composed in all seventy concerts, and in spite of the unusual terms on which he was engaged, he succeeded in making money for his managers, Daniel Frohman and Hugo Gorlitz, and it is estimated that the young violinist's share of the receipts will be in the neighborhood of $105,000. He sails for home Tuesday, March 25, in the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, and his farewell appearances are announced for Friday afternoon, March 21, at Carnegie Hall, New York, assisted by Miss Maria Victoria Torrilhon, solo pianist; Ruldolf Friml, accompanist; also at the Metropolitan Opera House, Sunday evening, March 23, assisted by the Paur Symphony Orchestra, Emil Paur, conductor, Rudolf Friml, pianist, and Douglas Powell, vocalist. At the matinee Friday, Mr. Kubelik will play: Concerto, E Major, Mendelssohn; a. A. Adaigo, Bruch; b. Variations, A. Minor, Paganini; Polonaise, Vieuxtemps. Sunday evening his selections will be: Symphony Espagnole (for violin and orchestra) Lalo; Faust Fantasie (for violin and orchestra) Weiniawski; violin solo, Airs Hongroises, Ernst.

No Room There.

The officers of the Plainfield Trust Company, recently organized, are looking for quarters in this city. An effort was made to secure rooms in the Smalley building on North avenue, but there is no available room there at present.

Question of More Money.

There will be an important meeting of the Master Mechanics' Association Tuesday evening, March 25, when the question of demanding higher wages will be discussed.

WAGES FOR COAL MINERS.

Those Now In Effect to Continue For Another Year.

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—The following notice was posted today in all the collieries through the anthracite coal region of Pennsylvania:

"Rates of wages now in effect will be continued until April 1, 1903, and thereafter subject to sixty days' notice. Local differences will be adjusted as heretofore."

The rate of wages now paid to mine workers in the anthracite region is the the same as that granted them as a result of the great strike in the fall of 1900. At that time the coal operators promised that the rate should remain in effect until April 1, 1901. Prior to the latter date the mine workers, through the officers of their national organization, made several demands on the operators, among them the recognition of the union. This the mine owners refused, but instead continued the rate of wages granted in 1900 to April 1, this year.

At the recent national convention of the United Mine Workers of America at Indianapolis it was voted to again ask the operators to grant the men several concessions. Among these were the recognition of the union and an eight hour day. At the same time the national officers were instructed to seek a conference with the operators, and accordingly letters were sent to the presidents of the several coal companies asking for such a meeting. As far as is publicly known none of the presidents granted the request. Failing in this, the miners have called a convention to be held at Shamokin next Tuesday, at which all the coal miners in the anthracite region will be represented and at which the vital question of whether or not to strike will either be finally decided or referred to the national officers, with power to act.

Will Demand a Conference.

HAZLETON, Pa., March 14.—If the opinions of the local leaders of the United Mine Workers represent the sentiment of the men, the miners will not be satisfied with the mere posting of notices by the coal companies announcing a continuation of the present wage scale and the adjustment of local grievances at the collieries. The mine workers' convention at Shamokin next week will undoubtedly demand a joint conference, but whether the refusal of the operators to enter into one will mean suspension of work is problematical. The district officers are noncommittal.

Railroad Rate War Likely.

CHICAGO, March 14.—Lines east and west of Chicago are liable to become involved in a rate war for the lion's share of the summer tourist business. A proposition has been introduced into the Central Passenger association to put in summer tourist rates, or about half fare, to all the eastern seaside resorts in order to compete with the cheap rates which will be in force to western resorts. In the main the proposition has not been favorably received by lines in the association, and a meeting of the joint passenger committee has been called for March 25 at New York to consider the question further.

Tobacco Statistics.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The census bureau has completed the preliminary tables showing the acreage, production and value of tobacco grown in 1899 in the north Atlantic and western states. In the nine north Atlantic states there were 17,872 farms reporting tobacco. They cultivated in 1899 53,783 acres of tobacco and raised a total of 79,272,234 pounds of a value of $8,258,051. In the eleven western states there were only 113 farms growing tobacco, with a total acreage of 62, producing 31,810 pounds of a value of $5,716.

Cornell Professor Resigns.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 14.—Professor Henry Morse Stephens, who holds the chair of modern European history at Cornell, has sent in his resignation to take effect at the end of the present college year. He has accepted the professorship of English history at the University of California. Professor Stephens is an Englishman and a graduate of Oxford. He came to Cornell in 1894 on recommendation of Professor Goldwin Smith. During the past eight years he has been one of the most prominent members of the faculty.

Getting Jury to Try Wilcox.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., March 14.—The court which will try young Wilcox on a charge of murdering Nellie Cropsey, whose body was found in the river after weeks of fruitless search in this vicinity and throughout North Carolina, sat all yesterday and well into the night in the effort to get an unbiased and impartial jury. Eleven out of the necessary twelve jurymen have been selected.

COMPROMISE PLANS.

Committee of Senators Working on Cuban Case.

AN AGREEMENT SEEMS ASSURED.

Limited Reciprocity May Be Accepted by Opposition—Discussion of Shipping Subsidy Bill Continued.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Late yesterday afternoon the work of harmonizing the conflict over Cuban reciprocity had progressed so far that a committee of conferees, or arbitrators, representing the two sides of the controversy assembled to frame a compromise agreement. The meeting occurred in the private quarters of the ways and means committee room, with Chairman Payne and Representatives Dalzell and Cannon present in behalf of the ways and means reciprocity element, while five members of the opposition—namely, Representatives Metcalf (Cal.), Dick and Tayler (O.), Fordney (Mich.) and Morris (Minn.)—acted as arbitrators in behalf of the Republicans who resisted the ways and means original plan of 20 per cent reciprocity for an unlimited period.

The conference lasted about two hours and was not productive of final results, an adjournment being taken until 2 p. m. today. All plans of compromise which have been suggested were reviewed, particularly that limiting the reciprocity period until December, 1903.

Beyond discussing the several plans no action was taken. When the conference closed, it was stated that the discussion had been along such harmonious lines that an agreement seemed assured. Chairman Payne and his associates seemed to be less confident than the other conferees that an agreement was in sight.

Prior to the meeting of the arbitrators the element opposing the ways and means plan assembled to determine on a course of action. It was decided to name five conferees instead of three, in order to make the body more representative of the various sections interested. It was also deemed desirable not to give the conferees final power to make terms, but only to consider and report back. This precaution was taken in order that there might be a full understanding of the compromise plan by all of those who opposed the original ways and means plan. Representative Tawney (Minn.), who directed the contest at the outset, was asked to go to the conference, but he declined and instead nominated the committee of five subsequently named by the conference.

After the passage of a considerable number of unobjected bills the senate resumed the consideration of the ship subsidy measure.

Mr. Berry (Ark.), a member of the commerce committee, which reported the bill, made a vigorous argument in opposition to it. He charged that it would foster trusts and monopolies in the shipping industry and that already J. Pierpont Morgan and his associates were forming a syndicate for the control of the shipping on the Atlantic. In this connection he became involved in a colloquy with Mr. Hanna (O.), who maintained that the ships acquired by Mr. Morgan from foreign countries could not participate in the subsidies provided by the pending measure.

Mr. Perkins (Cal.), another member of the commerce committee, delivered a carefully prepared speech in support of the bill, maintaining that it would add to the prosperity of the entire country.

The house closed general debate on the postoffice appropriation bill and completed the consideration of twelve of the twenty-seven pages of the bill. No amendments were adopted. The principal portion of the general debate yesterday was devoted to the discussion of the appropriations for several mail facilities.

Senator Hale, who is a leading member of the senate committee on appropriations and also of the Republican steering committee, has expressed the opinion that congress would be prepared to adjourn for the session by June 10.

A Year's Cotton Crop.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The census bureau has completed its tabulation of the acreage, production and value of the cotton crop of 1899, showing a total of 24,175,092 acres in cotton, producing in all 9,534,876 commercial bales. This cotton fiber had the value on the farms of $323,758,171. In addition to this fiber grown, there were 4,566,091 tons of seed, worth $46,950,525, exclusive of the seed sold by the farmers with the fiber before ginning.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, March 14.—Confidential reports received here from the Danish West Indies declare there is intense excitement among the negroes of those islands over the sale owing to their belief that it will mean universal suffrage and officeseeking. THE ANNEXATION QUESTION.

In another column will be found the opinions of A. V. D. Honeyman, now president of the Borough Board of Education, concerning the measure before the State Legislature aiming to change the county line so as to include the borough of North Plainfield in the county of Union. While Mr. Honeyman has nothing to say on the subject of consolidation, he is very frank in his opposition to the plan to annex North Plainfield to this county. He gives his reasons for his belief and makes some suggestions as to possible reasons why this measure is now being brought before the Legislature.

It has always been the policy of The Daily Press to permit every man to have his say, over his own signature, regarding any public question, no matter whether it happens to coincide with our views or not. And it must be fully understood that, in this case, Mr. Honeyman's ideas are not ours. The Daily Press is and always has been a firm believer in the Greater Plainfield scheme. The measures now before the Legislatrue seem to offer a feasible way of bringing about the desired result. Despite rumors to the effect that this movement is a combination of deals between politicians and corporations, we believe that the promoters of the scheme are perfectly honest in their desire to serve the best interests of the community.

There has been, from the very start, no attempt to deceive anybody as to the intent and aim of the bills, which have been passed by the Assembly and are now before the Senate. In order that their import might be fully understood, the complete text of all three bills was given a prominent place in the local newspapers. It was stated then and many times since that the consolidation bill had a referendum clause attached, making it necessary to secure the consent of a majority of the voters of both municipalities before the two could become one. There was no referendum clause attached to the bill changing the county line and there has been no attempt made to convey the thought that there was. Some people have gained that mistaken idea but they have only themselves to blame for the bills have been public property and anyone was privileged to see exactly what they contained.

The present situation may be summed up very simply. Every true interest of the community demands that there be but one municipality, that the communiy be no longer divided against itself. A way has been offered whereby this thing may be brought about. There is a fair chance of making it a reality. If there is any better way of accomplishing the desired result, then let us hear about it without delay. What we want is to consolidate Plainfield and North Plainfield in the best possible way. If, however, no better way can be suggested than that outlined by the measures now before the Legislatrue, are there any good reasons why we should not seize the present opportunity to bring to pass that for which we have so long been clamoring?

During the interim between the retirement of the old president of the Centenary Collegiate Institute and the installation of the new one, Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney, of this city, will act as head of that well-known institution. It is not a new position for Dr. Whitney as he was president of the institute for twenty-six years beginning with the time it was founded and continuing until ill-health compelled him to resign. No man better fitted for the position could be secured and the course of the trustees, in making Dr. Whitney president for the time being, was very wise and in accord with the desires of the friends of that worthy institution.

At their annual dinner, Wednesday evening, the boys of Company K renewed the talk on an armory, of which little has been heard this fall and winter. There is not any doubt but the company should be provided with suitable quarters, the question being whether it is advisible to have a detached armory or occupy quarters in some building. If, however, the local company is no more successful than Company M, of Somerville, has been in its efforts to get an armory, the present members of the company will grow grey in the service before the armory is ready for occupancy.

MRS. WILSON'S FIRST AT HOME

ALSO SERVED TO INTRODUCE HER SISTER, MISS MILNE.

Charming Social Event at Home of Mrs. Isabelle Milne Yesterday Afternoon.

The home of Mrs. Isabelle Milne, of Willow avenue, was the scene of a brilliant assemblage, yesterday afternoon, when she gave the first at home in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Taylor Wilson. It also served the purpose of introducing Miss Isabelle Milne. The reception lasted from 4 until 7 o'clock and in all 150 of the city and borough's elite were in attendance.

Mrs. Milne was unable to be present and her place was taken by her sister, Miss Susie Rafferty. She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. E. T. Wilson and Miss Milne. Others who assisted were Mrs. Orville T. Waring, Mrs. Susan Wilson, Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen, Mrs. Lewis G. Timpson, Mrs. Walter M. McGee, Mrs. D. DeW. Brokaw, Mrs. George D. Hallock and Mrs. L. H. Biglow. In the dining room were Mrs. Alexander Milne, Mrs. Clifford M. McGee, and the Misses Elsie Brokaw, Bessie Valiant, Alice Barlow and Elsie Horne.

The decorations were green and white, the same as those used at the Wilson-Milne wedding. In the parlor were green and white palms while the dining room was a profusion of broad white satin ribbons and white carnations. Music was furnished by an orchestra.

FUNERAL OF MRS. STOVER.

It Was Held From the Marconnier Chapel Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of Mrs. George W. Stover, of Oak Tree, took place yesterday afternoon. Services were held in Marconnier chapel at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, offered prayer and M. Seymour Purdy preached the sermon. Elmer E. Runyon sympathetically rendered, "Abide With Me" and "Good Night." The floral tribute were beautiful, one design, a pillow, was the remembrance of the departed woman's children. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery. The pall bearers were William Morrison, Alexander Noe, John Martin, Mack Giles, Charles Brower, and William Kelly.

Boys Made the Posters.

The attractive and very clever posters announcing the forthcoming production of the comedy "Jane," by the boys from Leal's School, were the work of Clinton Hall, Effingham Pinto, Dudley H. Barrows and Wickham Corwin. The play will be given in the Casino April 3.

Drop in Social.

A "Drop In" social will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening to which all men are invited. An interesting programme will be provided.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruptions. DeWitt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy condition and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Hooper, Albany, Ga., says: "I took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness. They were just what I needed. I am feeling better now than in years." Never gripe or distress. Safe, thorough and gentle. The very best pills. L. W. Randolph.

STUPENDOUS FIRE SALE!

7 o'clock, a. m.

$25,000 worth of Dry Goods, Carpets, Furniture and Housefurnishings damaged only by water to be sold at once. This is beyond all question the largest and most important sale of its kind in the history of Plainfield, for every damaged article will be fearfully sacrificed. Store will open every morning at 7 a. m. and will be open evenings. Only as many people will be admitted at a time as we can properly wait upon when the doors will be closed. When these people are dismissed others will be admitted. This appears to be the only way to care for the large crowds we anticipate, and is not done in any spirit of favoritism. This sale is not advertised "out of town" as we desire to give our own townspeople, from whom we have received so many assurances of sympathy and encouragement, every opportunity to secure the best bargains. Our Carpet Store is located, for the present, at 324 West Front Street.

Clouard's famous representation of the Peasant's "Passion Play" was given in moving pictures. last evening, in St. John's R. C. church. The merits of the entertainment were fully appreciated and the church was crowded to the doors. It is estimated that over 300 were present. After the "Passion Play" was concluded a number of songs were sung by artists connected with the play and illustrated. Among the songs were "The Holy City," "Lead Kindly Light," "Rock of Ages," and "Ave Maria." In the play the pictures gave very realistic representations and held the attention of the audience throughout. "The Road to Calvary" was one of the best ever shown.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Nothing but pure materials is used in the making of Fowler's candy. That's why they are so popular and one purchase leads to another. Special sale this week of chocolates, caramels and bon bons.

Have you seen the line of go-carts and baby carriages at Powlison & Jones? It is the largest ever shown by a local furniture house. They are of the best workmanship and are being sold at prices to suit all purchasers.

A run on a bank is something like the run on Ceresota flour, which W. W. Wilson, of West Third street, has experienced this week. With all purchases over $1 he gives double trading stamps, and his trade is rapidly increasing.

It is said that P. A. B. Widener, the Philadelphia capatalist, has set the fashion of wearing carnations on the lapel of his coat. He prefers the Lawson carnation, but you can get any kind you desire at Stanley's, the North avenue florist.

Spring is almost here and with it comes a change in styles. There will still be chilly evenings and an overcoat will not be out of place. If you need one to complete your wardrobe visit Harry Werner's store and take advantage of his overcoat sale now going on.

A handsome picture of any value deserves a substantial and attractive frame. It adds much to the value, besides it preserves the picture. Phillip Swain, of West Front street, is well equipped for framing pictures. He also carries an exceptional line of pictures of all kinds.

Manager Roberts, fo Crosby & Hill's store, has been in New York for a number of days making purchases for the spring and summer trade. He will present to the Plainfield people a line of goods unequalled outside of Greater New York and the prices will be such that they cannot fail to attract.

It is generally conceded that the backbone of winter is broken, and one's thoughts naturally turn to spring and summer shoes. When you get ready to make purchases call on John H. Doane and inspect his very complete stock of shoes. He can surely please you both as to style and fit, as well as price.

Still another poem has been produced by the pick and shovel of the Somerset street bard. Here it is: "We tell to all of the wondrous fame, that is attached to Powers' name; this young druggist, with greatest care, compounds a syrup of healing rare, and so when coughs your slumbers mar, take Powers' Honey of Coltsfoot and Tar." Somerset street pharmacy.

A meeting of the Executive Board of the City Union of the King's Daughters was held in the parlor of the Y. M. C. A., yesterday morning. The report of the city nurse showed that she made 187 visits during the month of February and that thus far in March she has made fifty five visits. Practically Starving.

"After using a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure my wife received perfect and permanent relief from a severe and chronic case of stomach trouble," says J. R. Holly, real estate, insurance and loan agent, of Macomb, Ill. "Before using Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she could not eat an ordinary meal without intense suffering. She is now entirely cured. Several physicians and many remedies had failed to give relief." You don't have to diet. Eat any good food you want, but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will always digest it for you. L. W. Randolph.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 16, "A Noble Purpose." Text, Dan. 1, 8-20.

"That he would not defile himself."

This was more than the ordinary temperance principle of the ordinary modern boy. We must view it in a broader way.

Daniel was selected from among the young men who had been carried captive from Judæa to Babylon with some others who showed ability and appeared capable of being educated for governmental positions. He was probably of royal descent. He, with at least three others, had been deeply impressed with religious truth in his native land. The impassioned appeals of Jeremiah for righteousness and national honor could not have been unknown to him. This little group of young men at a foreign court must have felt keenly the humiliation of their country and religion. With a patriotic fervor not infrequently found in the young and a characteristic disregard of the corrupt influences around them, they determined to stand true to their ancestral religion. There is no probability that they took the vow of Nazarites not to use the products of the vine or that they were other than simply devoted young fellows standing on principle.

But if they were resolved to worship Jehovah and Him only what about the food they would have served them as members of the king's household? That food and all eating were inseparably connected with the worship of the gods, as it is at the present time in all the orient and ever has been. By eating the meat and drinking the wine provided for the king's officers they would be worshiping the gods he worshiped and renouncing their own Jehovah. This they meant not to do. There is but one course then open. They must refuse the king's food and live on simple vegetables and water if they would avoid meat and wine offered in idolatrous worship.

It was a risky course to take. If the diet did not agree with them and they failed in health or studies as compared with the others classed with them they would be in disgrace if not positive danger.

Risky as it seemed, it was, however, the only safe course to take. Simple living joins well with high thinking and earnest faith. The result was what it always has been, is now and ever shall be. Whoever does the right thing finds it the successful and wise thing. God's way with Daniel was not different from God's way with every other young man. He that honors God shall be honored of God. Expediency may tempt one to abate somewhat of one's constancy and devotion, but it results in sacrifice of principle and loss of integrity.

Do the right thing whatever the risk and whatever the cost, and safety with success shall be the ultimate result.

Daniel's purpose and his maintenance of that purpose are all that raised him to position, kept him in honor and power and sent his name down the ages as a synonym of unswerving devotion to convictions of duty.

Feebleness of Faith.

Feebleness of faith is owing to the lack of nutrition. We do not inwardly digest the word and by the law of assimilation utilize the productive power that is resident in it. Hence we become as weak as other men. We have the form, but are destitute of the power which alone is derived from holy living. If we do not know the will of God, there is no hope of our doing it or knowing the doctrine, which is not only an inspiration, but an incentive, to action, for if any man will do God's will he must know the mind of God, which is revealed in him and which is to demonstrate by obedience to the divine requirement. Therefore every man should be fully persuaded in his own mind by an intelligent apprehension and comprehension of things concerning his spiritual development, for God works in us to will and to do.—Philadelphia Methodist.

A Universal Possibility.

Sin is a universal possibility not only against God, but everything. One may sin against himself. The effect is purely a matter of degree. One sins against the laws of his own physical being. Nature is long suffering, but unmerciful. There is no cross in the theology of nature. The transgressor must meet the penalty of his transgression. Pain is the remorse of a broken bone. Fever is the hell fire of an outraged nature. Sometimes this comes to us as an inheritance. Heredity is the original sin of nature. The harvest of the dragon's tooth is not gathered in a single season. Life's machinery is thrown out of gear, and it requires generations to adjust it.—Presbyterian Journal.

The Way of the Transgressor.

It is with the transgressor as with the falling stone—the farther he falls the faster he falls.—Episcopal Recorder.

Faith's Answer.

I asked my Father what it meant
That all my pray'rs were vain?
Why was it that the waves were rough,
Why pitiless the rain
That swept me from my moorings where
The sea was smooth, the sky was fair?
He answered me, Because, my child,
It is thy Father's will;
Canst thou not trust Him who can say
To billows wild, "Be still."
Who holds in hollow of His hand
Each wave that breaks upon the strand?
Again with agonizing cry
I staggered 'neath the rod;
I looked, when, lo, a cross in view!
It was the hand of God
That bore the heaviest end; thus late
I learned to know how light its weight.
'Twas not until my will in His
Was merged that I could see
With eye of faith that God, who holds
Each myst'ry, holds the key,
That He who guides His children home
Knows the best way for each to come.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 16—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—A noble purpose.—Dan. 1, 8-20. (Temperance meeting.)

"Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat nor with the wine which he drank." This is the purpose to which the topical reference alludes, and we have only to study the circumstances under which it was made to see the nobility of it.

1. The nobility of Daniel's purpose is illustrated in his age. He was a young man and had been selected because of his natural abilities to be educated for the service of the king of Babylon. For Daniel at that age to take a determined stand upon the side of his moral and religious convictions was certainly the manifestation of nobility of purpose. How many young men and young women indulge in doubtful and in harmful practices, excusing themselves on the ground of their youth! They are young. They must sow their wild oats. They must have a good time in their youthful days. Not so with Daniel. Instead of sowing wild oats in his youth he "remembered his Creator in the days of his youth." And he never lived to regret it. Nor does any young man who in the days of his youth purposes in his heart that he will lead a virtuous and sober life.

2. The nobility of Daniel's purpose is illustrated in the place in which he made it. He was in a strange land, a Hebrew captive and exile in the land of Babylon. In Babylon he was surrounded with idolatrous faith and worship. To take a firm stand religiously in such a place proves the nobility of his purpose. How many young people would have said: "I am in a strange land. I do not believe in eating defiled meat and in drinking wine, but I had better do it here, since my captors demand it of me. I'm in Babylon now, and I had better do as Babylon does." The strong temptation would have been to take this course of action, yet Daniel did not do it, even under such circumstances. May his example inspire the emulation of all young people and help them to stand firm for sobriety and godliness amid any surroundings or with any people. Men may laugh at us or ridicule us, but we should fear God rather than man and obey God rather than man.

3. The nobility of Daniel's purpose is illustrated in the fact that it was contrary to custom. It was customary for those who were being trained for the king's service to eat the king's meat and drink his wine. Custom is the ruination of many a young person. But Daniel was no slave to custom. He placed conscience above custom. It requires great strength of character ofttimes to do this, and yet conscience and not custom should be our guide. If it were, the drunkard's grave would be robbed of many of its victims. Let us, like Daniel, not fear to stand against custom when to conform to it means to endanger our moral or spiritual welfare.

Daniel purposed nobly and nobly executed his purpose, and God was with him and blessed him. God's presence and God's blessing are vouchsafed to all who in the midst of temptation will follow Daniel's example. Will you do it?

Faith.

Faith, according to the definition in the catechism, is not only a clear knowledge of what God has revealed in the gospel, but also a hearty trust wrought in us by the Holy Spirit that we are really saved by grace through our Lord Jesus Christ. This becomes in the highest sense subjective and individual to each believer. It is indeed the pearl of great price, worth more to each one of us than the whole world besides. It is the gift of God. It is free notwithstanding its inestimable value. Assured confidence, implanted by the Spirit's operation, working in the gracious power of the gospel, as preached and taught, is to be exercised under the divine command coming to us; to believe. What is commanded to be done is not impossible, for that would not be required. It is a precious gift and a blessed privilege and duty to keep faith in lively exercise.—Reformed Church Messenger.

Cheer Up.

We may be weary pilgrims here, many of us; but, after all, the Christian pilgrim is journeying to a beautiful country, bright and sunny, where all is peace and joy and love. This life is much what we make it, and the hardest life may be a sunlit path when the Sun of Righteousness shines upon it, for there no gloom can stay. The days may seem "dark and dreary," many of them, but they will come to an end. O pilgrim, press forward, then, crying, "Excelsior!" Falter not by the way, even though it be full of stumbling places. Let these only give fresh impetus and determinaton to win the reward awaiting thee, "Ye shall reap if ye faint not."—Episcopal Recorder.

Outdoor Peace.

Have fears and worries vexed you?
Go out among the trees.
Think: He who made all these,
Will He not well protect you?

Do thronging doubts molest you?
Sit down there in the sun
Where heaven's joys o'errun
And think how God has blessed you.

Does some one scorn or slight you?
Stand forth among the hills.
Forget your petty ills.
Remember, God will right you.

Do long, long sorrows grieve you?
Look upward to the stars
And think: No anguish mars
The home that will receive you.

FIFTY MEN MISSING.

Confession of Leader of Texas Robber Gang.

BEAUMONT, Tex., March 14.—John Welsh, a white man, who has been implicated by allegation by Mattie Bennett, the negro leader of the gang of robbers and murderers which has been operating here, has been brought to Beaumont, having been arrested at Houston on the strength of the woman's confession. Welsh denies complicity in the murders. He was an iron molder employed in the foundry where Benjamin Pearson, one of the murdered men, worked.

In jail the Bennett woman talked freely to a reporter. She confessed everything except direct murder and went fully into the details of the plan followed by the gang. "The business has been going on for six months," she said. "The men would go out to the saloons and street corners and find men that had money. They'd bring them to my house, and I and the other woman would give them beer with knockout drops in it. Then the men would either beat them up there and rob them or take them out into the hobo yard. I don't know how many I've drugged—too many to remember—and all of them were robbed.

"I don't know what them folks that I've told the sheriff about will do to me. I know I'm safe in jail now, but if I ever get out they will kill me if any of them are alive and are out of the penitentiary then."

The Neches river, where five bodies of supposed victims of the gang were found, skirts the town of Beaumont. It is about 150 feet wide and thirty feet deep. In some places swamps run back. A body thrown into the swamps stands small chance of being found. If it is true that fifty persons have disappeared from Beaumont, this may be the solution of the mystery of the missing persons.

The case in some of its features recalls the Bender family murders in Lake county, Kan., thirty years ago.

Three Bills Against Mrs. Soffel.

PITTSBURG, March 14.—Indictments in three cases against Mrs. Catherine Soffel, wife of ex-Warden Peter K. Soffel, growing out of the escape of the Biddle brothers from jail on Jan. 30 have been considered by the grand jury and true bills returned. Should Mrs. Soffel be convicted upon the three charges the maximum aggregate sentence that could be imposed upon her would be sixteen years in prison and a fine of $2,500. The first charge is for aiding criminals to escape. The other charges are separate indictments for felonious assault and battery upon Charles Reynolds and James G. McGary, jail guards. Reynolds was shot by one of the Biddles, and McGary was thrown over or jumped over the railing from the cell tier and seriously hurt on the night of the escape. It will probably be a month before Mrs. Soffel is brought to trial.

Cotton Growing In West Africa.

BERLIN, March 14.—The negroes of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial institute who were engaged the latter part of 1900 by the German government to teach the natives of Togoland, German West Africa, how to grow cotton have, according to the report of the colonial committee, succeeded in producing cotton which is graded on the Bremen Exchange above American middling. The Tuskegee negroes have demonstrated that the land in Togoland is suitable for cotton, of which there is great abundance. The only obstacle to the commercial utilization of this product is transportation and especially getting the bales to the coast.

Sbaretti May Not Go.

ROME, March 14.—It is now authoritatively reported that Mgr. Sbaretti, who recently sailed for New York en route for Manila as apostolic delegate to the Philippines, will on his arrival in America receive orders from the Vatican not to proceed beyond Washington on his journey, at least for the time being. In view of information on Philippine matters expected soon at the Vatican from the American government the Pope deems it prudent to suspend all ecclesiastical action regarding the church in the islands.

Revolutionary News.

PANAMA, Colombia, March 14.—News has reached here that the government generals Castro and Ortis have just arrived at Colon with 400 men. They left a strong garrison at Bocas del Toro. General Castro reports that the heavy losses suffered by the forces under the command of the revolutionary general Herrera make it impossible for the revolutionists to attack the government for some time to come. This information has been received with great enthusiasm here.

Dr. Talmage Very Ill.

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, who was brought here sick with influenza from Mexico in charge of Mrs. Talmage and a physician, is reported to be only slightly better. He is scarcely able to speak above a whisper.

He bowed mockingly, and was turning away when the portiere was flung violently aside and Holbin rushed on him from behind. A keen knife in his hand flashed in the gas light and fell, but once only. Maddened with the pain and enraged at the cowardly attack, Brodnar lifted his assailant from the floor and hurled him across the room. He fell in a heap against the wall, the knife rolling to the feet of the frantic woman. To snatch it up and throw herself upon the athlete was an instant's action; but he was impotent to harm him then. [illegible] seized her wrists and turned the right one slowly but remorselessly. Her pale lips uttered no sound, but the long white fingers relaxed at length under the terrific ordeal and the knife fell to the floor. Kicking it across the room, he pushed the woman away, and stepping outside the dor, closed it behind him. He heard the furious ringing of the butler's bell, and soon beheld William running clumsily through the hall. He had opened the front door, but the servant having passed, he changed his mind, and having slammed the door made his way down and back to the wing occupied by Frances. She had retired, but arose at once.

"Bring your key and let me out at the gate," he said, "and quickly." She threw on her wrapper and wonderingly obeyed. "I have found the other woman in the case," he continued, hurriedly, as they traversed the garden. "It is all very sad, my child, and too late now to be remedied." He could not see the girl's face nor understand that there was room for any misconstruction of his statement; that her mind was occupied with Richard Somers, as his had been with Holbin. Frances felt as though the blood was freezing in her veins.

"What woman?"

"The woman who did the shooting!"

"Why—why—what was her motive?"

"Jealousy!" he replied, briefly. "What I want to say to you is this: something has happened to-night that will prevent my returning here. You must come to see me occasionally, and always when needing advice or help. In the meantime keep up your courage. Nobody can disturb the big fact in our case. We have the law on our side. I shall explain it all some time. And our wounded friend—you don't ask of him—is better and impatient. He will leave Richmond to-night. Good-by."

"Oh, wait!" cried the girl in anguish. "The woman—where is she?"

"At the Spotswood and ill." He felt the blood running from a stab in his shoulder down his arm, and, fearful of the effect should the excited girl discover that he was wounded, he hurried away to his assistant. Frances waited at the gate, her face in her hands, her heart aching. With a sudden and despairing resolution she went back to her room.

"Quick, mammy, help me to dress; I must go to the hotel!"

"Lord 'a' mussy, chile, what de matter?"

"Help me, mammy—quick! Don't ask any questions."

Frances started away, wringing her hands and sobbing, but in the crowded streets, where men were cheering and cannon firing over the announcement that Virginia had seceded, and thousands of torch-lights blazed the way, she grew firmer. The general excitement was in her favor and no one attached importance to her visit. She reached and entered the sick woman's room, and, motioning away the hired nurse, dropped upon her knees by the bedside. Louise, calmer under the opiates administered by the doctor, regarded her as she might have one descended from the clouds. Something like a spasm of fear passed over her, for in the lovely face beside her she seemed to see the image of her own youth repeated.

"Who are you?" she asked, wildly.

"Your friend. Don't excite yourself."

"Your name? your name?"

"Frances Brookin! And, oh, I am so sorry for you, so very sorry!" Louise seemed to have heard only the name, which she repeated softly, wonderingly.

"Frances Brookin! And your father—who was he?"

"John Brookin."

"Ah, my God!" And the face upon the pillow was turned away in shame and confusion. After awhile she looked back, a strange light in her eyes.

"What do you want of me?" she asked, suspiciously.

"I wanted to tell you," said Frances, covering her face and sobbing anew, "that I didn't know—of you! That if I had no power on earth could have won my consent. Oh, I have been deceived—cruelly, cruelly."

Louise, who was ignorant that Frances was the girl in the room at the time of the shooting, now saw her opportunity. She raised herself eagerly.

"You are my rival, then. You came only in pity."

"Yes. And to ask your forgiveness. You have nothing to fear from me." A glad light filled the eyes of Louise. She could with difficulty restrain herself and control her voice.

"I believe you," she said. "You will not take him from me—from his child!" Frances was shocked and dismayed. "His child! Is there a child—of his?"

"Yes," said Louise, "but if you reveal that I shall never be allowed to see her again. You will not tell, will you?"

"No," said the wretched girl. "Your secret is safe with me. And, oh, I believed in him—I trusted him so!" She wrung her hands and turned away her face.

"It is fortunate you found him out in time," said Louise; "with me, it was too late—too late! But please do not stay here. How did you find me out?"

"The doctor. He told me about you. He has told me everything, and I wanted to see you."

"Don't cry, my dear child. What seems a great sorrow to you now is really a blessing. You have made a miserable woman happy by your coming. Go now! He may enter at any moment, and it would be painful. Go, and don't tell anyone of this visit. Will you promise?"

"I shall keep your secret," said Frances. "It is safe with me. Forgive me—if I have made you unhappy."

"I am sorry for you," said Louise, simply. Frances lifted her head proudly.

"You need not be. I am shocked and mortified; that is all. To-morrow I shall cease to remember him." She was going when Louise called her back.

"Let me see your face again, my child. Ah, how beautiful you are! Good-by, I trust you. Don't grieve about him. He cannot ever be trusted. You were to be the victim of a plot, and your friends are deceiving you. Why, the man is poor; ruined, unless he gets your fortune. He came from Europe to marry you—ah, God, he deserted me, he betrayed his child—for your money. Trust none of them, for they are desperate. They take advantage of your youth—they would persuade you into a hurried marriage—"

"But I could not, I could not be bound legally by such a travesty—such a fraud!"

"Your fortune would, and that is what he wants—that, and not you. Secure in that, he would be willing to let you go forever. Oh, but I know him. Give him the shadow of a title to your fortune and you are lost."

"But to think that Dr. Brodnar could have deceived me so—my mother's friend! I cannot, I cannot believe it!"

"My child, trust no one. Possibly the doctor himself was deceived; it has been long since he knew him; and the man is a finished actor. Trust no man. The man who will not deceive a woman for his own advantage does not live. I know the world. If I do not, who does?" Frances took the hand of the sick woman in both of her own and held it in sympathy and grief.

"I must leave you," she said, brokenly. "Will you not tell me your name? I shall always remember you in my prayers." Louise half raised herself in the bed.

"My name! Then he did not tell you all. No, my child, do not seek to find out my name. Pray for me, if you will—and remember me as a woman more sinned against than sinning. Good night and good-by."

DEAD MAN WOULD WED.

Jim Younger, In a Bad Predicament, Applies to Governor.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 14.—Jim Younger wants to get married. He cannot because he is legally dead; hence he is unable to enter into any contract. Younger submitted the question of whether or not he could wed to Governor Van Sant, who has looked into the matter, with some surprising results.

In Minnesota a life prisoner is civilly dead. The only way he can make a contract binding in the eyes of the law is through the board which paroles him, in this case the state board of control, which board is empowered to enter into a contract for him. It is not probable, however, that the three members of the board of control, separately or as a whole, will agree to enter into marriage contract with any woman for the benefit of the paroled life convict.

The only way for Jim Younger to become a married man in Minnesota is to get a pardon, which will restore him to the rights of a living citizen. Another phase of the law is that neither Jim Younger nor his brother, Cole, if they shall establish any business of their own, as has been contemplated, can be held for any debts that they may incur.

Gen. Young Ordered to Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—By direction of the president, Major General Samuel B. M. Young has been relieved from command of the department of California and ordered to this city to assume the presidency of the army war college which is to be established at Washington barracks, provided the necessary funds are appropriated by congress. General Young is regarded as one of the ablest and most progressive general officers in the army and was specially selected by the secretary of war to organize and direct the proposed war college. Brigadier General Robert B. Hughes, now on duty in this city, has been selected as the successor of General Young.

Prince Henry's Eldest Son.

BERLIN, March 14.—Waldemar, the eldest son of Prince Henry of Prussia, will in a few days go with his tutor to Dr. Sahmann's sanitarium at Whitestag, near Dresden. One of Dr. Sahmann's specialties is nervous diseases, but why Waldemar should be sent to this sanitarium mystifies persons near the court. One such person reports the gossip that Waldemar develops slowly mentally. He is twelve years old and physically fine looking. He spends much of his time with his father when the latter is at home in outdoor sports.

Thinks Storer Will Not Return.

LONDON, March 14.—Although it is said in official circles here, wires the correspondent of The Daily Mail from Madrid, that Bellamy Storer, the United States minister to Spain, who has left for America on account of the failure of the negotiations for a treaty of friendship, will return in six months, the general impression is that Mr. Storer will not return to Spain.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 14.—Fourteen-year-old Gerald Osborne, who saved the St. John express from disaster Tuesday evening, is to be presented with a check for $2,000 and a life pass over the railway. He noticed a broken rail and flagged the express by waving a burning newspaper.

APPROPRIATIONS CUT

Finance Committee at Albany Uses the Knife.

EXPOSITION FUND OF $100,000 VOTED

Governor Odell Asked to Urge the Legislature to Frame Amendment to the Constitution Allowing $20,000,000 For Good Roads.

ALBANY, March 14.—The finance committee of the senate have been working on a number of bills calling for appropriations for state institutions, and in almost every case great reductions were made in the amounts asked for. The bill making an appropriation for the representation of New York state at the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis was also considered, and the appropriation was increased from $50,000 to $100,000. The number of New York commissioners was increased from nine to twelve.

Among the bills reported favorably are the following:

Davis bill, making appropriations for the Thomas Orphan asylum for orphan and destitute Indian children. Several items were cut out, including one for a brick dormitory building.

Wiley bill, appropriation for the Society For Reformation of Juvenile Delinquents, cutting out $2,000 for refitting building.

Krum bill, appropriating $100,000 additional for a bridge over the Erie canal at Canajoharie.

William Pierrepont White, chairman of the executive committee appointed by the good roads convention, called upon the governor to get him to urge upon the legislature the desirability of passing the concurrent resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution which would permit the expenditure of $20,000,000 for good roads. Governor Odell told Mr. White that he had no objection to its passage, but that he was not going to interfere in the matter to the extent of asking the legislature to pass the resolution.

Governor Odell gave a hearing on the Armstrong bill providing for town enrollments in Monroe, Albany, Cayuga, Jefferson, Niagara and five other counties of the state. The bill is aimed principally to affect the primary elections in Monroe county.

Chloroformed and Robbed.

STILLWATER, Minn., March 14.—While Mrs. Edward Welsh was sleeping alone at her residence burglars entered through a rear window, chloroformed the woman and ransacked her bedroom. The booty consisted of certified checks to the amount of $1,000, $15 in cash, a gold watch and a mink coat. Mrs. Welsh did not recover from her stupor until several hours later, when she found the breeze blowing upon her from an open window. Her husband is in a logging camp, and her married son, a grocer, lives in another house not far away.

A Fortune For These Heirs.

SLEEPY EYE, Minn., March 14.—M. J. Durham of Middletown, N. Y., is here to find two heirs to the Leonard Case estate, now before the probate court of Cuyahoga county, O., which is estimated to be worth $80,000,000. The two heirs wanted are Charles and Theodore Case, who have been residents of Brown county, near this city, for thirty years past. The property is in the heart of the city of Cleveland and includes the site upon which the First National bank of that city is situated.

Harvard's Fund Complete.

BOSTON, March 14.—Dr. J. Collins Warren and Dr. H. P. Bowditch announced yesterday morning that Mrs. Collis P. Huntington had given $250,000 to the fund for the erection, equipment and endowment of the new Harvard medical school. This gift makes up the $4,000,000 needed for the school and makes immediately available the proposed gift of three buildings, at a cost of about $1,000,000, by J. Pierpont Morgan and the conditional gift of $1,000,000 by J. D. Rockefeller.

Shot In a Strange Manner.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., March 14.—Minnie Hall, thirty years old, was mortally wounded by an unusual accident. Her children were playing against a partition and in doing so dislodged a loaded rifle hanging on the wall. In falling the rifle struck across a chair, discharging a bullet which passed through the clothes of an infant in its mother's arms and entered her side, passing through the liver and lodging against the spine. The babe was uninjured.

Rice Died From Natural Causes.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Lawyers for Albert T. Patrick wound up the day by calling Dr. Austin Flint as a witness. As the other experts for the defense had done, the famous New York physician declared that in his opinion William M. Rice had died from natural causes. When court adjourned for the day, Dr. Flint was still on the stand.

Half a Million to Employees.

LONDON, March 14.—James Dick, the so called "rubber king," who died at Glasgow March 7, bequeathed £100,000 for distribution among his employees. His cashier gets £5,000, his cook £2,000, and other domestics receive thousands of pounds. The clerks get from £300 to £500 each.

TWO WEEKS' SERVICES CLOSED LAST NIGHT

Last of Evangelistic Meetings Was Held at the Park Avenue Baptist Church.

DR. PETERS PREACHED.

SOMEONE MUST SUFFER TO BENEFIT ANOTHER HE POINTED OUT.

The Lesson of the Death of the Savior and What Is Meant by the Giving of His Life—An Impressive Meeting Held.

A large audience gathered last night for the final evangelistic service in the Park Avenue Baptist church. It was a deeply solemn meeting, and at the close several rose for prayers. Rev. C. L. Goodrich and Rev. John MacMurray offered prayers, a duet was sweetly rendered by the Misses Etta Cuming and Adelaide Runyon. During the after meeting a pathetic solo "Jesus is Calling" was sung by Miss Elsie Giles.

Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters chose Romans v:1 as his text. "Therefore being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." The speaker said in part: "Vicarious suffering is the law of nature. Some one must suffer to benefit another, even the good must suffer to give evil the benefit of a high civilization. We often speak of the blood of Jesus being shed for us. The life is in the blood; therefore we speak of being saved by the blood of Christ, we mean being saved by His life. Always it is life for life in this world. We see this illustrated by the volunteers who gave their lives to save the Union in '61. The cross was a revelation of this law. It advertised that another was performing a wonderful work for mankind.

"But men say they do not like this doctrine of being justified by the merits of another. Why has Prince Henry received so much honor in this country? Simply because he represented the merits and government of the Emperor of Germany. It was the merits of another which brought Prince Henry peculair honor, such as is paid the great. An Indian girl was seen and loved by an English nobleman. He sent her to England, educated her and then married her. She had neither station nor wealth to warrant her elevation. She was only beautiful. But the best society of England received her, and lavished honors upon her, because of her chivalrous husband. So Chirst takes the sinner out of his degradation, educates him in things divine, and lifts him to divine relationships. The sinner is saved and exalted because of the merits of his Saviour.

"But we must not abuse this doctrine. The faith which saves the man also changes the man; transforms his character, and makes him fit for Heaven. The saving faith of the Bible is the kind which takes Christ into the heart, and inspires the man to co-operate with Christian working out his salvation."

STEAM ROLLER AT WORK.

The city steam roller was brought out for the first yesterday since it was housed, last fall, on the city farm. As a result of the careful overhauling given it when put away, it was found in perfect condition. It was placed at work in charge of Engineer John Porter, on West Seventh street and the upper end of Park. It will be kept in commission for the next nine months.

Trinity Commandery's Election.

The Grand Commander of the Knights Templar has granted a special dispensation to the members of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., of this city, to meet Monday evening in F. L. C. There were certain duties assigned to Mr. Bolsterli for which he received pay. This money he kept in a tin box in the lodge rooms, believing that it was as safe there as in a bank. The members of the Plainfield High School basket ball team went to Jersey City, yesterday afternoon for the purpose of playing the Hasbrouck Institute team. After an exceptionally well played game, the Plainfielders won by a score of 34 to 28.

The Hasbrouck Institute team is a very strong one and out of eleven games played this season, lost but one before. The Plainfield team played far above its average and in a very clean way. At the end of the first half the score stood 20 to 12 in favor of the High School.

The line-up of the Plainfield team and the goals made were as follows: Hallock, left forward, one goal; Cahoone, right forward, three goals and two fouls; Schull, center, four goals; Denton, left guard, two fouls; Thompson, right guard, two goals. In the second half, Meeker substituted for Hallock. John H. Doane, of this city, was one of the umpires.

ENGLISH PREACHING.

Congregation of German Reformed Church Will Consider Its Advisibility.

A congregational meeting will be held in the German Reformed church, tomorrow evening, for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the congregation on the question of language. For some time past there has been more of less discussion as to whether there should be preaching in English Sunday evening. Many favor the introduction of English and that all may have an opportunity to express an opinion, the meeting will be held as stated.

If the opposition is strongly against English preaching the matter will be dropped, but if the sentiment is in favor, then the consistory of Trinity Reformed church, as well as the Classis of Newark, which meets within the next three weeks, will be asked to sanction the action taken by the church.

At the meeting tomorrow evening other important matters will come up for discussion and all the members are urged to attend

THOSE WHO HELPED.

W. L. Holbert Assisted Judge Runyon at Hope Chapel Minstrels.

Among those those who assisted in making the minstrel entertainment of the Hope Chapel Y. M. A. troupe such a decided success, is William L. Holbert, the local representative of the Scranton International Correspondence school. Mr. Holbert is thoroughly acquainted with the minstrel business and many of the stage effects and groupings were arranged under his direction. He also assisted City Judfie Runyon in personally directing rehearsals and by skilled coaching brought out many good points in the performers.

Someone Was Locked In.

A peculiar state of affairs existed at the shed in the rear of L. W. Randolph's pharmacy, yesterday morning. The door of the place was smashed and torn from its hinges. An examination showed that the door had been forced open from the inside. The forks of a bicycle had been used in opening the door. Dudley Miller, the head clerk in the pharmacy, securely locked the place Thursday night, and it is supposed that some person was in the place at the time.

Speaks Well for Them.

Dr. T. W. McVety, superintendent Galesburg, Ill., Chautauqua, in speaking of the Mendelssohn Quartette Company, says: "They sang four concerts without repetition. The greatest attraction of the whole Chautauqua." This company will appear in the Y. M. C. Star Course Monday evening.

Y. M. C. A. TEAM WON GAME

DEFEATED LEAL'S SCHOOL BOYS AT BASKET BALL.

Association Team Victorious by a Score of 30 to 10—Accurate Goal Throwing Did It.

Remarkable accuracy in goal throwing gave the first basket ball team of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. a comparatively easy victory over the Leal's School five in a game played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, last evening.

The game was won by a score of 30 to 10. From the very first it was evident that the association players were in fine form. They began to score at once. Leal's boys played a hard, aggressive game but their team play was not up to the standard of their opponents and they were forced on the defensive most of the time. The play on both sides was hard but comparatively clean.

The first half found the Y. M. C. A. team in the lead 24 to 4. The next half saw an improvement on the part of the Leal's boys who scored twice and prevented their opponents from doing any better. Several changes were made on the association team, Heincke and Giles retiring to give Neal and Hand a chance. The latter was injured soon after the second half was started and McNaughton took his place. A large audience, including many of the fair sex, witnessed the game.

The detailed score:

Cranston	r. f.	R. Schoonmaker
Denton	l. f.	G. Abbott
Cahoone	c.	Hall
Heincke, Neal	r. g.	W. Schoonmaker
Giles, Hand, McNaughton	l. g.	McGee.

Score—Y. M. C. A., 30; Leal's School, 10. Goals from the field—Cranston (5), Denton (3), Cahoone (2), Abbott (2), Hall. Goals on fouls — Cahoone, W. Schoonmaker. Fouls—Y. M. C. A., 4; Leal's School, 3. Referee—Charles B. Morse. Umpires—C. E. A. Heywood and Paul Whitall. Timekeeper—Chas. Zimmer. Scorer—John H. Doane.

REPAIRING BRIDGES.

Somerset County Freeholders Are Repairing Damages by Floods.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 15—The Somerset county Board of Freeholders has begun to repair damages to bridges by the recent floods. Yesterday a meeting was held at the big iron bridge over the Raritan river below this place. The south abutment was badly washed and the board proposes to devise some means, if possible, to save it.

After the ground was viewed and property owners below the bridge had given their opinions the matter was laid over for a short time.

To Close at Seven o'Clock.

Out of consideration for their employes who have stood by them so loyally and who are greatly fatigued, Woodhull & Martin announce that their store will close at 7 o'clock each evening until further notice. The store will also be closed from 12 o'clock noon until 1:30 in order to allow the sales people to get their meals.

Temporary Roof to be Built.

Building Inspector Doane has issued a permit to the trustees of the Babcock estate allowing them to erect a temporary roof over the building. The work will be started Monday and pushed rapidly toward completion. By making this improvement it is believed that the postoffice may be reestablished in the building soon.

Stealing Metal From Ruins.

Patrolman McCarthy arrested at the Babcock building, this morning. Donato Orgo, an Italian junkman, from Berkeley Heights, and four young boys for stealing metal from the ruins. All were locked up at police headquarters and will be arraigned before a justice this afternoon.

A Good Speaker.

Rev. W. W. Clark, of New York, will occupy the pulpit at Trinity Reformed church, tomorrow. In the morning his subject will be "Oklahoma," and the evening subject will be "How to Study the Bible." Mr. Clark is an interesting speaker and those who attend the services will be well repaid for so doing.

Found Money in Debris.

John Motley, of this city, found seven $10 bills in the debris at the Babcock building yesterday. He turned it over to the proper authorities, who found the owner. Mr. Motley was rewarded with $10 for his find.

No Guardian Appointed.

The announcement that Francis J. Blatz has been appointed guardian of the estate of John Marsh, adjudged a lunatic, proves to be premature. No appointment has yet been made.

LOCAL LEAGUE.

Meeting of Baseball Teams to be Held Tonight to Organize a Four-Cornered League.

Representatives from the Hope Y. M. A., St. Mary, Y. M. C. A., and Safe Work's baseball teams, will meet this evening for the purpose of forming a league. It is hoped to get a fifth team from one of the shops and contest for a penant. In this way interest in the national sport will be heightened locally, and the teams will receive greater encouragement.

The games put up by some of the Plainfield teams, last season, were worthy of far greater support than they were afforded and at times the managements were inclined to relax their efforts to furnish semi-professional contests. This year another attempt will be made and it is thought baseball will once more be a popular Plainfield amusement.

REORGANIZATION SALE.

It Commenced at Crosby & Hill's Big Store Today.

The great reorganization sale commenced today at Crosby & Hill's store, and as was expected, the store is crowded with shoppers. This sale will continue every day up to and including next Saturday. This is an exceptional opportunity for the people of Plainfield to get great bargains. The new spring goods are very attractive in style and price, and in every department there is to be found no end of bargains.

Everything offered for sale has been cut in price, while the quality of the goods is first-class. There are linens and domestics, and dress fabrics, muslin underwear, carpets and rugs, and no better opportunity will be offered this season to get these goods so cheap. Manager Roberts is anxious to give Plainfielders a fair chance at these bargains and will make every effort to do so.

Fire in Upper Room.

In some unknown manner, an upper room at the home of Russell Sacher at Spooner avenue and West Third street, caught fire, last evening, and spread in dangerous fashion. A still alarm was sent to fire headquarters and the chemical engine, truck and No. 3 hose responded. The flames were extinguished with a loss of $50.

Anniversary Meeting.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will hold its anniversary meeting Wednesday, March 26, when a programme appropriate to the occasion will be presented.

Climax of Them All.

Mrs. Eden L. Boice, of Central avenue and Fourth street, suffered a loss of $800 worth of dishes as a result of the fire in the Babcock building. She considers this a climax to her many other troubles.

ORGANIZED BASEBALL TEAM

Y. M. C. A. PLANS TO HAVE A STRONG NINE ON THE DIAMOND.

Officers Were Chosen at a Meeting of Candidates Held Last Evening.

At a largely attended meeting of baseball enthusiasts held in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A., last evening, the members decided to have a representative association baseball team. Representatives were present from Leal's School Athletic Association and the members of that association pledged themselves to merge with the association team to assist in the selection of good material.

With the question of having a team definitely decided upon, the projectors then elected the following officials: Manager, C. E. A. Heywood; assistant manager, George Dupee; captain, John G. McLaughlin. Twenty-three names were presented as applicants for positions.

Among the candidates were John G. McLaughlin, J. O. McKelvey, George Bolsterli, George Schoonmaker, Ralph Schoonmaker, William Schoonmaker, Herbert Moore, C. B. Egan, George Dupee, Harold Dolner, W. Corwin, Rudolph Bourgeois, Walter McNaughton, Howard George, Arthur Denton, S. Eams, Langdon Howard, Phillip VanArsdale, D. A. McGee and William Mundy.

The selection of the nine men and regular substitutes will be left to the officials. This will be done as soon as practice games can be had. The team will enter the league which is to be formed by local nines.

TICKETS SELLING.

For Greenbrook Council's Entertainment at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The Montauk Ladies' Quartette, which will appear at Greenbrook Council, Royal Arcanum, entertainment, at Y. M. C. A. Hall, March 31, is composed of vocalists of rare excellence. They never fail to keep their audience in a vein of good humor and laughter all the evening. Their articulation is perfect and they are possessed of extreme versatility, being able to present humorous as well as classical music in an artistic manner.

In speaking of a recent entertainment the Peekskill Democrat says: "Their last number, the 'Waterlily Gavotte' given in Japanese costume, with graceful evolutions and poses, was a very pretty spectacle and a fitting close to an exceptionally attractive programme." The Ridgewood News says: "All the ladies are artists and pretty as well as clever."

Walter W. Waters, who will also appear at this entertainment, is unsurpassed as an entertainer. He has been properly named "Selzer-Waters" and his short talks in good English and dialect stories in dialect are bound to please and call for frequent encores. Mr. Waters has been described as "bubbling over with bright ideas."

Tickets and reserved seats can be secured at Hodge's pharmacy, Y. M. C. A. building. The popularity of this entertainment can be judged from the fact that although two weeks off the reserved seats are more than half gone.

All the Clerks Ill.

But for the kind assistance of C. E. Hepburn, of this city, the Bayard pharmacy at Westfield would have had to close its doors today. The proprietor, H. P. Condit, and his clerks, were all taken ill yesterday and it is impossible to get anyone to attend the place. Mr. Hepburn volunteered to help out and is there today. Tomorrow one of his clerks, Frank Story, will take charge of the store.

Athletic Affair.

An entertainment was given by the Pastime Athletic Club last evening in Saengerbund Hall. Several boxing bouts and a wrestling match were among the features of the affair. Instrumental and vocal selections were also given.

Fighting Extradition.

Horace Washington, the colored man wanted in this city for bicycle stealing, is being held at Hartford owing to habeas corpus proceedings. For this reason Chief Kiely was unable to extradite the prisoner.

Gathered Him In.

John Watson, drunk and disorderly, was gathered in by Patrolman Overbaugh, last night. When arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning he pleaded guilty but escaped with a suspension of sentence.

At Men's Meeting.

Bradford Williams, of Brooklyn, will speak and Miss Clara J. Mears will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Wm. A. MacKillop will be the violin soloist.

AMONG THE NAILS.

Frightened Horse Did Considerable Damage on Sidewalk.

Becoming frightened at a passing trolley car, a horse belonging to Jed M. Smalley, sprang on the sidewalk in front of A. M. Griffen's store yesterday and performed some extraordinary gyrations before it was calmed down. In its path was a pile of kegs containing nails, many of which were knocked about and broken open. The contents were scattered about the sidewalk and were then kicked in all directions. Mr. Smalley, who was in the wagon, eventually got the animal under control.

MISSION BAND'S ELECTION

OTHER BUSINESS DONE AT THE ANNUAL MEETING.

By Members of the Young Women's Mission Band of the First Baptist Church.

The annual meeting of the Young Women's Mission Band, of the First Baptist church, was held yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the church. There was a large attendance and considerable interest was shown.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Miss Harriet Shreve; vice presidents, Miss Grace Yerkes and Miss Edith Cairns; recording secretary, Miss Helen Robins; corresponding secretary, Miss Pauline Denton; treasurer, Mrs. Herbert Holder; head collector, Mrs. Robert W. Barnes; assistant collectors, Miss Deborah Wynn, Miss Douglas, Miss Ada Fountain, Miss Eizabeth Wilson, Miss Elizabeth Flanders and Miss Carrie Bird.

There was a discussion yesterday regarding an entertainment which will be held in the near future.

PROFITS OF MINSTRELS

Y. M. A. of Hope Chapel Will Clear $325 From Its Recent Performance.

Although a formal settlement has not yet been made, the Young Men's Association, of Hope chapel, will clear from their recent minstrel entertainment, about $325. The receipts from all sources were in the neighborhood of $450. Of the cleared amount, the sum of $150 will be contributed to the Crescent Avenue church as the association's part of the chapel running expenses and $50 will be added to the chapel mortgage fund. The remainder will be retained as a sinking fund from which in all probability, the cost of building bleachers on the organization's ball field, will be met.

NEW RECTOR IN CHARGE.

Rev. W. V. Dawson Conducting the Lenten Services at St. Stephen's.

The interior of St. Stephen's church, Netherwood, has been completely renovated and regular Lenten services are being held by the rector-elect, Rev. W. Vincent Dawson.

On Wednesday and Friday afternoons services are held at 5 o'clock, and on Thursday mornings an early celebration is held at 7:30 o'clock. A change has been made in the hour of evensong Sundays. Hereafter this service will be choral and will be held at 5 o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Dawson will not remove to this city until after Easter, but he is here in the meantime officiating at the church and attending to his parochial duties.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Campbell's enormous trade attests the merit of his goods. He makes among other things fine chocolates and bon bons, also delicious peanut brittle.

One of the most attractive line of suitings for spring and summer wear are now to be seen at Cashin's custom tailoring store in Park avenue. It equals those seen in New York. He also handles a superior grade of mens' furnishings.

There are innumerable little dishes to be procured at R. W. Barnes' delicatessen store, on Park avenue, which go to make up a sumptuous repast. If you haven't time to prepare such dishes you can get them at a moment's notice at Barnes'.

Easter is coming and you will want some beautiful flowers for that day. Leave your order early with John L. Brower, of 127 East Fifth street, and the reliable firm of William H. Brower's Sons, of 946 Broadway, N. Y., will see that it will be filled just when you desire.

J. W. VanSickle, the North avenue market man, has something of interest to say to all housewives. It is this: that they can secure at his place of business the best meat and poultry in the city at the lowest possible prices. Drop in at the store and have cash prices quoted.

Foss & Jeter, the Park avenue sea food dealers, are doing an excellent business at both their stores. The announcement that all their fish is carefully selected by experienced buyers is one of the reasons. The low prices and fair dealing are others which are making the firm popular.

During the coming warm days it will be difficult to keep milk unless you use the very best to be had. William Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue, sell the kind of milk that stands the test in warm weather as well as in the winter months. A postal card will bring it to your home.

When it comes to prescription compounding too much care can not be taken by the druggists. This is one thing which characterizes Nagle's pharmacy. The prescription department is a feature which is carefully attended to and enjoys a large patronage. It is supervised personally by Mr. Nagle.

So far as Plainfield is concerned there are many ways it might be strengthened, such for instance by the annexation of the borough, but when it comes to the human system there's no better way of building it up than by using Hepburn's Blood Purifier. STRONG PLEA AGAINST LIVE PIGEON SHOOTING

Open Letter by Director Trine, of American Humane Education Society.

SUBSTANCE OF LETTER.

HOW PEOPLE OF NEW JERSEY CAN ASSIST IN THIS MOVEMENT.

Bill is Now Before the Legislature—Writes to Assemblymen and Senators Urging Its Immediate Passage.

An open letter to the people of New Jersey has been written by Ralph Waldo Trine, of Orange, N. J., a director of the American Humane Education Society, regarding the shooting of live pigeons for amusement.

In substance it is as follows:

"Brutality still lingers in the State of New Jersey—the shooting, torturing, and mangling of live pigeons from traps under the guise of 'sport.'

"We deplore and cry out against bull fights in Spain, Mexico, and other Spanish speaking countries, yet here in our midst is something that so far as the aggregate of suffering, torture and cruelty is concerned, outweighs it to such an extent that the two are scarcely to be compared; for where a single bull is tortured or slain, thousands of tame pigeons are slaughtered and tortured.

"If two men still in the brute stage of development are caught causing two dogs to fight, they are sent to jail for six months. Similar punishment is given those having a hand in cock-fighting. Yet men who regard themselves as superior to their fellows of the brute stage, can take a hand in the wanton slaughter, the torturing and maiming of thousands of helpless animals in a single day, and nothing is done to them.

"In most cases the pigeon is almost instantly killed, either riddled to pieces, or it falls back a ruffled mass of feathers, struggles for a few seconds, gasps and dies. If this were all, the case against live bird shooting from traps would not be so strong. But it is the case of those poor helpless birds which have merely a wing broken, or a beak or a leg shot away, or are partially disemboweled, but have vitality enough, aided by a strong breeze, to fly beyond the bounds and reach a distance from which they are never recovered, and there die in the slow torture of pain or hunger or cold, or are eaten by rats, lying sometimes for days before kind death deals with them more humanely and kindly than even civilized human beings have dealt.

"Thousands upon thousands of birds are fed into traps every year in the State of New Jersey. And what excuse is there for allowing this practice to go on? It furnishes a little idle amusement and excitement—the excitement of gambling and betting—for a little group of thoughtless, brutal men and women, and it adds a few thousand dollars each year to the profits of various powder and sporting goods manufacturing concerns; while on the other hand, it disgraces the State, it gives pain to nine-tenths, if not to ninety-nine hundredths, of the people of the State, in addition to the untold suffering inflicted upon scores of thousands of beautiful, innocent and heedless birds every year.

"I have always contended, as have others, that the clay pigeon is even a better test of marksmanship. The effect also upon the hundreds of lads who are employed each year to feed the birds into the traps, and to club to death or wring the necks of the wounded ones that fall within or near bounds, is something that the State cannot well afford to overlook. Clearly, a practice so brutal, so inexcusable and so indefensible should be abolished. On February 11 a bill was introduced in the Legislature by Mr. Williams,—Assembly Bill No. 112,—which if passed will make it illegal to shoot live pigeons from traps for sport in the State of New Jersey.

"Many will ask, 'What can we do?' That is the purpose of this letter. Write to the member in the Assembly and Senate from your district, setting forth in a clear cut and unmistakable form your wishes in the matter; find out also how he votes and remember it at the next election. Bring the matter before your association, club, or organization; have it pass resolutions condemning the practice and urging a passage of the bill, and see that the members from your district get them. Circulate petitions among your townspeople or among the people of your community. Urge those about you also to take a hand in the matter. If the members of the Legislature understand clearly and unmistakably that the people of New Jersey want this bill passed, it will pass, whatever influences are brought to bear by the unscrupulous lobby manipulators already at work at Trenton.

"A bill was introduced into the New York Legislature last spring, designed to make this form of brutality illegal, but through the unscrupulous manipulations of a strong lobby it was lost in the Assembly by but two votes. It was again introduced in January, and through the arousing of the people throughout the State, and the powerful and effective aid of the press of the entire State, it was carried in the Senate, and in the Assembly was promptly signed by the Governor. The men most interested in the continuance of the brutal practice are now openly making the boast that they will simply move over into New Jersey. Many years ago the practice was driven out of the State of Massachusetts, and also several other states."

SIGNED FIVE MORE BILLS

GOVERNOR MURPHY HAS ADDED TO STATUTES OF JERSEY.

One of the Laws Was Introduced by Senator Cross, of Union County.

Five laws have been added to the statutes of New Jersey this week in the form of bills signed by Governor Murphy.

Three of these are Assemblyman Bacheller's series of house bills, Nos. 1, 2 and 3 respectively, known as the Newark sewer bills, and enabling the city of Newark to construct and maintain certain sewer systems.

Another bill signed was that of Senator Hudspeth, which passed this week, enabling the city of Bayonne to convert its city hall into a public school building. Bayonne contemplates the erection of a new city hall and being a trifle shy on school accommodations decided to use its old city hall for that purpose.

The fifth measure to become a law is the bill of Senator Cross, which was the outcome of the recent case of small-pox at the State prison. The bill authorizes the keeper or superintendent of the State prison, State reformatory, State home for boys and State home for girls to refuse to accept persons committed to such institutions when any of the inmates are suffering from contagious diseases and until a physician has certified that all danger of contagion has passed.

In the meantime the sheriff of the county from which commitments are made is entrusted with the custody of such persons and provision is made by the act that the time so consumed shall be counted upon the terms of commitment.

Heretofore the term of a prisoner has been counted as beginning with the day he was received at the institution. As a consequence a number of prisoners were recently kept in the county jails for a month or two after being sentenced without any rebate.

FIRST FORESTRY BULLETIN

HAS JUST BEEN ISSUED BY THE NEW JERSEY GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

"Forest Reservation in the Pine Belt of Southern New Jersey" Is the Title.

There has just been issued by the Geological Survey forestry bulletin No. 1, being a paper on "Forest Reservations in the Pine Belt of Southern New Jersey," by Professor John C. Smock, former State geologist.

The bulletin directs attention to the great extent and value of the forests of this State, and especially of the coniferous woods, and of the need of legislative action formulating a State policy for their preservation and cultivation. The "pine belt" stretches from Monmouth county, across Ocean, Burlington, Atlantic and Cumberland counties to Cape May. It is within the limits of what is known as the coastal plain zone of the State.

The forest area is approximately 1,200,000 acres, or nearly 2,000 square miles. Most of this area is unsuited to agriculture, but might be made very profitable as woodland, if the tree crops were properly cultivated. Individual cultivation is impracticable, because it would take more years to mature the crop than small owners could afford to wait. State ownership and State care are therefor necessary.

Professor Smock believes that if the State would acquire these lands, or large tracts thereof, at the present low price, with the forest crop carefully and wisely cultivated, it would pay. The indirect advantages would also be important. The frequent destruction of forests and the humus of the soil by fires would be stopped.

The development of these magnificent pine regions would foster the growth of winter health resorts. It would conserve the water supply and break the force of destructive tornadoes. The water supply of the "pine belt" is of marked wholesomeness and would, with storage reservoirs, furnish more than six hundred million gallons a day, equal to the wants of 6,000,0000 people. It is plain that here is a great problem for the State to solve.

POSTOFFICE AFFAIRS.

Postmaster Bird is Still Awaiting Instructions Regarding the Office.

Postmaster E. H. Bird has not yet received any word from Washington regarding the future of the Plainfield postoffice, and he does not as yet know where the office will be permanently located. The chances are it will be some time before the old quarters are made ready for use. In the meantime Mr. Bird is doing the best he can under the circumstances. The present location is not so bad, but the accommodations are not the best. Mr. Bird believes that the postal authorities will take good care of Plainfield, but in the meantime the people must be patient.

People Believe In It.

It has been cynically said that anything can be sold by advertising now-a-days. This is not so. Many liniments have been advertised but only one—Perry Davis' Painkiller—has stood the test of sixty years' use. Today its popularity is greater than ever and is based not upon what anybody says but upon what the remedy does. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

RATIFIED BY SENATE

Hague Conference Treaty Is Agreed to.

RELATES TO WAR USAGES AND RULES

General Funston's Capture of Aguinaldo Brought to the Front—Shipping Bill Further Discussed. Postoffice Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The senate spent an hour in executive session yesterday on the convention growing out of The Hague peace conference relating to the conduct of war on land and sea and finally ratified the agreement without a division. The discussion turned entirely on the conduct of the war in the Philippines and related especially to General Funston's capture of Aguinaldo. Senator Teller inquired whether if this treaty had been in force at the time the method of Aguinaldo's capture could have been justified. He quoted the provision in the treaty relating to the conduct of spies and said he did not mean himself to say that General Funston's course would not have been regular, but merely to secure the opinion of senators who had given attention to the treaty and who also were familiar with the details of Aguinaldo's capture. Senator Burton replied to the inquiry, speaking especially for General Funston, and said he was sure the proceeding on the general's part had been not only humane, but that it had been in accordance with the rules of civilized warfare. It was true, he said, that General Funston and his force had acted somewhat in the capacity of spies, but what they had done had been in the line of honorable warfare.

Senator Hoar also spoke at some length regarding this provision in the treaty.

The countries party to the treaty are Germany, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Spain, the United States, France, Great Britain, Greece, Italy, Japan, Luxemburg, Montenegro, Netherlands, Persia, Portugal, Roumania, Russia, Servia, Sweden and Norway, Turkey and Bulgaria. The provisions of the treaty are binding only on the contracting powers in case of war between two or more of them and cease to be binding when a noncontracting power joins either of the belligerents.

Throughout the session of the senate the ship subsidy bill was under consideration. The measure was discussed by Mr. Foraker (O.), Mr. McLaurin (Miss.) and Mr. Harris (Kan.).

The house passed the postoffice appropriation bill. The only amendment of importance was one to incorporate in the bill the provisions of the bill to classify the rural free delivery service, passed a few days ago.

Quite a number of other bills were passed, including three bills for marine hospitals at Buffalo, Savannah and Pittsburg.

Another Fruitless Conference.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The conference on the Cuban question lasted from 2 until 5 p. m., and at its close Chairman Payne, who had been delegated by both sides to give out a statement, said that after further consideration of the subject the conferees had come to no conclusion and had adjourned until 2 p. m. today. It is understood that considerable of the time was given to an argument by Mr. Morris (Minn.) on the constitutionality of a rebate. Individually the members, after the meeting, said the prospects for an agreement were good, but that the form of the agreement was still in doubt, no one plan yet having shown its advantages over the others. There were no votes taken at the meeting.

The Hohenzollern's Journey.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 15.—The imperial German yacht Hohenzollern, which arrived here Thursday from New York March 11, has coaled and sailed for the Azores. The officers of the Hohenzollern dined with the British admiral, and Admiral Count von Baudissin, commander of the imperial yacht, and his flag officers visited the governor, Lieutenant General Sir Henry Le Guay Geary. They were received by a guard of honor, and the usual salutes were fired. The Germans expressed themselves as being delighted with the reception accorded them in New York.

China to Build American Home.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The Chinese government has decided to have a permanent home here for its legation, and Minister Wu Ting Fang has recorded a deed by which there is transferred to the Chinese imperial government a building site at Nineteenth and Vernon streets, in the northwestern section of the city, the consideration named being $15,870. A residence for the minister and the officers of the legation will be erected.

Fierce Snowstorm In Colorado.

TELLURIDE, Colo., March 15.—A blizzard has raged in this part of the state for twenty-four hours. More than a foot of snow has already fallen. A high wind has piled the snow in huge drifts, and the mountain tops are nearly bare. Work was stopped yesterday at the Liberty Bell mine, where the snowslides occurred two weeks ago.

Dakota Has a Blizzard.

OPEN SWITCH CAUSES WRECK.

Four Seriously Injured on Nickel Plate at Knox, Ind.

KNOX, Ind., March 15.—A westbound Nickel Plate passenger train ran into an open switch here last night, resulting in a disastrous wreck. The following persons were severely injured: A. A. Schwind, engineer, Fort Wayne; Jim Dalton, fireman, Fort Wayne; C. L. Alexander, baggage master, Cleveland; William Browe, mail clerk, Cleveland.

The train was running at high speed when it collided with a number of freight cars that were standing on a side track. The baggage coach was torn to pieces, and the engine and six freight cars were piled in a heap and were destroyed by fire. The fire raged for several hours, blockading all traffic. No one was killed, although many passengers were slightly injured.

Schwind received dangerous wounds in the head, and his wrists were severely cut. He almost bled to death. Dalton's shoulder and wrist were severely injured. Alexander and Browe it is feared, were internally injured. The railroad company's loss is heavy.

WOLSELEY GOES TO AFRICA.

British Field Marshal Sails For Cape Town on a "Private Visit."

LONDON, March 15.—Field Marshal Lord Wolseley, the former commander in chief of the British army, started for Cape Town today, and, although the officials deny that his trip is anything but a private visit, gossip connects it with the military situation.

It is pointed out that Lord Wolseley's knowledge of South Africa, gained as a fighter and administrator, might be highly useful to Lord Kitchener either at the base, Cape Town, or at Pretoria.

Lord Wolseley himself says his trip is on entirely private business.

Colonel Frank Rhodes and Arthur Rhodes, brothers of Cecil Rhodes, and Lady Methuen were passengers on the steamer which took Lord Wolseley to Cape Town.

The London Daily Chronicle March 12 announced that it understood that Lord Kitchener was to be relieved of much administrative work in South Africa to enable him to take the field in person and head a large mounted force in an endeavor to capture General De Wet.

New Port Collector Dined.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The new collector of the port of New York appointed recently by President Roosevelt, who will enter upon the discharge of his duties on April 1, Senator N. N. Stranahan of the Oswego district, received a warm welcome last evening at the Union League club at a dinner given in his honor by John A. Sleicher, editor of Leslie's Weekly. The menu was unique and original and the floral decorations profuse. Some of the most eminent public, professional and business men were present, and Mayor Low, Senator Depew, the Hon. Cornelius N. Bliss, Melville E. Stone, Hon. John A. McCall and others extended good wishes to the incoming federal official.

Valet Jones' Statements Disproved.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Evidence tending to shatter the entire fabric of Valet Jones' testimony concerning the murder of William M. Rice was given yesterday. The principal ground for crediting his story rests on his assertions that Albert T. Patrick was unacquainted with Rice and had never visited him in his home. Three witnesses gave the direct lie to these assertions. Two said they had seen Patrick and Rice together in the old millionaire's home at 500 Madison avenue. A third witness said he had known Rice for many years and had heard him speak of Patrick. The lawyers for the defense assert that these witnesses have completely broken the force of Jones' story.

Miners Face Armed Guards.

ROANOKE, Va., March 15.—A special from Bristol says reports from the southwest Virginia coalfields indicate practically no change in the situation. Private advices are to the effect that about a thousand miners are now out. These men are face to face with armed guards, and the situation may become critical at any moment. The miners are said to be relying upon the native mountaineers for aid in case of an emergency. The operators, it is said, have telegraphed for more guns and ammunition. The crisis seems at hand, and developments of a pacific or more perturbed nature are expected very soon.

Fortune For a Schoolboy.

NEWBURG, N. Y., March 15.—James Green, aged nineteen, of Newark, N. J., a student at the Mount Beacon Military academy at Fishkill Landing, has been informed that he has fallen heir to property worth about $100,000 through the death of an uncle in England.

Mexican Priests Bound For Rome.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Twenty priests on a pilgrimage to Rome have arrived here on the New York and Cuba mail steamer Esperanza. The priests embarked at Vera Cruz.

LINCOLN'S HOME FOR SALE.

Farm Where President Once Lived In the Market.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 15.—The old Lincoln farm in the heart of Lincoln City, Spencer county, will be sold for delinquent taxes. For years the taxes on the farm have not been paid, and the county officials have decided to offer the farm for sale. Attempts heretofore have been made to turn the farm into a park and to secure from congress an appropriation for this purpose, and this may be done after the farm shall pass into other hands.

The old cottage that stood on the farm, in which Abraham Lincoln lived, was removed to New York many years ago and was sold for several thousand dollars. The commissioners of Spencer county have received many letters from people over the country wanting to buy the farm, and bidders will doubtless be numerous when the tax sale shall be held. The mother of Lincoln is buried on the farm. The burial lot is kept in good condition by the commissioners. The county received a deed for the lot several years ago.

The late Governor Mount of this state advocated turning the farm into a park and brought the matter to the attention of the legislature, but nothing was done.

BOND BUYING STOPPED.

Secretary Shaw Will Discontinue For a Time—Price Too High.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The secretary of the treasury has announced that he will discontinue for the present the purchase of United States bonds of the 5 per cent loan of 1904, the 4 per cent funded loan of 1907, the 3 per cent loan of 1908-18 and the 4 per cent loan of 1925, such discontinuance to take effect at the close of business today.

The secretary believes that the price of bonds is unreasonably high and that the effect of the government being permanently in the market stimulates and helps to maintain this price to the prejudice of national bank circulation. Banks are said to be retiring circulation as rapidly as possible, presumably for the purpose of selling the bonds now on deposit at present prices or for the purpose of using them with the treasury as security for government deposits. In making government deposits the secretary is disposed to discriminate in favor of such banks as maintain their circulation and by these two methods hopes to overcome the tendency to retire national bank circulation.

General Funston's Plans.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Brigadier General Frederick Funston, who is making a visit to the east, arrived at Washington last night, accompanied by Lieutenant B. J. Mitchell, his aid. The general's purpose here mainly is to pay his respects to President Roosevelt and Secretary Root. He will remain until next week, when he expects to depart for Oakland, Cal., where Mrs. Funston is staying. He said that his leave of absence from the division of the Philippines will expire April 10, at which time he will leave San Francisco unless there shall be a change in his assignment. If General Funston is to be given duty in the United States on the expiration of his leave, he has not yet been made aware of it. His preference would be to remain somewhere in the northern part of the country for about a year in order that his health, which was so severely shattered during the campaign in the Philippines, may be fully restored.

Ryan Too Much For Smith.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 15.—Tommy Ryan of this city last night knocked out "Mysterious" Billy Smith of Portland, Or., in the fourth round of what was scheduled as a ten round bout in Turner hall. After one minute and thirty-five seconds of furious fighting in the fourth round Ryan landed a terrific left in the stomach, which was followed so closely by a right hook on Smith's jaw that it was difficult to tell which blow was the more effective. Smith went down and, though he struggled hard to regain his feet, was unable to rise before ten seconds were counted out.

A Belt Line For St. Louis.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 15.—A charter has been issued by the secretary of state to the St. Louis Belt and Terminal Railway company, with a capital stock of $3,000,000. The road is to encircle the city of St. Louis and is to make connections and terminal facilities for the Missouri Pacific and St. Louis and San Francisco systems in St. Louis. The line is to extend from Carondelet, in St. Louis county, around the city of St. Louis to the Eads bridge, a distance of twenty-one miles.

Old Monitors Sold.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The old single turreted monitors Mahopac and Manhattan have been sold respectively to A. V. Kaiser & Co. and H. A. Hitner's Sons, both of Philadelphia, at $15,218 each, the highest bidders. The old receiving ship Vermont, the bids for which did not reach the appraisal figure, will be put up at auction again and sold to the highest bidder.

Princess Radziwill Ill.

CAPE TOWN, March 15.—The case of Princess Radziwill, who is charged with forgery in connection with notes purporting to have been signed by Cecil Rhodes and repudiated by the latter, has been postponed until March 21 on account of the illness of the princess.

Herr Von Holleben Will Stay.

BERLIN, March 15.—It having been rumored that a change in the German embassy in Washington was possible, the foreign office here has authorized a correspondent to deny that Dr. von Holleben, the present embassador, will be either furloughed or recalled.

TROUBLE NOT ENDED

Many Boston Strikers Still Remain Idle.

GOVERNOR CRANE IS HOPEFUL.

A Large Number of the Men Find Their Places Filled — Conferences Held With Railway Officials.

BOSTON, March 15.—The labor situation in Boston is extremely perplexing. To give weight to statements of labor men who spoke without authority that harmony is not restored is to make the outlook far more critical than at any time since the Allied Freight Transportation council began its fight against the R. S. Brine Transportation company. On the other hand, Governor Crane and the state board of arbitration believe that the problem is being solved quite rapidly, considering the immensity of the strike, and only ask for time and patience from both laboring and business men to remove all obstacles for a resumption of freight traffic under customary conditions.

As an actual fact the strike was completely broken yesterday, although individual troubles cropped out in many quarters, some of which were adjusted without delay and others dragged along in uncertain state so that they came in for consideration by the various labor bodies last night. During these meetings, judging from what was argued by the men, independent strikes of bodies seem impending, but the leaders in the strike just ended are sanguine that they still hold control of the entire organized labor body and would not again be obliged to order a strike of the freight handlers or its more serious accompaniment, a sympathetic strike of affiliated bodies.

The physical side of the strike breaking presented an army of workingmen rushing helter skelter to get their old jobs. There had been more than 20,000 places vacated, but fully 10 per cent of the union men found their places filled. This was the reason for friction all day, affecting only the men themselves, for concerns were too busy raising the embargo on goods in their keeping to give heed to talk of unfairness.

The real battle yesterday was between the men who controlled the strike and the representatives of great interests who had been prevailed upon to consider certain propositions as a way to a settlement of the trouble. As for three days past it was Governor Crane at his office in the statehouse who stood between the parties at issue.

After numerous conferences the governor said:

"The situation looks very much more encouraging than last night. The railroads have all agreed to take back as many men as possible without discrimination. As far as the steamship lines are concerned, I understand that the men have returned or practically all of them. The railroad companies will not consent to discharge men whom they have hired in place of the strikers, but they are well disposed to the men and are very anxious to take back as many as possible. The question of the loading and unloading teams, while it came up incidentally, was not very much discussed. It will be taken up next week."

Castro at Panama.

PANAMA, March 15.—The government generals Castro and Ortiz have arrived here and received one of the most enthusiastic welcomes ever witnessed in Panama. The crowds in the streets leading to the railroad station made traffic almost impossible. The cheers for the generals were deafening. Referring to the engagement at Agua Dulce on Feb. 20, General Castro said that the government troops, numbering 800 men, were attacked by 3,000 revolutionists. On the third day of the fighting both drinking water and ammunition in Agua Dulce became scarce, and General Castro ordered his troops to retreat. To do this the government forces had to break through the rebel lines. General Castro says he knows positively that of the forces under the revolutionary general Herrera over 700 were killed or wounded. He characterized the bravery of the revolutionists as something extraordinary.

Quarrel Over Boer War.

COLBORNE, Ont., March 15.—Henry L. Merrick, formerly pastor of a St. Albans (Vt.) church, but now representing an insurance company here, on learning that General Methuen was captured publicly expressed the hope that General Kitchener would be bagged next. Caspen Wilbert, a young farmer, who heard him, promptly knocked Merrick down. When Wilbert was passing Merrick's place, he was fired on by some one concealed in the barn, and a charge of buckshot entered his left thigh. Merrick has not since been seen.

Entertained Eleven Princesses.

PEKING, March 15.—Mrs. Conger, wife of the United States minister here, assisted by the ladies of the American legation and of the missions, entertained at Tiffin eleven princesses and ladies of the court. This departure from the exclusiveness of the Chinese court is unprecedented. The dowager empress sent her greetings and expressed the hope that the kindly relations established will remain unbroken.

The Strike at Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Va., March 15.—The strike here is practically in the same condition as yesterday. Cars are running, but not on regular schedule time. Strike sympathizers are stoning cars at every opportunity, especially in the dark places in the suburbs.

A GOOD MEASURE DEFEATED.

The attempt to consolidate the elections in the boroughs and townships of the State met with failure. By a close vote, the measure was defeated in the State Legislature Wednesday. This is regrettable for the need of uniting the general and local elections is just as great in the boroughs and townships as it was in the cities, where the union was brought about by the Meeker act last year. Assemblyman Horner, the Republican leader in the lower house, declared that the bill was not demanded by public sentiment. Of course, a poor argument is better than none but the Republican reason for defeating the measure looks woefully weak.

The election of last Tuesday very generally demonstrated the need of abolishing the spring elections. There was a general lack of interest and many were kept from the polls by inability to reach them thanks to the impassible quagmires, called roads by courtesy. If the spring elections are to be continued, then the "good roads" movement wants to be advanced very rapidly in the rural districts of the State. No further away than Piscataway township, many farmers could not reach the polling place without driving through mud that was up to the hubs of their wagon wheels.

The construction of tunnels under the Hudson river is a subject which is of decided interest to Plainfield even if the Jersey Central Railroad does not happen to be interested in the project. If there is a tunnel built under the great river to connect the Jersey shore with New York City, it is not going to be long before the people of this community are going to have the use of that or a similar tunnel. The chief objection raised to Jersey suburban towns has been the ferry ride from New York. The establishment of a tunnel means the eventual abolishment of the ferry boat for passenger traffic. Two enterprises are now on foot to connect this State with New York and each new move made by them will be watched with interest by the people of Plainfield.

It is earnestly to be hoped that the Union county members of the two houses of the New Jersey Legislature will do all they can to aid the passage of the bill, now before the Legislature, which aims to end the wholesale slaughter of pigeons at the traps. The bill does not interfere in the slightest with the legitimate sport of the trapshooters; it will end, however, a certain species of brutality which is now permitted in this State.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen one of the largest and most flourishing orders in the State, has honored Vincent W. Nash, of this city, by unanimously selecting him for the office of grand master workman, the highest in the State. Mr. Nash has long been one of the most active workers in that organization and the honor thus conferred upon him is in just recognition of his valuable services.

The benefit of advertising in the newspapers in a way to attract attention has been demonstrated in the case of a weekly publication in New York, remarks the Philadelphia Record. Four years ago the subscribers did not number 50,000. Chiefly by means of display advertisements in the leading daily newspapers its circulation has been increased to 300,000. The "ads" were striking and convincing.

The people of Somerset county have announced their determination to send a delegation before the judiciary committee of the State Senate, at the public hearing on the Greater Plainfield bills, Tuesday afternoon. It is earnestly to be hoped that the friends of the movement will not neglect to see that they are well represented there.

The prospects for baseball among the boys of the Plainfield High School this spring appear to be particularly bright. There are many candidates for the team and now one of the best diamonds in the city has been secured for its use. There ought to be nothing now to stand in the way of a very successful season.

Geographical, social and business reasons all support the proposition that North Plainfield's interests lie more with Union county than do the interests of the city go with Somerset county.

The fence still stands between the tracks at the North Avenue station and the coat of white or light-colored paint is needed just as badly as ever.

COUNTY COURT.

Somerset Courts in Session at Somerville Yesterday — Transfer of Licenses.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 15—The usual amount of business was accomplished yesterday by Judge Schenck in the Somerset county courts.

The application of Frank Kolbeck for a transfer of his saloon license from Fuer's property in Bound Brook to the Nagle property on Main street was refused. Later he applied, through his counsel, Daniel H. Beekman, for a transfer to Gateville. It was granted.

The application for a transfer of the County Hotel license in this place to Mrs. D. C. Hoyt was laid over for one week for a hearing.

In the Orphan's court, Horace Codington was allowed $10 for counsel fees in the Edward Stevens case accounts.

The Pearson and Fryer will matters were laid over until next week.

Former Resident of Dunellen.

Rev. Judson Titsworth, of Milwaukee, Wis., who will be remembered by many of Plainfield's older citizens, is stopping for a short time with his cousin, David E. Titsworth, of West Seventh street. He is on his way home from a pleasure trip to Italy and will visit friends in this vicinity for the next week. He was also at one time a resident of Dunellen.

Preparing Easter Music.

The first rehearsal of the Easter music will be held at St. Joseph's church tomorrow afternoon, when the quartette choir, chorus and Korff's orchestra, which is to assist, will meet at the church. Some exceedingly difficult and attractive music will be presented at the Easter service.

Named the Willing Workers.

The organization of members of Horace J. Martin's Sunday-school class has taken the name of The Willing Workers of Trinity church. Meetings, with social features, will be held monthly.

Waiting for The Scout.

The February number of The Scout, the publication of the North Plainfield High School boys, has not been issued as yet. It is said that it will be out within the next ten days.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruptions. DeWitt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy condition and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Hooper, Albany, Ga., says: "I took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness. They were just what I needed. I am feeling better now than in years." Never gripe or distress. STUPENDOUS FIRE SALE!

Saturday, March 15th.

7 o'clock, a. m.

$25,000 worth of Dry Goods, Carpets, Furniture and Housefurnishings damaged only by water to be sold at once. This is beyond all question the largest and most important sale of its kind in the history of Plainfield, for every damaged article will be fearfully sacrificed. Store will open every morning at 7 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m. Only as many people will be admitted at a time as we can properly wait upon when the doors will be closed. When these people are dismissed others will be admitted. This appears to be the only way to care for the large crowds we anticipate, and is not done in any spirit of favoritism. This sale is not advertised "out of town" as we desire to give our own townspeople, from whom we have received so many assurances of sympathy and encouragement, every opportunity to secure the best bargains. Our Carpet Store is located, for the present, at 324 West Front Street.

AN ILL FATED CITY.

Particulars of the Great Shamaka Earthquake.

NINE VISITATIONS WITHIN CENTURY.

An Eyewitness Tells of the Destruction and Slaughter Caused by the Recent Shocks In Transcaucasia.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 15.—The details of the Shamaka (Transcaucasia) earthquake have just arrived here.

On March 21, 1860, Professor Abich, a noted seismologist, declared: "As to Shamaka, it is to be feared that it will one day become a mass of ruins inside a few minutes."

It was not Shamaka's first warning nor her last. Nine earthquakes have been recorded at that place since 1806. In 1859 all the governmental institutions there were transferred to Baku in consequence of an earthquake. The city lately contained 22,000 inhabitants. It was a laughing, vine clad settlement.

An eyewitness thus related his experiences on the first day of the disaster: There were two distinct shocks, at 8 and 11 a. m., respectively, but the people, accustomed to rumblings of the earth, paid no heed. Instead of fleeing for their lives the Mohammedan women and children proceeded to their obligatory daily ablutions. At 12.50 p. m. (Feb. 12 or 13) there was an ominous growling, and the earth bulged up suddenly and subsided again. People were thrown headlong in the streets, and when they rose they were thrown down again. Asphyxiating vapors exuded from the fissured earth and filled the air. The scenes that followed will never be adequately described. Men abandoned their families. There was a chaos of fearful cries. The telegraph office went down with everything else in the stricken portion of the city. Hence the delay in transmitting the news abroad.

The rescue work was a heartrending affair. Forty persons or more were disinterred alive, one, a girl, after nine days. Mothers were brought out dead with lifeless infants clasped in their arms.

On the first day a father saw his young daughter, still alive, beneath a mass of debris. He feverishly released her, locked his arms about her and started away. A second shock buried father and daughter beneath a falling wall.

There are nearly 20,000 persons shelterless, without sufficient food, without hope. The Red Cross society and the government officials have labored to relieve the worst suffering. Collections have been taken up in the churches, but the amount thus collected is not yet known.

A Train Robber's Fate.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 15.—Fishermen near Branchville have found the half decomposed body of a white man floating in the Edisto river near where the express company's safe was found on the day after the recent express robbery. Two pistols were strapped around the body, and in the coat pockets were found twelve express envelopes, four of them containing money. On the day following the express robbery the trail was traced by bloodhounds to a place on the river near where the body was found yesterday, where it was lost. It is thought the robber attempted to swim across the rapid current, but, being weighted down by his clothes, heavy pistols and cartridges, he perished miserably. Those who have seen the body pronounce it to be the notorious Bartow Warren, who is alleged to have robbed the Southern Express company twice.

Noted Kentuckian Dead.

LONDON, Ky., March 15.—News has been received here of the death of General T. T. Garrard at his home near Manchester. General Garrard was a grandson of Governor Garrard, the second governor of Kentucky. He served as an officer in the Mexican war and as brigadier general in the Federal army during the civil war. Among his children is Major Joseph Garrard of the regular army. General Garrard lived on a farm given his ancestors by Virginia patent and conducted the famous salt works. He was the patriarch of the Garrard tribe of feudists, but the hope of his life was to see permanent peace established.

May Move State University.

DES MOINES, Ia., March 15.—Representative Larrabee, son of ex-Governor Larrabee, has introduced a joint resolution in the legislature amending the constitution so as to permit the removal of the state university from Iowa City to Des Moines or other city offering sufficient inducements, providing Iowa City continues to do as little for the institution as in the past.

Playing Chess by Cable.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The seventh annual contest by cable between America and Great Britain for chess supremacy and the Newnes trophy was begun yesterday on eight boards. It was continued today on ten boards. The match is being held under the auspices of the Brooklyn Chess club and the British Chess club of London.

Union Lead to Expand.

TOLEDO, O., March 15.—The Union Lead and Oil company announces that it will during the coming year erect three large lead corroding plants. One is to be erected in New York, one in Toledo and the third in St. Louis. The plants are to cost $1,000,000. Ground has been purchased for the Toledo plant.

WRESTLED WITH BEAR.

Hunter Ad Yocum's Lively Hand-to-Paw Encounter in the Pennsylvania Mountains.

The Pittsburg Post has added another to the many thrilling bear stories that have come from the Nittany valley. This time the hero of a battle with bruin is Ad Yocum, and his recent adventure will constitute a leading tale to be told about hunting party camp fires in the future.

One Thursday morning Yocum, with dog and gun, struck for the mountains and wandered from crest to crest until he was well into Sugar valley without finding any game. Ad had about given up hope of getting a shot that day, or finding any game, when, quite suddenly, he came on a large bear snugly ensconced in its den. Yocum's weapon was only a doublebarrelled shotgun, but he concluded to try a shot, and, taking careful aim, he fired at bruin. The load took effect, but only to the extent of waking up the bear and putting it in a fighting mood. It had not seen Yocum until he fired, but when it spied him it went for him, and soon got into such close quarters with its would-be slayer that he was unable to discharge the other barrel of his gun.

Using his weapon for a club Yocum resorted to the only chance he had left, and a hand-to-paw encounter occurred. At the first blow Yocum dealt, the butt of his gun gave way, and the hunter found himself with only the barrel to use on the bear. The situation was now decidedly desperate. Every second the bear became more furious and Yocum weaker. Finally the hunter rallied, got into a good position, and, exerting every energy, brought the barrel of his gun down on the bear's skull with such force that he killed the brute, it rolling over dead.

Soon after the battle a lumber team passed along, and it was secured to haul the carcass to the jubilant hunter's home. The bear was thin and weighed only a little over 100 pounds, but it had a fine pelt, and Yocum says that the fight it put up was even finer.

CRUSHED TO EARTH.

Truth Meets with Its Usual Initial Fate, But By and By It Will Rise Again.

Two fair young girls sat in a dainty boudoir gazing into each other's eyes.

"We are such good friends, Marcia," said one, "and we can afford to say to each other just what we think. Now, I have such a splendid scheme. Suppose we begin to-day by telling each other the exact truth without regard to any question of politeness."

"How perfectly lovely, Lobelia!" cooed the younger girl of the two.

"YOUR FEET ARE SO LARGE."

"Let's begin just now. What do you think of me?"

"I think," said Marcia, "that you are almost as pretty as you think you are, and when you don't try to be you are the most charming girl in the world."

"How awfully good of you!" rejoined the other. "And do you know that when you came in I was thinking that you looked just like one of those big feather dusters which had taken a notion to walk. Only your feet are so very large that the illusion was not quite perfect."

Two disheveled young women, with fair faces cross-lined by scratches, says the Chicago Journal, were taken out of that aristocratic mansion five minutes later and hurried in an ambulance to the nearest hospital.

SWEET VOICE WON HIM.

Boston Telephone Girl on Her Way to Denver, Col., to Marry a Man She Never Saw.

Miss Nellie Brown, of Boston, is on her way to Denver, Col., where she is to marry a man she has never seen. Their courtship has been carried on through correspondence, and the only knowledge they have of each other's personal appearance is through photographs. The bride-to-be is a handsome young woman of 23 years. Her betrothed is a prominent business man of Denver.

The story of their acquaintance and subsequent engagement, as told by Miss Brown to a Chicago American correspondent, is romantic.

OVER THE TELEPHONE.

"I am going to Denver to meet my intended husband," she said. "His name I do not care to tell. Our acquaintance is the result of a conversation over the telephone. It was during the excitement over the assassination of President McKinley that we became acquainted.

"The man was then in Boston on a business trip. I was employed at a telephone central in one of the hotels. He called for a number and in that way we engaged in conversation, which finally resulted in an exchange of names and an introduction through that means. The man promised to write to me, but thinking him to be like many others who joke with the telephone 'central,' I paid no attention to his promise.

"About a week later I received a letter from him and then our correspondence began. We became engaged to be married. Unless something interferes with our plans we shall be married within a week."

In the course of her conversation Miss Brown mentioned that in one of her letters the man claimed to have been captivated by her sweet voice and desired an acquaintance with her. It was this, she says, that won for her a husband. Miss Brown said that she came of a poor family and for the past five years has been earning her own living.

CHIPPENDALE FURNITURE.

The Modern Revival of Eighteenth Century Styles.

The leading furniture dealers are making a return to the furniture of the time of good Queen Anne. The names of Chippendale, Sheraton and Heppelwaite have become famous as the great designers of that time. Perhaps the name of Chippendale is more familiar than any of the others, and his work is much sought after both by collectors and by dealers in general. At present many artistic reproductions are being made. Chippendale furniture is usually of mahogany, decorated by carving of a greater or less relief, and it is noticeable with what perfect exactness the carving corresponds to the outline of the furniture. The chairs are deep seated and carefully hollowed in the back, and the general style of the furniture combines ease with elegance.

The illustration shows a few choice reproductions of this Chippendale furniture—a wonderful old curio cupboard with diamond panes of glass, a writing table with brass handles, covered with brass and crystal writing inplements, and a high backed Queen Anne chair.

REGULATING HER SIZE.

Any Woman Can Make Herself Thin or Plump, as She Wills.

What is the use of remaining skinny or of laboring under mountains of fat when you can change your weight at will—not by filling your stomach with drugs either, but by the simple process of dieting? If people would pay more attention to the properties of food instead of to their taste, we would have a far more shapely race of human beings.

Take the woman who is too thin. She should eat five instead of three meals a day, with a rest after each. The morning and midafternoon refreshments may be light and simple, consisting of an egg beaten up in milk or something of the sort, but the idea is that directly after eating there is a tendency to inactivity, in itself conducive to fat. At the other meals eggs, milk toasted bananas, tenderloin steak, hot chocolate, whipped cream, baked sweet potatoes, cream soups of all sorts, should be the principal staples of food. Toasted bread and pickles should be avoided like the plague and Boston brown bread and graham eaten instead of the ordinary white loaf. The seeker after plumpness should keep off her feet as much as possible and sleep as many hours as she can. Another thing, she should introduce olive oil into her food at every opportunity.

LEARN NOT TO TAKE YOUR EASE

Now as regards her plump sister. The first thing she must learn is not to take her ease. Plump people are usually the least nervous and active of women. If they would worry and fly around more, their fat would never trouble them. They should walk as much as possible and avoid the warm corners of the fireside and the most downy armchair. A diet of fruit is excellent for them. Bananas, however, are to be excepted, as they are most fattening. Clear soups, rare meat, few vegetables and frequent salads with plenty of pepper and vinegar are the proper articles of diet for the stout woman. She should never eat fresh bread, but always have it toasted. Tea and coffee she should drink with as little milk as possible, and sweets and greasy messes of all kinds she should strictly avoid.

HELEN CLIFTON.

The Pouched Waist.

Of perhaps 200 dresses examined almost every one had a pouched waist, the pouch more or less pronounced. These were in the windows and showrooms of some of the best houses in New York, and so they may be taken as significant of the extended life of the blouse style. There were china silks, surahs and, in fact, all the silks now in vogue for early spring. We know that these blouse waists are regarded more or less in the light of models from which ideas can be taken to develop in the pretty figured lawns and other dainty and summery materials.

The principal novelty about the dresses is that they all seem to have very long skirts with shaped flounces around the bottom or some kind of a drop skirt or a simulated one.

As Frances hurried homeward, choking and sick with her sorrow, she found herself caught in the whirls and eddies of a great crowd and borne along helplessly past her street. Men carried torches and were cheering themselves hoarse, while horns added their din to the confusion. Upon every hat were the red letters "M.M." It was a demonstration by the famous "Minute Men," who rose in every southern city as they had risen nearly 100 years before when the drums beat. Suddenly she was jammed against a carriage, the progress of which had been stayed by the crowd. Its sole occupant was a pale, silent man. In the glare of the torches his face exactly filled lines ineffibly fixed in her memory by the brief flame of a match; it was the face of Richard Somers, cold and immobile. Upon the seat by his side was a traveling-bag; his eyes looked out calmly, almost coldly, over her head. He was not southern, he was not a Virginian, and the hour awoke no response within his heart. Impulsively, and forgetting, she stretched her hands upward, but memory returned and checked the words that rose to her lips. Only an inarticulate cry burst from them, a cry low and half smothered in the roar of voices. Yet low as it was, it reached the occupant of the carriage. Something in that voice, a tone, a vibration, touched a memory-cell. He turned quickly and looked back; a girl holding desperately to the arm of an old negress was being borne along by the tumultuous human wave. For an instant only he saw her white face upturned to his—the loveliest, saddest face his eyes had ever gazed on, and from her lips he heard come back one word—

"NO," SAID THE WRETCHED GIRL, "YOUR SECRET IS SAFE WITH ME."

"Farewell!" Forgetting all but that he was leaving his life somewhere in the fierce passions surging behind him, he made a desperate effort to alight from the vehicle, but so dense was the crowd the door would not open. And then angry men seized the rearing horses and forced them out of the way. When he was free again only a sea of flame, in whose depths human figures seemed to march, met his gaze. It had swallowed up the woman's white face. A great transparency, swaying and wavering like a drunken man, thrust itself before his vision and blotted out the scene. Upon it was the legend: "Down with the Yankees!"

CHAPTER XI.

Sorrow unmixed with remorse is the soul's education. The soul of the woman who grieves in silence broadens and deepens, sending down into her own life far-reaching roots and unfolding upward rare auxiliary blossoms that fill the life about her with divine breathings. Such was the experience of Frances Brookin. Thrown back upon herself, conscious of innocence, and feeling always the presence of sorrow, the sorrow of a great disappointment, she saw her girlhood slipping away faster than time itself; for it is true that age is the sum of experience rather than years, and all of life may be lived between the setting and the rising of the sun. But with Frances this change was not the shrinking of the soul into forgetfulness; it was an enlargement of view and perspective in which old headlands assumed smaller proportions. New—imperative duties they seemed, arose and met her; new responsibilities presented themselves; she faced them all bravely, hopefully, lovingly. The fine quality of her soul proved itself in the casting out of all the bitterness which had in the first hours of her misfortune stormed its citadel and raised somber banners there. The victory over self won by this frail girl was so marvelously complete that no cynicism supplanted her innocent faith in the eternal existence of truth and goodness and their ultimate triumph over evil. Her touching acceptance of life in its new aspect was not born in a day. There were weeks of anguish; there were months of dull heartache and loneliness; there were tear-wet pillows and nights of crying out against fate; for the death of an ideal is the saddest death in all the universe, since for this there is no resurrection. The girlish ideal of Frances Brookin was dead at last, and slept under the petals of a faded white rose. Richard Somers was out of her life, out of her heart. The man she loved had never existed, she told herself. He was a dream, a romance, an immaculate conception of a virgin mind. The real man was the unworthy offspring of base, worldly passions; he was nothing to her but a name.

Political events hastened the girl into womanhood and towards that large tolerance with which the strong soul at last invariably encysts the inexplicable and unwelcome facts it cannot avoid. With one leap the fierce south entered the arena of war, and Virginia hills echoed the mingled cheers of contending armies and the thunder of mighty guns. Richmond seemed to have become, as in a day, the center of intrigue and of action. On every side flashed the gold and silver of war's rich trappings. Plumes danced in the breezes and the confederate gray met the eye, rest where it would. From the capitol the banner of a new nation floated proudly, and beneath it echoed the tramp of marching legions, the galloping hoof-beats of horses, through all hours of day and night. Men, in this hitherto staid old southern city, hurried under the spur of emotions that seemed born of a contagion in the air, and anxious women went about with willing hands to aid in every department they might invade. Among these, her life adjusting itself easily and gratefully to the new demands, was Frances Brookin, the tenderness of her fine face softened and deepened into divine womanliness, the love-ray eloquent in her melting eyes.

Swiftly the holiday side of the war had faded out of view. Agonized silence swallowed up laughter. For the drift was coming in from where the storm of battle raged, wrecks of human forms once freighted with life's rarest merchandise. Soon every hospital, every available space in church and public building and the most spacious of private homes were to have their quota of the wounded, the dying, and the dead. The southern woman was entering upon that field of labor in which she achieved her noblest dignity, her fame its immortality. Foremost among those who first gave their energies, their whole lives to the alleviation of suffering, the inspiration of the hopeless and the despairing, was Frances Brookin. Free to dispose of her time as she would and with an abundant means at her disposal, she made herself a ministering angel wherever a soldier suffered. Day and night she labored, sustained by boundless patriotism and an elation for which she could not account, try as she would. She failed in her self-analysis from ignorance of the fact that a voice that has once spoken to the heart is never quite silent afterwards, and that youth when it buries its dead tramples not the sod above it. Fiery hatred of the invader possessed her, as it did her sisters; bred in the bone and nourished with the mother's milk, it could not be quelled except by years of gentle association and a common cause, but by a strange paradox this bitterness excluded every stained and bloody blue uniform or haggard northern face. Out of the fight, these were ever out of the sweep of a southern woman's vengeance. Upon the suffering prisoners Frances delighted to lavish the tenderness of her nature, now broadened and deepened by its own ministry; and something touchingly human carried her among them, although she was not conscious of it.

For this had come to pass: within the heart of Frances Brookin there lived a fiction, the Richard Somers of her girlish dreams: Richard Somers as she had seen him face to face one night under the burning match, his voice ringing strong and true and tender upon her hearing. Before him, shutting him into the sanctity of her room, she had dropped a veil of iridescent gossamer, and within that room, seen only through the veil, the man lived and reigned and had his kingdom. Through this veil, too, stirred by the breath of the suffering and the dying of his own country, he spoke gently, tenderly to her in the lonely hours of her vigils. The other Richard had been dismissed, not harshly or hastily, not in anger, but sadly—a man unworthy; a man at war with the truth and nobleness of her nature and at war with her people. No one knows how such fictions come about, but the hearts of most women carry them.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

A Lively Spring Distribution—Much Wheat In Farmers' Hands.

NEW YORK, March 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Outside of Massachusetts the labor situation is exceptionally free from controversy, and even in the coal mines there is less than the usual agitation as April approaches. Distribution of spring merchandise is making rapid progress, the most sanguine expectations being fully realized in all sections outside the strike area.

Consumers of iron and steel products are still anxious regarding conditions during the next three months. After July 1 it is believed that deliveries will be ample. According to The Iron Age, the weekly capacity of pig iron furnaces in blast on March 1 had declined to 330,710 tons, or about 10,000 tons from the production of Feb. 1. Considering the numerous disturbing factors at work during the month of February, it is gratifying that a much heavier curtailment of output did not occur. All records prior to Feb. 1 are still eclipsed, and the resumption of many idle plants this month practically assures new high water marks in the near future unless some unforeseen interruption occurs.

Labor disturbances have tended to strengthen the tone of textile products by reducing available supplies which were already none too large. Sellers recently declined much business owing to the uncertain price of the raw material and were in good position to stand the interruption. On the other hand, buyers have anxiously accumulated the small offerings and no longer request concessions.

Official indications of farm reserves on March 1 were not surprising as to corn, dealers anticipating that supplies would be only about one-half last year's, but the statement that 23 per cent of the enormous wheat yield remained in farmers' hands was not calculated to sustain values.

Failures for the week were 232 in the United States against 209 last year and 34 in Canada against 33 in 1901.

A Tennessee Shooting Affair.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 15.—A special from Lexington, Tenn., says Sam Pratt shot and killed two men and wounded a third. John Lindsey, Tom Hancock and his son-in-law, Sam Hancock, and Neil Murray were taking a drink when Pratt rode up and was invited to join. He refused, it is said, saying the liquor had been stolen from his home. Tom Hancock resented the imputation, whereupon Pratt drew his pistol and put a ball through Hancock's heart. Lindsey was then shot through the head. Both men died instantly.

Peary's Ship Coming.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 15.—The Windward, the Peary Arctic club's steamer of 1300, Captain Samuel W. Bartlett, which has been wintering here, sailed today for New York, where she will undergo extensive repairs. The Windward will receive new engines and boilers prior to proceeding to the arctic regions the coming summer for the relief of Lieutenant R. E. Peary, the arctic explorer.

A Former Slave Celebrates.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The opening game scheduled by the St. Mary nine will be played on the home grounds with the strong aggregation representing the Elizabeth Y, M. C. A.

The St. Mary nine will use the old grounds at the corner of West Fourth street and Spooner avenue during the coming season. A practice will be held this afternoon.

Steps are being taken by the Watchung Baseball Club to have a team ready to begin games as soon as the weather moderates. The officials of last year's team have called a meeting for next week when definite plans for the season will be decided upon.

The Park Field Club, composed of young athletes residing in Washington Park, will shortly begin the organization of its 1902 baseball team. The club had a strong nine in the field last year and proved invincible to many juvenile teams. The positions will be filled by practically the same players.

At a meeting of the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe works employes, held yesterday noon, Alex Muir was elected manager of the contemplated shop baseball team. He will take steps to have it perfected at once. He has numerous applications for positions on the nine already and practice work will begin at once. It is hoped to have the summer schedule commenced about the latter part of April.

A meeting of the St. Mary baseball team will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in T. A. B. hall. Arrangements will be made for the fair to be held during Easter week. The funds derived from this source will be used to defray the expenses of the nine during the coming season. The committee in charge of the fair consists of James J. Monahan, T. J. Commerford, Joseph Barry, George Taylor, Fred Winn, Fritz Nessler, Lawrence Doyle, Thomas Mack, George Keen, Robert Angleman, Harry Shannon and Richard Scott.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The highest scores in bowling made during the month of February on the Park Club alleys were by the following: Harold Hegeman, F. O. Ball, Morris J. Dumont, F. H. Ball and H. D. Hibbard. The highest score was made by Mr. Hibbard, it being 253.

GIVES SOME REASONS WHY

Former Mayor W. L. Saunders Interviewed Regarding Greater Plainfield Bills.

CHANGING COUNTY LINE

He Explained Why that Question Was Not Put to a Vote—Impracticable to Consolidate Without Changing the County Line—No Confusion to Follow It.

"It is to be expected that office-holders and those whose interests are in Somerville will oppose the consolidation bills uniting North Plainfield and Plainfield," remarked Former Mayor William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, in an interview with a Daily Press reporter.

"There is no scheme, personal or political, behind these bills," continued Mr. Saunders. "'Neither Frank Bergen nor the Plainfield Water Supply Company, have anything to do with the matter. Mr. Bergen was urged by me to act as attorney in drawing up the bills. This he has done in a masterly manner, as the three bills, which have been published in full in The Daily Press will show."

Some of the sections taken from Bill No. 153 as pointed out by Mr. Saunders are as follows:

"3.—That any county to which part of the territory of any other county may be annexed shall be liable to pay such proportionate part of the indebtedness of the county from which such annexed territory may be taken, as the value of the property assessed for the purpose of taxation in the annexed territory bears to the entire amount of property assessed for such purpose in the county according to the assessments for the purpose of taxation made by the appropriate taxing officers of the several taxing districts of the county in the year preceding such annexation.

"4.—On the third Monday after such annexation or consolidation shall take effect a committee consisting of three members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county from which such territory is taken and three members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county to which such territory shall be annexed shall be appointed by the directors of the respective Boards of Chosen Freeholders of each county and such committee shall meet at the Court House of the county from which such territory is taken, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of the Monday following their appointment, and shall then and there proceed to ascertain (1) the entire amount of indebtedness of the county from which such annexed territory is taken; (2) the amount of money in the treasury of the county applicable to the payment thereof, if any (3) the amount of uncollected taxes and other claims due such county which are deemed to be collectible; (4) such other information as shall be necessary to enable said committee to make a just and equitable division of such indebtedness and assets between the counties, and they shall thereupon ascertain the amount of the indebtedness of the county from which the annexed territory is taken that should be paid by the county to which such territory is annexed, and how much of the taxes and claims due the county from which the territory is taken should be paid over or delivered to the county to which the territory is annexed, and the time or times when such payment or delivery should be made and shall make a report of their determinations in duplicate, one duplicate shall be filed in the clerk's office of the county from which such annexed territory is taken and the other in the clerk's office of the county with which said territory is annexed, and the county to which such territory is annexed shall thereupon become liable of the payment of such portion of such debt and interest thereon, as shown by said report when the same becomes due or payable, and the county from which the territory is taken shall thereupon become liable to the county to which the territory is annexed, according to the determinations and provisions of said report. In ascertaining the facts aforesaid and in making such report the decision of a majority of the committees shall be final and conclusive.

"To put the question of change of county lines to a vote of the people in one section of the county," explained the speaker, "would be unprecedented.

LOCAL MASONS TALK OF MASONIC TEMPLE

Masonic Hall Association May Build Instead of Getting New Permanent Quarters.

HAS NECESSARY FUNDS.

SEVERAL SITES ON FRONT STREET HAVE ALREADY BEEN SUGGESTED.

Estimated That a Building Would Cost $50,000—The Association Would Have No Trouble About Financial End If Favored.

Ever since the fire in the Bacock building, the members of the Masonic Hall Association, comprising all the local Masonic lodges, have been considering plans for a future place of meeting. Temporarily rooms have been taken in the Stillman building, but the lodges will not remain there permanently. Some of the members favor returning to the Babcock building, provided that structure is so arranged as to be suitable for the Masonic work. Others favor the erection of a Masonic Temple.

In regard to the latter plan there has been considerable talk. Two available sites for such a temple have been under discussion. One site is on East Front street and extends from Dr. Probasco's property to that of Powlison & Jones, a good wide frontage with considerable depth. This property, it is said, can be purchased for $10,000. Another site is the property owned by the Sebrings and is located next to the Babcock building on West Front street. The price asked for this property is not known. It is estimated that the temple would cost approximately $50,000.

The objection to the erection of a temple seems to be that there would not be a demand for offices and stores, such as would occupy a considerable part of the building. Reasons for this are advanced by many members who say that the recent erection of the Smalley building on North avenue has filled the demand in this direction for some time to come. However, the question will be thoroughly discussed and any feasible proposition considered before definite action is taken.

The association holds a number of shares in the local building and loan associations and no doubt is well able to build if in the judgment of the majority of the members it is believed to be for the best interests of the association.

LAST ENTERTAINMENT.

Y. M. C. A. Star Course Concludes With This Entertainment.

W. T. Perkins, secretary of Y. M. C. A., Columbus, O., says of the Mendelssohn Quartette Company, which appear this evening in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course: "It was one of the best entertainments given before the Columbus Association for many a year."

The company includes Miss Marguerite Smith of whom Fred Emerson Brooks speaks as follows: "She is, in my opinion, the best child impersonator on the American platform."

This will conclude the star course entertainments for this season, and promises to be the strongest attraction of the course.

Jersey Central Official Changes.

The appointment of M. M. Richey, as acting general superintendent of the Jersey Central, to succeed W. W Wentz, Jr., absent on account of illness, is looked upon in Reading Railway circles as indicating the ultimate retirement of Mr. Wentz. There is considerable speculation as to a successor to Vice President Warren, whose resignation has been accepted. Mr. Warren, it was reported last week, will, upon his retirement from the Jersey Central, take a position with the Rock Island.

No Meetings of Masons.

The meetings of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M., and Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., have been called off until April 1. In the meantime arrangements will be completed so that regular meetings can be held afterwards.

DEMAND FOR GOSPEL COMES FROM OKLAHOMA

So Rev. Wm. W. Clark Told Congregation of Trinity Reformed Church.

WORK ALREADY DONE.

FALSE IMPRESSION GAINED REGARDING CHARACTER OF SETTLERS.

Rev. Mr. Clark is Field Secretary of the Board of Domestic Missions of Reformed Church of America—Was His Annual Visit.

Missionary work in the west formed the topic for the particularly interesting sermon delivered to the congregation of Trinity Reformed church, yesterday morning, by Rev. William Walton Clark. He is the field secretary of the Board of Domestic Missions of the Reformed church in America, and in such capacity it is his duty to visit the various churches of the denomination to enlist financial support in the great undertaking.

The speaker chose for his text Deuteronomy iv, 1—"Go in and possess the land." He showed how peculiarly applicable the passage is to the subject upon which he selected, that is the condition of missions in Oklahoma. From the opening of the territory to white settlers until the present time the history of that fascinating country was traced by the minister. He described the mad rush to take up claims in that land, when President Harrison opened the district. He then went on to tell of the great prosperity with which it has been visited, particularly the rapidity with which towns sprang up.

Oklahoma, said he, is fully described by its name which means the beautiful land. A false impression, regarding the character of the settlers, he took pains to dispell. They are law abiding citizens and are eager to receive the Gospel. Hence, said he, the call is a double one. It is to go and possess the land on the one part and the call to come on the other.

He related the beginning of missionary work in that field. Four New Brunswick divintiy students went there two summers ago and travelled about seeking converts by preaching and singing. They played instrumental music to entertain the people who would listen to their words. Again last summer they went to the field and as a result the church is firmly estblished. Rev. Mr. Mulder is at Liberty and Rev. Mr. Cheff is at Lawton. Services are also held at Cordell by Rev. J. M. V. Meulen. This clergyman gave up his work in a big church in Michigan to accept the missionary superintendency of Oklahoma. A large offering was taken for the work at the conclusion of his address.

Team Ran Home.

Frightened by a sudden noise a team of horses, belonging to L. A. Rheaume, ran away at the corner of Liberty and Sixth streets, Saturday afternoon. They bolted down the former street at terrific speed and avoided all attempts to catch them. By various streets they reached the coal yard on South Second street, without incurring any damage, although there were several narrow escapes.

Informal Entertainment.

In honor of George E. Rogers, of Newark, the Cameron Pleasure Club gave an informal entertainment at its rooms on West Second street Friday evening. Fifteen couples were present. Tony Lusardi, B. Collins Firstbrook and Ira C. Bowers gave several humorous sketches during the evening.

Eight New Members.

A special meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America was held Friday evening. It was called for the purpose of acting upon the applications of eight candidates for membership. These applications were granted and the new members will be initiated at the next regular meeting.

NEED OF CHRISTIAN TEACHING FOR YOUNG

Pointed Out by Rev. Dr. Rhoades at the First Baptist Church Yesterday.

CHURCH OF THE FUTURE

TOLD OF THE VALUE OF THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL AND THE PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Dr. Rhoades is District Secretary of the American Baptist Missonary Union—He Occupied Pulpit Morning and Evening.

Rev. Dr. Charles L. Rhoades, district secretary of the American Baptist Missionary Union, occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist church, yesterday. At both morning and evening services, there was a large congregation.

In the morning Dr. Rhoades gave an earnest talk on the subject of "The Church of the Future." He said that he was greatly interested in what she would do in the coming days and years.

Dr. Rhoades referred especially to the part that the Sunday-school and public school is taking today as regards religious training of children. He did not speak lightly of the fireside teaching, but he said that in the Sunday-school many children were taught of Christ who would not otherwise receive such teaching. He regarded the reading of the Bible and the prayers offered in the average public school as a perfunctory form of worship. It was done merely because of a compulsory law. He did not deny but what there are exceptions to this rule, but he believed them to be few.

The speaker advocated strongly the agency of the Sunday-school as a valuabe adjunct to the church and he urged that children be faithfully taught the importance of missionary work and shown geographically where certain important events were enacted in Bible times. In this way the child would become more interested in his day school studies in history and geography.

Dr. Rhoades deplored the fact that God is left out of the teaching in public schools to such a large extent. He prayed for the time when this would not be true, when the boys and girls of today would become the giant Christian men and women of tomorrow, and he pointedly presented a great lesson for all parents present to personally see that their children receive the proper kind of Christian teaching.

Dinner With Fraternity Brothers.

D. Arthur H. Dundon, of Somerset street, attended a dinner of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, held at the Hotel St. Denis, New York, Friday evening. The affair was given under the auspices of the New York Club, an organization made up of graduates in the fraternity living in New York. Dr. Dundon joined the fraternity while at Yale University.

Tea at Pastor's Home.

A tea will be held Friday afternoon next from 3 until 6 o'clock, at the home of Rev. Dr. Yerkes, West Seventh street, under the auspices of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church. All members of the society, as well as friends, are invited to be present. A silver offering will be received at the door.

Would Not Accept It.

Miss Edith Cairns, who for some time past has been superintendent of the intermediate department of the First Baptist church Sunday-school, tendered her resignation yesterday. It was declined and, as yet, it is not known whether Miss Cairns will remain or not.

Housewarming Planned.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carl, of Manson place, who are shortly to take possession of their new home on Lee place, will celebrate the event by giving a housewarming. A large number of invitations have been issued and it promises to be an enjoyable affair.

Surprised New York Fireman.

Captain Burtis, of the New York fire department, was a guest of Chief Doane yesterday. The New Yorker expressed his surprise that the local fire department was able to cope with the Babcock building fire in the manner it did.

Quarter Century for W. C. T. U.

Plans are being made for the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the local W. C. T. U., which will occur early in June. The members hope to celebrate the event in a fitting manner.

LIBRARY EXHIBIT OF VOLUMES FOR WOMEN

Sixth of Series of Special Book Exhibits Was Held Saturday and Sunday.

BOOKS ON THE HOME.

DIVIDED INTO VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS OF INTEREST CHIEFLY TO WOMEN.

Those in Charge of the Different Tables—Exhibit Was Well Attended—Charts Displayed Will be Left on Exhibition Longer.

Saturday afternoon and evening and Sunday afternoon there was held at the Public Library the sixth of a series of special book exhibits, the books shown on this occasion being those of particular interest to women. The books were displayed on large tables placed in the central many-windowed alcove of the reading room, and each class of books was labeled with its own subject.

The largest table, and the one which perhaps attracted most visitors, was that devoted to books on cookery, food values, domestic science, and servants. The young women, who had charge of this department and pointed out specially helpful books, were Miss Tracy and Miss Louise Patten, Saturday, and Miss Viola Conklin, Sunday.

Another large table held books concerning home nursing, what to do in case of accidents, personal and domestic hygiene, school hygiene, physical culture, the mother and child, and dietetics and invalid cooking. These were in charge of Miss M. G. Morse, a graduate of the New York Y. W. C. A. School for Trained Attendants on the Sick.

A very attractive exhibit was that of books on home kindergarten methods and games. Two young women from Plainfield kindergartens were in charge here; Saturday Miss Mabel Powell, of the Lincoln school, and Sunday Miss Elizabeth Angell, whose kindergarten is in the Wadsworth building.

The fourth table held books on a number of interesting and important subjects—Womanhood, the progress of woman, woman and the state, marriage, the child in the home, the business woman, etiquette, and ethics. Mrs. Irving Howard Brown was in charge here Saturday afternoon, and Mrs. Andrew J. Gavett Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon.

In addition to the books, there were displayed upon the wall four large charts concerning food and diet. The first showed the nutrient values of different kinds of food, and their uses in the body. The second showed the composition of different food materials; their nutrients, refuse, and fuel value. The third showed the pecuniary value of foods, illustrating the amount of nutriment obtained in the quantity of different kinds of food materials obtainable for ten cents. The fourth chart showed the quantities of food and their fuel value consumed by one man per day in different countries and different walks of life. These charts will remain on exhibition in the Library for a time.

The largest number of visitors to the exhibit was present Saturday afternoon. Much interest was shown in the books displayed and their circulation will probably be perceptibly increased as a result of the exhibition.

Crushed One Toe.

While handling a heavy casting at the Pond Tool Works, Friday morning, Joseph Higgins, of West Front street, allowed it to fall on his right foot. It crushed the large toe and badly bruised several others. He was taken home and may lose the toe by amputation.

Full Insurance Secured.

The Continental Insurance Company, through its agent, William Abbott, of this city, carried a policy for $300 for the Plainfield Camera Club. Last Saturday the loss was adjusted, the club receiving the full amount for which it was insured.

PRINCIPAL WIGHTMAN'S REPORT IS ISSUED

Reviews Work of Last Year in Borough Schools, Going Into the Details.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE.

SUMMARIZES CHANGES MADE DURING FIVE YEARS OF HIS SERVICE.

Improvements Made in the Curriculum—Addition of the Manual Training School—Need of New School Building—Other Needs.

Homer J. Wightman, supervising principal of the borough schools, has issued his report for the year just closed. It is in pamphlet form and annexed is the financial statement for 1901-2. A copy has been transmitted to the parent of every pupil in the schools in order that they may be informed in advance of the annual district meeting to be held tomorrow evening.

A review of the work during the past five years, the period of Mr. Wightman's incumbency of the principalship, takes up a good part of the report. During this time instruction in vocal and instrumental music has been introduced as has also the natural vertical system of penmanship, all of which have been decidedly successful. A great advance has been made in the standard of the school. In the primary and grammar departments the courses have been entirely changed. An increase of nearly two thousand books has been made to the school library. Today the High School has a complete commercial and a thorough scientific department, with facilities for individual experimental work, and the elective system is a feature.

In art instruction painting and drawing are branches in the curriculum. The kindergarten work has been extended to include the primary department. During the past five years two new buildings have been added. The Watchung school and the Charles W. McCutchen Manual Training School. The manual training building contains a kitchen, equipped with twenty-four individual outfits; a wood workshop, with eighteen benches, lockers and tool sets; a labratory, with twelve individual accommodations for experimental work, in chemistry and physics and a large kindergarten room accommodating seventy pupils. The drawing room is in the High School building.

A new school building is wanted. There is need at the present time for the following accommodaitions: A second grade room, a kindergarten room, an ungraded class room and a seventh grade class room. Mr. Wightman asks for modern adjustable desks in the school rooms. He choses his report with some suggestions to the parents of the pupils. The bonded indebtedness of the borough schools is now $44,000.

BLAZING CURTAIN.

Was Extinguished Before Damage Was Done to Home of E. H. Bird.

A small fire broke out at the home of Postmaster E. H. Bird, of Elm place, yesterday morning about 9 o'clock, when a lace curtain caught fire from a burning gas jet. The curtain was destroyed, as well as some bedding and the woodwork was also damaged considerably. It was in the bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle that the fire occurred. Mrs. VanWinkle and Mrs. Bird were alone at the time, but they succeeded in extinguishing the blaze before it spread to any considerable extent.

Settling Insurance on Building.

The insurance on the Babcock building was $170,000, which was carried by thirty-five companies. The settlement of the loss was held up owing to the inability of securing the original plans of the building. These are now in possession of the proper people and it is expected that the loss will be adjusted this week.

LOCAL TEAMS FORM LEAGUE

Plainfield Amateur Baseball League Was Formed by Four Crack Nines.

ANOTHER APPLICATION.

Hope Chapel Y. M. A., St. Mary's, Y. M. C. A. and Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works Teams Represented—Wm. N. Runyon Was Chosen Chairman.

Prospects for a busy baseball season in Plainfield during the coming summer were greatly increased, Saturday evening, through the formation of a league composed of local nines. Representatives from four nines met in the office of G. E. Firstbrook and organized the Plainfield Amateur Baseball League, composed of the Hope chapel Y. M. A., St. Mary, Y. M. C. A. and the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works teams.

Those in attendance at the meeting were G. E. Firstbrook, who proposed the league; Alex Muir, Charles A. Ward and Richard Higgins for the safe works team; John H. Cose and William N. Runyon for the Hope Y. M. A.; Thomas Comerford, for the St. Mary's; and C. E. A. Heywood, George Dupee and John G. McLaughlin for the Y. M. C. A.

As the first business of the meeting William N. Runyon was made permanent chairman and G. E. Firstbrook secretary. After the object of the gathering had been explained by the secretary, the league was formed with four teams and named as stated.

Afterward some time was spent in talk regarding the number of games to be played, the division of receipts and various other matters. Nothing definite was accomplished beyond the appointment of a committee consisting of one representative from each team and the secretary to arrange these matters and prepare by-laws and resolutions. The commitee is to report April 5.

It was made known that, in addition to the pennant which has been offered by A. G. Spalding & Brother, of New York, silver cups presented by J. Hervey Doane and Asa Collier, are to be offered to the players securing the highest batting average and the highest fielding average. The Hotel Plainfield will give a banquet to the team winning the pennant.

Some time after the formation of the league, Fred Hardingham and Warren Squires, representing the Clinton Avenue team, now being organized, entered and made application for admittance. Without going deeply into the matter, the officials deferred action on the application, referring to wait a short time until the nine's standing could be learned. Last season the Clinton Avenues did not play regularly, and practically disbanded before the season closed. A number of that team's best players joined forces with other teams this season. Should it drop out before the schedule was completed, the league would be greatly embarassed. The application will be decided upon Saturday evening when the next meeting is to be held.

On Finance Committee.

The Plainfielders, who attended the annual convention of the State organization of the A. O. U. W., at Trenton, were V. W. Nash, Henry Nischwitz, Henry Liefke and J. W. A. Bauersachs. They all returned home Friday evening, Mr. Bauersachs with an appointment as a member of the finance committee, one of the most important trusts in the organization.

Honored Natal Day.

In honor of her eighth birthday, Miss Jennie Thompson, of West Fourth street, entertained twenty of her young friends at her home, Saturday afternoon. The guests enjoyed themselves playing games and in listening to phonograph selections given under the direction of Sylvanus Hoffmann. Refreshments were served before the affair terminated.

Sewage Commission to Meet.

A meeting of the borough sewage commission will be held during the present week. Chairman B. A. Hegeman, Jr., has been unable to settle definitely on a date as yet.

Arrangements for Easter Shoot.

A meeting of the Independent Gun Club will be held this evening at the Arlington Hotel. Arrangements will be made for the shoot to take place Easter Monday.

THEATRICAL.

Frank Daniels and his merry operatic comedy hit, "Miss Simplicity," continues to draw well-filled houses at the Casino, New York, and the fifth week shows no change in the prosperous state of affairs that surrounds Mr. Daniels, except that the audiences are, if possible, a trifle larger and even more enthusiastic. It is a long time since any alleged comic opera has been really comic as is "Miss Simplicity," and with the ridiculous and ludicrous Mr. Daniels to give jest and point to the "gags," the piece comes by its big success naturally. The music too is of a more than ordinary tuneful quality and there are so many catchy airs in this composition that it is difficult to select any one and call it pre-eminently the hit of the piece. "Rosalie" is doubtless the p ettiest, "Bobby, The Sunday-school Boy" the funniest, and "He Said it so Politely" the one most frequently enchored. A new song entitled "Living Your Own Life" has been introduced in the second act.

This is the last full week of William Collier's engagement in Augustus Thomas' successful comedy "On the Quiet" at the Madison Square Theater, New York, for Thursday evening he will produce, under the direction of Jacob Litt, a new comedy from the pen of Martha Morton which is to be called "The Diplomat." "On the Quiet" has outlived many plays of its kind, and its retirement comes solely from the fact that Mr. Collier is under contract to present a new play at the Madison Square theatre. "The Diplomat" bids fair to be a worthy successor to the Thomas play. There are three acts and all of the scenes are laid in New York City. The hero, the part which Collier is to fill, is that of a young man about town who has a particular gift for getting other people out of trouble, but at the same time his own difficulties seem almost endless. There are a lot of exceedingly funny complications and some very bright dialogue. In the hands of so clever an actor as Collier the comedy seems certain of success. Manager Litt has provided Mr. Collier with an excellent supporting company and a very handsome production. The company will include Edward Abeles, Nannette Comstock, Isabelle Urquhart, John Saville, Louise Allen, Etienne Girardot, Richie Ling, George Parsons, David Torrence, Charles Arthur, Morgan E. Coman and M. L. Heckert.

LITERARY.

The New York Sun says: "The reader may make up his mind to be pleasantly overwhelmed by the opulence and vivacity of "Around the Pan" published by the Nutshell Publishing Company, 1059 Third avenue, New York. The wonders begin with the frontispiece picture of Presdient McKinley, drawn in a single line beginning at a point on the cheek boen and going round and round in a constantly widening circle, with waverings and downbearings of the pen in the proper places to secure detachments and shading. We are told that this portrait 'is considered the most unique work of its kind in the world,' and if there are degrees of uniqueness we are willing to believe that this is most the thing of which there are no duplicates. Of course there is text in addition to the pictures, and we should be surprised indeed to hear from any purchaser the opinion that he had not got his money's worth ($2)."

FLOODS IN THE SOUTH.

Alabama and Georgia Visited by Heavy Rains.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 17.—Heavy rains in northern and middle Georgia have caused the Atlanta weather bureau to send flood warnings to Eufaula, Ala., and West Point and Columbus, Ga., predicting a rapid rise in the Chattahoochee river. North Alabama was deluged, as were portions of south Georgia and northern Florida. Streams in these sections are out of their banks. At Albany, Ga., the Flint river, which rose at the rate of a foot an hour during the night, has not yet reached the maximum height expected. The rainfall there in the past three days has been nearly twelve inches. Many sewers burst, and houses in the low lying portion of town were surrounded by water for several hours. The river is still rising, and all creeks north of there are out of their banks. The tracks of the Central of Georgia and Plant systems between Albany and Thomasville are under water in several places.

The Chattahoochee river at Columbus has risen seven feet and is still on the upward move. The Southern railway has a washout near Milena, Ga., on one of its small branches. The washout near Everett City has not yet been repaired and has prevented the departure of J. Pierpont Morgan and party, who were to have left Brunswick for Cincinnati by way of Atlanta.

Traffic on the Central of Georgia was delayed several hours by a washout near Union Springs, Ala.

Some damage was done to the town of Cordele, Ga., by the heavy rains, and a washout is reported near there. A special to The Constitution from Brunswick, Ga., says:

"The surrounding country is flooded as a result of the recent rains. Rain has been coming down in torrents here for hours, and there is no indication of cessation. Not a train is moving over the Brunswick and Birmingham railroad. Through Buffalo swamp water is over the tracks for nearly a mile, and passengers are unable to get to Brunswick. The Plant system track is intact."

Missouri Farmers Destitute.

FORSYTH, Mo., March 17.—Hundreds of farmers in the Ozark hills of southern Missouri and northern Arkansas whose crops failed during last summer's droughts are living in a desperately poor way on short rations. It is estimated that probably 10 per cent of the population in the district has felt the bitter pangs of hunger this winter. Offers of aid have been refused. The chief distress now comes from a lack of seed for the spring planting. This is being relieved by the distribution of seed purchased by the governor of Arkansas with money personally borrowed from the banks. A member of the Missouri state board of charities who has just investigated the situation at the request of Governor Dockery will recommend that the Missouri delegation in congress send what government seed they can.

Enjoying Life In Canada.

QUEBEC, March 17.—Colonel John F. Gaynor and Captain Greene, whose bail was estreated because of their nonappearance before court in Savannah to answer to the charge of defrauding the United States government, are still at the Chateau Fontenac in this city. No attempt has been made to arrest them, and there are some lawyers who claim that extradition proceedings would fail to force the men to accompany United States officials to Savannah. Both men appear to enjoy their residence here and take daily outings, Colonel Gaynor usually driving with his wife, while Captain Greene may be seen frequently promenading on the Terrace.

The Machias at St. Thomas.

ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies, March 17. The United States gunboat Machias has arrived here. It is believed the Machias came here in order that her captain, Lieutenant Commander Henry McCrea, might confer with the governor of the Danish West Indies, Colonel de Hedemann. The governor being at Santa Cruz, the Machias will proceed to that island and then return here. It is said the American gunboat will remain at St. Thomas for some time and will probably await the transfer of the islands to the United States. Perfect quiet prevails here.

Miss Stone Is Grateful.

SALONIKA, March 17.—A letter has been received from Miss Stone, the American missionary, in which the former captive of the brigands expresses her surprise and gratitude at the universal manifestations of joy at the release of herself and Mme. Tsilka. Miss Stone also conveys her heartfelt thanks to all those who by their labor, their money and their prayers co-operated to the release of herself and companion.

Aid For Southern Schools.

DANVILLE, Ky., March 17.—Mrs. S. P. Lees of New York city, according to an announcement made by her administrator, has made Central university the beneficiary of a provision in her will bequeathing $25,000 to the institution and $15,000 to the S. P. Lees institute of Jackson, Ky. This makes an increase of $75,000 in the endowment of Central university in three days.

Nineteen Bodies Recovered.

VICKSBURG, Miss., March 17.—The bodies of nineteen of the twenty victims of the steamer Providence disaster have been recovered from the waters of Lake Palmyria. The body missing is that of Dr. N. A. Lancaster.

METHUEN'S REVERSE

Corrected Details of the Fight With Delarey.

BRITISH TROOPS FOUGHT BRAVELY.

The General Surrendered Only After Being Wounded and Losing Heavily and With Ammunition Nearly Gone.

LONDON, March 17.—The war office has received the following communication from Lord Kitchener at Pretoria concerning the recent British reverse:

"Lord Methuen has sent me a staff officer with a dictated dispatch, from which it appears that certain particulars previously given are inaccurate. The rear screen of mounted troops was rushed and overwhelmed at dawn. There was a gap of a mile between the ox and the mule convoys. The mounted supports to the rear of the screen, with General Methuen immediately reenforced by all the available mounted troops and a section of the Thirty-eighth battery, maintained themselves for an hour, during which the convoys were closing up without disorder.

"In the meanwhile 200 infantry were being disposed by Lord Methuen to resist the Boer attack, which was out-flanking the left of the rear guard. The Boers pressed that attack hard, and the mounted troops, attempting to fall back on the infantry, got completely out of hand, carrying away with them in the rout the bulk of the mounted troops. Two guns of the Thirty-eighth battery were thus left unprotected, but continued in action until every man, with the exception of Lieutenant Nesham, was hit. Lieutenant Nesham was called on to surrender and upon refusing to do so was killed.

"Lord Methuen, with 200 of the Northumberland fusileers and two guns of the Fourth battery, then found himself isolated, but held on for three hours. During this period the remaining infantry—namely, 100 of the Lancashires, with some forty mounted men, mostly Cape police, who had occupied the kraal near the wagons—also continued to hold out against the repeated attacks of the Boers.

"By this time Lord Methuen was wounded, and the casualties were exceedingly heavy among his men. Their ammunition was mostly expended, and the surrender was made at about half past 9 in the morning.

"The party in the kraal still held out and did not give in until two guns and a pompom were brought to bear upon them at about 10 o'clock, making their position untenable.

"It is confirmed that most of the Boers wore our khaki uniforms. Many also wore our badges. Even at close quarters they could not be distinguished from our own men.

"It is clear the infantry fought well, and the artillery kept up the traditions of their regiment. In addition to the forty members of the Cape police already mentioned a few parties of imperial yeomanry and Cape police continued to hold their ground after the panic had swept the bulk of the mounted troops off the field."

Lord Kitchener's graphic dispatch showing that the fighting lasted much longer than was supposed confirms the belief that the disaster to General Methuen's forces was due to leaving too large a gap between the front convoy and the rear and to placing an insufficient screen behind the rear guard, which brought about a panic among the troops as a result of the Boer onslaught.

From other dispatches it appears that General Methuen was shot while riding to bring up the mounted troops and that his horse was killed. After the surrender General Delarey rode up and treated General Methuen with the greatest courtesy and consideration. He ordered his return to Klerksdorp under the care of his own nephew and a medical officer.

A Bryn Mawr Dormitory Burned.

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—One of the dormitory buildings of Bryn Mawr college, an institution for the higher education of young ladies, was burned last night. The college is located at Bryn Mawr, about ten miles from this city. The fire was caused by the upsetting of a lamp in the room of one of the students. It got beyond the control of the local firemen, and fire companies were sent from Philadelphia.

Minister Storer Throws Some Light on Recent Reports.

RUMORS OF HIS RECALL DENIED.

Will Return to Madrid After Ninety Days' Visit—No Hitch In Treaty Negotiations — Reports About Young King Unfounded.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Bellamy Storer, United States minister to Spain, arrived on the American line steamer St. Louis from Southampton.

Mr. Storer was surprised to learn that a rumor had been circulated that he had been recalled from his post and emphatically denied that there was the slightest foundation for such a report.

"I have no idea," said Mr. Storer, "how such a rumor could have been started. I have simply come home on leave of absence for ninety days because at this time there is no urgency for my presence in Madrid. It is not true that there has been a hitch in the negotiations of the treaty with Spain, and, on the contrary, they have progressed most favorably, and there is absolutely no obstacle in view to the successful accomplishment of the treaty. I may say, indeed, that the most important provisions of the treaty have already been fully agreed upon.

"Owing to the approaching accession of the young king the late ministry of Sagasta was in effect simply a provisional one, and as the final ratification had to be left to the new ministry an opportunity was afforded me to apply for a short leave of absence. I expect to return to my post early in June. My relations with the Spanish government and with officials of all classes have been of the most pleasant character, and on all hands I have been the recipient of the most courteous consideration.

"I regretted to notice in many of the American papers which I received in Madrid statements to the effect that the young king was physically and mentally unfit to assume the reins of government. That is not true. He has been admirably brought up by a most devoted mother, and I see no reason why he should not reign with honor to himself and to his country. He has grown very fast and is now a fine looking lad. He takes a keen interest in military affairs and shows to great advantage when he appears mounted at a review of the troops.

"What changes are likely to take place in the cabinet I am not prepared to predict. It would not be surprising if the queen mother should continue to exercise a strong influence over her son, as their relations have always been of the most affectionate character."

Speaking of the king's accession, Mr. Storer said:

"There will be no formal coronation, as the king of Spain is supposed to be born crowned. He will merely take the oath to preserve the constitution, and there will be the customary ceremonies. It was, in fact, a question up to the last moment whether the representatives of foreign governments should be specially invited to witness the accession. Only the night before I left Madrid the ministers of state personally informed me that the king would be pleased to have a representative of the United States present. On this President Roosevelt designated J. I. M. Curry to attend as our representative. There was a peculiar appropriateness in the selection of Mr. Curry, as he was our minister at Madrid when the young king was born."

Mr. Storer left for Washington today to call upon the president.

PORTO RICO INSPECTED.

Governor Hunt Pleased With What He Has Seen.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 17.—Governor Hunt and his party, who have been visiting coast towns of the island, returned by automobile from Guayama. The governor expresses himself as delighted with his trip and as being particularly gratified with the excellent spirit of the people and the generous, enthusiastic reception accorded the party.

Everywhere the party stopped banquets, balls and other entertainments were given in their honor. The governor says he did not see many idle persons. He also says the crop of sugar on the island is heavy, that the coffee crop is satisfactory and that in another year these crops will reach a normal condition.

New tobacco fields are visible on all sides. The health of the people is good, the governor says, and the inhabitants appear more thrifty than at any time in the past.

The main impression gained by Governor Hunt is that the responsibilities of government are better appreciated. It is wonderful, he says, what appreciation there is now among the people of the tremendous power to make their own laws. Less bitterness is shown in individual politics. The governor says the largest cities of the island will shortly float bonds and are approaching the questions of municipal improvement with intelligence and caution.

"Progress," says Governor Hunt, "is the best word with which to sum up the island's condition—progress in education, commerce, agriculture, health and satisfaction."

Last Rites For Altgeld.

CHICAGO, March 17.—Representatives of all classes of people in the state of Illinois joined yesterday in a final tribute of respect to ex-Governor John P. Altgeld, who was buried in Graceland cemetery. In accordance with the wishes of Mrs. Altgeld, there was no military display. For two hours in the morning before the casket was sealed a steady stream of people viewed the body as it lay in state in the Public Library building. Along the line of march, which extended from the library to Lincoln park, the streets were crowded with men, women and children, in whose hearts Mr Altgeld had found a place. The funeral procession, which started at 11 o'clock, was headed by a platoon of police. Among those from outside the state who attended the funeral was William J. Bryan, who served as one of the honorary pallbearers.

WORK BEFORE CONGRESS.

The Senate Votes Today on Shipping Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—In accordance with the agreement reached a week ago the senate will begin voting on the ship subsidy bill and amendments this afternoon at 3 o'clock. There will be no speechmaking after the voting begins.

The senate met at 11 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual, in order to give senators who might still wish to be heard an opportunity to speak on the bill before the time to vote arrives. With the subsidy bill disposed of the bill introduced by Senator Hoar for the protection of the president of the United States from assassination will assume first place on the calendar, having been made the unfinished business. It is expected, however, that there will be a prolonged debate upon this bill, and there is great interest among senators as to which of several measures will be next preferred.

Either the oleomargarine bill or the Chinese exclusion bill will doubtless be made the unfinished business to succeed the presidential protection measure, though the Nicaragua canal bill is also pressing for attention. The canal bill, however, according to present understanding, will be compelled to wait on both the other bills.

The house during the present week will pass the river and harbor bill, will decide the contested election case of Moss versus Rhea from the Third Kentucky district and will consider the bill for the retirement of officers of the revenue cutter service. Such is the programme of the house leaders.

THE NEW ARMY POST.

Site Near Manila Awaits Congressional Approval.

MANILA, March 17.—General Chaffee has signed an executory contract for the purchase of a site for an army post at a point seven miles up the Pasig river. The site is a mile and a quarter wide by two miles and a half long. It is bounded on one side by the Pasig river and on the other by the Laguna de Bay. It is on high ground and overlooks Manila. Building on this site will commence as soon as the purchase has been approved by congress.

Givera, the insurgent leader, has issued a proclamation in the island of Samar declaring that he has succeeded General Lukban, who was captured by the Americans, and that consequently all orders now standing in the name of Lukban are void.

Givera also says he has been compelled to issue this proclamation.

Owing to cholera at Hongkong a quarantine of five days will be enforced against all vessels arriving here from that port.

Russian Officer's Treachery.

VIENNA, March 17.—About sixty arrests have been made in connection with the condemnation to death by a court martial at Warsaw of a Russian colonel of the name of Grimm for the systematic revelation of military secrets to a foreign power. Among the persons apprehended are a number of Russian officers of high rank. Colonel Grimm has not yet been executed. It is asserted that Colonel Grimm during ten years has revealed to Germany every plan prepared by Russia in the eventuality of war between the two countries. The discovery was due to Colonel Grimm's wife, who denounced her husband in revenge for his having paid court to another woman.

Driven From Pittsburg by Threats.

PITTSBURG, March 17.—The Dispatch publishes the following: Repeated threats to abduct his three children unless a ransom of $25,000 was left in a certain spot and a warning that murder would follow the placing of detectives on the case have caused Alexander R. Peacock, former first vice president and general sales agent of the Carnegie company, to remove his little family temporarily from his Lexington avenue home to the Holland House, New York city. The case was put in the hands of detectives, and it is said the arrest of the guilty parties is now practically certain.

On Snowshoes After Food.

SPOKANE, Wash., March 17.—A special from Elk City, Ida., says that W. T. Murphy and J. A. Fields have just arrived there from Thunder Mountain. They came on snowshoes and by forced marches made the distance in two days and a half. They report four and a half feet of snow at Thunder Mountain and say that provisions cannot be bought for any price. They came out for supplies and will return at once.

A Sweet Time In Vermont.

CHESTER, Vt., March 17.—The maple sugar season has opened much earlier than usual this year, and the last week has been an unusually good one for a flow of excellent sap. All orchards in the warm localities are now in working order. Farmers predict that more sugar will be made this year than in any one of the last five seasons.

Money and Messenger Gone.

MATTOON, Ill., March 17.—Larry McKee, a messenger in the employ of the Adams Express company, is missing, and a package containing $30,000 has also disappeared. The package was sent from Brazil, Ind., to St. Louis in McKee's charge. When the train arrived at St. Louis, both the package and McKee were gone.

Half a Town Burned.

HASTINGS, Neb., March 17.—A disastrous fire has destroyed nearly half the town of Campbell. It started in a billiard hall and in an hour, with a terrific wind blowing, burned the billiard hall, a newspaper office, blacksmith shop, postoffice, hardware store, drugstore and hotel.

NORTHWEST TIED UP

Worst Snowstorm In Many Years Rages.

RAILWAY TRAINS ARE ABANDONED.

Telegraph Lines Carried Down in Mountainous Drifts and Intense Cold Cause a Complete Suspension of Business.

ST. PAUL, March 17.—North Dakota and the Canadian northwest have experienced the worst snowstorm in many years, and railroad traffic is practically paralyzed. The Northern Pacific and Great Northern have not moved a wheel for forty-eight hours in the blizzard stricken districts and have abandoned all efforts to do so until the fury of the storm shall abate. The high wind has piled the snow in mountainous drifts and packed it in solid masses, many deep cuts being entirely filled. The temperature has been gradually falling and is now at or below the zero mark.

Not a transcontinental train has arrived at St. Paul since Friday, and none is expected for several days. The Northern Pacific reports its westbound coast train which left St. Paul Saturday morning tied up at Fargo, the road beyond there being blocked. Every effort is being made by the road to keep its passengers who are snowbound warm and well fed, and for this reason trains are being held at stations where the accommodations are good, rather than attempt to get them through, with a possibility of being tied up between stations.

The Red River Valley division of the Northern Pacific between Frankforts and Winnipeg is entirely abandoned. No trains have attempted to run since Friday night, and the exact conditions on this division are not known by the general officers here, as the telegraph wires have been carried down by the burden of sleet that preceded the heavy snowfall.

The situation on the Great Northern is equally bad. The line is tied up entirely between Grand Forks and Williston, N. D., a distance of about thirty-five miles, and all wires have been lost beyond Fargo. Thirty miles of wire are gone between Fargo and Casselton, N. D., and all communication with western Dakota and Montana points has been lost.

Winnipeg is reported entirely cut off from railroad communication with the outside world. The Canadian Pacific transcontinental trains are snowbound somewhere west of there, and no prospects of relief are yet in sight.

The storm started on Friday, being preceded by a light rainfall and accompanied by high winds. The rain soon turned to sleet and then to snow, and this has fallen without cessation for more than forty-eight hours. The terrific gale drifted the snow badly, and it is next to impossible to wade through the streets. Business of all kinds is at a standstill.

The following are special dispatches which have been received from the storm area:

Devil's Lake, N. D.—A blizzard, the worst in ten years, has been raging for the past two days and shows no signs of abatement. No such storm has been experienced in ten years. A large amount of snow has fallen and is piled in miniature mountains. All railroad and other traffic is entirely abandoned. The thermometer is at zero.

Aberdeen, S. D.—The blizzard, which started Friday, continues without sign of abatement. Trains are delayed, and business is at a standstill. It is the worst storm in years.

Montevideo, Minn.—Violent gales with blinding flurries of snow, still continue. All trains are from ten to twelve hours late.

Sparta, Wis.—The worst blizzard of the season has prevailed over this section for the past forty-eight hours and is still raging. The mercury is below zero, and the snow is driven by a high wind.

Scranton's Long Strike May End.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 17.—The Scranton Railway company has posted a notice of a general advance in wages. Formerly the scale was from 14 to 19 cents an hour. The new scale is from 17½ to 19½ cents an hour, the higher rate to be attained by three years' service. The strikers are demanding 20 cents an hour flat, but a belief prevails that the company's offer will result in an end of the long continued strike.

Suez Canal Blocked.

SUEZ, March 17.—The canal is at present blocked by the British petroleum steamers Nerite, from Marseilles Feb. 24, and Bulysses, from Constantinople Feb. 24 for Port Said. The former is on fire, and the latter is ashore and abandoned.

A Fatal Quarrel.

RENO, Nev., March 17.—Reese Evans and A. A. Smith fought a duel with Winchesters at eight feet distance at Purdy Station. Each received injuries from which death resulted. The quarrel was over a strip of almost worthless land.

Noted New York Merchant Dead.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Hugh O'Neill, founder of one of the largest retail dry goods businesses in New York, is dead at his residence in this city. Mr. O'Neill was a native of Belfast, Ireland, and was fifty-nine years of age.

French Strikers Win.

LA ROCHELLE, France, March 17.—A meeting here last night of the employers of the striking dock laborers and delegates from the strikers resulted in the acceptance of the demands of the latter. The strikers numbered 800 men.

SOME QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

An interview with Former Mayor William L. Saunders is published in today's Daily Press which will answer many of the questions that have been asked about the proposed changing of the county lines and the consolidation of city and borough. It explains why there was no referendum provision attached to the bill which provides for the changing of the county lines. As has already been stated in The Daily Press, Mr. Saunders declares that there is no scheme, political or personal, behind the measures and the fact that Frank Bergen, president of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, did draw up the bills, does not signify that that corporation is engineering them.

In order to quiet the fears of those who gained the idea that consolidation would so confuse the affairs of the two municipalities that it would take months or perhaps years to get the tangle straightened out, Mr. Saunders quotes in full the provisions of the general bill, which are aimed to prevent just such a condition of affairs. They will bear careful reading.

The fact that Mr. Saunders has appeared most prominently in connection with the forwarding of these measures must deceive no one. While Mr. Saunders has and does take a deep interest in the movement for Greater Plainfield, he is only one of many. These measures have the backing of many prominent men in city and borough and are not designed to advance the private interests of Mr. Saunders or anyone else. On someone must must fall the duty of taking the initiative and no more able or clear sighted man could have been chosen than William L. Saunders.

BOOM FOR BASEBALL.

The news that Plainfield is to have an amateur baseball league will be received with much satisfaction by every lover of the national sport in this city. While the enthusiasts always like to watch the local players on the diamond, no matter who their opponents are, a league will give a decided increase to the interest taken in the contest, and will be a means of booming baseball in Plainfield during the season of 1902.

The series of games, last season, between the local teams, developed an interest that was fully equal to that taken in the days when the popularity of the game was at its highest. With four, or perhaps five, strong teams in the field, the local interest is going to be remarkable and the fact that the championship of the league is going to practically determine the championship of the city is going to bring forth contests that will be hot enough to suit the most ardent rooter.

The exhibit given at the Public Library, Saturday and yesterday, attracted fully as much interest as have the others. This time it was the home and the various interests of women which were particularly catered to. Those who attended the exhibit found that the Library is as well prepared to interest the women as the men and contains many books which may be read by them with both interest and profit.

Must Lay Sidewalks.

Street Commissioner Gavett will issue, in a few days, notices to property owners requesting them to lay sidewalks within thirty days. It is the purpose of the street committee to have these walks laid by the owners of the property. If they do not heed the request the city will lay the walks and charge it up.

NORTH PLAINFIELD ANNEXED

Y. M. C. A. LITERARY SOCIETY DECIDED THAT IMPORTANT QUESTION.

The Members Became Senate Committee and Passed on Greater Plainfield Bills.

Consolidation was the topic for discussion at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Literary Society, held Saturday evening. The organization formed itself into a senate committee on laws for the purpose of deciding whether the three proposed bills should go to the upper house of the Legislature for action.

The discussion was quite animated. E. K. Hartley and R. Jeffery advanced the reasons why such action would be beneficial to North Plainfield and at the same time helpful to this city. N. Douglass Drake and C. E. Drange opposed the bill. The copy of the bill, as printed in The Daily Press, were used for reference. As a result of the discussion the bill for the annexation of the territory embraced in North Plainfield was passed, as was also the bill for the consolidation of the two municipalities.

Before adjournment E. K. Hartley, who represented the society at the State Convention of the Y. M. C. A., held at Camden, made a report. He outlined some plans of the literary department of the association for the coming year. It was decided to hold a public debate on the question of consolidation. This will take place Saturday evening, April 12.

THROWN OUT OF CARRIAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rushmore Injured in a Runaway Yesterday.

While driving on the Valley road, yesterday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rushmore, of West Eighth street, were thrown from their runabout and injured.

The horse had become fractious and efforts to stop it on the part of Mr. Rushmore were unsuccessful. The occupants were taken to Nelson's hotel where their wounds were dressed. Mr. Rushmore was cut about the face and he and Mrs. Rushmore were severely shaken up by the accident. Later in the afternoon they came to Plainfield. The horse was captured some distance up the road.

Only Four Cases.

There are two cases of diphtheria and a like number of cases of scarlet fever in North Plainfield. These are the only contagious cases in the borough at present.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruptions. DeWitt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy condition and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Hooper, Albany, Ga., says: "I took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness. They were just what I needed. I am feeling better now than in years." Never gripe or distress. Safe, thorough and gentle. The very best pills. L. W. Randolph.

STUPENDOUS FIRE SALE!

Saturday, March 15th.

7 o'clock, a. m.

$25,000 worth of Dry Goods, Carpets, Furniture and Housefurnishings damaged only by water to be sold at once. This is beyond all question the largest and most important sale of its kind in the history of Plainfield, for every damaged article will be fearfully sacrificed. Store will open every morning at 7 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m. Only as many people will be admitted at a time as we can properly wait upon when the doors will be closed. When these people are dismissed others will be admitted. This appears to be the only way to care for the large crowds we anticipate, and is not done in any spirit of favoritism. This sale is not advertised "out of town" as we desire to give our own townspeople, from whom we have received so many assurances of sympathy and encouragement, every opportunity to secure the best bargains. Our Carpet Store is located, for the present, at 324 West Front Street.

WEDDED TO TACOMA DOCTOR

QUIET MARRIAGE OF MISS ETHEL PERCY OPDYKE SATURDAY.

Groom Was Dr. Ray Burney Tubbs —They Will Reside at Tacoma, Washington.

A quiet nuptial function was the marriage of Miss Ethel Percy Opdyke, of Watchung avenue, to Dr. Ray Burney Tubbs, of Tacoma, Washington, which took place at the residence of the bride's parents at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The groom's mother and his other relatives reside in California and hence were not present at the ceremony, which both the young people desired to have solomnized with as little publicity as possible. Only the immediate relatives of the bride were present.

The interior of the quaint country place had been tastefully adorned with cut roses and plants. Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Soul's church, was the officiating clergyman. After the ceremony was concluded, Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs left immediately for their honeymoon trip. They will subsequently depart for Tacoma, where the groom has a lucrative practice.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Opdyke and is well known in this city. Dr. Tubbs formerly resided in Chicago, Ill., and it was there that he met his bride. For several years past Mrs. Tubbs has spent the winter months with relatives in that city.

Practically Starving.

"After using a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure my wife received perfect and permanent relief from a severe and chronic case of stomach trouble," says J. R. Holly, real estate, insurance and loan agent, of Macomb, Ill. "Before using Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she could not eat an ordinary meal without intense suffering. She is now entirely cured. Several physicians and many remedies had failed to give relief." You don't have to diet. Eat any good food you want, but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will always digest it for you. L. W. Randolph.

A MAKER OF SAINTS.

An Establishment in Paris That Has Been Producing the Figures for Over a Century.

The firm of Raffl, in Paris, has been n existence for over a century, but it is only six years since M. Pacheu, with whom a M. Lecaron is associated, took over the business, says Pearson's Magazine.—

"This making of saints," he said, "was a business which, when I decided to engage in industry, appealed to me most strongly. It is an industry for a man who is fond of frequenting the public libraries, who takes his pleasure in poring over old books and documents, who delights in research. Thus I do not know of anything that gives me greater pleasure than when I am written to about some saint concerning whom the customer can give me few if any details. One has to hunt up the particulars, the period in which he lived, the costumes of that period, to find out what were his special attributes, what was his martyrdom, if martyrdom there was.

"Thus some time ago we received from a priest in the south of France an order for a statue of St. Fris. I had never heard of such a saint, nor does he figure in our catalogue, though that massive volume contains over 180 closely-printed pages of the names of saints. We applied to a priest who is a great authority on this subject, and we learned that St. Fris was a captain of barbarians under the Roman denomination, and that he was martyred at the age of 20. This gave us the period, and the rest was easy.

"Again, on another occasion, we were asked to make a statue of a Ste. Ame, of whom we knew nothing but that she was a widow. We had to find out everything else about her. But once we know the period our task becomes easier. The period indicates the costume. Thus recently we had to make a St. Maurice. We knew that he was a captain, that he was a Roman, and we dressed him with the breastplate and the helmet of a Roman captain."

THE TROJAN HORSE TO DATE.

Classical Method Employed by Two Clever Parisian Thieves in Their Business.

Even in these latter days an intelligent study of the ancient classics may prove a valuable asset to the conscientious student. That, at least, is what one gathers from the exploits of the pair of Parisian knights of the order of industry who stole a dummy horse from a saddler's shop, and proceeded to put it to the same use as the Greeks did the Wooden Horse of Troy, reports the London Graphic.

The deceptive quadruped was placed on a handcart and wheeled to a house where an innocent concierge consented to take care of it for the night. Before morning one of the confederates had emerged from the interior of the horse, laid hands on such valuables as he could find, and regained his hiding place—to be duly carted away by his friend.

This stratagem was actually successful several times—for good "M. Pipelet" had, no doubt, never heard a certain trite tag about gift-bearing Greeks, and the legitimate suspicion with which prudent Trojans should regard such. At last, however, a policeman happened to see the horse passing through the streets, and, having heard of its exploits, made bold to stop it—and the game was up. Even good Homer nods—and the students of the band were caught napping. Clearly, however, there is still money to be made out of a sound classical education.

CHINESE SANDWICHES.

They Are Not Composed of What Common Prejudice Might Lead One to Suppose.

Patrons of a certain restaurant in this city frequently call for a "Chinese sandwich," and the order is not delayed.

The prejudiced might suppose that a Chinese sandwich was made of—well, never mind, it isn't.

It doesn't seem quite clear why this particular sandwich should be tagged with a Mongolian label. In composition it is more Teutonic than oriental. In short, it consists of two generous slices of rye bread spread with finely chopped raw meat.

That there should be a demand for such a sandwich is not surprising. Germans have for a long time relished raw meat even without the bread. Possibly the idea spread from Great Britain and the continent, where the hospitals have for years nourished certain patients with raw beef and raw mutton. The raw beef sandwich has also had a place in the regimen of New York hospitals for a long time. The medical men's theory is that raw meat is more nourishing and more easily digested, and is especially adapted to weak stomachs.

If the taste for raw meat becomes general it will be a curious response to the criticism of vegetarians, who have constantly declared that he who slays his brother, the ox, for food, would be a more consistent savage if he devoured the carcass without cooking it.

An Odd Windfall.

It is said that a foreman stereotyper in a London printing works has had a curious windfall. Going to a sale of musical instruments, he purchased an old harpischord for 20 shillings, because, having a hobby for fretwork, he fancied the wood of the front panel. When he got his purchase home he dissected it. He then discovered that the harpischord had a double back, and presently between the boards he found very old Bank of England notes, the total face value of which amounted to $150,000.

Smoothest of Pickpockets.

"You can talk about your smooth pickpockets, but about the smoothest I ever saw was in New York," said the man who had traveled. "It was when I was up there a couple of summers ago. No, the story has never been printed, because the pickpocket was never arrested. I was a victim myself, and I didn't 'holler,' either. An Italian with a grindorgan and a monkey stopped in front of the hotel. The grind organ man ground and the monkey danced. The monkey then took up a collection. He was the most playful monkey I ever saw, and he jumped upon the knees of every man in the lobby. After he left I noticed that I was a dollar short. Several of the other fellows were also short, but we were in New York and expected it. The next day the Italian and the monkey came again. The man ground out the same old tunes and the monkey cut the same capers. A woman was in the lobby, and the animal jumped upon her lap. Then there was an awful scream, and 'Jocko' fell dead. In his right forepaw he held a half dollar."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Lived 109 Years.

There has just died at Gobshealach, Ardnamurchan, Miss Mary Stewart, who had lived under five sovereigns, and whose life completely spanned the nineteenth century. She was born in 1792, and up to the middle of last summer she was able to perform a wonderful amount of work, and was in full possession of her faculties. Her eyesight never failed her. For the past six months, however, she was confined to bed a good deal, and lost strength rapidly. Miss Stewart's parents were farmers on the Ardnamurchan estate. Of the language of the Saxon she was utterly ignorant, but her vernacular Gaelic she could speak with singular idiomatic purity. Last year she received from Queen Alexandra, through Miss Knollys, a basket of sweets and a quantity of tea, etc., on the queen ascertaining that she had completed 108 years. The parcel was accompanied by a gracious and sympathetic letter.—London Express.

Ninety-Three Miles an Hour.

The experiments conducted under the control of the German government on the military railroad between Berlin and Zossen have thus far, according to a report from United States Consul General Mason, resulted in the production of a speed of 93.2 miles per hour with electric traction. The current, of the three-phase system, is supplied from suspended wires. The experiments are not finished, but before a higher speed can be safely attained, it is said, changes must be made in the equipment and the motors.—Youth's Companion.

A Loadstone Sand-Dune.

The fiction of the mysterious loadstone mountain which drew the nails out of ships that approached near enough, has a certain foundation in fact, only the fact has suffered by expansion. On the coast of Norway, near Joedern, there is a sand dune of nearly three-quarters of a mile in length. The sand is mixed with particles of loadstone, and when a ship comes in the vicinity the compass becomes irregular, and the vessel is entangled in a kind of whirlpool and thrown ashore.—Siecle.

TRADE WITH ORIENT

It Is Giving a Wonderful Impetus to Pacific Coast Points.

Immense Dry Docks Now in Course of Construction in San Francisco Bay—Commerce Follows Flag.

[Special San Francisco Letter.]

TWO immense dry-docks, larger than any in the west, and as large as any in the world, except the one at Newport News, Va., are being built in San Francisco bay—one for commercial purposes and the other for government ships. The first of these is being constructed at Hunter's Point, three miles south of San Francisco, and the other at Mare Island navy yard. These large docks have become necessary owing to the increased size and draft of merchantmen and warships. The rapid increase of our trade with China and Japan, and our acquisition of the Philippines, necessitates larger vessels for commerce and a more powerful navy to protect it. The difficulty is for ample dockage facilities, especially on this coast. The largest dock in use in the west is in this city. It is only 500 feet long, and barely large enough to accommodate ships of the largest class. The same company is building a drydock 750 feet in length—large enough to accommodate the biggest vessel in the world, which is 704 feet in length. The construction of these docks at this place will obviate the necessity of vessels of the larger class in these waters making a long trip to the eastern docks, or crossing over to Hong-Kong. There are also two docks of this size in the east, and there is one at Hong-Kong.

The one building at Hunter's Point is being cut out of stone and has a natural foundation of granite. It is believed that it will be the best drydock in the world. It will have a width at the coping of 122 feet, and at the bottom a width of 74 feet. The depth is 36 feet. The entrance to the dock will be closed by a floating caisson built of structural steel. The machinery employed is of the most expensive and massive, and the heaviest vessels can be docked with ease. Three centrifugal pumping plants will be used, with a total capacity of 180,000 gallons of water a minute. It is estimated that the dock can be pumped dry in an hour and 20 minutes. There is 40 feet depth of water at the entrance to the dock, sufficient to float in the deepest draft vessel. The dock will cost about $500,000, and will be finished within six months. Three hundred men are employed.

The government drydock, being built at Mare Island navy yard, is of the same dimensions, and it is estimated that it will cost $1,850,000. The reason for the greater cost is that it has an earth foundation, or rather that piling is driven 60 feet in the mud, upon which to lay a foundation, and a great deal of dredging will be necessary; also a greater quantity of cement must be used. The entire structure will be of cement, mixed with quarried stone. The depth of water is ample, and when finished it will be one of the best naval drydocks in the world. It will be completed in about two years. In the meantime, government war vessels of the larger size will necessarily be docked at Hunter's Point (when that dock is finished. Foreign warships visiting this port will also necessarily be repaired at Hunter's Point, as the drydock at Mare island is exclusively for American warships.

Thus it will be seen that while our increased Asiatic commerce has necessitated greater docking facilities, and larger vessels, that growth demands also larger warships to protect that commerce, and a larger dock for those war vessels.

The dock now in use at Mare island navy yard is 500 feet long, and was built 15 years ago, at a lost of about $3,000,000.

The one at Newport News is the largest dock in the world—being 827 feet long, 162 feet wide at the top and 110 feet at the bottom, with a depth of 30 feet. As is well known, the late C. P. Huntington begun its construction, foreseeing the need for increased facilities, and to prevent the necessity of longer sending our larger battleships to Halifax. In this connection it may be mentioned that the two ships now being built at Croton, Conn., (for the Asiatic trade) the largest in the world, can only find dockage accommodation in these large docks. It is likely, however, that one of the docks in the northwest will be lengthened with this view.

The Pacific coast is destined to become a more important central point of maritime operations at no distant day. The change that has recently taken place in Japan has considerable influence in the Asiatic problem, as affecting the Pacific coast, and the United States in General. Japan has within the past few years experienced a revolution in ideas, and those people adopt with eagerness American methods of commerce and learning. Our recent treaty with that power is especially favorable to the increase of the extensive trade between the countries, which necessitates more carrying vessels of larger capacity.

Pacific coast military defenses are also being strengthened in order to protect our increasing commerce, for Great Britain is continually strengthening her fortifications on the northwestern boundary, and is encroaching upon us in the mid-Pacific. She occasionally grabs another island, and longingly looks toward the Golden Gate. California has a coast line of 850 miles in extent, and it will require a fleet of warships to protect the several fleets of commercial vessels that are employed in supplying this coast with the commodities of life. As the population increases, the trade with Asia will become more valuable, and worth fighting for. France, Germany and Russia have also possessions in the mid-Pacific—holding them, and awaiting events. Said a naval officer to me: "It is well to be prepared for anything—a friendly nation of to-day may be an enemy to-morrow."

The Golden Gate is guarded by about 100 guns of the largest caliber, and 200 sea-mortars. The strait that connects the ocean with the bay is 3½ miles long and one mile in width at the narrowest point. Masked batteries are planted at convenient intervals, which it is believed can sink any warship that comes within range. One of these batteries is on a promontory, at an elevation of 473 feet—the highest battery in the world. The channel curves by this point. The strait, which is about two miles wide at its greatest width, is from 30 to 180 feet in depth. The channel, however, has a depth of from 120 feet to 350 feet. Unless a foreign vessel could ascertain the windings of the channel, there would be some danger of grounding or striking an obstruction in the shallowest part.

In order to communicate more directly with the military defenses at the Golden Gate, a wireless telegraph system will be established soon at the Farallone islands, a distance of 25 miles out at sea. The telegraph will be established on the larger of the islands, which is about one mile in diameter, and where there is a signal station for ships.

It is reported that another large dry-dock, equal in dimensions or perhaps larger than those at Mare Island and at Hunter's Point, will be constructed at Point Richmond, ten miles up the bay on the opposite side from this city. It will be built by the Santa Fe Railroad and Standard Oil companies for the dockage of their own vessels. The Santa Fe company will also build a large shipyard at this new city.

Thus, it will be seen that the dockage facilities of San Francisco are ample for all sizes of vessels, and keeps pace with the growth of the city and its commerce, also that the docks increase in dimensions as the ships are built larger. In addition, there are now in use several floating dry-docks with a capacity of taking ships of 5,000 or 6,000 tons register, and others of the same and larger capacity are being built. The water front extends about nine miles and has seven miles of wharfage—or 36 wharves. These wharves are being extended into the bay, so that the largest steamers can come alongside with perfect safety.

Oldest Organ in America.

The organ in the chapel of the Episcopal church on State street in Portsmouth, N. H., is to be taken to Boston to be placed on exhibition, being the oldest in America. The organ was brought from London in 1713 and placed in King's chapel, Boston. While it was in Boston Benjamin Franklin was the organist. It was sold to Newburyport some years afterward, and in 1836 it was purchased by Rev. Dr. Charles Burroughs and presented to the chapel in Portsmouth.

LEADS LIVELY LIFE.

Country Donkey Falls from Grace in New York City.

Once He Was a Model of Asinine Frugality. Now He Is a Confirmed Beer Boozer as Well as Tobacco Fiend.

Life is all beer and skittles to Jack; that is, excepting the generous portion devoted to delirium tremens and remorse.

Jack is a white donkey. He resides on the West side and is known at every saloon between Fourteenth and Fifty-ninth streets, says the New York World.

There is a certain handicap in being a white jackass. One of any other color might bray far more loudly and go comparatively unobserved, but a white jackass, like a purple cow, is conspicuous by reason of its complexion and not because of its disposition.

Jack used to draw a turnip wagon out on Long Island. It was irksome work. There was no dissipation in it, and very little oats. Jack used to look out of his mild asinine eye at the far-away city smoke and say to himself:

"If I ever get to be a city jackass I'll make Rome howl, so to speak. I am as yet a country yap, but I'll make some of those dray mules look like wash drawings if I ever get a chance."

One day Jack's master loaded him up with green goods, in the way of celery, scallions and other succulents, and set forth to the city. Jack said not a word, but winked right and left to the gum-chewing cow and to his old side partner, the sore-footed mule, and then proceeded with speed to the city.

Now note the fall thereof. No more green fields or peaceful pastures for Jack. No more silent nights under the stars with the old bay cow and the somnolent pigs sleeping near by.

Jack was sold to Jimmy Carroll, of No. 156 West Twenty-ninth street, and never returned to the farm. Carroll gave him his opportunity, and Jack seized it with praiseworthy vigor.

JACK WANTED TO BUY.

With his little load on his back and without permission he followed his master straight into a saloon and up to the bar.

Carroll wanted to sell things. Jack wanted to buy. The barkeeper set out a big schooner of beer. Duly assisted, Jack drank it. Here at last was real life. Another beer followed. Out on the street once more Jack fetched a bray that advertised Carroll's wares for a block.

Twenty-six large schooners was his record on Eighth avenue on that day. He had discovered that he was a natural-born rounder. It was the life he had longed to lead for years.

He returned to his stall that night, ossified. It was his undoing.

This was many months ago. Since then Jack has learned to chew tobacco like a "bayseed." He has learned to pick a schooner off the bar with his teeth and pour it down his throat all in a bunch. His eyes have become bleary and dissipated. He has begun to see things connected with the donkey hades, but he bears his troubles with equanimity and without a bray.

Almost any day you can see Jack parading up and down the streets of the West side, selling some things and guzzling others. All his early training is forgotten.

Developing Second Youth.

Noah Rabey, an inmate of the Piscataway township (N. J.) poorhouse, who, if he lives until April, will be 130 years of age, is now undergoing a marvelous change in his physical appearance. The old man has but recently recovered from a severe illness, but instead of growing more feeble appears to be developing a second youth. The wrinkles about his eyes and in his forehead are disappearing and the skin is soft and smooth instead of hard and tough as before his sickness. He believes that he will live to be 150 years old. Although blind and with back bent almost double, he is able to walk without a cane. The greater part of his diet has consisted for a long time of sausage and boiled turnips. His voice is cracked and high, but he articulates plainly. He says he can remember about 120 years ago, when he used to await the coming of Santa Claus like other boys.

Dogs as Truffle Hunters.

The truffle is a wonderful vegetable. It has neither roots, stem, leaves, flowers nor seeds. It grows just below the surface of the earth, and in France is discovered by the aid of swine, which are attracted to it by the fleshy smell it emits. In England dogs are trained to search for it.

A LIBEL ON WOMEN.

That Ancient Statement, "The Women Were Hysterical."

What newspaper young men would do without that old reliable standby word "hysterical" to apply to women is beyond conjecture. It is their universal solvent of an adjective to fuse and combine into a picturesque whole all situations in which women are involved, and no description of such situation is satisfactory unless it is touched up at the end with this tacked on sentence: "And the women were hysterical."

An automobile comes into collision with a milk wagon. Nothing is hurt except some milk bottles and nobody much shaken up except the driver of the milk cart, who thereupon opens out upon the automobile people with the choicest epithets known in his vocabulary, and these are not few or thin, they making up in depth and richness whatever the milk he sells may lack in these respects. The ladies inside the auto carriage sit still and say nothing at the collision, but when they hear the milkman's language they shiver and exclaim "Oh!" The reporter gives a beautiful description of the collision, saying at the end, "Fortunately nobody was hurt, but all were considerably shaken up, and the women were hysterical."

A fuse melts in an electric train. The train contains all told fifty passengers. Twenty are women. There is a disturbance when some sensitive nerved man cries out that the cars are on fire. Men fight and claw like wild animals to get out. In their haste and panic they shove both men and women this way and that. Some of the women cry out, others pick themselves up and try to release themselves from the car. Some of the passengers are slightly bruised, and all have difficulty in composing themselves to sleep that night. But for the story of the occurrence in the newspaper this time mere hysterics is not sufficient. The description glows in lurid light thus:

"Scores of women fainted or became hysterical and had to be carried out."

Now, there were only twenty women all told on that train. As a matter of fact, one man, whose wife was with him, assisted her out of the car. But not even fainting would do on this occasion for the feminine antics that were cut in the newspaper young man's brain, and his gifted description proceeds:

"Many women were in a state of collapse, and restoratives had to be applied liberally."

Ten men ran into a drug store and got each a drink of whisky so soon as that train was stopped. The one man who was with his wife followed presently and brought her out a thimbleful of brandy, which she swallowed in the sight of all men and then proceeded on her way home. This was the nearest to a collapse that any woman attained in the course of the affair, so we must infer that the ten men who ran and got each a drink of whisky were in a state of collapse too. But concerning these the tale is silent.

A case is on in court which draws as spectators many men and some women. The case is one that appeals strongly to human sympathy. Here is a glorious occasion for a writer to spread himself. Although there are six times as many men as women onlookers the report says the seats were crowded with the fair sex and that their fine sensibilities were touched to tears—

"And the women became hysterical."

What has woman ever done to the newspaper reporter that she should thus have hysterics saddled upon her, hit or miss, guilty or not guilty? In some past incarnation did she blister him with her tears and shrivel him with her volcanic emotion? Who can say? We only know that in this round at any rate man rather than woman is inclined to be the explosive sex. But none the less in the story of any accident, fire, divorce suit or even of a very hard kick in a football game the newspaper evermore bears across its innocent face the legend, "And the women were hysterical."

KATE SHARP.

A Woman In Office.

The secretary of the board of trade of Omaha is a woman, Miss Lucy C. Harding. Well, why not? Nebraska expects to be the richest agricultural state in the Union.

A Line OF Strong Women

IN southern Ohio there died lately a woman, Mrs. Jane Warren Archard, past eighty years of age, who illustrated in a noteworthy degree the law of heredity in the female line. Mrs. Archard's great-grandfather, John Light, and his family floated down the Ohio river in a flatboat from Pennsylvania, near Pittsburg. Indians peppering them with bullets at intervals all the way and wounding Mr. Light himself.

Barbara stowed away in a canoe her goods and her four children and herself, and in that frail craft they actually floated down the Ohio 600 miles and landed where the town of New Richmond now stands, joined Barbara's father and brothers and grew up with the country. Barbara was of the staying old stock called by folk of other blood "Pennsylvania Dutch."

Other acts of Barbara's life were in keeping. Her will and courage were invincible. Her intellect was vigorous and independent. She thought for herself, untrammeled by tradition. In middle life she and her old father received what they believed to be a spiritual illumination and evolved a religion of their own which included the full blown doctrine of reincarnation.

When Barbara passed to the beyond, she left behind in her turn a daughter, Letitia Warren, who inherited the mother's qualities, among them the physical size and strength and the fearlessness which have characterized many of Barbara's female descendants for four generations. Letitia Warren was nearly or quite six feet high, strong as a man and gentle as a child. She was never known to be angry or to lose her head or her nerve. She was a famous farm woman. She planted fruits and flowers; she reared a noble herd of cattle; she had great colonies of bees that swarmed and hummed all the summer day.

Once an angry cow lowered its head and made for Letitia, striking at her side with its horn. Instantly, before the horn had more than grazed her flesh, Mrs. Warren grasped the animal by the cartilage of the nose and held it fast, so that it could only stand bellowing with rage and pain.

This strong, gentle, fearless Letitia was the model on which her daughters and granddaughters built their own characters, so far as they had perception to do so. Her daughter Jane, who lately died in Ohio, past eighty, was most like her—strong, intelligent, courageous and always cool headed. There was something of the stoic in them all which made it weakness in them to shed tears, though many a time their hearts were wrung. Jane Archard's husband was much away from home on business, leaving her alone on the farm with her five little daughters. During one of these absences an evil looking peddler walked into her kitchen, set his pack down and told her he was going to stay all night. She refused him permission. He insisted threateningly, approaching her, shaking his fist. Jane sat at her table working buttonholes. Upon the table lay a butcher's knife, sharp and glittering, of the kind common in farmhouses. Without a word, without the quiver of an eyelash, Jane picked up the knife and faced the peddler.

"Mein Gott!" he exclaimed and turned and went and was seen no more.

And now, with a mind clear and active, with a body able to take care of itself to the last, Jane, too, granddaughter of Barbara, daughter of Letitia, is gathered to her fathers. Of Jane's five daughters one is a physician, another a teacher, a third a newspaper writer, yet another a highly successful farmer, while the remaining one, now in private life, was until recently a stenographer and law reporter.

And time flew behind Frances, but looking back she re-established many vital facts that lessened the sadness of memory; the man must once have been noble—his deeds of mercy and gentleness proved that; innately noble he must have been when she met him, for in the face of a great temptation he had kept his promise to his friend, even to the extent of shutting his eyes against the girl whose arms had been about him, whose lips breathed love for him. And somewhere, despite all the trickery, there was still nobility, for silently he had ridden away, faithful to his friend. He had lain under her hands wounded by the pistol shot, and no woman ever hated a helpless, suffering man. As for his deceptions, his plots, some fearful necessity must have compelled him. The other woman? She had been too base for him—she had been at heart a murderess. She it was who had dragged him down. And was he not caring for the child? Frances would not have admitted it to herself had she realized it, but in the depths of that heart she had forgiven Richard Somers. Her heart was big enough to hold him and all his weakness. Was there a loss of something from her nature? Or was there a gain?

No message had ever come to her from Somers, no good or evil report. None? Yes, just a scrap soon after the war began. From some one, Brodnar, probably, since his name was upon it, she had received a northern paper giving in its war gossip information that Richard Somers had been reinstated in the army and promoted to be captain of artillery.

But one day early in the spring of 1862, when the great federal movement against Richmond was beginning and when every train was bringing in a bloody harvest, she leaned above a wounded enemy. The question so often asked, "To what command do you belong?" drew forth an answer that filled her with excitement. She felt her heart begin to beat madly and her limbs yielding to a sudden excitement.

"Your captain! What is his name?"

"Richard Somers, miss!" How strangely thrilling sounded the name that morning! It was the first time she had heard it spoken since its bearer had said among the flickering shadows of her room: "If to carry in memory the living record of one face will help you, take mine, and with it, right or wrong, the love of Richard Somers." The scene, never dimmed in all the months that had passed, stood forth again, illumined like some strong picture under the swift magic of the lightning. The wounded man saw in her face the glow of its reflection. Triumph shone in her eloquent eyes, a sudden agitation locked the soft white hands.

"Do you know him, miss?"

"I? Yes, yes! Is he well—is he safe?" The man read more than she suspected, and turned his eyes away embarrassed. He was singularly helpless from his wounds, and she had his face at her mercy. Her woman's instinct discerned his thought; her lips moved without sound, but her soul was in the appealing look riveted upon him.

"I think—not," he said, reluctantly, at last. "In fact, I know that he—is wounded."

"Dead!—you mean!" she gasped in the struggle to conceal her anguish.

"No, miss—not exactly that; but badly wounded—very badly, I am afraid."

"Where is he?" She made no effort then to conceal the truth. She was on her knees, her eyes close to his. "In God's name, my friend, tell me—tell me all! Can't you see? can't you see?" She covered her face, unable to continue.

"I can only tell you what I know, miss. He was not dead when I saw him last. Our guns were in the line when the charge came. The line was broken at both flanks, and the yelling confederates were swarming about us. Every horse we had was down, when word came for us to look out for ourselves, and back we went to escape capture—what was left of us. Well, miss, somebody said then that No. 3 had been left loaded—double-shotted with canister; the man at the lanyard had fallen dead just as he lifted his hand to pull. And so the gun stood, ready to be turned upon us. Then Capt. Somers halted and looked about for some one to send back; but I think, miss, he must have seen that the chance was desperate. It was only an instant, and he wouldn't order any man to go; he rushed forward over the 50 yards, reached the gun and seized the cord. He was my captain, and I couldn't leave him there, you know, so I had followed him, too. Then up in front an army of gray seemed to rise as from the ground, and they fired a volley as he pulled on the lanyard. I threw myself on my face and escaped. When I looked up the crowd ahead was disordered and torn, but still coming on; and the captain lay by his gun. I crawled over and laid my hand upon him.

"'Tom,' he said, cool as I am right now, 'I'm gone, but if you get out take the papers in my pocket and my watch to my mother!' I took them as he told me. He fainted, I think, and I was afraid he was dead, but he breathed again. And then, miss—I hadn't tried it since I was a boy—he was lying upon his face, and rolling over, I lay upon him, back to back, locking my arms through his. Turning over suddenly, I had him on me a dead weight, and then, somehow, I got up. The whole thing was not a minute long. The confederates gave me a cheer instead of a volley till the boys rushed back to meet us. I got it in both legs then and this shoulder, and down we went. The boys took him and left me, which was right; for four men had died there to save him and I looked like the fifth." Frances was kneeling by the wounded man when he finished, stroking his cheek and brow, her frame trembling.

"Oh, brave! brave!" she cried. "God bless you and keep you—and keep you!" she sank her face beside him, sobbing for joy. "The watch—the papers!" she cried, excitedly, remembering his commission. "Oh, sir, I am his—I am his nearest relative, south! Give them to me, give them to me!"

"In my coat," said the stranger gently, a wan smile upon his pale face. "Don't worry, miss; I guess the captain'll pull through all right." The watch was there, and there too were the letters sealed for his mother ready for delivery if he were picked up dead by friend or foe. No line for her, the woman who loved him once—loved him as she had known him. Upon the inner case of his watch was his own name and address; and still no line for her, the woman who held him so dear. But in the locket dangling from the chain there were two lines cut into the virgin gold:

"Frances, my wife.
"Richmond, April 13th, 1861."

How roseate then grew life for the girl. He remembered! He had kept her words with him night and day. He loved her; he had told no falsehood for the value of her father's wealth. As she stood by the wounded soldier, his eyes resting in sympathy on her, her own seeing nothing but the face in that half-lit room where her shrine was raised, all that was left of resentment vanished out of her heart. When afterward she realized this she was amazed and troubled.

One federal soldier at least in all the hosts that fell into confederate hands had no cause to complain of his nursing. A hospital stretcher bore him to the home of Frances Brookin and into her room. It was her whim, and the stepmother was indulging her whims in those days. There Frances and mammy, with William as a helper and Brodnar as an occasional adviser, lavished on him such care and attention as he had never dreamed was possible, for he was one of those homeless waifs to whom war had promised nothing but excitement and change. It was all a mystery to him, but he questioned not. He accepted the girl's simple statement as to Somers, and was content to let the sun of his prosperity shine on.

One day when the soldier was able to limp about the garden upon his crutches, and sit in the shade by the plashing fountain to read in the Dispatch of the great battles being fought around the endangered capital of the confederacy, Frances, bearing the highest testimonials from surgeons and hospital officials as to the conspicuous and devoted service she had rendered, went to the executive mansion and secured admission to the presence of its great chief. Mr. Davis courteously read her papers, and, looking into the earnest face of the fair girl sitting beside him, gave graceful expression to his appreciation of her patriotism.

"ASK WHAT YOU WILL, MY CHILD."

"Ask what you will, my child," he said, "and if I may consistently grant it your wishes shall be gratified."

WOMEN BUY A HEARSE.

Las Cruces (N. M.) Club Decide That Town Should Have a Proper Funeral Vehicle.

Think of a woman's club buying a hearse with its first official dollars! That is the odd proceeding of the Woman's Improvement association at Las Cruces, N. M., and as the president, Mrs. D. C. Billings, puts it proudly: "It's the only hearse in the county."

This enterprising incident indicates the uphill work of clubwomen in the sparsely settled southwestern states, who long for some of the advantages and aesthetics of so-called civilization—an uphill work, it may be added, which is unknown to big and thrice-blessed clubs in thickly populated centers.

The Las Cruces Woman's Improvement association has only 11 members. When this ambitious little band organized five years ago, it not only purchased a hearse to replace the rude wagon that had previously served at the head of funeral processions, but set about otherwise to improve this small town, made up mostly of unprogressive Mexicans and winter tourists. They bought a section of land and proceeded to convert it into a park by planting trees and putting up a pavilion. Afterward they purchased a lot for the purpose of erecting, some prosperous day, a public library and clubhouse under one roof.

"You clubwomen of the north have no idea how away-back-in-the-Bible-times these Mexicans," wrote Mrs. Billings, according to the Pilgrim. "We women have worked slowly and at great disadvantage. Several times we have applied to outside clubs for help, but, receiving no answer, have decided we must wait and work."

At present these clubwomen are building a windmill to secure better irrigation—another unusual undertaking, indeed.

HE DOCTORED THE EGGS.

A Physician Played Sherlock Holmes and Caught a Dishonest Employe.

A Long Island doctor who has been missing eggs from his poultry yard for some time is happy at last, for he has discovered the thief. For months every effort and every device to detect the culprit failed, but, finally, the doctor hit upon a scheme that was worthy of Sherlock Holmes.

He took a dozen or more eggs and bored the tiniest of holes in the shell of each. Then through these holes he introduced into the eggs a piece of very fine wire. The holes were then filled with white wax and the eggs returned to the nest.

A few days afterward the doctor was called in to see the child of a woman in the village near him. After attending the child he talked about one thing and another until the lady told him of such a strange thing that had happened to her. A few days before she had bought a half dozen eggs from the village grocer and in four of them she had found short pieces of wire.

These were produced and shown to the doctor, who took possession of them, and told the lady how they had come to be in the eggs. He then interviewed the grocer, who finally admitted that he had been buying eggs for some time from a man employed by the doctor. The man is now working elsewhere, says the New York Times, and the doctor no longer patronizes that particular grocer.

Rich New Yorkers Who Hate to Pay Personal Taxes

Mrs. Astor Leads the List of Gotham's Millionaires Who Have Become Adopted Citizens of Newport, R. I.

ROBERT INGERSOLL once stated that he had seen some touchingly beautiful inscriptions on tombstones, but he had never come upon an epitaph saying: "Here lies a man (or woman) who always cheerfully paid his taxes." Nor will such an inscription be seen until the millenium arrives. Man, as at present constituted, objects to contributing to the public funds.

MRS. WILLIAM ASTOR.

Each and every individual honestly believes that he is overtaxed and that his neighbor is undertaxed. But the worst of kickers are our millionaires—fellows to whom a thousand means no more than a nickel means to the owner of a small home.

New York city seems to be particularly unfortunate in the character of its plutocracy, whose members are relinquishing citizenship in the Empire state by the wholesale. A short time ago a quartette, consisting of Caroline W. Astor (the Mrs. Astor), William E. Schermerhorn, Samuel E. Huntington and Hamilton Fish Webster were granted certificates of citizenship at Newport, R. I., where they own summer homes. And now comes the news that at the April session of the common pleas division of the Rhode Island supreme court a dozen more wealthy Gothamites will follow the example set by Mrs. Astor who, everybody ought to know, is the "leader" of American society, the lady oracle from whose social edicts there is no appeal.

The object of securing citizenship in Rhode Island is to escape paying personal taxes in New York. It is said by some wise men—sagacious financiers who know everything—that Mrs. Astor will save the respectable sum of $250,000 a year by hailing from Newport instead of Gotham. Her "naturalization" was effected under the Gerry act, passed in 1898, which provides that the property of any one acquiring citizenship under its provisions shall be deemed exempt from taxation outside of the state of Rhode Island. Elbridge T. Gerry is an exiled New Yorker, a capitalist by profession and an amateur philanthropist. He is the founder of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and was its president for many years. His life has been an exemplary one in every respect, excepting only an inherent dislike for taxes. To escape this burden he became a Rhode Islander, and is thus saving something like $100,000 a year—quite a large sum for an elderly gentleman with high notions of morality. In the interim the taxpayers who cannot escape from New York are growling like caged lions, the citizens of Newport are cooing a song of victory, and Mrs. Astor still is the "it" of Gotham's elect.

THIRTEEN BEAUTIFUL AMERICAN PEERESSES

Complete List of Yankee-Born Wives of British Nobles Entitled to Attend King Edward's Coronation.

THIRTEEN American-born peeresses will be privileged to take a part in King Edward's coronation at Westminster abbey, on Thursday morning, June 26. Multi-millionaires from New York who at one time thought that their gold would prove an "open sesame" to the ancient church will have to put their expectation on ice. The king, once a democrat of democrats, has stripped off the garments of liberalism and clothed himself in the royal purple. Nothing goes with him now but the bluest of blue blood, and toadies and tuft hunters from our glorious land of liberty will have to be content to view the state procession from some obscure window or the curb; with the exception of 13 ladies of Yankee birth who, at one time or another, have exchanged their American dollars and themselves for British titles and their possessors.

Consuelo Vanderbilt, who became duchess of Marlborough in 1895, will lead the American representatives in the coronation ceremonies. By her side will stand Consuelo, dowager duchess of Manchester, and Helen, wife of the present duke of Manchester, who was a Miss Zimmerman, of Cincinnati, until two years ago. The four American countesses who will shine at the ceremonial are Lady Essex, who was Miss Adele Grant, of New York; Lady Craven, also a native of New York. Lady Donoughmore, better known as Cornelia Bradley-Martin, and Cora, Lady Stafford, described by some as the "pick of the flock." The first in the list of baronesses is Lady Abinger, who is now on her way to join her husband in South Africa. The others are Lady Curzon of Kedleston, wife of governor general of India and formerly Miss Leiter, of Chicago; and Lady Newborough, who was Miss Grace Carr, of Kentucky. The wives of elder sons of peers, who are also entitled to a seat in Westminster abbey, are Lady Deerhurst, Lady Clandeboye and Hon. Mrs. Francis Dudley-Leigh. The last-named was Miss Beckwith, of

THE COUNTESS OF STRAFFORD.

New York, who was married a dozen years ago to the eldest son of the second Baron Leigh. Lady Deerhurst, a Boston girl, married the oldest son of the earl of Coventry in 1888. Lady Clandeboye, who was Florence Davis, of New York, in 1893, became the wife of the son of the marquis of Dufferin and Ava, and will be the only American marchioness in the British realm.

NO MAN KEPT DOWN ON ACCOUNT OF RELIGIOUS CONVICTIONS

United States Has Signally Honored Oscar S. Straus, Leader of Jewish Race, Lawyer, Merchant and Author.

THE rabbi of a somewhat obscure Chicago synagogue surprised some of his hearers not long ago by stating that America, not Palestine, was the promised land of the Jews. While the statement may be considered sweeping, it is none the less true. The Jews control a number of our most important industries; are powerful factors in the legal profession and attaining eminence as teachers and men of letters.

HON. OSCAR S. STRAUS.

The most honored representative of the race, however, by common consent, is Hon. Oscar S. Straus, of New York, who was recently appointed a permanent member of The Hague tribunal, to fill the vacancy created by the death of ex-President Harrison. Mr. Straus was, in every sense of the word, the architect of his own fortune. He was born in Rhenish Bavaria, 52 years ago, and came to America when he was four years old. He graduated from Columbia university and its law school with honors, and then entered mercantile life. From 1887 to 1889 he was minister to Turkey, under President Cleveland, and in 1898, upon the resignation of President James B. Angell, of the University of Michigan from the Constantinople mission, President McKinley conferred the honor upon Mr. Straus for a second time. His service won him praise from members of all parties. In 1900 he returned to New York, and has since been engaged in numerous activities of a political and humanitarian nature. He acquired his wealth in legitimate commercial pursuits, and enjoys the respect of rich and poor alike.

As a writer on social and political science topics, as well as on the ever-interesting theme of religious development, he has few equals; hence his appointment to The Hague tribunal, whose mission is the settlement of international tributes, is a most fitting one. The other three American members of the committee are Chief Justice Fuller, ex-Attorney General John W. Griggs and ex-Senator Gray, of Delaware.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The North Plainfield High School baseball team and substitutes are practicing every afternoon on the old cricket field.

To put it to a vote of all the people in the county would make annexation practically impossible. County lines, like Congressional districts, are provinces of State Legislatures and are not infrequently changed. To consolidate Plainfield and North Plainfield without changing the county line would be both impracticable and undesirable. Able lawyers say that on this point there are serious constitutional questions involved so far as this State is concerned.

"Even were this overcome there would be two taxing districts with different rates of county tax, separate school districts, with consequent differences in government and taxes, different taxing officers, the assessors in our district being members of the Somerset County Board of Assessors and the others of Union. There would be separate courts, no district court having jurisdiction over the whole city would be possible.

"There would be separate election districts, in some of which the people must vote for one set of county and federal officers, while in others they would vote for another set. Separate machinery for licensing of hotels and saloons, separate Boards of Freeholders to act on questions of bridges across the brook. In fact unity of action would not be brought about. The interests of the people of North Plainfield are identical with those of Plainfield and not with Somerset county. Who but an office-holder cares what county he is in."

"The officials figures of taxation," said Mr. Saunders, "show that there is an advantage in changing the borough from Somerset to Union county. Somerset county's tax in 1901 was 61 cents on the $1; Union county's tax 47 cents, a difference in favor of Union of 14 cents. The total tax in Plainfield is $2.50; the total tax in North Plainfield is $2.42.

"But Plainfield pays 15 cents of this for sewer bonds and 24½ cents for a paid fire department and 4½ cents for a library. Valuations are admitted to be somewhat lower in the city than in the borough. With local taxes now about equal in the two places the borough must face an inevitable increase for sewers and schools. The present borough school tax is 78 cents as against 72 in the city."

Marriage Was "Announced."

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Metuchen, March 17—Miss Margaret E. Herron, sister of the noted Socialist, Prof. George D. Herron, and Dr. Henri Verner, of Michigan, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Elmwood Farm, Pumptown, Saturday morning. Dr. Mason, the Presbyterian clergyman, who performed the ceremony "announced" instead of "pronounced" them man and wife.

Could Find No Relatives.

After having been kept for some days awaiting a possible claimant, the remains of W. Marck, the Pole, who shot himself last Tuesday, were interred in the borough plot. He came from a good family, but they are unaware of his demise.

PASTOR HAUSER RESIGNED

POOR HEALTH CAUSED THIS UNEXPECTED ACTION ON HIS PART.

Has Been Pastor of German Reformed Church for Eight Years —Takes Effect May 1.

After a pastorate of eight years, Rev. George Hauser, has tendered his resignation to the consistory of the German Reformed church. Ill health is the reason assigned for this unexpected action on his part.

The resignation was made known at a meeting of the congregation last evening and it will take effect May 1. In a few days the minister will leave for Saratoga Springs where he will endeavor to recuperate. He will return in time to take charge of the Good Friday services. During his absence, Rev. Jonathan Buck will officiate at the church.

The congregation voted to change the language of the evening services from German to English and Fred Endress and Philip Bach were appointed a committee to confer with the consistory of Trinity Reformed church on this subject.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Aged Deaf Woman Walked in Front of Fast Freight at a Raritan Crossing Saturday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 17—A distressing accident occurred at the First avenue crossing of the New Jersey Central at Raritan Saturday.

Mrs. Katie Scartoni, who was seventy-six years of age, was on her way to attend the early mass in St. Bernard's church. For years she had crossed the tracks at that point, and, although deaf, had never met with any mishap. Saturday she saw a man pass, and, thinking no train was coming, ventured on the tracks without taking the precantion to look. A fast freight bore down upon her and before she could flee struck and almost instantly killed her.

Her remains were found shortly after and taken to her home. County Physician Taylor, of Millstone was summoned. After inquiring into the nature of the accident he granted a burial permit.

A detailed description of the articles was furnished the chief but when seen by Mrs. Vail, she declared none of them were her property.

TOLD TIME BY BELT.

Every Hour After Eating the Fat Ice Harvester Had to Take It in a Hole.

"I've heard of many strange timepieces," said a buyer for an ice company to a Chicago Tribune reporter, "but I ran across something entirely new in that line last week. I went to a lake in Wisconsin to estimate the ice crop. Among the men working there was a heavy set fellow who was dressed in blanket clothes. He kept his trousers in place with a narrow leather belt, and several times in the course of the morning I noticed him tighten it a hole at a time.

"'What time is it?' I asked him, for my watch was not running.

"He glanced at his belt and answered promptly: '11:30.'

"Seeing that he had no watch I asked him how he knew, and he explained his system of telling time by his belt. After breakfast, which was eaten at six o'clock, the belt was set at the last hole. Every hour during the morning he was forced to take it in a hole. He knew it was 30 minutes after 11 because he had taken in five holes and the belt was just beginning to slacken. After dinner he would let it out again to the last hole and it would mark off the hours during the afternoon. He said it was as trustworthy as the best watch he had ever owned and several tests proved that he was right."

Some of the Cases Were Adjourned for Hearing Later—Fighting and Drunkenness Chief Charges.

Donato and Amino Orgo, junk dealers from Berkley Heights, were arraigned before City Judge Runyon, this morning, charged by Patrolman McCarthy with removing metal from the Babcock building fire ruins. As the case had not been fully prepared, it was laid over for one week.

Mrs. Hoyt claimed there had been no agreement as to the rent and that after the death of her husband Speer said she could have the hotel one year. A. A. Clark was counsel for Speer and John A. Frech represented Mrs. Hoyt. The jury failed to agree.

Mrs. Hoyt is the mother of Marcus Hoyt, of Plainfield.

ANOTHER YEAR FOR BOROUGH

Borough Council Confirmed Mayor's Choice for Offices—Committees Named.

A TALK BY THE MAYOR.

Took a Bold Stand for Annexation of North Plainfield to Union County—Promised a Feasible Plan for Giving the Borough Water Works and Sewerage.

In the variety of business transacted by the Borough Council at its initial meeting for the year, last evening, certainly the most important feature was a short talk by Mayor Smalley in which he boldly expressed himself in favor of annexation. It was considered especially important because it settled the question as to how the present administration stands as regards this measure which is the absorbing topic of the hour in both the city and borough.

This was undoubtedly the notable feature of the session, though there were other matters which engaged the attention of the councilmen and also interested a large audience of citizens. Chief among these were the appointment of borough officials; the naming of the councilmanic committees, and the mapping out of work for the year. In this connection the remarks of Mayor Smalley concerning the proposition regarding a sewage system and a municipal water works were particularly significant.

Previous to the calling of the meeting to order Robert Clark, Jr., and James K. Arnold, who were recently elected to office, took the oath required. All the members were present and the air of business pervaded the chamber. Harrison Coddington moved that the rules which governed the body for the past year be continued and his motion was carried as was also that of James P. Northrop that the regular meetings be held in the evenings of the first Friday of each month. Charles L. Nichols was chosen president of the council, being nominated by Robert Clark, Jr.

The following scale of salaries was agreed upon: Borough clerk and auditor, $500; borough counsel, $350; borough physician, $125; chief marshal, $720; marshals, each, $600; special marshals, twenty-five cents per hour or $2 per day when on duty; chief of the fire department, $100; engineer of Warren Engine Company, $50; janitor of Warren Engine Company, $70; janitor of the West End Hose Company, $25; borough electrician, $125; overseer of the poor, $150; and recorder, $200. The required amount of the bond for the borough clerk was set at $1,000 and those of the marshals at $500.

Mayor Smalley announced his appointments for the year and all those selected were subsequently confirmed by the councilmanic body. The list includes the following: Borough clerk, Frank Rowley; borough counsel, Senator Charles A. Reed; chief marshal, Wliliam Campbell; marshals, F. E. Winn, John Adelmann and Lawrence Fahn, the latter two being special marshals to do duty as regulars; special marshals, L. M. Pope, Francis Whitely, Herman Klinsman, Richard McDonald, James Baglin, Emil Coley, William Kiernan, George Gunther, Patrick Regan, A. G. Mair, George Weiss, Robert Carson, Dr. D. C. Adams, Thomas Rutledge, Dr. J. H. Buchanan, H. S. Potter and F. E. Woodruff; overseer of the poor, William G. Debele; borough physician, Dr. Albert Pittis; recorder, Thomas Doud; chief of the fire department, Julius J. Stahl; first assistant chief of the fire department, Charles Keller; engineer of Warren Engine Company, John Schenck; janitor of Warren Engine Company, Raymond Schenck; janitor of West End Hose Company, Frank Perry; borough electrician, Alonzo Brokaw; borough civil engineers, Frank J. Hubbard and H. C. VanEmburgh.

The assignments for committeeship work were made by His Honor. The members placed on the various committees are as follows: Streets—Arnold, Clark and Coddington; fire—Clark, Northrop and Lee; auditing—Nichols, Northrop and Arnold; license and police — Lee, Coddington and Clark; stationary — Coddington, Nichols and Lee; laws — Northrop, Nichols and Arnold.

Councilman Coddington offered a

REBUILDING CULVERTS.

City Employes Repairing Damage Done by Recent Storms.

A gang of street men was placed at work today repairing the old culvert in Plainfield avenue, near the city line, which caved in recently. It will practically be rebuilt for the greater part of the break.

Another gang commenced this morning repairing a culvert on West Front street, near the Dunellen line, which has become a menace to travel. It is near a number of deep depressions which will need cross drains before the street can be placed in shape. The work will require several days to complete.

BOROUGH SCHOOL MEETING

WILL BE HELD IN THE SOMERSET STREET SCHOOL TONIGHT.

To Elect Three Trustees and Pass Upon the Appropriations For the Year.

Borough citizens, interested in the cause of education, will gather at the Somerset street school building this evening. The annual district meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock.

As far as is known the only business to be transacted will be the election of trustees to fill the vacancies caused by expired terms of three members and the settling upon an appropriation for the coming year. The terms of A. V. D. Honeyman, the acting president of the board, Edward A. Overton and R. M. Fountain, the district clerk, terminate and it will be the duty of the citizens to select their successors. It is generally believed that all three of these men will be renominated without opposition.

The appropriation, which the school board will recommend, is $18,000. Of this sum $14,900 is for teachers' salaries and current expenses. For books and supplies, $1,400 is needed and for the work of the manual training department $1,500 is the sum requetsed.

A word of explanation is necessary in regard to the appropriation for manual training purposes. At first sight $1,500 would be considered high for this work, but as a matter of fact the real sum for this purpose is $800. Heretofore the cost of instruction amounted to $700 and now this branch is included in the estimate of the manual training department. A largely attended meeting is expected.

CROWDS AT BONN'S.

A Fine Display of Millinery is to be Found at Bonn's Store—It Cannot be Excelled.

The spring exhibition of millinery today and tomorrow at Bonn's on West Front street, is attracting much attention from the women. The exhibition this year excells all previous efforts and is in every way elaborate. Mr Bonn presents the very latest in hats for women. The styles for the coming season comprise the colonial, empire and Florodora in shape, while the decorations are most elaborate. The hats are quite large and attractive.

Among the many fine trimmed hats is seen one of white chrysanthemum straw and white chiffon. There is a novel crown of tuscan, with French daisies falling off the back. Another style is the "for-get-me-not" hat, which is made entirely of white forget-me-not's, with a crown of white straw, corn and blue velvet ribbon off the back. One other style that is charming is a large picture hat of black accordeon plaited chiffon. There is a rose straw crown, trimmed with a large plume and a band trimming of rosettes of blue and fawn colored ribbon caught with large jet cabajons.

In addition to the above elaborate styles there are no end to the assortment of hats for every day wear in a large variety of shapes and prices.

HEAVILY FINED FOR PASSING YELLOW CARD

Michael Seader Captured in Quarantined Apartments by the Health Authorities.

HALED TO CITY COURT.

WAS SITTING ON BED IN WHICH LAY A SCARLET FEVER PATIENT.

Claimed Ignorance of Wrong Doing, But Coat and Hat Found Directly Under the Sign—So He Was Declared Guilty and Fined.

Swift and summary justice was dwelt out, yesterday afternoon, to a violator of the health ordinance who ignored the warning card and entered quarantined apartments The offender, who placed the health of the community in jeopardy, was Michael Seader, of the borough, who was found by Inspector Addis and Patrolman Lunger in the flat of Mrs. Lizzie Apgar in Washington Hall. A child of Mrs. Apgar's is ill with scarlet fever in a bad form. Seader was at once taken before City Judge Runyon and fined $25. Unless he pays today he will spend a term in the county jail.

Ever since the Apgar apartments were placed in quarantine, the health authorities have watched them closely as it was declared visitors had passed to and fro. Inspector Addis has been constantly on the alert. Yesterday, when he dropped around unannounced, he found a man's hat and coat in the hall. He rapped for admittance but elicited no reply. Repeated knocks met with similar success. He then called Patrolman Lunger and the two planned a scheme to get in.

A woman from another flat was prevailed upon to call to the Apgar people and asked to be let in. Almost immediately the door was cautiously opened but, instead of the woman, Addis and Lunger entered.

The occupants of the flat were taken by surprise, especially Seader, who was seated on the sick child's bed alongside of Mrs. Apgar. He feigned ignorance of doing wrong and stoutly denied knowing that the contagious disease card was on the door. As the card was directly over the spot where he had left his hat and coat, his excuse was not accepted by the health officer.

Seader was given a temporary disenfection and then taken to police headquarters. When arraigned before the court he repeated his first excuses but it only resulted in his being severely lectured and subsequently fined.

BOEHM'S DISPLAY.

Spring Opening of Millinery Department Opened to the Public Today—Continued Two Days.

The spring display of millinery was opened to the public today at I. H. Boehm's, on West Front street, and it exceeds in size, variety and elaborateness anything before attempted at this progressive establishment. As usual the store was filled with women admiring the beautiful things in stylish headwear.

In ornaments, pearls and jet seem to be all the rage. The trimmings are in the back. Chrysanthemum broad hats and picture hats are winning favor this spring. They are in all colors. The novel decorations are berries, tinted foliage and fruits, such as raisins and berries.

One of the attractive things is a castor rose and Nile picture hat made of folds of chiffon trimmed with large rose spray and green berries. The facing is linen and pearls and the ribbons are in three shades of rose and green. Miss Daly has change of the display which will continue tomorrow and Thursday.

MISSIONARY IS RETURNING

REV. R. D. SCHOONMAKER HAS SAILED FOR AMERICA AGAIN.

No Reason Given for His Sudden Change of Plans—Cablegram Received.

Word has been received from Rev. Robert Dazell Schoonmaker, the young missionary who recently departed for Africa, that he will be home again this week. Merely the brief announcement of his intention was contained in a cablegram received last week by his mother, Mrs. J. S. Schoonmaker, of Central avenue.

He had arrived in London, preparatory to his start for the field of labor in the Dark Continent. It is understood that he boarded a return steamer for home last Wednesday. It is not known definitely why he has suddenly determined to return. Before leaving he said that if he found that he could be of more service in church work here in Plainfield than in mission work in Africa he would change his purpose and make this his home.

THEY HONORED PATRON SAINT

ANNUAL BALL OF HIBERNIANS GIVEN AT WASHINGTON HALL.

As Usual, It Was Held on St. Patrick's Day—and Was Very Largely Attended.

The twenty-seventh annual ball of Division No. 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians, was held in Washington Hall last evening, and like all previous events, was an unqualified success. The hall was filled to overflowing with merry dancers and the programme was greatly enjoyed until the small hours of the morning.

All dances given by Division No. 4, have a reputation of being the best and last night's affair was no exception to the rule. Everything passed off quietly. O'Reilly's full orchestra furnished the music and this added not a little to the enjoyment of those present.

Samuel T. Goff was the floor manager, and he was assisted by Patrick Griffin. The committee of arrangements consisted of John F. Casey, chairman; James Ennis, secretary; E. J. McCue, treasurer; William McCarthy and James Shea. The refreshment committee was James Shea, Patrick Harrington and William McCarthy.

LAST ENTERTAINMENT.

Large Audience Listened to An Excellent Programme in Y. M. C. A. Hall Last Evening.

The last Star Course entertainment for the season was given at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. The programme was presented by the Mendelssohn Quartette Company, assisted by Miss Marguerite Smith, child impersonator, and Miss Helen Faye, soprano.

The entertainment was one of the best in the entire course and the several numbers received many encores. The singing by the male quartette was delightful, the selections all being of a popular character. Miss Smith, as an impersonator, won much favor for her excellent work, while Miss Faye, as soprano, was much enjoyed. Among the best selections by the quartette were "Steersman, Leave the Watch," from the Flying Dutchman, Wagner, and the "Soldiers' Chorus," from Faust.

The choir of the First Baptist church will give a sacred concert in the church Tuesday evening, March 25, including "The Stabat Mater," Rossini; part of the Passim, Haydn, and "Gallia," Gounod. SITUATION SUMMED UP BY ASSESSOR FRENCH

What Borough Has to Choose Between in Union and Somerset Counties.

FAVORS UNION COUNTY.

COLD FACTS AND FIGURES GO TO PROVE THE BENEFITS TO BE GAINED.

Union County's Tax Rate is Lower—So is Plainfield's School Rate—Difference in Basis of Valuation of Property.

Some facts and figures of a decidedly interesting character were brought out in an interview which a Daily Press reporter has had with Elston M. French concerning the question of annexation and consolidation. Mr. French is the real estate assessor in the borough and, aside from his position as an officeholder, his opinion is valuable as that of one of the most influential business men in North Plainfield.

In the course of the interview Mr. French said:

"As a descendant of a family that has resided in Somerset county for a century and a half I naturally have a sentimental objection to being moved out of that county even by due process of the law, but if it is a business proposition I suppose sentiment should be put in the background.

"I have read the three bills passed by the Assembly affecting the county and city lines, one of which is simply a bill which facilitates the changing of any county lines in the State, and the second is a bill providing for the transferring of the borough of North Plainfield from Somerset county to Union county; and the third is a bill providing for the consolidation of the city of Plainfield with the borough of North Plainfield after referring the question to the voters of both municipalities. The subject of this interview, as I understand it, is simply in reference to the changing of the county line, and has nothing to do with the consolidation of the city and borough.

"I confess that I am open-minded regarding the proposition and can see both sides of the question to some extent. From the taxpayer's standpoint I presume that some immediate benefit would accrue to the people of the borough if transferred to Union county from the fact that the rate in that county is only .47 per $100, while the rate in Somerset is .61; but Union county will soon be obliged to increase its rate on account of the new county buildings about to be constructed.

"At the same time I realize that Somerset county must soon go to a proportionately large expense in building a new court house. In explanation of the difference in the county tax rates just mentioned it is only fair to explain that Somerset county is paying for the newly constructed county roads as they are built, while Union county has pursued the more proper method of bonding the county for these improvements in order that the expense shall not all be paid by the present owners of property but that posterity may share in the cost of the improvement by which they are equally benefited.

"Then again we should consider the respective bonded indebtedness of the two counties which are as follows: Somerset county, $128,188; Union county, $441,000.

"My understanding of the proposed law in reference to changing the county line is that if the borough is transferred to Union county it pays its proportionate share of indebtedness of Somerset county and assumes its proportionate share of indebtedness of Union county, and as Union county's bonded indebtedness is heavier, proportionately, than Somerset's it would seem on the face of it a bad business proposition for the borough, but, when you take into consideration the fact that Union county's ratables (taxable valuations) are assessed on a much lower basis of value than Somerset's, it brings down the proportion of debt in Union county as compared with the ratables. For instance, if Somerset county is assessed on a basis of value of 100 per cent. with a bonded indebtedness of $100,000, and Union county is assessed on a basis of 50 per cent. with a bonded indebtedness of $200,000, providing the total assessed valuations are the same, the proportion of indebtedness to the ratables would be the same in each county.

"This should be taken into con-

HE TALKED TO ENDEAVORERS

F. H. ANDREWS SPOKE AT MEETING AT TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

Impressed Upon All the Need of Getting a Clearer View of God.

The service held in Trinity Reformed church last evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society was a most helpful one. There was a large attendance of Endeavorers and all entered heartily into the spirit of the service. George Bolsterli was the leader of the meeting and Horace J. Martin, Sr., conducted the singing and also sang a solo, "Count Your Blessings." Miss Holmes presided at the piano.

After the customary opening exercises, F. H. Andrews addressed the young people. He read a portion of the beautiful chapter, John xv, where Christ is likened unto the true vine and all His followers as the branches. Mr. Andrews gave a heart-to-heart talk, carrying a sweet and loving message to his hearers. He impressed upon all the necessity of getting a clearer view of God and of leading some one to Christ. He referred to the sad fact that the ratio in conversions is only one to fourteen, and for this reason he urged all to put forth their best effort to lead one person to Christ.

Mr. Andrews said that Christians are reflectors for Christ and He could not use them if they nursed one little sin in their heart. He asked all who wanted to live nearer to Christ during the coming week of prayer, to take hold of God and be used of Him. The speaker's words were tenderly and impressively carried to each and every heart and all felt refreshed and strengthened for the service.

In conclusion, Mr. Andrews offered a feverent, earnest prayer, concluding it with the beautiful words of selection taken from a book written by Robert H. Speer.

HATS AT LEDERER'S.

Beautiful Collection at the Spring Opening Which Begins at Lederer's Store Tomorrow.

Miss M. Casey, who is in charge of the millinery department at Lederer's has arranged a splendid display for tomorrow, Thursday and Friday. The stock this season is the largest in the history of the establishment and as for the designs in hats they are simply exquisite.

It has been a special effort at this store to place on view a huge variety of flowers, such as are particularly fashionable just at the present time and this attempt has been most successful. There is also a large stock of ornaments, such as pearls, for instance, and ribbons.

One of the fetching and dainty things is a Maline hat of the Continental shape, made of black maline, edged with light straw and pearl ornaments.

Another especially stunning effect is one in the form of flower hat, Continential shape, made of foliage and pink roses with lace scarf and pearl ornaments. In the lovely display may be seen a countless number of children's hats, which is made a special feature this year.

Busy Time at Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. building was quite a busy centre last evening as the Men's Choral Club and the Y. M. C. A. orchestra were rehearsing in different parts of the building at the same time that the concert was in progress in the auditorium. The physical department and the reading room were also in use. The class in English grammar did not meet on account of the Star Course entertainment.

Arranged for Easter Shoot.

A meeting of the Independent Gun Club was held at the Arlington Hotel last evening and arrangements were made fore a shoot to take place on the association grounds Easter Monday. This shoot will form one of the series of contests arranged last fall.

SMALLEY FOR ANNEXATION

Borough's Mayor Comes Out Openly in Favor of Annexing Borough to Union.

AT COUNCIL MEETING.

Mayor Smalley Declared for the Measure During the Course of a Speech in Which He Outlined Policies for the New Year Just Started—What He Said.

Without any mincing of words, Mayor Smalley came out flat-footed for annexation last evening. In the course of an address at the session of the Borough Council, His Honor committed the administration to the policy of supporting the project to annex the territory, in which the borough is situate, to Union county.

For some weeks past the citizens of the borough have been anxious to learn how Newton B. Smalley, the recognized leader of the dominant party in North Plainfield, as well as the chief executive of the borough, views the proposition to cut away from Somerset county and join with Union county. It was generally surmised that he favored the plan, but it was not supposed that he would unequivocally declare himself before any action was taken upon it by the citizens.

Just before the council meeting was called to order it was whispered about that His Honor intended to "declare himself." In fact there was a short "confab" among the members of the body before the meeting commenced, but not once was the subject referred to at the session except by the Mayor.

In beginning his remarks he said that he had hoped that someone would bring up the subject. The citizens of the borough, said he, are much divided on the proposition at present.

"I am free to say, however," he declared, "that a change of county would do us no harm. For the last fifteen years we have not gotten what is due us from Somerset county, and I don't know that we would from Union county, but the name sounds better anyway. I don't think it would do us any harm to join Union county."

Continuing the Mayor declared that he favored going over into Union county, but at the same time could not say that he favored the consolidation of the borough and city. "Somerset county is crying for us to stay with it and Union is howling for us to come over," said he.

The bill in the Legislature permitting trolleys to carry freight is likely to be limited in its provisions, so as to apply only to Plainfield, where the cars are unfit for any other kind of traffic.—Bound Brook Chronicle.

Gov. Murphy has assured Assemblyman Hoagland, says the Somerset Unionist-Gazette, that he will withhold his signature from the bills consolidating North Plainfield with Plainfield, in their present shape, should they get through the Legislature. In just what particular they fail to meet Gov. Murphy's approval is not stated, but it is probable that he objects to that provision which takes over 5,000 people from Somerset county and adds them to Union county. The consolidation ought to take place, Plainfield and North Plainfield should be merged into a single city with one set of officers; but the county line should not be changed—Elizabeth Journal.

City Attorney Boggs makes out a strong case against the Trolley Freight bill, in its present form, although it is possible that, under the bill, municipal authorities may have a wider range of authority in prescribing the conditions under which the right to transport freight shall be exercised by trolley companies than Mr. Boggs is willing to concede. But whether this be true or not, there is no sense in taking chances. In the beginning the Legislature will find it wiser to err upon the side of restriction than in the way of liberality toward the trolley companies. These corporations can be depended upon to get more than is coming to them under any circumstances.

The best possible solution is, perhaps, for the Legislature to confine its action to a simple authorization of the right to transport freight by trolley under such restrictions as the different municipalities may see fit to impose. This is a matter which may well be left to local bodies having charge of the public streets, with the proviso that any grant shall only be for a limited period. Under such a law the different municipalities would be empowered to prescribe terms suited to local conditions. Limiting the grant to a fixed period would permit, at its expiration, such modifications, either in the way of liberality or the reverse, as experience might prove desirable. Certainly, the bill, in its present form, is a good one to defeat.—Newark News.

The refusal of the House of Assembly to extend to the people of the country districts the alleged benefits of the Meeker anti-spring election law had been foreshadowed, and was, as a consequence, no surprise, but the Republican leaders failed to satisfactorily explain the reason for their discrimination in favor of the dwellers in cities. Assemblyman Holman, the father of the bill which proposed to consolidate the elections in boroughs, towns and townships, was emphatic in his declaration that the voters of rural communities were as anxious to save time and money at the polls as were their city brothers, but Leader Horner made the argument that country folks favored the absolute divorce of town affairs from State and national issues, and his plea was successful.

It still remains for Leader Horner to show cause for this peculiar differentiation between city and country voters. It may be that he believes the urban resident has a mind so trained as to be able to separate the conflicting issues at a consolidated election, while the same power is lacking in the brain of his country cousin. This would seem to be the logical conclusion from retaining the Meeker act while denying its extension. The defeat of the Holman bill can only serve to confuse the public as to the real position of the Republican party on this burning issue.—Newark News.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A misleading sign worked nearly disastrously to the trade of a local butcher sometime ago. The meat merchant had a horse which he wished to get rid of and determined he would. Carefully he lettered a sign and placed it in the butcher shop window. Here is how it read: "Horse for sale here."

A new form of ticket is to be put on sale by the Erie Railroad, known as visitors' tickets. They will read from a suburban point to New York, and will be sold only to holders of commutation tickets, who wish to send such tickets to their friends in the city. Their present form of ten-trip coupon tickets will be abandoned, and in its stead a punch card, containing the same number of trips, will be substituted.

NEW CANAL BILL.

Proposition to Appropriate $100,000,000 In New York State.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 18.—Senator T. D. Sullivan last night introduced a concurrent resolution providing for the submission to the people of a proposition to bond the state for $100,000,000 for the improvement of the canal systems of the state. The canals included are the Erie, Oswego, Champlain, Cayuga and Seneca, which are to be increased to a 1,000 ton barge capacity. Under the provisions of the act the Black river canal is to be extended and improved, as is the Glens Falls feeder. The abandoned canals of the state, the Delaware and Hudson, the Chenango, the Chemung, the Crooked Lake and the Genesee, are, if the proposition is approved, to be reopened and improved.

Governor Odell said that he favored the canal appropriation bill of Senator Davis, which appropriates $31,500,000 for the improvement of the Erie and Champlain canals. He said:

"The only canal measure that I am for is the Davis bill. That carries into effect the improvement plan I recommended to the legislature, and that is the one I am for."

The assembly, as soon as it convened, adopted a resolution restricting debate on all subjects hereafter to five minutes unless unanimous consent for longer discussion be accorded.

Mr. Roger's bill authorizing the appointment of a commission to inquire into the expediency of amending the statutes relating to criminal procedure, the punishment of crime and to suggest legislation thereon was passed.

Manley Not Likely to Accept.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Joseph H. Manley of Augusta, Me., the Maine member of the Republican national committee, is being pressed by the administration to accept the office of first assistant postmaster general, but it is not yet known whether Mr. Manley will accept the office. The office has not been formally tendered, but Mr. Manley has been approached on the subject, and Postmaster General Payne, with whom the Maine committeeman has been closely associated in a number of national campaigns, is anxious to have Mr. Manley accept. Though not finally determined, it is quite likely Mr. Manley will not take the office, his private interests being in the way.

Law Does Not Apply.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—In the United States supreme court two opinions have been delivered on the question as to whether the inheritance tax provided under the war revenue act can be levied and collected where the property passed is located in the United States and the testator and beneficiary are domiciled outside the limits of this country. Both opinions were delivered by Justice Brown, and in both cases it was held that the law did not apply.

New Jersey Appointments.

TRENTON, N. J., March 18.—Governor Murphy has sent to the senate a large batch of nominations, among which were Sam D. Dickinson of Hudson county for secretary of state to succeed George Wurts and Senator Thomas N. McCarter of Essex for attorney general to succeed Samuel H. Gray. The governor also reappointed William Wriker, Jr., of Essex as supreme court clerk.

Plot to Blow Up Warships.

VIENNA, March 18.—A sensation has been caused here by the discovery of a plot to destroy the Austro-Hungarian warships Habsburg and Arpad, which are stationed at Pola. A large quantity of dynamite was recently stolen at Trieste, and the government has been informed by an anonymous letter that the Habsburg and Arpad were imperiled. These vessels have since been rigidly guarded.

Buying Horses For Army Food.

ALLEGAN, Mich., March 18.—A carload of horses is on the way to New York for shipment to South Africa for use in the British army. An agent for the British government has been here for several days buying horses for that purpose. Horses physically sound, but too old to be serviceable, were purchased for food to take the place of beef, which is scarce in the land of the Boers.

Disturbing News From Ireland.

LONDON, March 18.—The Vatican has received confidential news, says the Rome correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, of a serious situation in Ireland. The Fenians have for some months been engaged in an active propaganda with a view to organizing for a general rising. It is believed the Vatican will instruct the Irish clergy to hold aloof from revolutionary agitation.

Greek Immigration Causes Alarm.

TWELVE DROWNED.

Life Crew and Sailors Went Down Together.

ONLY ONE ESCAPED TO TELL TALE.

Heroic Effort to Rescue Crew of a Stranded Barge on Massachusetts Coast Results In Disaster.

CHATHAM, Mass., March 18.—Seven brave life savers, practically the entire crew of the Monomoy station, on the south end of Cape Cod, met death yesterday at their post of duty, and with them into the treacherous sea which capsized the lifeboat went five men from the stranded barge Wadena, whom they vainy tried to bring in safety to the shore. One man, Lemuel Ellis, through the heroic work of Captain Elmer Mayo of another stranded barge, the John C. Fitzpatrick, was rescued from the bottom of the upturned lifeboat.

Among those lost was William H. Mack of Cleveland, O., who was on the barge, representing his company, the Boutell Towing and Transportation company of that city, while Captain Marshall N. Eldredge, one of the oldest life savers on the coast, went down with his men. All the life savers came from Chatham and Harwich. There is no government pension for those whose husbands and fathers are lost in the life saving service, so the lot of the families who are left is a hard one.

The scene of the accident was in the well known tide rips off Monomoy point, which make down from Chatham into Nantucket sound.

Last Thursday the barges Wadena and John C. Fitzpatrick, on the way up to Boston with cargoes of coal, stranded on the Shovelful shoal, about three-quarters of a mile off Monomoy point. Since then every effort has been made to float the barges, and all day Saturday and Sunday men from Vineyard Haven were at work throwing coal overboard from both of them. Sunday night the tug Peter C. Smith, which had been lying beside the barges, ran alongside the Wadena and told those on board that a storm was coming on. All the wreckers were taken on board the tug with the exception of the five men who met their fate. Mr. Mack, who had come on from Cleveland, refused to leave and ordered the captain of the Smith to anchor near by.

The following forenoon Captain Eldredge, who had been watching the barges very closely, sighted signals of distress on the Wadena. He got out his crew and surfboat. The wind was blowing nearly a gale from the southeast, so preparations were made to launch the boat on the inside of the point, where the water was smooth. The crew had no difficulty in getting off, but after rounding the point it took nearly an hour to reach the barge. By that time the tide had turned to the eastward, and a fierce cross sea had been picked up.

Captain Eldredge steered the lifeboat under the lee of the Wadena, and one after another the five men dropped into the boat. With the wind astern it seemed comparatively easy to gain the smooth waters behind the point. The seas were tossing and turning in the rips, and Captain Eldredge was constantly looking for smooth spots.

When about half way in, he thought he discovered one over what is called a hole, and the boat was sheered off for it. As she did so a tremendous sea caught her under the stern, and she went over, throwing all the men into the water. Being used to the sea, all the life savers clung to the boat and managed to pull the Wadena men along with them.

An attempt was made to right the boat; but, although all lifeboats are supplied with cork gunwales, they were heavy, and, being full of water, the life savers only managed to get her partially cleared. They had some hope, however, of reaching land until another wave again capsized the boat. Mr. Mack was the first to succumb, and one by one they dropped away until there were only four left, and these climbed on the bottom of the overturned boat. All were fearfully exhausted.

The four men drifted down in the direction of the Fitzpatrick, where Captain Mayo of that craft caught sight of them. With great daring he dropped a dory over the board and, jumping into it, started after the exhausted men. Before he reached the lifeboat three of them had fallen into the sea. Ellis managed to hold on and caught the rope which Captain Mayo threw to him, and he was dragged aboard.

The disaster is one of the worst that ever happened to a life saving crew on Cape Cod.

Strengthening Panama's Defenses.

PANAMA, Colombia, March 18.—Active measures are being taken for the defense of this city, and the iron intrenchments are being strengthened. Extreme vigilance is exercised day and night. It is reported here that the revolutionists have landed a number of cattle at Chorrera. A dispatch announcing the death of the revolutionary general Sergio Perez during the fighting at David last month has been received here from Guayaquil, Ecuador. A dispatch has been received here from Dr. Jose V. Concha, the Colombian minister at Washington, in which he says he is actively engaged on matters pertaining to the Panama canal.

Half a Village Burned.

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., March 18.—More than one-half of the business section of the village of Shortsville lies a smoldering heap of ruins as a result of a fire which started in the Cottage hotel, on Main street. Twelve business places, five business blocks, three barns and two residences were destroyed.

CRY "FREE RUSSIA!"

Ten Thousand Riot In Streets of St. Petersburg.

REPETITION OF LAST YEAR'S SCENES

Police and Military of the City Have Many Encounters With Students In Their Efforts to Clear the Streets.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 18.—Student riots here Sunday, in which over 10,000 people participated, kept a small army of police and cavalry busy throughout the day. Probably a hundred arrests were made, but the repressive measures were not so strict as on the corresponding Sunday of 1901. While many persons were injured, no fatalities were reported.

The students had placarded the city, announcing that they intended to hold a grievance meeting, and the authorities, taking the hint, made extensive preparations. The whole police reserve was called out, and the entire military force was held ready for mobilization, cavalry patrols supplementing the mounted police. Additional squadrons of cavalry, light batteries of artillery and detachments of infantry were packed in the side streets.

The crowds increased in the main thoroughfares until noon, when the cavalry officer in command of a squad in front of the Hotel d'Europe begged the crowd there to disperse and go home. The demonstrators refused, and the mounted troops began slowly clearing the streets.

At 12:30 p. m. the students attempted to organize a procession in front of the hotel mentioned, singing revolutionary songs and shouting: "Free Russia!" "Down with the autocracy!" The police and cavalry then charged, but used only their Cossack whips and the flat of their sabres. Many persons wer hurt, but only a few were seriously injured.

The fighting continued during the remainder of the afternoon, breaking out in fresh places continually. One of the most severe fights of the day was concluded only a few minutes before the czarina passed the spot where it occurred in an open sleigh. Carriages of the nobility and members of the imperial household were several times mixed up in the melees. The authorities made evident efforts to prevent bloodshed, and in this they were remarkably successful, considering the magnitude of the demonstration.

The students of St. Petersburg on Sunday, March 17, 1901, organized what was intended to be an imposing demonstration in front of the Cathedral of Our Lady of Kazan, the occasion being the anniversary of the death of Vetrora, a girl who committed suicide some years ago in a dungeon of the political prison in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul in order to escape infamous persecution. Serious rioting ensued, the students were attacked by Cossacks and police, and about 800 arrests were made.

Promotion For Commissioner Evans.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—There is no longer any doubt that Pension Commissioner Evans will within the next few months at the latest sever his connection with the pension bureau to accept from the president a position which will be a substantial promotion, but which has not yet been definitely selected. It is well known that Mr. Evans has the entire confidence of the president, and the latter will not consider the question of his retirement until a position entirely satisfactory to the commissioner has been provided. No decision has yet been reached concerning a successor to Mr. Evans, nor will any action be taken until the president is thoroughly convinced that he has found a man of the same high character and sterling worth possessed by the present commissioner in so high a degree.

Hotel Fire In Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 18.—Gelder's hotel has been badly damaged by fire The flames were discovered in the basement of Werner's drugstore at the corner of Broad and Marietta streets, and in five minutes afterward the hotel was filled with blinding smoke. Chemicals in the basement of the drugstore and some whisky stored next door in a saloon caught fire and added to the flames. The firemen after great difficulty rescued everybody from the hotel, the last person to be removed being Miss Lavohn of Jacksonville, Fla., who was ill in bed.

Strikers Return to Work.

BOSTON, March 18.—The great strike of last week, involving 20,000 union men, has been completely wiped out, and practically every man went back to his work under conditions but slightly changed from those existing when the trouble began. The only incident in the labor situation is the strike of seventy-five longshoremen at the Clyde line wharfs. This is not actually an offshoot of the big strike, but an independent strike brought about by two disgruntled workmen.

The New Russian Loan.

BERLIN, March 18.—The particulars of the new Russian loan are published here. The loan amounts to 393,000,000 marks, of which 300,000,000 marks is issued now at 4 per cent. The loan covers Russia's portion of the Chinese indemnity. It is offered for subscription in Germany, Holland and Russia.

Smallpox In Jail.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., March 18.—Smallpox has broken out among the prisoners in the St. Lawrence county jail, and the jail is quarantined. Other towns have been notified that no prisoners will be received or discharged before April 15.

COLD FOLLOWS STORM.

Thirty Below Zero In the Northwest. Business Being Slowly Resumed.

ST. PAUL, March 18.—Specials indicate that the big storm is over. Grand Forks, N. D., reports pleasant but cold weather, with big snowdrifts and general suspension of all work except the shoveling of snow.

At Bismarck, N. D., the thermometer registered 12 below zero yesterday morning. The cold was felt more intensely on account of the terrific wind accompanying it. After sixty hours of the fiercest blizzard known in this section for twenty years the storm has abated, and efforts are being made to resume business in this section. Snowplows are clearing the tracks from Jamestown west, and no trains have moved yet.

What damage was done in the stock district cannot be told until communication with the country districts shall be established, but it is feared there will be heavy losses.

No Pacific coast trains have arrived at St. Paul since last Friday. The Northern Pacific and Great Northern have experienced the longest blockade on through traffic for more than fifteen years.

Prince Albert, with more than 30 degrees below zero, was the center of cold in the northwest.

The Burlington is the only road operating train service into Montana from the east. No mails have been received at Helena via the Northern Pacific since Saturday. The wire systems of these roads are also badly crippled. The blizzard was general throughout northern and eastern Montana.

At Dickinson, S. D., the stock shipping center, conservative estimates place the losses at 25 to 30 per cent, a little more on sheep than on cattle.

Alleged Chinese Smugglers Arrested

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., March 18.—Chinese Inspector Thomas Darcy of this village, assisted by Immigration Inspectors Twohey of St. Johns, Que., and Forbes of St. Albans, Vt., have arrested at St. Albans George H. Hogle, an expressman of 55 Beaver Hall hill, Montreal, Que.; O. W. Ford, a livery stable proprietor of Richford, Vt., and Eugene Laurier, also of Richford, Vt., who claims to be a horse buyer, and charged them with smuggling Chinese into the United States. The trio were taken to Burlington, Vt., arraigned before United States Commissioner Johnson and held in $500 for the next federal grand jury.

Washout on the Central.

UTICA, N. Y., March 18.—The westbound trains on the Central railroad cannot proceed west from this city because of a washout between Oriskany and Rome. Trains are being sent over the West Shore from this point. Eastbound trains are also delayed.

Naval Movements.

VILLEFRANCHE, France, March 18.—The United States cruiser Albany and the gunboat Nashville have arrived here. They will remain for two weeks.

EVACUATION DAY.

Boston Celebrated the Event—Tablet Unveiled by Governor.

BOSTON, March 18.—Both state and city, together with the patriotic citizens of South Boston, united in the celebration of the evacuation of Boston with the unveiling of a tablet in a newly erected marble monument on Dorchester Heights, where the American redoubts compelled the British to leave Boston, as a special incentive to the occasion. The tablet was unveiled by Governor Crane after a military parade through the principal streets of South Boston, and following it came appropriate exercises in a school hall, with an eloquent oration by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

One of the guests of the South Boston citizens was Rear Admiral W. S. Schley, who rode with the mayor during the parade, receiving an ovation along the line of march.

In the evening at a banquet of the citizens Admiral Schley was present and was one of the speakers.

It was a holiday in South Boston, the streets being decorated, while sports, music, band concerts and fireworks added much to the festivities.

SAW RICE SIGN WILL.

Story That Patrick Forged It Denied—An Alibi For Defendant.

NEW YORK, March 18.—New and telling attacks were made yesterday by Albert T. Patrick's lawyers on the testimony of Valet Jones.

In the morning they established an alibi for Patrick covering the time Jones declared the defendant had given him a bottle of chloroform and urged him to put Millionaire Rice to death at once. Three women testified in the establishment of the alibi, and one—a Bible student—fixed the time by having looked at her watch.

In the afternoon the valet's story of the forgery of Rice's signature to the 1900 will was attacked. For this purpose Morris Meyers was first called. Meyers, as notary, and David L. Short, as commissioner of deeds, appeared as witnesses to the signature of Rice to the 1900 will and other disputed signatures.

Meyers said he saw Rice sign the will in the dining room at the millionaire's home.

Funston Gets a Home Job.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The statutory retirement of Major General E. S. Otis March 25 will vacate the commands of the military departments of the lakes at Chicago and of Dakota at St. Paul. Major General Arthur MacArthur, now at Denver in command of the department of the Colorado, will be transferred to Chicago, and Brigadier General Frederick Funston, now in this city on leave of absence, will succeed General MacArthur in command of the department of the Colorado. Brigadier General W. A. Kobbe, who is also in this city on leave of absence, will be assigned to command the department of Dakota.

New Bank Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The comptroller of the currency has received from the bureau of engraving and printing and issued the first delivery of the new national bank notes known as the series of 1902. These notes will be issued only to new banks organized since Jan. 1, 1902, and those extending or re-extending their charters. Only the ten dollar and twenty dollar denominations are ready yet for issue. Later five, fifties and hundreds will be issued. These notes are quite a radical departure in designs from bank notes heretofore issued and are considered a great improvement.

Early Opening of Mackinaw Strait.

MACKINAW CITY, Mich., March 18.—The ice bridge in the strait of Mackinaw from Waugeshance lighthouse to this point is broken up by the northwest gale, and the channel is now open into Lake Michigan. The south channel from Mackinaw City to Cheboygan is still solid, but with a change of weather the ice will soon give way. It is likely that the strait will open before the end of the week. It will be one of the earliest openings of navigation in the strait on record.

The Condor Given Up as Lost.

LONDON, March 18.—The admiralty has officially announced that all hope of finding the British warship Condor had been given up and ordered that her books be closed and that the money due her officers and crew to March 17 should be paid. The Condor left Victoria, B. C., Dec. 2 for Honolulu. She has not been heard from since her departure. She was of 980 tons and carried a complement of 139 men.

New Spanish Cabinet.

Senor Sagasta is to be premier, General Weyler is to be minister of war, Senor Moret is to be minister of the interior, the Duke of Almodovar will fill the post of minister of foreign affairs, while Senor Canalejas is to be minister of public works.

Dr. Webb Has Withdrawn.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., March 18.—The Messenger announces that Dr. W. Seward Webb has withdrawn from the contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, leaving the field to General John G. McCullough, although Fletcher D. Proctor is expected to announce his candidacy. Dr. Webb is at present in California.

SUBSIDY BILL PASSED

Senate Stood 42 to 31 In Favor of Measure.

FLOOD OF AMENDMENTS VOTED DOWN

No Foreign Built Ship Can Participate in the Bounty or Be Given American Registry—Provisions of the Act.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—After prolonged debate the senate passed the ship subsidy bill, the final vote on the measure being 42 to 31. Senators Allison and Dolliver of Iowa, Spooner and Quarles of Wisconsin and Proctor and Dillingham of Vermont, Republicans, voted against final passage of the bill, and Senator McLaurin (S. C.) voted for it. Some amendments to the bill were adopted, but they were all agreeable to those in charge of the measure, the friends of the bill voting down all other amendments.

The voting upon amendments began at 3 o'clock, and such a flood of them was offered that a final vote on the bill as amended was not reached until just before 6 o'clock.

The senate agreed to an amendment offered by Mr. Spooner providing that congress should have power to amend or repeal the act, without impairing any contract made under its authority. Mr. Hanna of Ohio offered and the senate adopted three amendments applying directly to the acquisition by J. Pierpont Morgan and his associates of the Leyland line of British ships. They provide that no foreign built ship shall participate in the proposed subsidy, that nothing in the act shall be construed to prevent American citizens or corporations from holding or operating foreign ships in the ocean carrying trade and that no foreign built ship of any line thus acquired by American citizens shall be admitted hereafter to American registry.

The title of the bill passed by the senate is, "To provide for ocean mail service between the United States and foreign ports and the common defense, to promote commerce and to encourage the deep sea fisheries." Title 1 of the measure, as passed, deals with ocean mail steamships and their subsidies. The postal subsidy act of 1891 is so amended as to direct the postmaster general to enter into contracts for not less than five nor more than fifteen years with American citizens for the carrying of mails on American steamships to such foreign points as will best promote the postal, commercial and maritime interests of the United States, the mail service on such lines to be equitably distributed among the Atlantic, Mexican, Gulf and Pacific ports and the contracts to be made with the lowest responsible bidder.

The vessels in the mail service shall be American built and owned and officered by American citizens. During the first two years one-fourth of the crew must be American citizens, during the next three years one-third must be American citizens, and during the remaining life of the contract at least one-half must be American citizens. The ships must be screw steamships of iron or steel and divided into the following classes, according to speed: First class, 20 knots or over; second class, 19 knots; third class, 18 knots; fourth class, 17 knots; fifth class, 16 knots; sixth class, 15 knots; seventh class, 14 knots.

All steamships of the first four classes shall be constructed with particular reference to prompt conversion into auxiliary naval cruisers and shall be of the highest rating known to maritime commerce.

The rate of compensation for ocean mail service, to be paid per gross registered ton for each 100 nautical miles sailed from the port of clearance in the United States to the port of entry in the United States, according to the route required by the postoffice department, shall not exceed the following:

Steamships of the first class, 2.7 cents; second class, 2.5 cents; third class, 2.3 cents; fourth class, 2.1 cents; fifth class, 1.9 cents; sixth class, 1.7 cents; seventh class, 1.5 cents.

The rates of compensation to any vessel carrying mails to a foreign port in North America shall not exceed 70 per cent of the maximum rates established.

Mail steamships are required to carry as apprentices one American born boy for each 1,000 tons gross register. He shall be educated in seamanship and engineering and rank as a petty officer.

Title 2 of the bill provides for the general subsidy to be paid. It directs the secretary of the treasury to pay to the owners of any vessel in the United States duly registered and engaged in the foreign trade of the United States a compensation amounting to a cent per gross registered ton for each 100 nautical miles sailed not exceeding sixteen entries in any one year and on each entry not exceeding sixteen in any one year for a period of five years from the date of registration of a vessel of 1,000 gross tons which shall be completed after the passage of this bill, one-fourth of a cent per gross ton for each 100 nautical miles sailed in addition to the above mentioned compensation. The bill specifies certain vessels which shall not receive compensation under its provisions, among them being vessels engaged in the coastwise trade exclusively.

divided vote on party lines decided to report the resolution of Representative Crumpacker (Ind.) for a special committee of thirteen members to investigate and report on the alleged disfranchisement of voters in some of the states. Two Democratic members of the committee, Representatives Richardson (Tenn.) and Underwood (Ala.), protested against reporting the resolution.

COMING EVENTS.

April 1—Illustrated lecture by M. S. Simpson, M. D., at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

THIS AFTERNOON'S HEARING.

Large delegations from both Union and Somerset counties have gone to Trenton this afternoon to appear before the Senate committee which will consider the three "Greater Plainfield" bills. There is so much to be said on the subject that it may be deemed expedient to hold another hearing. It is sincerely to be hoped that the members of the upper house of the State Legislature will see the wisdom of following the example of the Assemblymen and reporting the bills favorably to the Senate.

As every citizen of both city and borough is greatly interested in the hearing this afternoon and is anxious to know just what showing has been made before the legislators, The Daily Press will give a complete and accurate report of it in tomorrow's edition. A special staff corespondent will be present at the hearing and give in detail the proceedings. It rests with the senators to say whether or not the county line shall be changed so that North Plainfield shall become a part of Union county and all will be interested to hear just what arguments for and against the project are advanced for the benefit of the legislators.

BOROUGH SCHOOL MEETING.

The annual school meeting of the borough of North Plainfield will be held this evening when three school trustees will be elected and the people of the borough will be called upon to vote on the various appropriations for the borough schools. The Board of Education has asked for $18,000, which is an increase of $2,300 over the appropriations of last year. The increase is noted in the cost of the manual training department and the teachers' salaries. The steady growth in the attendance has made more teachers necessary and that means more money with which to pay them.

The three members of the board, whose terms expire this year, are A. V. D. Honeyman, E. A. Overton and R. M. Fountain. It is probable that they will be re-elected without opposition. If there is any organized opposition to them, it has kept wonderfully quiet. The general opinion throughout the borough seems to be that these men have done excellent work in the board and it is eminently desirable that they should continue to serve the borough in their present positions.

The National Biscuit Company sold its goods only in bulk for a time, and then decided to also put them up in small packages, relates the Philadelphia Record. At the recent annual meeting the head of the concern told the stockholders that "the results were achieved by extensive advertising." The public knew nothing of the products, and was led to try them solely by advertising. "The results have exceeded even our expectations. The company's profits increased to $3,670,445 a year."

Baseball enthusiasts all over the city are taking a deep interest in the various teams which are to represent the city on the diamond this summer. During the last two years, the scholastic teams have figured most prominently. Now, however, they will assume a place of minor interest in comparison with the four nines which are planning to play for the championship of the city.

The annual report of Supervising Principal H. J. Wightman has just been issued. The Daily Press of yesterday gave a brief summary of the facts contained in it. Copies of the report were sent to all the parents of children in the borough schools yesterday so they might get an intelligent idea of the school situation before the meeting this evening.

After laboring faithfully for eight years as the pastor of the German Reformed church, Rev. George Hauser has resigned on account of ill health. Rev. Mr. Hauser has made many friends during his stay in Plainfield and they will all greatly regret seeing him leave his pastorate in this city.

The Daily Press prints this afternoon an interview with Assessor Elston M. French, of North Plainfield, regarding the question of changing the county line. The interview was secured for yesterday's issue but press of other news prevented its publication at that time.

The financial results of the Hope chapel minstrels have proved equally as satisfactory as were the performances from the point of view of the audiences.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

There's no hat so nobby as the "Hawes" make. J. R. Blair, of Park avenue, handles them exclusively.

Smalley Brothers, of North avenue, report increased sales every month. Prosperity depends largely on fair dealing and that's the basis of their success.

Have you seen the new electric lighter at J. W. Gavett's. Its neat, compact and saving. No danger of fire attends it's use. Drop in and see it work.

All fresh vegetables may be obtained from W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, corner of Duer street and Lincoln place. The variety is unexcelled and the prices are not the least among the features.

Everything in the watch and clock line repaired by expert workmen at Wm. Brown's, 124 Watchung avenue, between Front and Second streets. English watches and French clocks a specialty.

In making your spring selection of goods do not foregt Putnam & De Graw, of West Front street. They have received a large shipment of suitable goods for spring and summer wear and you can save money in trading with this popular dry goods firm.

Housewives can always find something of interest at Callahan & Son's Richmond street grocery. Their fine stock of groceries is being constantly added to and there are always some fine bargains to be had. Lenten prices are being quoted at present in the meat department.

For that tired feeling that developes early in the spring there is nothing better than a first-class tonic. L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, sells a superior article that always rejuvenates. He also carries a full line of pure drugs, the kind that effect a cure.

The baker is generally credited with making lots of "dough" but at Warnock's West Front street confectionery it is worked up into fine, light and crispy cake, pie and bread. His angel cake cannot be surpassed and his line of confectionery is the best and most complete in the city.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruptions. DeWitt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy condition and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Hooper, Albany, Ga., says: "I took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness. They were just what I needed. I am feeling better now than in years." Never gripe or distress. Safe, thorough and gentle. The very best pills. L. W. Randolph.

To Choose Trustees.

There will be a business meeting of the First M. E. church Monday evening, March 24, at which time three trustees will be elected to take the place of J. R. Joy, W. R. Codington and George Burgess, whose terms expire at that time.

Ensign's Wife Ill.

On account of the illness of Mrs. McLeod, there will be no meetings of the Salvation Army at present. Due notice will be given when they are to be resumed.

The views from down in a coal mine given last evening by stereopticon views in Whittier School hall for the benefit of the Whittier School library, were exceedingly good and were enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience. The pictures were interestingly described by Lewis G. Storm.

Mr. Stine, of Plainfield, is putting a new roof on the house now occupied by Thornes.

EVENING OF MUSIC.

Will Give Public Opportunity to Hear New Organ at All Souls.

The lovers of music will be interested in the announcement of "an evening of music" in the advertising columns. It has been partly with a view to giving the public an opportunity to hear the new organ in the Unitarian church to the best advantage that this concert has been planned. The organ is not large but is said by those who have heard it to be of unusually sweet tone. Its merits will doubtless be well shown by that very competent performer, Ward Stephens. The programme for the evening is varied and attractive, and the vocal music is expected to be not inferior to the instrumental.

motion that the street committee be empowered to advertise for bids for crushed stone and cross walks for the coming year and with the amendment that all bids be opened within ten days after advertisement the motion was adopted. Councilman Clark's motion that the proper committee be empowered to make contracts with the water company and the light company for hydrant and sprinkling water and electric light, respectively, was passed also.

Before the close of the session Mayor Smalley made a few remarks of a general nature bearing on subjects of prime importance as related to municipal affairs at the present time. These had to do principally with the matter of the annexation of the borough territory to Union county and the consolidation of the borough with the city; the change of the location of the council rooms from the present place to the building now occupied as a fire headquarters, and the erection of a new structure as a fire headquarters; a feasible proposition for the early establishment of a municipal waterworks and sewage system, which he promised to present definitely with facts and figures at the next meeting of the body. Another matter touched upon was the necessity for a curbing ordinance and the project of macadamizing as many streets as possible from curb to curb.

Councilman Clark drew attention to the fact that nothing enhances the beauty of a place so much as well-built streets, and declared that the work should be continued and even more stress be placed upon the necessity of good roads in the borough. He referred to the condition of Pearl street, which, situated as it is at the entrance to the borough and running off of Somerset street, needs early attention. Residents along that thoroughfare have been tardy about coming forward to share in the expense and Mr. Clark urged that some means be devised whereby the borough could go ahead and improve that unsightly street.

Councilman Arnold brought up the matter of a fire limit ordinance. He said he was prompted to do this because he had knowledge of the fact that some small frame structures were to be erected on Somerset street in the near future and he thought that this should be prevented by a suitable ordinance. After the adjournment of the council the borough officers, as appointed, took the oath.

sideration in changing the county line as North Plainfield is assessed on a higher basis of value than any portion of Union county, but in event of its being transferred to Union county the basis of valuation would naturally be lowered to conform.

"To my mind the principal business proposition involved in the proposed change in the county lines, (and in this regard let me state that I am not referring to the change in the borough or city lines), is simply the question of county tax and it resolves itself into the question; which county will benefit North Plainfield most—Somerset or Union? Also which Board of Freheolders will be likely to be the more liberal to the borough."

BIG DEMAND.

So the Entire Casino Will be Reserved for the Play "Jane."

Owing to the unprecedented demand for tickets for the play "Jane," to be given at the Casino, April 3, it has been decided to reserve the whole house. The original plan was to reserve only a certain number of seats. Those who desire to obtain seats will do well to make their selections at an early date. The entire cast is composed of the young men of Leal's School and the performance promised is going to be one of the leading spring events in Plainfield.

THE ROLL OF HONOR

That Is What Uncle Sam's Pension List Should Be.

Committee on Military Affairs Is Doing Its Best to Circumvent the Little Schemes of Treasury Vampires.

[Special Washington Letter.]

THERE are tens of thousands of venerable men in our land today who should be kept above want by the government; the federal government of the people, for the people, and by the people; the government which exists to-day, intact, because those men, in their youth and young manhood, bared their breasts to the fire of battle in order that the integrity of the union might be preserved.

There are tens of thousands of those aged men who are not on the pension roll, because of some technicalities of the laws on the statute books; laws which were well intended for the general welfare; but which work hardship in so many individual cases.

While many thousands of deserving veterans of the union armies are unable to secure the pensions to which they ought to be easily entitled, there are hundreds of men in Washington drawing pensions for "disabilty" who are doing clerical work in the executive departments, and drawing from $720 to $2,000 per year for their services, in addition to the money they draw as pensioners for "disability." This is manifestly, palpably and shamefully unfair.

The deserving veterans know also that in almost every community there can be found a man, or men, drawing pensions for alleged disability, who should not receive any pension whatever. There are hypocrites in all churches, and rogues in all societies; and so also there are men living who never shed any luster on the union arms, and who deserve nothing from their country. Every fraud and bounty jumper; every maligner; every coffee cooler; every coward and "French leave" man who gets a pension takes just so much from those who ought to have the support of the government in their old age. This letter will show the honorable old soldiers, their children and grandchildren, how other frauds are kept out of undeserved pensions.

There are pension grabbers in every state, and in every congressional district; men who never had any right to a pension, and who never ought to have the nerve to try to get on that roll of honor. But they make all sorts of pretensions, and, after they have been turned down by the special examiners of the pension office, they go to their congressmen and ask for the adoption of legislation which will make them eligible to be placed on the pension roll. Upwards of 2,000 bills have been introduced in behalf of these smooth individuals, who ought to be glad that they have their heads on their shoulders, instead of asking for pensions. They are so numerous, and create so much suspicion, that they delay needed legislation for honest men. Many an honest old soldier who wants to have his military record corrected, and has a right to appeal to congress in that behalf, is turned down and denied justice, because his bill happens to be only one in a great mass of bills which the congressmen know to be fraudulent.

For example, there is an old soldier in your county whom you know to be worthy. When he was sick or wounded in hospital, the sergeant of his company reported him as a "deserter," when he was not a deserter. The war closed soon afterwards, and he never paid any attention to that erroneous entry of the sergeant. But when he is growing old, and needs government aid, he finds that the record shows him a "deserter." His only relief is to appeal to congress to have that erroneous record corrected. He does so, and he cannot understand, nor can his friends understand, why his record cannot be corrected. And yet it is a very simple matter.

HON. JAMES SLAYDEN.
(Member of House Committee on Military Affairs.)

While the honest old soldier is trying to have justice done to him there are hundreds of unworthy men who actually were deserters trying to get legislation in their behalf; and they are so numerous that the average congressman is disposed to turn all such cases down, at least in committee, on the general principle that all who come to congress for relief are frauds. The unworthy are in such a majority that the worthy and deserving are obliged to suffer the injustice of delay because of the unworthy.

All bills for legislation of this character are referred to the committee on military affairs, and there they are taken up year after year by subcommittees who look carefully into the cases after securing the records of each claimant from the office of the adjutant general of the war department and from the surgeon general's office. In those offices are on file all of the records which were kept during the civil war; and no man can expect to run the gauntlet of investigation unless his record was kept clean during those days of '61 to '65.

Congressman Slayden, of Texas, who has been a member of that committee for a number of years, and who is regarded as one of the fairest men on the committee, says:

DRAWS DOUBLE PAY.
(Pension for "Disability" and Salary for a Clerkship.)

"The committee on military affairs is fairly choked with bills proposing to correct the military records of soldiers who are written down as deserters. The good nature, carelessness or indifference of congressmen is shown when they introduce bills which they neither indorse in their conscience nor approve with their judgment. Almost without exception these character cleaning bills are the first steps of a procession of cowardly scoundrels by way of the pension office, to the treasury.

"All sorts of pleas are set up by the rascals who had neither the courage nor the patriotism to do their duty in war. They all admit technical desertion, but plead ignorance, stupidity, sickness, family afflictions and everything except being in jail, in extenuation of their silence for almost 40 years under the stigma of desertion. They are obliged to admit that they were sane and cunning enough to elude the officers until the statutes of limitations made their necks safe. They do not claim to be coming to congress now in order to have the stigma removed from their records on account of the disgrace of it. They are coming here to get a pathway cleared for them through the pension office to the coffers of the treasury.

"Let me tell you that honest old soldiers do not need to come to congress to have their military records corrected. They do not know this fact, and very few members of congress know it. But the act of congress, approved August 7, 1882, provided that the charge of desertion may be removed from the record of any old soldier by the secretary of war, when it is established to his satisfaction that such soldier had served faithfully for the term of his enlistment until May, 22, 1865, even though he was absent from his command at the time of muster out. He can also under the same act have his record corrected by the secretary of war when it can be shown that he did not intend to desert, and that he voluntarily returned to his command after the charge of desertion had been made.

"I know that there are exceptional cases, where soldiers went home without having opportunity to go back to their regiments before muster out; and those cases will always have a fair hearing before the committee on military affairs. But to show you the average I will state that out of upwards of 2,000 bills for the correction of military records from the charge of desertion, the committee favorably reported only 32; and some of those were passed because the sympathy of the committee led the members to give the claimant the benefit of the doubt, even when the doubt of his honor was very great.

"The inspiration of all these bills is a desire to get on the pension roll. Since the close of the civil war this country has paid $3,000,000,000 for pensions. No country, no two or three countries, ever paid so much for pensions for its defenders. Shall we swell this stupendous, magnificent sum by adding to the list of those who receive the largess of a grateful people, all the rogues, skulkers and deserters who were occasionally in the armies of the government during the civil war? To do so would be an insult to every honest soldier, would be unjust to every pensioner, and an outrage upon justice."

Mr. Slayden showed the writer a number of cases with the committee reports; and the evidence against substantially all of the claimants was unanswerable. Other members of the committee on military affairs agreed that what Mr. Slayden says covers all cases. The clerk and assistant clerk of the committee also substantiated these statements. The pension roll is a roll of honor; and upon it should appear the names only of those who were honorable men, brave men, soldiers who bared their breasts to the enemy and suffered for their country.

SMITH D. FRY

CONVINCING PROOF.

The Average Plainfield Citizen Must Accept the Following Proof.

The great Sir Isaac Newton, one of the most profound reasoners the world ever produced, once cut a large hole in a board fence to allow a favorite cat access to two gardens, and cut a smaller hole to allow her kitten to follow her. The weakness manifested in Sir Isaac's action was due to want of thought. Any reader who mentally debates the proof offered here about Doan's Kidney Pills and arrives at any other conclusion than that stated in this citizen's statement, is as short of reasoning powers as the philosopher when he turned carpenter.

Mr. Robert Love, of 44 Duer street, member of the firm of Love Brothers, grocers, of 257 West Front street, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for eight or nine years—pain across the back and a lameness over the kidneys. Colds always settled there and aggravated it. At last my back grew weaker and any heavy lifting or too much standing or sitting gave me additional pain. In the morning my back bothered me greatly until I moved about and took some exercise when it became better to a certain extent. I doctored and used different kinds of so-called kidney cures, but it was throwing money away. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our paper, and, being in bad shape at the time, I got a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. Before taking half of it my condition was greatly improved, and continuing their use all the pain left me."

PONY LIVES ON COAL DIET.

A Pet Shetland in Chicago Develops an Appetite for Bituminous Fuel.

A Chicago butcher is greatly annoyed by the insatiable appetite his pet Shetland pony has shown of late for soft coal. One day lately the pony broke its halter strap, and, finding the barn door locked, squirmed through a hole in a partition between the barn and a coal shed, where it was found some time later, contentedly munching the fuel.

The owner was at a loss to account for the unusually large amount of coal his family had used this winter until he found the pony in the coal bin. The discovery also explained, he thought, why the pony had been "off its feed" of late, and why condition powders had failed to restore its appetite.

In his opinion, the pony had been in the habit of appeasing its hunger with soft coal for several weeks past. The animal has grown fat on its unusual diet.

A New National Park.

Katherine Louise Smith tells in Outlook the need—and the opportunity—for a new national park in north central Minnesota. There stands to-day a piece of ancient forested America (in fact, the only great northern pine forest between the Rocky mountains and the Atlantic ocean) which it is possible still to save from destruction. Within the limits of the Chippewa Indian reservation, along the Leech, Cass and Winnebagoshish lakes, there are, as if ready and waiting for this purpose, 611,592 acres of land and 218,270 acres of water surface. It is the land of the original Dakotas and Ojibwas—the cradle of northwestern story and tradition.

Considerate of the Thief.

The following advertisement recently appeared in a London paper: "Milk—If the individual who stole the milk off my doorstep this morning will be good enough to knock at the door on the occasion of his next professional visit I'll give him a drop of rum to put in it. Milk taken neat on cold mornings and an empty stomach is likely to injure the internal economy of outdoor workers. Address, etc."

Our President's Ancestry.

All our presidents have come from British ancestry excepting two—Martin Van Buren and Theodore Roosevelt—who were of Dutch ancestry. Washington, the two Adamses, Madison, the two Harrisons, Tyler, Taylor, Fillmore, Pierce, Lincoln, Johnson, Garfield and Cleveland were of English ancestry; Jackson, Polk, Buchanan, Arthur and McKinley of Scotch-Irish; Monroe, Grant and Hayes of Scotch. Jefferson was of Welsh.—American Boy.

The Genesis of Fogs.

Mr. Rollo Russell has for many years studied the formation of fogs, and now prints his principal conclusions. Mist and fog are ordinarily caused by the mixture of currents of air of differing temperatures. Fogs that do not depend on the meeting of such currents are rare, but there are many cases of meeting currents where no fogs are produced.—Science.

Up in the Air.

Cassidy—Aye! He left his place lasht week.

"Shure, he told me he had a loife job."

"So he did. 'Twas in a quarry he wurk'd, an' the blast wint off befoor he knowed it."—Philadelphia Press.

CUBANS ARE HARD WORKERS.

Peculiarities of the People as Set Forth by the New President of the Island.

We have an island materially rich, with a fertile soil and salubrious climate. The people are industrious, especially those in the country districts, all that they ask is to have plenty of work at reasonable compensation. They are fond of home, and by nature are law-abiding. They love liberty and are brave, but relentless when stirred by oppression, says Thomas Estrada Palma, in Success. The Cubans are anxious for their children to be educated. One of the reasons assigned in the Declaration of the Ten Years' War was that Spain treated us so murderously in order to pay the standing army that oppressed us, and would not furnish schools sufficient to educate our children. The Cuban people are singularly hospitable. A stranger, visiting a home, is not only treated with kindness, but is offered a cup of coffee as an evidence of good will. They have what is called the southern type of hospitality. Though our people are hard workers, they are not, as a rule, as provident as people of industrial habits ought to be. They have a free and easy way, spending their money on the present rather than saving for a rainy day. They are just and honest in their dealings and have faith in God.

TALKING AT SEA.

Two Ocean Liners Crossing in Opposite Directions Use the Wireless Method.

The marvels of wireless telegraphy are great enough to render a recent use of the system not sufficiently wonderful to be extraordinary, perhaps, yet the incident reported by Chambers' Journal is one which appeals to the imagination.

Two Cunard liners, the Lucania and the Campania, were crossing the Atlantic in opposite directions. Each, knowing the date of the other's sailing, could make a calculation as to the hour when they would most likely meet. When the hour came the vessels were too far apart to sight each other. Presently, however, the warning bell of the wireless telegraphic apparatus in the Campania tinkled, and the message was spelled out: "Are you there?—Lucania." And then the two vessels, still invisible to each other, and, as it was found, 36 miles apart, talked for some hours, exchanging experiences as to the weather, and finally parting with the word "good-by" when they were 140 miles asunder.

Such a conversation carried on between vessels in the open ocean, separated by such a vast stretch of water and out of sight of each other, is an impressive illustration of what wireless telegraphy means.

KILLING OF THE CHINCHILLA.

Fur Dealers In This Country Are Deeply Interested in Its Danger of Extermination.

Fur dealers are much interested in the news from Chili that the chinchilla has almost been exterminated by fur hunters and that stringent measures will have to be applied to prevent the extinction of the animal there. In spite of laws for its protection in Bolivia, the chinchilla has almost entirely disappeared from that republic, and furriers fear that it may disappear in Chili as well, reports the New York Sun.

According to customs reports the number of the animals killed in Chili has increased greatly in recent years. The number of chinchilla pelts exported in 1900 was 695,300, more than double the exports of 1898.

A scientific society in Chili has already drafted a law forbidding the hunting of the chinchilla for four or five years in certain regions, and allowing hunting elsewhere for only half the year. It also forbids the use of firearms, dogs, fire and, in fact, everything except traps.

The fur dealers expect that the law will be enacted and predict that the price of chinchilla fur will soon be very much higher.

FIRST WAR IN HISTORY.

Inscriptions Lately Unearthed Reveal the Fact That Egypt Once Invaded France.

That Egypt and France held intercourse as early as 4000 B. C. is proved by the marked resemblance of inscriptions found in the two countries, says the Philadelphia North American. The excavations of Prof. Flinders Petrie have brought to light evidence of an extremely ancient movement between the land of the Pharaohs and the countries bordering on the Mediterranean.

This communication, like all other great invasions of history, had its origin in an effort at trade extension. The great wars of the eighteenth Egyptian dynasty were provoked by surrounding nations jealous of Egypt's growing wealth and power. In retaliation Egypt carried the campaign into Asia and Europe, and, judging from the inscriptions mentioned, must have pushed as far west as France.

Prof. Petrie has in his possession a series of figures found in Malta and neolithic remains from Brassenpuoy in France which are beyond chance of doubt the work of Egyptians. They establish intercourse long before the period which is generally recognized as the beginning of the history of the countries of Europe.

LACE TRIMMINGS.

Collars, Berthas, Stoles, Are Used on Cloth Costumes.

Collars, berthas, stoles and postillion backs are characteristic of the dressy cloth costume. Irish crochet and cluny are the stylish laces. Ecru is the favorite color in lace, and even deep brown shades are now considered very stylish. Black lace and insertion are seen now and then, but not so often as earlier in the season. Embroidery of all kinds, passementerie and various braids are all used for trimming. The inevitable black velvet ribbon still appears, and narrow velvet ribbons in the bright tints are seen now and then.

Single figures of lace are used with great skill on many of the thin dresses and sometimes even figures of different shades of lace are used together. In general everything in the way of trimming is used to make a gown more dainty. Formal trimmings are relegated to the past.

The attractive dancing frock in the picture is made of cream mousseline de soie over white satin. The waist is made full, with a shirred yoke outlined with jeweled black velvet ribbon. The wide belt is composed of the shirrings and of narrow velvet ribbons. The sleeves are formed by a picturesque draping of tulle caught at the elbow into a rosette. The upper half of the skirt is laid in box plaits, and there are three wide ruffles, headed by a V pointed application of shirrings and black velvet. A handsome spray of orchids and maidenhair fern completes this costume.

SEPARATE WAISTS.

Useful Black and White Chiffon Dinner Blouses.

Very pretty and useful waists are being made out of black chiffon and mousseline de soie, joined together with a few odds and ends of lace. These blouses are very useful for theater and informal occasions. Tucked black chiffon over lustrous satin is very smart and combines well with insertions of black lace. Shirrings of rather soft mousseline de soie make a youthful looking bodice, while a broad bertha of black chantilly appliqued with irregular black velvet dots is a handsome trimming for a decollete waist.

DINNER WAIST.

Pretty semidecollete blouses are made of all over black lace, with a bolero also of the same run through with tiny black velvet ribbons.

Waists of white chiffon and all over lace are as popular as those made of black, and the woman who wishes to dress well on a small income should not neglect to use up her old bits of lace in this way. The white waists are handsomer when worn with a pale colored skirt.

A useful black mousseline waist is the subject of the sketch. It is made decollete for evening wear, with elbow sleeves which fall off at the shoulders. The decolletage is outlined by a medallion applique of black chantilly, which also appears on one side of the opening down the front. The rest of the blouse is tucked vertically and is finished off with a crusted satin belt and an irregular satin bow at the decolletage. The sleeves are also tucked and have a line of the applique running through their centers.

ACROSS THE LINES

BY HARRY STILLWELL EDWARDS

by J. B. Lippincott Company. All rights reserved.

"It is the parole of a private soldier," she said, "and a safe-conduct through our lines. He is wounded, but has recovered sufficiently to travel. He will not enter the service again, sir; his injuries incapacitate him."

"And is that all?"

"All!"

"May I ask why this extraordinary interest in a private soldier?" The president was smiling, his sad, kind face questioning her closer than his lips alone. She described the scene of her friend's heroism, the quick interest of her hearer revealing the kindly heart within him.

"Grand!" he said, briefly. "I should be glad to see him—but no"—and he turned slightly towards the mass of papers—"the crowd waits."

"The man that this soldier saved," she said, simply, "was a—kinsman of mine—one to whom I am greatly indebted."

"And is that all?"

"That is all," she answered. But under the playful, mocking gaze of the president she felt her face grow crimson. He smiled and bowed gravely from his chair when he noticed the tell-tale blush.

"That is all!" he said. One line upon a sheet of official paper and the touch of a handbell, and Frances found herself under the guidance of a messenger on her way to the war department. At the door of the department she met Raymond Holbin in a new and glittering uniform. He was coming out, but, seeing her, stopped in surprise.

"You here!" he exclaimed.

"Why not?" She gave him but a glance, a sarcastic smile playing about her lips.

"It is no place for women; you should be at home."

"It is no place for men; you should not be at home, Capt. Holbin." An angry reply arose to his lips, but he checked it.

"You know why I am not," he said; "I have been unfairly treated; but say the word, and I will go even as a private soldier—if you will promise—"

"It is immaterial to me whether you go or stay," she said, and passed in. Holbin waited a moment and followed her, keeping out of her sight.

"What was it the young woman wanted?" he asked of a clerk acquaintance, with careless indifference, when she was gone.

"An order for the parole of a prisoner and a pass through the lines." As Raymond walked away in deep thought, a messenger pointed him out to a hotel porter, and the latter handed him a sealed envelope. Within this was a card bearing the name "Louise."

CHAPTER XII.

When Virginia seceded and her young men rushed to the front, among the first to seek a commission was Raymond Holbin. This was in the days when most people believed that the military feature of secession would prove little more than a grand spectacular demonstration. Graduates of West Point were at once in great demand, and backed by the Brooklin influence Holbin was appointed a captain of infantry among the state troops, no search of his record being at the time possible; but when the state transferred her troops to the confederate government, and Holbin sought a colonelcy, advancing in support of his application the fact that he had been an officer in the regular army, the matchless memory of the southern president recalled his history. Jefferson Davis had been secretary of war at the time the Holbin court-martial was held, and the record coming before him for review, he had promptly approved the sentence of the court. A long struggle to secure a modification of the sentence had followed—and in this struggle many politicians had been arrayed by Holbin's mother, but in vain. The sentence stood; and these people never forgot the issues involved; the Holbins hated Jefferson Davis. The name "Holbin" had clung to the memory of the hero of Buena Vista; he declined to appoint Raymond Holbin or to commission him in any way to command honorable men. The decision was in harmony with his devotion to his principles, a devotion that was destined to make him in the end the most unfortunate of American statesmen.

This new public reflection upon Holbin filled him with an ungovernable rage. Had safe opportunity offered, he would not have hesitated to send a bullet through the heart of the man who was responsible for it. Indeed, he armed himself, and for many months was convinced that he might at any moment be dedicated to the discharge of a patriotic duty. The president of the confederacy walked daily in the presence of death, for fanaticism and desperate men surrounded him. His safety lay in the fact that he walked in the sunlight, where the results of an attack promised never less than life for life. And Raymond Holbin was not the man to barter his away; he bided his time. A far more dangerous enemy was his mother, who numbered official acquaintances in Washington by the score, and who knew when and where to plant the deadliest blow. This woman, secure in her social position, displaying by her own efforts and the efforts of her stepdaughter in hospital work devotion to the southern cause, was in secret fast balancing accounts with Jefferson Davis.

Friends of Raymond Holbin, for he still had a few, with the aid of his mother, secured him a bomb-proof position with a rank of captain; and there he stuck, with all the time for plotting that might be demanded.

What seemed to Holbin an opportunity for a sweeping revenge came very unexpectedly. Up to then he had been but an instrument in the hands of his mother and that large circle of invisibles known to him who sapped the strength of the confederacy. Their many interests preceded his. The opportunity came through Louise. He did not dare to disregard her card and responded instantly to her implied command, armed with his old secret and a virtuous indignation. He had almost forgotten her. A year before, when she had sufficiently recovered from her illness to permit it, he had sent her north, deceived by "sacred" pledges, to a new hiding-place. The immediate opening of hostilities had seemed to fix the separation. It had never occurred to him that she would make an effort to cross the lines.

The new meeting between Louise and Holbin was marked by a great display of passion on his part; she was calm and collected, a suggestion of recklessness, however, in her eyes and every movement; her face relentless and white with despair of an abandoned life. For the first time Holbin failed to move her to anger or to tears.

"I came," said she, when his rage had spent itself and in answer to his despairing offer of money if she would depart, "not because I need your assistance—that is, your money, for I do not; I am now well supplied." She could not have touched him in a more delicate spot. A swift jealousy, a curious indignation, filled him.

"Whose money?" he asked, breathlessly.

"He is very rich, and gives with a liberal hand when the woman is smart, is able, is fearless, and willing to risk her life at his bidding." It was not the speech, but the cautious glance which involuntarily she gave to her surroundings that awoke a suspicion in his breast.

"Louise, you are a—"

"Hush! I am a mother robbed of her child; that is explanation enough; for such a woman is capable of anything—even murder, as you know. Raymond, where is my daughter?" He looked at her uneasily, and the white feather appeared in spite of his efforts to conceal it.

"She is well, and well cared for."

"I asked you where, and you have not answered me!"

"There is much to be agreed upon between us before I tell you that," he said, after a pause, during which he narrowly watched her. He took a seat close beside her and continued in his old confidential, half-appealing way: "Louise, I am ruined, a disgraced man, and ripe for anything that will take me out of this city." He paused, but she did not answer or seem to hear him, and he added: "My downfall began when I was untrue to myself—to you. I have never had a moment's good luck since; everything has gone wrong with me." Still she did not answer him, but her bosom heaved once or twice, and a strange look came into the white face she turned towards him. "I have now no chance on earth except a chance to play for even and quit the country. Louise, if I succeed will you go back with me into the old sweet life? I will be true to you; I will right all of your wrongs—and I will be a father indeed to your child. Let us go, Louise, out of this wild, heartless country back across the ocean to the little English home, back to our flowers, back to the old life." He took her hand, and this time she did not withdraw it.

"My child," she said, almost inaudibly, her face lowered and her bosom rising and falling rapidly.

"That will be all right—all right. I swear to you she is well and has not forgotten you. She never fails to ask for you, and at night to say her little prayer." A cry burst from the wretched woman.

"My baby! My baby!" She sank her face in her hands, then sprang to her feet. "You deceived me," she said, frantically, beginning to walk the floor, "I cannot—I cannot believe you."

"I have no cause to deceive you, Louise—none." He spoke very tenderly; "and I would not if I could—now. This uniform, these shoulder-straps, mean nothing in my case but disgrace. I am a stay-at-home. The dullards of my class at West Point are brigadier generals in the field; I am a uniformed clerk."

"The woman—?" Louise could not conclude her question.

NOT A DYNAMITE BOMB.

What Happened When an Intrepid Boston Policeman Monkeyed with the Little String.

Lying against one of the pillars that support the subway roof, a station man at Scollay square, says the Boston Transcript, the other evening found a cylindrical box about six inches long. A string straggled out from one end, looking for all the world like the fuse of a firecracker. He picked it up and showed it to the station master. The latter official examined it for a moment and then grew pale. The whistle dropped from between his teeth. He pushed the man from him. "Take it away and lay it down on something soft; and, say, let it down easy," he exclaimed; and as the man looked surprised, he lowered his voice. "It's a bomb—a regular dynamite bomb."

The man had been holding the thing tight in his fist before. Now he clasped it gingerly with his finger tips; but he lost no time in making way to the ticket seller's office. Then began a series of frights as the mysterious object was tenderly passed along until about half-past six o'clock it was brought into Station 2. The carrier's hand was almost nerveless when he laid the thing before the policeman in charge. He leaned over the rail.

"Be careful," he said, "it's dynamite."

Then he backed toward the door. His hand was on the knob when the lieutenant shouted for him to come back and explain himself. But he didn't come back. With his hand still on the door he told his story, and meanwhile the lieutenant was eyeing the bomb. The inspector finished, and the lieutenant picked up the cylinder. He took hold of the string and gave it a pull. Everybody jumped in terror, and the lieutenant leaned back in his chair and laughed. He held in his hand a lady's fan. That was the dynamite bomb.

MICE IN SHEEP'S WOOL.

Eighty of the Lively Little Rodents Discovered in Fleecy Homes by Farmer Bailey.

Adsit Bailey, of Bath, N. Y., keeps a good many sheep on his farm in the town of Urbana. He noticed the other day, on going to feed his flock, a black spot on the back of one of the sheep.

When he went to look at it the spot instantly disappeared. Farmer Bailey rubbed his eyes. Then another black spot appeared for an instant on the sheep's back and as quickly went out of sight.

This time the farmer saw that the black spot was a mouse and while he was looking at the place where it had been a third black spot came into sight at the same place on the sheep's back, and disappeared as the others had.

Then Farmer Bailey thought it was time to investigate, and he thrust his hand down into the sheep's thick coat of wool, and found three snug and cozy mice nests, each with a new born litter of young ones in it. He lost no time in breaking up those odd mouse colonies, and then looked over the others of his sheep, with the result that he found four more in the depths of whose wool mice had chosen warm places to build nests and bring forth their young.

Ten nests were found in all, containing an aggregate of 70 young mice. The sheep seemed not only not to mind the presence of the mice nests in their fleeces, but acted as if they were not pleased with their removal and the destruction of their contents.

BEAR ACTS QUEERLY.

Why Mrs. Cable Thinks Bruin Has Fallen from Grace.

Peculiar Antics That Have Made Old Jim Objectionable to Indiana People—His Encounter with a Railroad Train.

The Norton (Ind.) correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean says that bears of all kinds, and especially tame ones, are at a discount in that vicinity. In fact, it is the tame sort that the people object to the most. Some months ago a man who was traveling about the country with a performing bear came here suffering from injuries received in a fight with a gang of rowdies in South Chicago. His condition was such that he decided to go to Indianapolis for treatment, and left his bear, which he said was kind and gentle, with Farmer Cable, to be cared for until his return.

For a time Farmer Cable and his folks thought they had a treasure in the bear, which was an intelligent animal. It was docile and affectionate and acted as a watch dog, keeping away the tramps. The first sign of trouble came up two weeks ago, when Bruin, tired of being left alone, followed the family to church, and surprised the congregation by entering the sacred edifice and taking its place near the pulpit, where it remained through the service. Efforts to drive it out were fruitless, and the gravity of the occasion was sadly disturbed. The following Monday night the Cables had company, who stayed over night. With them they brought a huge mastiff. Just before retiring Mr. Cable said:

"I'll give the dog a warm box stall in the barn, and I'll tie the bear up, so they can't get together. I don't think there'd be any trouble if they did; but it's just as well not to take chances."

"Don't worry about the dog," said his guest. "Tige will take care of himself. He can lick a whole barnful of bears."

Tuesday morning the dog was dead. The bear had chewed himself loose from the rope, torn down the door of the stall in which the dog was quartered, and hugged and clawed it to death. Tige put up a good fight, as the torn hide of the bear and the disordered condition of the stall showed, but was no match for Bruin. Mr. Dutton, his owner, was chagrined at the defeat of his pet, and cast ugly glances at the bear, which leered knowingly at him in return.

That same night, the weather having turned cold, the bear was housed in the woodshed for shelter. About midnight the family was aroused by a great racket in the kitchen, and found the bear beastly drunk and dancing a cancan on the table. It had forced its way into the cellar and tackled a keg of hard cider. Disgusted with its lapse from virtue, Mr. Cable drove it out into the yard—a job that was accomplished only after the stove had been upset and a lot of dishes wrecked. An hour later the engineer of an Erie train saw a huge beast armed with a big fence stake sitting on the track a few yards ahead of his engine. It was too late to stop the train, so the engineer turned on a full head of steam and went ahead. The engine struck Bruin squarely amidships, and, to the engineer's surprise, the bear landed safely on the pilot, where it clung to the signal staff and was carried to the next stopping place. When the train slowed down the bear jumped off and trotted back home.

Bruin is still stopping at Farmer Cable's, but the latter says he will wait only one week more for the return of its owner and the liquidation of his bill. "If he doesn't show up Monday week," said Cable the other night, "there'll be a dead bear here, and my neighbors will have plenty of bear steak to eat. I don't want any more bear boarders."

"And no more do I," said Mrs. Cable. "I allus thought Jim was a good bear, but he's fallen from grace in a most amazin' sort of way."

Damages Against Dead Man.

The Indiana courts have added new terrors to matrimonial engagements. In the case of Christiansen versus Crum they have reached a conclusion involving the declaration of the principle that the death of one of the parties to a marriage engagement constitutes a breach of promise, entitling the surviving party to receive compensatory damages in such amount as may be shown to be just and equitable in the circumstances. In this case they were figured out by the jury at $6,000.

SPORTING NEWS

INDOOR SPORTS.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium held an athletic contest Saturday, the event being the standing broad jump. The winners and points scored were as follows: William Heineke, 8 ft. 5 in., 58 points; Ray Smith, 8 ft. 4 in., 56 points; J. Eams and Harry Thompson, each 8 ft. 2 in., 52 points. The events Saturday will be the parallel bar, the low bar, quarter mile walk and rope climb.

The Junior department of the Y. M. C. A. held a potato race, Saturday morning, as a continuation of its series of gymnastic events. The winners were Francis Anderson with 84 points; Jerry Manning, 80 points, and Howard Craig, 76 points. Saturday the event will be a running high jump.

GOLF.

Secretary E. G. Kent announces that there will be a meeting of the East Jersey Golf League at Newark this evening. New officers for the ensuing year are to be elected and other important business transacted, so it is expected that there will be a full representation. In all probability the South Orange Field Club will be taken into membership, and with this organization in the circuit in place of Madison the championship competition would doubtless be more keenly contested than ever.

The individual champion of the East Jersey League is Howard A. Giffin, of the East Orange Golf Club, who captured the title twice in succession, first at Baltusrol and last year over the links of the Golf Club of Montclair. Giffin played in better form than ever last fall, and as he is still a mere lad his chances of improvement are excellent.

WHIST.

The third and last of the open four contests, given under the auspices of the New Jersey State Whist Association, took place in the rooms of the Roseville Athletic Association Friday evening. The team prize was won by Messrs. Linn, Dennison, Tenny and Dunlop representing the Glen Ridge Whist Club. They won a total of five matches and were six tricks. The high scores were made by Messrs. Bartlett and Losee, of the Acquackanonck team, north and south, with four tricks plus, and by Messrs. Halsey and Sisseron, of the Forest Hill team, east and west, with eight tricks plus. The first of the individual prizes for the greatest aggregate plus of all three games was won by Arthur F. Freeman, of this city, who is a member of the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club. He had a total of thirteen tricks plus.

There was no match for the Metropolitan challenge trophy last week, because the Passaic Whist Club defaulted. The match this week between the Cosmopolitan Whist Club, holders, and the Knickerbocker Whist Club promises to be very interesting.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Jolly Bowlers will meet the Bound Brook Bowling Club, on McLaughlin's alleys, Thursday evening. In all probability three games will be played. The Bound Brook team was defeated by the Jolly Bowlers, recently, three straight games.

Driver Was There, But Team and Wagon Had Disappeared.

In a much bruised and shaken-up condition, Alfred Perrigroux, foreman of the farm of the Stirling silk mill was found on the road near Edward Cooper's farm this morning. He had started out for Plainfield yesterday for a load of furniture which some Stirling merchant had purchased at Woodhull & Martin's. Nothing was heard from him until today, and the whereabouts of the team and wagon are unknown. It is said that the driver was intoxicated and that the horses had ran away Revival Meetings Over.

The revival meetings, which have been in progress at the Calvary Baptist church for the past month, have been discontinued. Through their influence, 154 new members were added to the church rolls. Efforts are now being made by Pastor Wallace to pay off the entire indebtedness of the church by taxing each member $5 to be paid in the next sixty days.

James Totten, of West Sixth street, has received a permit from Building Inspector Doane for the erection of a double apartment house on the west side of West Fourth street, between Grant and Monroe avenues. Hoffman & Pangborn are the carpenters. The building will have cost when completed about $2,500.

Patrolman John Watson, who has been a member of the local police force for the past five years, has tendered his resignation. It will be acted upon at the next meeting of the Common Council.

The names of these and the winners were as follows: Soap bubble contest, Miss Belle Slorah; peanut race, Walter Foster; tacking match, Miss Frances T. Cose; man making best woman's hat from tissue paper, Charles Dixon; best man's hat, Miss Emma Foster; blindfolded goose match, David Wyckoff. KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ELECTED

TRINITY COMMANDERY HELD MEETING AT F. L. C. MARTIN'S STORE.

Candidates of Local Commandery Will be Initiated at Damascus Commandery's Asylum.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., held a regular conclave last evening in the store of F. L. C. Martin on Park avenue, when officers for the ensuing year were chosen as follows: Eminent Commander, Samuel Bingaman; generalissimo, Robert A. Meeker; captain general, Harry A. Smith; senior warden, George M. Macintyre; junior warden, George M. Kirkner; prelate, Rev. John W. Richardson; treasurer, Calvin H. Rugg; recorder, F. K. VanAnken; standard bearer, Joseph H. Miller; sword bearer, Dr. F. A. Kinch; warden, Otto Mueck; sentinel, Caspar Bolsterli; organist, W. E. MacClymont.

There was some discussion regarding plans for the future. The chances are that the Commandery will meet temporarily in the Stillman building, but not before April 1 as the members cannot get ready for the regular meetings until that time. The members who have recently been elected will be given their degree at the asylum of Damascus Commandery, of Newark. This Commandery has kindly offered Trinity Commandery the use of its rooms and paraphnerlia. It is likely that all degrees will be given there until the temporary quarters are ready in this city.

As yet nothing definite has been decided regarding the erection of a Masonic Temple, that matter being left to a committee to be reported on later. There seems to be strong chances that the association will return to the Babcock building, if properly arranged.

TALK OF BUILDING.

Woodhull & Martin May Erect a Building of Their Own on Front Street.

It is stated on good authority that Woodhull & Martin, the dry goods merchants, are considering the advisability of erecting a building of their own. The thing which has led to a consideration of such plans is the fact that the trustees of the Babcock estate announce that they will be unable to put the Babcock building in complete repair in less time than a year. This is too long a time for the firm to wait to resume operations. The firm is anxious to resume as soon as practical and to that end the erection of their own building is considered the best plan.

The site thought to be desirable for such a building is the property extending between the building of Powlison & Jones and that of Dr. Probasco on East Front street. While it is not definitely settled that that site will be selected, it is understood that the firm has an option on it. If a building is erected the plan will be to put the entire business on one floor.

MARRIED FOUR MONTHS.

But the Announcement of the Marriage Was Not Made Known Until Yesterday.

The host of friends of Miss Ursula Leech, of West Second street, will be surprised to learn that she has been married for some time. Only a few immediate relatives and intimate friends were aware of the fact until it was made known yesterday.

The ceremony took place at the home of her brother, Eugene Leech, of Newark, November 13, the groom being Thomas Leach, an engineer stationed at Fort Wadsworth. Rev. D. Allen, of Newark, was the officiating clergyman. Miss Nettie Muir, of this city, and William Mills, of New Brunswick, acted as bridemaid and best man, respectively.

Miss Leech, or rather Mrs. Leach, since the ceremony, has been living with her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Leech. The young people will take up housekeeping sometime during the summer.

Trial by Jury.

The contract case of Charles Jensen against Wm. Taylor, of Chimney Rock, is set for trial before a jury this afternoon. The case is in Justice Smalley's court and will take place in the Somerset Hotel.

Successful Operation.

Mrs. Frederick H. Firstbrook, of West Fifth street, was successfully operated upon for appendicitis yesterday. The operation took place at the hospital.

FOR CONSOLIDATION.

Board of Trade Took Stand for Greater Plainfield and Sent a Committee to Trenton.

The Board of Trade met last evening in the offices of Leifke & Laing in Park avenue. There was a good attendance and considerable interest was taken in the important action taken by the Board concerning annexation and consolidation. A resolution was unanimously adopted favoring consolidation and a committee, consisting of Presideent L. B. Woolston and Secretary H. C. Runyon, was appointed to go to Trenton today and urge the adoption of the three bills now in the Legislature for consideration.

The Wheels of a Railroad.

On the Burlintgon Railroad system of 8,000 miles, over 385,000 wheels are in service under the various passenger, freight and way cars, locomotives and other rolling stock. An average of 40,000 wheels are purchased each year and they are very carefully inspected, as they are bought with a guarantee. According to the stipulation, each is warranted to last six years or cover seventy-five thousand miles. All the wheels are numbered and a careful record kept. When they fail to do the work they are returned to the manufacturer, who is compelled to make the loss good.

Miss Clara E. Boothe, of Shelton, Conn., returned home this morning after spending a few days at the home of Councilman Ralph I. Tolles, of Westervelt avenue.

VERY STRONG SENTIMENT FOR GREATER PLAINFIELD SHOWN AT SENATE HEARING

But Few Boroughites Went to Trenton Yesterday Afternoon to Oppose Bills for Annexation and Consolidation Which Are Now Before the Legislature.

SOMERSET COUNTY MADE NO ORGANIZED FIGHT.

ADVOCATES OF THE MEASURE OFFERED NO OBJECTIONS WHEN SENATOR REED SUGGESTED A REFEERENDUM PROVISION TO COUNTY LINE BILL.

Such a Large Delegation Attended the Hearing That the Committee Sat in the Senate Chamber Instead of a Committee Room—Those Who Attended in Interests of the Measure—The Opposition Had Petitions—Three From Borough Spoke Against the Bills—Little Heard From Somerset County—Plainfield Out in Force—Prominent Citizens Present and Had Something to Say.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, March 19—A remarkable demonstration in behalf of the Greater Plainfield movement was made in the Senate chamber, yesterday afternoon, when the judiciary committee of the Senate gave a public hearing on House bills, Nos. 153, 154 and 155, which provide for the consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield in Union county. The expected hordes from Somerset county to fight the scheme failed to materialize. Instead the chamber was crowded with the enthusiastic advocates of the measure from both city and borough, including many prominent men of both communities. A small opposition from North Plainfield was there and was given every opportunity to be heard but the arguments of its three advocates were buried under the mass of excellent reasons advanced by the friends of the measure. But few words were heard from the remainder of Somerset county where it was predicted such a howl would arise. It was a decided victory for the Greater Plainfield movement.

These bills it will be remembered, were passed by the Assembly Tuesday, March 4, and were then sent to the Senate. That body referred them to the judiciary committee which is composed of Senator McCarter, of Essex; Senator Reed, of Somerset; and Senator Hudspeth, of Hudson. The public hearing was set down for yesterday afternoon. It was first intended to hold it in one of the committee rooms but the delegation, which appeared in the hour preceding 4 o'clock, the time set for the hearing, was so large that the hearing was delayed until the Senate adjourned and was then held in the Senate chamber.

While some of the interested ones were on hand at an early hour, the bulk of the crowd assembled in the State House corridor, half an hour before the time for the hearing. There was only a corporal's guard of objectors from the borough. They depended on the petitions they carried to make up for the lack of numbers. They were A. V. D. Honeyman, president of the Borough Board of Education, Former Mayor Charles Place, Secretary W. E. Honeyman, of the Borough Board of Health, School Trustee Justus H. Cooley, Supervising Principal H. J. Wightman and School Physician J. H. Buchanan.

In striking contrast was the delegation which had come down to urge the passage of the bills. It contained Republicans and Democrats. Marshalling the borough forces for Greater Plainfield were Mayor N. B. Smalley and Former Mayor W. L. Saunders. Others were L. B. Woolston, president of the Board of Trade, William L. Smalley, Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Assessor E. M. French, Borough Clerk Frank Rowley, George White, D. N. Groendyke, Frank Curtis, Samuel Townsend, Former Councilman George T. Rogers, Allan Wilson, F. C. Iredell, Charles H. Lyman, George P. Dupee, A. E. Faber, Jr., and Harry S. Potter.

From the city of Plainfield were Mayor O. L. Jenkins, Councilman J. F. Buckle, Councilman Clarence L. Murphy, Councilman Edward E. Pray, City Clerk J. T. MacMurray, Postmaster E. H. Bird, Ernest R. Ackerman, J. Fred MacDonald, David C. Smalley, Andrew McCardell, George J. Tobin, E. H. Ladd, Jr., Former Mayor Alex. Gilbert, Former Assemblyman Roger F. Murray, Winfield S. Angleman, P. V. R. VanWyck, and several others including representatives of the Plainfield newspapers.

The Somerville delegation was decidedly small. It was composed of Former Congressman A. A. Clark, Director William J. Logan, of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders, C. H. Bateman, editor of the Unionist-Gazette, Charles A. Houston, Jos. Fitzga, Chas. J. Furey, County Judge Louis Schenck, Assistant Prosecutor Fred J. Pope. Former Assembyman E. E. Cooper was present from Warren and W. B. R. Mason, editor of the Bound Brook Chronicle, and W. W. Smalley, from Bound Brook.

Among the interested listeners at the hearing who came from Union county outside of Plainfield were Senator Joseph Cross, Frank Bergen, Former Governor F. M. Voorhees, Charles N. Codding, Former Assemblyman E. R. Meeker. It was 4:25 o'clock before the Senate chamber was ready for occupancy and then the crowd hurried in, well filling the room. The three members of the committee occupied seats on the platform, Senator McCarter acting as chairman of the meeting.

Senator McCarter explained that there were three different delegations to be heard, one representing the city of Plainfield, another the borough of North Plainfield and a third the county of Somerset. It was the purpose of the committee, he explained, to sit until 6 o'clock and therefore a half hour would be allowed each delegation to present its arguments.

After a short pause A. V. D. Honeyman, acting president of the North Plainfield Board of Education, arose and stated that he desired to be heard in the matter but thought that those who advocated the proposed measures should first state their case. This brought Former Mayor Saunders to his feet. He likewise expressed a desire to address the committee. "As I understand it," said he, "the idea is to hear objections to the bills." He added that it was the place of those opposed to the measures to state their objections to the committee. This colloquy was ended by Chairman McCarter ruling that it was the purpose of the committee not to waste time but to hear all.

Mr. Honeyman then commenced his argument stating at the outset that the passage of the bills and their being in the Senate was a surprise to the people of North Plainfield—to those affected. It was most extraordinary and unexplainable. Continuing he said: "There are three bills. Bill No. 153 provides for the annexation of part of the territory of one county to another county, and I have nothing to say about that except that I am informed by a very good lawyer that this bill does not make the proper provision for our case. The next bill is No. 155, which refers to consolidation and I haven't time to discuss it. I am not afraid of this bill because it has a referendum."

"But this bill," said he holding up a copy of House bill No. 154, "is a little bill, having a stinger in it for it has been pushed along against the wishes of the people in the borough. If we are annexed it is only a question of time before consolidation takes place. Bill No. 154 is before the Senate under peculiar circumstances. I think that it is a matter of public notoriety the unseemly way this bill is here. Some say it was passed in the House to be killed in the Senate and some say to be passed in the Senate. I say that some one must answer to his constitutency for passing this bill under false pretences.

"These bills are extraordinary because the city has never said to the borough or county that it would like to have that territory joined with it. We have not been asked by Union county or by the city of Plainfield to come over. This bill originated several years ago, when some representative citizens signed a paper to the effect that consolidation would be advantageous. The Plainfield Board of Trade and some borough citizens became interested and on March 14, 1899, the scheme was put to a vote in the borough. The result was 103 for the idea and 385 against it.

"Now then no discussion has taken place since then until an advertisement appeared in the Plainfield papers concerning this project and from that time to this there has been no discussion, because no one supposed the bills would pass the House. Plainfield's Council first opposed the plan and then rescinded its action. In North Plainfield no action was taken. This will take a piece of territory from Somerset county, where it has been for over 200 years, without our people being asked.

"What is behind this bill? I suspect, but do not know. Whatever might be, four-fifths of our taxpayers are opposed to it and this we know by a canvas. Yesterday a man saw the business men of Somerset street and out of 101 men consulted there were but three who wouldn't sign. In making up another petition of ninety-eight names there were only two who declined to sign. I say if you annex North Plainfield to Union county, somehow or other somebody is going to get hurt afterwards."

In closing Mr. Honeyman handed up a petition said to contain the names of 287 taxpayers. This petition expressed surprise over the intended severance of the borough from the county without the consent and asked for a referendum. This document he requested be transmitted to the Governor in the event of the bills being passed.

Former Mayor Saunders, on behalf of the delegation of citizens advocating the measures, said that in Mr. Honeyman's address he had heard for the first any reason advanced in opposition to the measures. He gave a detailed account of the history of the consolidation idea. The matter was first brought up, said he, when the present mayor of the borough, Newton B. Smalley, was first running for office and he threw his entire strength against the proposition. People who were then against it, are now in favor of it. He explained the ambiguity of the proposition as first presented to the people. People were asked to vote for or against it and the proposition was not definitely stated.

"The very man who was against it then" (meaning Mr. Smalley) is now for it and he and his friends are heartily in favor of the measure, to which Mr. Honeyman objects. There is a large percentage of taxpayers in favor of it. The second largest taxpayer in the borough is here today in favor of it and before he was against it. There have been many changes in three years. The only reason taxes are not higher in North Plainfield than in Plainfield is because of the able administration of Mayor Smalley. Our taxes have gone up in Somerset county. In 1897 the tax rate in Union county was fifty-four cents and in Somerset county fifty-three cents on the $100. Since then it has declined in Union and increased in Somerset. Now it is forty-three cents in Union and sixty one cents in Somerset on every $100."

Mr. Saunders then dwelt upon the treatment received by the borough from Somerset county and drew attention to the matter of a proper bridge at Giraud avenue, which is well known to the public. Continuing the speaker said: "This measure is forced upon us. I personally favor consolidation with a referendum as in the bill.

"We consulted able lawyers and they told us that consolidation without change of the county lines was impossible, for there would be separate election districts, separate school districts and separate excise districts otherwise. To illustrate some of the drawbacks at present, in North Plainfield the saloon licenses are obtained from the county court at Somerville, and the saloons close at midnight, and in Plainfield the licenses are granted by the city's Common Council and the places close at 11 o'clock. Men go into the Plainfield saloons and when they close at 11 o'clock they go over Somerset street into the borough where the saloons are still open." At this point Mr. Saunders exhibited a photograph of Somerset street showing the location of the geographical division of the two counties. He then explained the difference in the price of licenses on the two sides of the brook. "The people in the two municipalities attend the same churches and deal at the same stores," said he.

"We were advised that in order to obtain consolidation we must change county lines. What is that county line there for? It was there when there was no North Plainfield. The growth of the borough is due to that of the city. Generally cities grow westward and we are to the west of Plainfield. All we want is the removal of the barrier. The question of the change of county line will do no injustice for the tax rate is lower in Union county. Union pays to Somerset a proportionate part of debt commensurate with part taken from Somerset county.

"The proposition of a change of county line is not a new one. Both Union and Somerset's lines have been altered before, but I am unable to find where the matter was left to the vote of the people. To whom is it to be left? To North Plainfield? To Plainfield also? To the whole of Union and to the whole of Somerset county? If left to Somerset county, annexation would never be attained."

Mr. Honeyman asked whether, if the bill passes, North Plainfield would bear its share of the greatly increased debt of Union county. Mr. Saunders replied that it would. The total valuation in Union county is higher than in Somerset, while the basis for assessing is lower. The reason Somerset's debt is low is because it is the policy in that county to pay today for the expenses of building stone roads, while in Union county the debt is bonded, and is to be paid for by succeeding generations. Then Mr. Honeyman asked why the referendum was not made to cover the annexation and consolidation at once. This answer Mr. Saunders said he would leave for the committee. He was advised to have the bills as they were by able lawyers.

Former Mayor Place asked the attention of the committee on the ground that he had resided in North Plainfield for thirty-two years and that he was one of the prominent men who had established the borough. He said that he has had considerable experience in such matters and that there was a right and a wrong way to bring about such matters. The bills had gone through the House unknown and the boroughites had received no notice. In conclusion he said "I am not opposed to consolidation at the proper time." He failed however to mention what he considered as a proper time.

In answer to this Charles H. Lyman pointed out that the proper time to take action is right now. He praised the efficient municipal departments of the city as well as the benefits obtained from its many improvements. In two blocks of Plainfield there is as much taxable property as in the whole of North Plainfield. The

BOROUGH WATER WORKS AND SEWERS PROMISED

Mayor Smalley Says Both the Public Improvements Can Soon be Provided.

MORE DETAILS LATER.

HIS HONOR WILL EXPLAIN AT NEXT BOROUGH COUNCIL MEETING.

Claims He Has a Feasible Way to Give Borough Water Works and Let Them Meet Cost of Maintaining Sewage System.

A scheme whereby it will be possible for the borough to obtain benefits of both a municipal water plant and a sewage system is engaging the attention of Mayor Newton B. Smalley at present. In a short time his plans will be unfolded and then the public will be permitted to judge of the feasibility of his project.

As yet His Honor declines to go into particulars concerning his ideas, but promises to furnish full facts and figures at the next regular meeting of the Councilmanic body, which will be held in April. He declares, however, that the profits derived from the municipal water works will pay the annual interest on a complete modern system of sewage.

In the course of his remarks at the Council meeting Monday evening, Mayor Smalley first broached the subject and it came as an incident to his talk concerning annexation and consolidation. In pointing out the fact that both Somerset and Union counties desire North Plainfield, he said that should the borough own its own water plant it would be wanted still worse.

He met the contention of those opposed to the policy of municipal ownership by declaring that wherever there had been a failure in the matter it was due to robbery on the part of those entrusted to carry on the plant. The reason that certain plants had not been successful, he said, is because they were not properly conducted. He emphasized his belief that a plant in the borough would be run on honest principles.

"I know where's there is any quantity of water," said he. There's no place in the State where water may be obtained so easily and cheaply as right here in the borough, he declared in a forcible manner. By installing a water plant he believed a way would be open for the borough to make other improvements without increasing the rate of taxation. In concluding his remarks he referred to the research made by the committee on municipal ownership on the subject and urged the committee to make use of that $100 which was appropriated for the expenses, should it be necessary.

REDUCED TO FIVE.

Fanwood Township Changes Number of Members on Its Board of Education.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 19—The annual school meeting was held in the assembly room of the school last evening. George R. Nichol acted as chairman and T. J. Nichol, the clerk of the Board of Education, as secretary. The annual report of the board showed the school to be in a flourishing condition. The financial report showed a balance in the treasury of $112, while the mortgage had been reduced to $5,000.

A resolution was introduced and carried to reduce the number of the Board of Education from nine to five members. This cut out the usual hour of election as the board now numbers five members by reason of terms of four expiring last night.

The appropriation of $4,000 for school expenses as estimated by the board was carried. The meeting was one of the smallest attended school meetings held in years. No strife or opposition was shown as in former years.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement is announced of Former Borough Councilman John G. McLaughlin, of Somerset street, and Miss Ada Belle Champlin, of Chicago, Ill.

CHOICE OF PRESIDING ELDER BETWEEN THREE

Newark News Enumerates Probable Candidates for Elder in This District.

NAMED BY THE BISHOP.

A SUCCESSOR FOR PLACE HELD BY REV. DR. SMITH, OF PLAINFIELD.

Choice Said to Lie Among Dr. Hurlbut, Dr. Muller, of Passaic, and Dr. Wilding, of Elizabeth—Other Appointments.

In connection with the approaching session of the Newark Conference of the Methodist church most interest, says the Newark News, is centred in the question as to whom Bishop Joyce will name to the presiding eldership of the Elizabeth district, Rev. Dr. G. W. Smith, the present incumbent, having served the full limit of six years. Naturally a number have been talked of for the place, but, according to those who watch conference affairs closely, the choice lies between three clergymen. As the appointment, however, is solely within the discretion of the presiding bishop, it is possible that some one whose name has not been considered beforehand may get the coveted berth.

Of the three clergymen referred to one is Rev. Dr. J. Lyman Hurlburt, of the Morristown church, who was formerly connected with the Mission Board in New York. This latter fact is being put forward by his friends as a reason why he should be appointed to the vacancy, claiming that his former position has fitted him for the executive duties of a presidng elder.

The menton of his name in this connection, however, has occasioned some surprise, as he was only appointed to his present charge a year ago. It is also reported that he does not care to be returned to Morristown; the reason has not been made known.

Another being talked of as Dr. Smith's successor is Rev. Dr. L. C. Muller, of the Passaic church. He has been in his present pastorate five years—the former time limit—and, it is understood, wishes a change. His reason is said to be that when he was first appointed to the church the time limit had not been abolished, and that, in consequence, it was supposed that at the end of five years he would have to be transferred. At the time that the term of Rev. Dr. S. P. Hammond, former presiding elder of the Newark district, expired two years ago, Dr. Muller was among those considered for the place.

The third person mentioned is an Elizabeth clergyman, Rev. Dr. G. C. Wilding, pastor of St. James' church, in which the conference will be held. He is popular and it is urged in his support that he is well acquainted with the conditions in the Elizabeth district.

The filling of this position will not be the only task for Bishop Joyce in making up the list of appointments. Places will have to be found for Dr. Smith, who, it is said, has not received a call from any church so far, and for Rev. Dr. Charles W. McCormack, who has resigned the presidency of the Centenary Collegiate Institute at Hackettstown and is desirious of returning to pastoral work. There are also a number of other clergymen who will have to be looked after.

The reappointment of two five-year pastors in the Eliazbeth district has been asked. They are Rev. McCrea, of Grace church, Port Richmond, S. I., and Rev. J. C. Howard, of Kingsley church at Stapleton, S. I. It is also quite certain that Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of the First church, Plainfield, will be invited to return for the sixth term.

City Clearing Up.

The delay of the owners of the Sebring property in clearing up the debris on West Front street, led to action yesterday on the part of the street department. A gang of men was placed at work in the afternoon and removed the fire wreckage. The cost will be charged to the owners.

BOARD'S POLICY WAS INDORSED

School Trustees Re-elected at Annual School Meeting in North Plainfield Last Night.

THE APPROPRIATIONS.

While There Was Some Criticism of the Present School Board's Course, No Organized Opposition Developed—Annual Report of the President.

The annual school meeting of the borough was held in the High School building last evening, with a very large number of citizens present. The Board of Education was fully upheld in maintaining the present high standard of the school system.

A. V. D. Honeyman, E. A. Overton and Robert M. Fountain, members of the Board of Education, whose terms expired, were all re-elected for three years. Mr. Honeyman received 90 votes, Mr. Overton 85 and Mr. Fountain 92, while John Valiant received 18 votes and Elston M. French 6 The appropriations asked for were carried by large majorities. The sum of $14,900 was asked for teachers' salaries and current expenses, $1,400 for textbooks and supplies and $1,700 for the Manual Training School.

A. V. D. Honeyman called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock and Former Mayor Charles Place was elected chairman. Edmund Rushmore was chosen secretary. The tellers appointed to receive the votes for trustees were H. J. Martin, Sr., and George F. Brown, while John H. VanWinkle, Jr., and Charles S. Lee were appointed tellers to count the votes for the appropriation. The polls were opened at 8:20 o'clock.

Immediately afterward J. M. Bettman wanted to know what opportunity would be given to discuss the matters before the meeting. He thought all should have a fair chance in this respect before a vote was received. John Valiant and J. O. Osgood spoke in a similar strain. After some argument it was decided that President Honeyman should present his report at once. This report was listened to with deep interest on the part of all.

The report went into the subject of school affairs at much length. After stating that S. St. John McCutchen was likely to be reinstated as board president after his return from the south, it gave the figures as to the growth and facts as to the development of the borough school time during the five years past. It showed by the official reports that a greater percentage of children was being educated in the borough than in any of the cities or boroughs of the State whose reports had been examined; that the average of teachers' salaries was lower; that the per capita cost of children attending school was lower; and it recited all the recent numerous improvements. The actual cost to the borough of the manual training school above the cost if it were not installed was shown to be but $700 per annum.

After the reading of the report both Mr. Bettman and Mr. Osgood severely criticised the Board of Education for its management of the schools. Mr. Bettman said that he favored every pupil having a liberal education, but he opposed the introduction of fads, such as piano instruction.

Superintendent W. J. Wightman met Mr. Bettman's argument concerning instruction in music. He said that the teacher received $250 for her year's work, which consisted of playing at all entertainments, chapel exercises and instructing pupils in music. The State allows a certain sum for each teacher, which in this case is $200. The borough's expense for the teacher is $50 a year.

The report of Robert M. Fountain, as district clerk, showed the financial condition of the schools. The balance in the collector's hands at last report was $8,469.34 and that in the hands of the clerk 72 cents. There was received from the State $10,221.74, and from special school tax, $17,847.16; also a donation of $50 from a friend. The Manual Training fund showed a balance at last report of $565.05. There was received $50 from the sale of radiators and $600 in cash from C. W. McCutchen, as balance of gift. The total receipts were $37,804.96.

On the side of disbursement $29,804.83 was expected in the general school fund, and $3,170.20 in the Manual Training fund. The total disburse-

WARSHIP NAMED FOR JERSEY

NEW BATTLESHIP NOW IN PROCESS OF CONSTRUCTION.

New Jersey Represents Highest Attainment in Art of Battleship Building.

The five latest battleships, which were authorized by Congress and ordered by the navy department, are by common consent of the newspapers of the country known as the New Jersey class, despite the fact that in the government reports they have been designated the Virginia class. The contracts for building all of these five vessels, the New Jersey, Rhode Island, Virginia, Nebraska, and Georgia, were awarded in the same year, 1901. In the naval lists they are arranged in alphabetical order and might naturally be called the Georgia class ,but, on the other hand, the contracts for the New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Virginia were awarded on February 15, while that for the Georgia was not signed until February 18 and that for the Nebraska not until March 7. Among the ships first contracted for the New Jersey would take alphabetical precedence, however, and by the general choice of the American people the whole class is commonly designated by her name.

The vessels of the New Jersey class represent the highest attainment of the art of battleship building in the United States. They are larger, faster, and more powerful than the Massachusetts or the Illinois. The New Jersey, for example, which, with the Rhode Island is being built at the Fore River yard near Boston, will be 435 feet long, or nearly 100 feet longer than the Massachusetts. She will be seventy-six feet wide, as compared with the sixty-nine feet of the Massachusetts, and will have a displacement of 14,948 tons, as compared with 10,288 of the battleship that bears the name of the old Bay State. The New Jersey will have an indicated horsepower of 19,000, as compared with the 10,415 of the Massachusetts, and a speed of at least nineteen knots an hour, as compared with 16.20.

The Massachusetts carries four thirteen-inch, eight eight-inch, and four six-inch rapid-fire guns, a very powerful battery. But the New Jersey and her sisters will have four twelve-inch, eight eight-inch, and twelve six-inch rapid-fire guns, a very much more formidable armament.

The vessels of the New Jersey class now building will have the improved Krupp process armor, which will not be so heavy as that of the Massachusetts, but will give quite as efficient protection.

STORM IN THE COMMONS.

Debate on War Investigation Becomes Extremely Acrimonious.

LONDON, March 19.—The debate last evening in the house of commons on the motion of the Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, for the appointment of a select committee to investigate the whole commercial history of the South African war, including the contracts for the purchase of remounts, meat and forage and the contracts for freight and transportation, called out several acrimonious exchanges of remarks. Reginald McKenna, Liberal, commenting on the remount department, declared that widespread corruption in the horse purchases had been disclosed in almost every country on the globe.

Lord Stanley, financial secretary to the war office, interrupted Mr. McKenna with an angry denial of a specific charge regarding the purchase of horses in Spain. He said the statement was maliciously false and demanded proofs of the assertion made.

Mr. McKenna said he took his facts from the report of the comptroller and auditor general. The imputation of malice was wholly false, but it was only part of the bogus defense in which the government was then engaged. He quoted figures and claimed that they bore out his accusation.

Mr. Lambton, Liberal-Unionist, drew Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's fire by declaring that the leader of the opposition by his reckless language had taken from many people the consolation of feeling that their relatives who had died in South Africa had fallen honorably in the service of their country.

To this Sir Henry replied angrily, "I give the most complete and most circumstantial denial to every word the honorable gentleman has said."

This statement caused confusion in the house and cries of "Withdraw" But Sir Henry refused to withdraw his remarks, and Mr. Lambton said his language to Sir Henry referred to "methods of barbarism and similar talk about the concentration camps and other matters."

Mr. Norton, Advanced Liberal, joined in the attack on the government. He declared that the losses on transport of each column in South Africa amounted to from £70,000 to £100,000. When challenged regarding his authority for the statement, Mr. Norton said Mr. Brodrick, the war secretary, had ordered a departmental committee to investigate the matter and had then pigeonholed the evidence.

He was twenty-five years old and came from Utica, N. Y. He served with credit in the Philippines.

MILLION DOLLAR FIRE

Hoboken Pier, With Steamship and Lighters, Burned.

A HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IS FEARED.

Later Reports Say Sailors of the Burned Vessel Escaped—Chief Engineer Unaccounted For—New York Docks In Danger.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The pier of the Phœnix line in Hoboken was destroyed by fire last night. The steamship British Queen was totally destroyed, several lighters were burned, the fire threatened the Campbell stores, and for a time it looked as if the flames would reach the Holland-American line docks. The Maasdam of the latter line was towed safely into the stream.

Men who were on the docks and on the British Queen when the fire started assert there were many lives lost. They said that longshoremen were imprisoned about the ship and that some sailors sleeping in the forecastle of the British Queen did not get out.

The latest information, however, is that no lives were lost, though it is asserted that the chief engineer on board the British Queen is still unaccounted for.

The fire started at 3:34 o'clock near the end of the Phœnix pier nearest the North river, among cotton bales, with which the pier was covered. The flames ran in all directions until the whole structure, which was a wooden one, surmounted by a frame shed, was enveloped.

The steamer British Queen, owned by the Phœnix people, was tied to the south side of the pier, and the flames quickly leaped to her upper decks. These decks were covered with cattle pens, which, being built of light timber, were the means of at once spreading the fire over the steamer. There was no chance to cut her loose from her berth until about 11 o'clock, when tugs laid hold of her and got her badly burned hulk into midstream.

Her crew had a narrow escape. Captain Pattinson was not aboard, he having become ill yesterday and gone to a hospital.

In the same slip as the British Queen were a dozen or more lighters, cotton laden. These caught fire, and only one or two were saved, partially burned. The captain of the lighter Tonawanda saved himself, wife and child by pushing a cotton bale into the water, placing his family and himself on it and paddling into the river. The crew of the United States training ship Portsmouth got them ashore safely.

From the lighters the fire got into the Barber line pier. The steamer Heathburn of this line, just in from Hongkong with tea, was hauled out into the stream with fire spreading over her. At 11 o'clock half a dozen tugs were pouring water into her in an effort to put out the blaze. The captain, his family and the crew escaped.

South of the Barber line pier is that of the Rotterdam line. It began to blaze about 10:30 o'clock. At it was the big freighter Maasdam. The captain had steam up and soon had his vessel safely in midstream.

At 11:30 the fire on the piers and on the lighters left in the slips was under control. The Heathburn and several lighters were floating down stream all ablaze. The first estimates of the loss, necessarily hurried, follow: Piers, $300,000; British Queen, $400,000; cotton and lighters, $200,000.

About midnight Chief Croker of the fire department of New York city became alarmed over the safety of the piers on this side of the river. The burning barges from Hoboken were floating to this side, and the chief thought it best to get a large force of engines and other fire apparatus lined up along the river front near the American line and other piers, which are on the water front between Cortlandt and Murray streets.

Big Deal In Whisky.

CINCINNATI, O., March 19.—What is considered the largest single deal in whisky on record has been closed here. All of the holdings of the Tyrone distilleries of T. B. Rippy, near Lawrenceburg, Ky., including over 40,000 barrels, was bought by D. K. Weiskopf, western representative of the Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse company, for the National Distributing company of Cincinnati. All the goods are in the warehouses near Lawrenceburg, Ky.

Aid Asked For Destitute Farmers.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 19.—Governor Dockery has issued an appeal to the people of the state for aid for the farmers in the Ozark country, in the southeastern part of the state, who lost their crops in last summer's drought. "What is done," says Governor Dockery, "must be done quickly." Seed for the spring crop is most urgently needed, and the agricultural department has been requested to furnish this.

Buying Mines In Chile.

BERLIN, March 19.—The Frankfurter Zeitung publishes a letter from Darmstadt which says the Hessian ministry of agriculture is negotiating for the purchase of several nitrate of soda mines in Chile for the Agricultural Co-operative society of the duchy of Hesse. One mine has already been bought for 1,700,000 marks, and the purchase of another is intended for 1,500,000 marks.

Slave Dealers Killed and Captured.

MOZAMBIQUE, Portuguese East Africa, March 19.—The Portuguese troops captured 162 slave dealers and killed fifty others at Pemba Bay recently when the government forces attacked twelve strongholds of the slave dealers and liberated 700 slaves.

THE PRINCE AT HOME

Warmly Welcomed by His Brother, the Kaiser.

A PLEASANT AND RESTFUL VOYAGE.

Prince Henry Says He Would Be Ready to Return at Once to America For Just Such Another Trip.

CUXHAVEN, March 19.—The return of Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia to German soil was safely accomplished amid all the pomp and circumstance with which the prince's imperial brother had seen fit to mark the successful ending of Prince Henry's American mission.

The same good fortune of freedom from untoward incidents which characterized the prince's transatlantic journey continued until the end. The landing occurred during a period of brilliant sunshine after an overcast day.

The Hamburg-American line steamer Deutschland, from Cherbourg, having on board the prince and his suit, was first sighted at half past 5 yesterday afternoon. The German battleship Kaiser Wilhelm II. steamed down the roadstead to meet the Deutschland and returned escorting the big liner. The Deutschland tied up to the new stone quay and was the first ship to dock there.

Emperor William stood upon the quay surrounded by high naval and municipal officials. As representative of the American embassy at Berlin Commander William H. Bechler, the naval attache to the embassy, stood at the emperor's side.

The quay was decorated with the flags of all the states of the empire, and the thousands of spectators who covered the roofs of the great warehouses and the wide slopes overlooking the scene cheered wildly as Prince Henry walked down the gangway from the steamer. Emperor William kissed his brother upon both cheeks and shook hands with the members of his suit, saying a few cheerful sentences to each. In the meantime the guns of the squadron saluted.

Side by side his majesty and Prince Henry then passed down in front of the marine guard, which stood at salute. After this the marine guard passed in review, while the band of the imperial yacht Hohenzollern played the national anthem.

The passengers on the Deutschland crowded to the steamer's rail and cheered heartily during the ceremony. Some of the American passengers waved little American flags. Otherwise the stars and stripes were not flying.

After the inspection of the guard of honor and the veterans by Emperor William his majesty and his party, Prince Henry and his staff and Commander Bechler boarded a tender and, amid fresh salutes, music and cheering, proceeded to the battleship Kaiser Wilhelm II. Upon arriving there the crew of the vessel manned their ship to receive the royal personages.

The Kaiser Wilhelm II. weighed anchor at a quarter past 7 and started toward Kiel through the canal. A banquet was served on board the warship.

Before disembarking from the Deutschland Prince Henry again thanked Captain Albers for the comfort and kindness he had experienced on board the vessel and paid a high compliment to the ship and the seamanlike qualities shown in running her. The prince presented signed photographs of himself and scarfpins surmounted by crowns to Captain Albers, the first officer of the Deutschland and to Chief Engineer Barends.

Prince Henry, who looked to be thoroughly rested, wore a dark blue yachting suit with the Kiel Yacht club buttons.

Speaking of his American trip, the prince said:

"I was often tired, and I had to be careful of what I said publicly and privately. I saw and heard so much that I was sometimes tired out, but since my long sleeps on board the Deutschland I would be ready to return to America at once for just such another trip. This one has been so full of pleasure and instruction. It is a good thing to look upon another people face to face and form your own impressions. I want to say again that I am grateful for the cordial and generous manner in which the people and the president of the United States received me. You may be sure the impressions I received will be lasting."

Charged With Heavy Embezzlement.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Max C. Mayer, formerly a member of the firm of Rathborne, Mayer & Rathborne, has been arrested charged with the embezzlement of upward of $110,000 from the firm of Rathborne & Co., by which he was employed before being taken into partnership. Mayer got out of the firm last fall, and his peculations, which were committed between 1898 and 1900, were not discovered until about six weeks ago and then accidentally.

Kaiser's Picture Nearly Done.

BERLIN, March 19.—The portrait painter, M. Ferrari, who was recently summoned from New York by cable to paint a portrait of Emperor William, has nearly finished his picture, which is life sized and full length. M. Ferrari describes his majesty as a most patient sitter. The artist will return to New York in a fortnight.

Did Not Like America.

BERLIN, March 19.—Five hundred returned emigrants, disappointed with life in the United States, have passed through Berlin on their way to their old homes in Posen, the provinces of East and West Prussia and in Russia and Austria.

PRESIDENTIAL PROTECTION.

Senate Considers Measure to Punish Those Who Commit Assaults.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—For three hours yesterday the senate had under consideration the bill providing for the protection of the president of the United States and for the punishment by United States courts of those who commit assaults on him. Mr. Bacon (Ga.) opposed the bill, and Mr. Hoar (Mass.) and Mr. Mason (Ill.) supported it. Mr. Bacon's argument followed the lines of his speech delivered ten days ago. Mr. Hoar's speech was largely legal and constitutional. He maintained the right of the government to protect itself against assaults upon its sovereignty through the president. Mr. Mason made an attack upon anarchy and its methods and incidentally sharply criticised an amendment to the bill offered by Mr. Bacon. He denounced it as opening the door to special pleading for the benefit of assassins of the president. This drew Mr. Bacon's fire. He considered Mr. Mason's criticism a personal reflection on himself and resented it with heat. An explanation by the Illinois senator cleared the atmosphere.

Earlier in the day a lively debate was precipitated by the effort of Mr. Rawlins (Utah) to have printed as a document some Philippine correspondence. Eventually the matter was ordered printed as requested.

The general debate on the river and harbor appropriation bill in the house was enlivened by Mr. Hepburn (Ia.), who made his annual onslaught on the measure. Contrary to his usual custom, Mr. Hepburn found several things in the bill to commend, although some of his criticisms were quite severe. The other speakers were Messrs. Ball (Tex.) and Lawrence (Mass.), both members of the committee, and Messrs. White (Ky.), Thompson and Burnett (Ala.), who spoke in favor of improvements of interest to their districts. It was agreed that general debate on the bill should close today at 3 o'clock. Saturday, April 26, was set aside for memorial services on the late Representative Stokes (S. C.) and the late Representative Crump (Mich.).

WALLER'S TRIAL BEGUN.

Objection on Ground of Lack of Jurisdiction Causes a Halt.

MANILA, March 19.—The court martial appointed to try Major Littleton W. T. Waller and Lieutenant John H. A. Day of the marine corps on the charge of executing natives of the island of Samar without trial held its first session yesterday. Major Waller was represented by Captain Arthur T. Marix of the marine corps, Major Edwin F. Glenn of the army and Mr. Sutro, a lawyer. General William H. Bisbee presided.

Captain Marix pleaded that the court lacked jurisdiction, as marines cannot be tried by the army except when attached to that service, whereas Major Waller returned to duty with the marines in February, though the acts charged occurred in January, and consequently the army had voluntarily forfeited its right to a trial. The orders of either General Chaffee, Secretary Long or the president, Captain Marix asserted, were not sufficient to legalize the proceedings.

The court, after a lengthy consideration of the matter, decided that the point was well taken. General Chaffee is now considering the court's decision and probably will leave the final decision to the authorities at Washington. The court here in the meanwhile is held, awaiting orders.

Fatal Riot at Fort Morgan.

MOBILE, Ala., March 19.—In a riot which occurred between soldiers and civilians at Fort Morgan Michael Kuhn, a discharged soldier, was killed, and ten or fifteen participants in the difficulty were wounded. Some forty or fifty soldiers were drinking in a saloon called the Blue Goose, situated outside the reservation, when an altercation arose between a sergeant named Finnegan and an enlisted man by the name of Newby. In the fight that followed Kuhn attempted to aid Finnegan, but was struck with a knife and died in a few minutes, the knife having entered the base of the brain.

Mr. Cleveland's Birthday.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 19.—Former President Grover Cleveland, who is now the only living ex-president of the United States, was sixty-five years old yesterday. Mr. Cleveland spent the whole day at his comfortable home on Bayard lane with his wife and children. As he was confined to the house much of the winter on account of sickness he deemed it advisable, owing to the sudden change in the weather, to remain indoors and thus avoid any chance of another attack of illness.

Norfolk Strike Dying Out.

NORFOLK, Va., March 19.—The strike of the street car men has about died a natural death. There has been a cessation of demonstrations on the part of the strikers and their sympathizers. It is the general opinion that this was brought about by the conviction of J. W. Jenkins to two years in the penitentiary on the charge of attempting to wreck a car.

COAL MINERS MEET.

Anthracite Workers in Convention at Shamokin, Pa.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 19.—The most important convention of hard coal miners since that which resulted in the memorable strike of 1900 has begun here and is likely to remain in session until Saturday. The three anthracite coal districts, known technically as Districts 1, 7 and 9, United Mine Workers of America, are represented by over 600 delegates, the majority of whom presented their credentials. The delegations from Scranton and Wyoming regions were late in arriving, and the convention was not called to order until 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon.

President John Mitchell arrived from Altoona shortly before 11 o'clock and was met at the station by President John Fahey and Secretary George Hartlein of District No. 9. He was not accompanied by Secretary-Treasurer Wilson, the latter having gone to Huntingdon, W. Va., to preside over a convention of the bituminous coal miners.

President Mitchell has entirely recovered from the indisposition which overtook him in the west. The failure of the operators to meet the officials of the miners' union was the principal topic of discussion among the delegates prior to the convention. Many of them are insistent in their demand for recognition of the union, but the impression prevails that if other concessions are made by the operators the matter of recognition will be permitted to rest for the present. Ralph M. Easley of New York, secretary of the Civic federation, who came here yesterday, held a brief consultation with President Mitchell and left shortly afterward for New York. Mr. Easley and Mr. Mitchell both said the interview had no bearing on the situation in the anthracite region. The two are members of the conciliation committee of the Civic federation, and Mr Mitchell asserted that the consultation related to the Boston freight carriers' strike. The convention merely organized, and the proceedings were simply preliminary to the more important work to follow.

CANAL BILL PASSED.

New York Senate Favors $31,000,000 Proposition by a Vote of 27 to 15.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 19.—The Davis thirty-one million dollar canal improvement bill has passed the senate by a vote of 27 to 15.

Senator Brackett of Saratoga was present, but did not vote. Senator Raines, who voted against the bill, declared that his reason for not voting for the bill was that he refused to vote for any bill that would result in placing "the enemy," the Democratic party, in control of state affairs next fall, as this canal proposition would surely do. Senators Lewis and Malby spoke briefly against the bill. There was no debate whatever. The vote was as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Ahearn, Audett, Cullen, Cocks, Davis, Donnelly, Ellsworth, Elsberg, Foley, Fuller, Grady, Green, Hennessy, Hill, Marshall, Martin, McCabe, McCarren, McKinney, Plunkitt, Prime, Ramsperger, Slater, Sullivan, Trainor, Wiley and Willard—27.

Nays—Messrs. Ambler, Armstrong, Barnes, Feeter, Krum, Lewis, Malby, McEwan, Raines, Sherwood, Stewart, Stranahan, Thornton, White and Wilcox—15.

The Raines antisham hotel bill was also passed by the senate by a vote of 26 to 17, and the Slater employers' liability bill went through without opposition.

To Exclude Marconi System.

BERLIN, March 19.—Emperor William has issued an order as a result of recent tests in which he designates the Slaby-Arco system of wireless telegraphy for exclusive use in the German navy and between the coast signal stations. It is expected that the Slaby-Arco system will be exclusively used by the German merchant marine. It is said among electrical engineers here that the government is drafting a bill to regulate wireless telegraphy and tending to uniformity of service and that the effect of this bill will be to exclude the Marconi system from Germany.

Exclusion of Women Charged.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Mrs. J. Ellen Foster of this city has submitted to the civil service commission a protest against what she termed a deliberate and systematic exclusion of women from appointment in the government service. Henry B. Blackwell, representing the National Woman's Suffrage association, has made a similar protest, and the commission will consider the matter, though it is not yet decided whether it will take any action.

Three Killed by Exploding Boiler.

WAUSAU, Wis., March 19.—Three men killed, the entire mill wrecked and one man injured was the result of an explosion in Wheeler Gavitt's sawmill, near Callon, a village eight miles east of here. The explosion was of such terrific force that it hurled pieces of machinery and parts of the mill 300 yards, and the remains of the dead men were found in sections in different parts of the yard.

Two Veto Messages.

FRIENDS OF CUBA WIN

Vote In Republican Caucus Stood 85 to 31.

WAYS AND MEANS PLAN ADOPTED.

Reciprocity With the Island Limited to December, 1903—Proposition of the Beet Sugar Men Defeated by a Vote of 57 to 79.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The first test vote in the Republican caucus on the Cuban sugar question came last night on a motion by Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee that the previous question be ordered and a vote taken on the propositions before the caucus. The motion was carried—78 to 56. A vote then followed on the proposition of the beet sugar men that a rebate be given Cuba on articles imported from that island, and it was defeated—57 to 79. A vote followed later on the ways and means 20 per cent reciprocity proposition.

The ways and means proposition for reciprocity with Cuba to the extent of a 20 per cent reduction of duties, modified by the Sibley amendment limiting the lifetime of the reduced rates to December, 1903, was adopted by the Republican conference by a vote of 85 to 31.

The Republican members of the house of representatives met in general conference to consider the Cuban tariff question, this being the fifth gathering held for the purpose of seeking to reconcile the differences existing on this subject. About 140 members were in attendance, including Speaker Henderson, Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee and others who have figured prominently in the contest.

Representative Overstreet (Ind.) proposed at the outset that the discussion be limited to an hour on each side, saying the arguments on the subject had been thoroughly exhausted and the time had come for action. This view was approved by the conference, with a reservation that the agreement did not necessitate a vote at the close of the two hours.

Chairman Payne made a statement of the difficulties encountered by the arbitrating conference which has been seeking for several days to bring the two elements together. He frankly confessed that nothing had been accomplished, as each side had adhered firmly to its original position. Mr. Payne said the position of the ways and means committee now was in effect that presented by Mr. Sibley at the last conference—namely, for 20 per cent reciprocity limited to December, 1903.

Representative Dick (O.), one of the conferees of the element opposing the ways and means committee, concurred with Mr. Payne that no progress had been made by the arbitrating body toward reaching a solution. At the same time Mr. Dick said he was still hopeful of an ultimate agreement, and he urged deliberate action in order that harmony might prevail in the end. Mr. Dick closed by presenting resolutions representing the views of the conferees who had represented the element opposing the ways and means committee as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this conference that the committee on ways and means be directed to report to the house a bill for the relief of Cuba substantially embodying the following provisions: That the president be authorized to enter into a commercial agreement with the government of Cuba when the same shall have been organized and established whereby, on account of the relations which have existed between the United States and Cuba since 1898 and in consideration of such reduction of duties as shall be satisfactory to the president on goods, wares and merchandise, the growth or product of the United States imported into Cuba, he shall agree to pay each year for three years to the government of Cuba a sum of money equivalent to 20 per cent of the duties collected and paid into the treasury of the United States on goods, wares and merchandise the growth or product of the island of Cuba imported into this country."

Representative Lacey (Ia.) supported the ways and means committee proposition, pointing out that the farm interests of his district would reap benefits by Cuban concessions, which enlarged the market for farm products.

Representative Hepburn (Ia.) made a somewhat satirical speech as to the relief which the proposed reciprocal plan would give to Cuba. He declared that, whereas Cuba's prospective production was 5,000,000 tons of sugar a year, by imposing our immigration laws upon them and limiting the labor required for the full development of their resources we were restricting their productive capacity to 800,000 tons annually.

The debate continued for some time, and at its close votes were taken, as recorded above.

THE HEARING AT TRENTON.

The efforts to block the Greater Plainfield movement on its appearance before the judiciary committee of the State Senate met with complete failure. The hearing before that committee on the three bills, designed to bring about the much desired coalition of interests of the two communities, Plainfield and North Plainfield, showed an overwhelming feeling favorable to the project. Representative men of city and borough, with no selfish interests to prompt their actions, gathered to protect the measures from the attacks of the opposition. This opposition failed, in a remarkable degree, to assume the strength and importance which had been claimed for it. Only three voices from the borough were heard against the bills, in their present form, and they objected solely on the ground that there was no provision made for a referendum in the question of changing the county line. The rest of Somerset county was singularly silent.

On the other hand, distinguished citizens of borough and city joined in advocating the measures. One after another, they arose to explain some beneficial feature or aspect of the project. Unanswerable arguments for the union of the two communities and the changing of the county lines, so as to make this union practicable, were advanced. Many others, prominent in the adjoining municipalities, were there, lending their silent but by no means insignificant support to the proposed union.

The Daily Press is able to present to its readers in this issue a complete and impartial account of the proceedings at the hearing in Trenton yesterday afternoon. It will repay every person in the city or borough to read and weigh carefully the arguments there presented. A thoughtful study of them cannot fail to convince any fair minded and disinterested person that the time has come to bring about the long talked of "Greater Plainfield" as a part of the county of Union. Should the Senate, in its wisdom, pass these bills, in either their present form or with amendments which will not alter their general intent, the consolidation of the two communities in Union county, will become effective with the assent of the people.

There are some people who do not appear to appreciate the necessity of strict quarantine regulations in order to prevent the spread of contagious disease. If they were the only ones who had to suffer from their negligence, it would not be so bad but the health of the entire community is endangered. The only way, therefore, is to adopt severe measures to bring such people to a full realization of what their action means. One such case has already come up in the city court and a heavy fine was placed on the offender by City Judge Runyon. This act will undoubtedly serve as a warning for others who are inclined to look lightly on the mandates of the Board of Health.

There were not any unexpected changes made in the corps of borough officials at the first meeting of the Borough Council, Monday night. The Mayor made his appointments all of which were promptly confirmed by the Borough Council. It was a significant fact that no changes were made.

The State Legislature has settled down to business and the bills are beginning to be turned out of the legislative mill with the usual speed.

COUNTY'S SHARE IN BUILDING

SOMERSET FREEHOLDERS WILL PAY PART OF COST OF STONE BRIDGE.

New Bridge at Hub Hollow Will Be Built by a Millionaire Resident of Peapack.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 19—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders at a recent meeting voted an appropriation of $200 to be paid C. Ledyard Blair, the millionaire owner of Blairsden, a palatial summer residence at Peapack, on his rebuilding the stone-arch bridge at Hub Hollow, replacing the wooden structure that washed away and fixing the causeway below the dam. This work is all to be done under the direction of Messrs. Bunn, Philhower, Codington, Lutkins and Mobus, a committee appointed to oversee the job.

The smallness of the appropriation is due to the fact that Mr. Blair originally erected the stone arch bridge, and, its becoming damaged by high water so soon, he agreed to share part of the expense in rebuilding it. For that reason it was he received the contract for the repairs.

The Board has appointed Messrs. Logan, Hoagland (E. B. and R. W.), VanCleef and Lutkins to make a careful examination of the damage done to the big iron bridge's abutments below this place, and to determine the best way to repair the same.

Yesterday the Board met on the bridge over the South Branch at Woodfern. The recent high waters have done so much damage that the Freeholders are kept hustling from bridge to bridge in this county.

NEW BRIDGE AT PICTON.

Civil Engineer VanEmburgh Has Commenced Work of Staking Out.

Civil Engineer H. C. VanEmburgh, who has already done much work for the trolley company, has commenced the work of staking out for the erection of a bridge to be built over the track of the Lehigh Valley Railroad at Picton, thus obviating the existing trouble of transferring trolley passengers at that point. The bridge will be an iron girder one with a one hundred foot span, and a trestle three hundred feet long on one side and four hundred feet on the other.

The elevation at the highest point will be twenty-seven feet and will begin at the point of curve at the line of Westfield and Clark townships. It is believed that the bridge will be completed in May.

Peter Bowers, of Warrenville, is detained at his home with severe injuries, the result of an accident which occurred Monday morning. He and his two sons were engaged in lifting a body of a wagon off the running gears, when the old gentleman slipped and fell. The wagon body fell on top of him fracturing two ribs and he received other internal injuries. He is now under the care of a physician.

DUNELLEN.

The annual school meeting and election of members of the Board of Education was held yesterday. The election was a very tame one, only three candidates being put up for the three vacant positions of school. The three elected were W. J. Hamilton, Theodore Day and Isaac J. Stites. All the appropriations asked for were unanimously passed.

Some time ago a large picture of Rev. Father Kerr was offered as a prize to the member of St. John's Catholic church raising the largest sum for the benefit of the church. The prize was won by Miss Katie Kelley, who raised $44.63 out of a total of a little over $70.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Sunday-school debt of the Baptist Sunday-school which was incurred during the year, 1901, has been entirely wiped out and the treasury of the school is in much better shape than it has been in some time. Much credit for this is due Rev. G. M. Shott, the retiring superintendent, and Mr. Vincent, who succeeded him. Early in January, both worked hard and a short time ago had the pleasure of knowing that debt was entirely cancelled.

The residents of the village have practically been without their usual evening western mail which should arrive about 7 o'clock. MR. OLHAUSEN MAY RETURN

RUMORED THAT HE MAY TAKE HIS OLD POSITION AND REPLACE MR. WENTZ.

His Departure May be Coincident With That of Mr. Warren—His Trouble With President.

The announcement last week of the resignation of Vice President Charles H. Warren, of the New Jersey Central, to take effect June 1, has ever since been the chief topic of interest and conversation in railroad circles, especially along the Jersey Central. The news of the resignation is not considered a surprise to those who have watched the situation since the Reading bought a control in the Central last year.

It is known that President Baer has not been in sympathy with Mr. Warren's management of the property. Considerable trouble has been experienced with trainmen who were not pleased with the radical changes which have been made. The most important and one that affected every employe, was the order of January 1, which stated that all employes were hereafter to pay their fare when travelling over the road. The injustice of this order was brought to the attention of the management in such a manner that it was rescinded before it took effect.

It is now believed that J. H. Olhausen, for a great many years, general superintendent, and who was succeeded by W. W. Wentz, Jr., Mr. Warren's brother-in-law, will be placed in his former position, and other changes will undoubtedly follow.

Mr. Warren is a native of New York State and was born in Carrolton in 1856. He has filled important positions on the Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, and, in 1888, was appointed by James J. Hill to the position of controller of the Great Northern system, and later became general manager. In June 1897, he came to New York as assistant to the president of the New Jersey Central, and was later made vice president. He practically filled the duties of general manager.

FEEBLE PROTEST AGAINST BILLS

residential portion of the borough must make up the taxes usually borne by a business district he declared. He remarked that the growth of the borough was due to the close proximity of the city Place it two miles from the city and it would be no larger than Dunellen.

Councilman Buckle related a little story of his experience as a taxpayer in both the city and borough, showing that his taxes had gradually been increased in the former though never in the latter. He made a ringing speech for annexation and consolidation and received the cheers of the assemblage.

When Chairman McCarter announced that Somerset county would be heard, Assistant Prosecutor F. J. Pope took the floor after it seemed as though no one would plead for that county's claims. He presented a petition signed by some residents of Somerville and also Bridgewater township. The point of his argument was that since the tax rate is higher in Somerset than in Union county that is sufficient reason why North Plainfield should not be detached inasmuch as there is a taxable valuation of $2,500,000 in the borough.

William J. Logan, director of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders, claimed that North Plainfield had received $2,000 more two years ago than she had paid into the county. His statement that he favored allowing North Plainfield to depart because it would make possible the election of Democratic county officers was greeted with laughter.

Some appropriate remarks of a favorable nature were made by Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., who expressed gratification over the little opposition. He suggested that all those who had come from the city and borough state their position. It was at this stage of the proceedings that Mr. Saunders made the remark that signatures to petitions were easily secured. In this matter he said those who were earnestly for the measure were large property owners while those opposed were mainly small property owners.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley was recognized by Senator McCarter and he said in part: "I am not here in my official capacity. I am here in favor of the bill. As a resident of Somerset county, I feel that the bill should be passed. Some of the statements made by the opposition are extravagant. I believe that a vote to change the county line would meet with favor today. One thing I wish understood and that is that I am not here for consolidation but for annexation."

After D. N. Groendyke had made a few remarks in advocacy of the measure Senator Charles A. Reed, of the Senatorial judicial committee, said that it was evident that there was some difference of opinion as to how the people view the subject. He asked the advocates of the measure whether they were willing to have a referendum clause attached to the annexation bill and both Former Mayor Saunders and Mayor Smalley readily agreed to such an amendment. When Senator Reed repeated the question to the opponents of the measure it was found that there was no one present to give an answer, inasmuch as the small delegation of objectors had departed to take an early train for home.

Dr. J. H. Cooley voiced his sentiments briefly as follows: "As a taxpayer I can say that I am in favor of going with the majority, but we want to have the right to vote on the subject." He then attacked the usefulness of the sewer system, to which Mr. Lyman made reply.

Senator Reed called attention to the fact that the committee had received numerous messages from prominent boroughites endorsing the propositon of annexation, but had not heard from those opposed. Among those who had dispatched their views in this manner were J. O. Osgood, Peter A. Emmons, J. H. Howell, Wallace Guilford, J. A. Alexander and E. L. Suffern.

"It seems strange that a member of the Borough Board of Education knew nothing about the bills coming up, when an advertisement and the bills as well were printed in the Plainfield daily papers," declared L. B. Woolston, president of the Plainfield Board of Trade. He charged that some people had signed the petition against without knowing its contents.

An important fact was brought out by George T. Rogers, who said that, excepting the mayor, not one person advocating the measure was a borough office holder, while on the other hand all those opposing it were either office holders or prospective office holders in the borough.

Hon. Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, made a plea on behalf of Somerset county. He said that it was perfectly clear why North Plainfield desires to leave and become part of Union county, but he submitted that the reason is a selfish one.

An able and thorough address was made by Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert. He held the undivided attention of the senatorial committee and the large crowd throughout his argument, which was replete with unanswerable reasons why there should be a coalition between the two municipalities.

Again Mayor Smalley took the floor, this time to deny the rumor that it was the politicians, who were interested in the proposition of annexation. Nearly everyone in Somerset county, said he, is a politician of some calibre and those who are not could never make a showing in any county. This caused a ripple of laughter.

Before the hearing closed Senator Reed took occasion to meet some rumors with flat denials. He said that there had been some insinuations regarding the bills. When the matter was broached the first time everyone knew how he stood. With much emphasis he declared that the allegation that the bills had gotten through the Assembly without the people hearing of them was a misstatement of fact. The citizens of the borough knew that they were going to be acted upon in the lower house, declared Senator Reed, and they had been printed in the Plainfield dailies and noticed in the City Council meetings. He said that he had not received a line in opposition to the bills and that their progress had been reported daily. "For a gentleman of the Borough Board of Education to say that he didn't know that the bills were pending is astonishing," said the Senator in conclusion. The hearing was declared over shortly before 6 o'clock.

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN.

Such is What the Health Board Promises Against All Offenders.

Michael Seader, the North Plainfield man who was fined $25 in the city court for violating a health ordinance, paid the amount yesterday and was released. The officials of the health board declare that such infractions of their code as committed by Seader have been frequent of late and in the future all offenders when arrested will be dealt with severely.

Princeton Club Dinner.

The annual dinner of the Princeton Club, of Union county, will be held at the Park Avenue Hotel tomorrow night. Hornets in Trousers' Leg.

A policeman in Winsted, Conn., John E. Dardis, had a hot time for a little while on a recent morning. As the weather was cool, he hurriedly put on a winter pair of trousers and left home on a run. Before he had gone two blocks, he felt several stings from his thigh to his ankle. Rushing into a clothing store to investigate, he discovered that a number of hornets had nested in one leg of his trousers.

Birds as Weathercocks.

All birds serve as weathercocks when they are perched on trees or bushes, as they almost invariably face the wind.

Then the Schoolmaster Wept.

A school-teacher in Frome, England, sent this to the father of one of his pupils: "I beg to inform you that in my opinion your son is suffering from myopia, and his case requires prompt attention." The next day the boy brought back this written request: "Mister please knock it out of Jim as I ain't got time."

What Edith Thought of It.

Little Edith was riding with her father on a very crooked road and after a long silence she folded her small hands in seeming resignation and said: "Well, honestly, I never saw such a curly road in all my life!"

A STING IN HIS WORDS.

The Manly Conduct of a Police Officer Who Might Have Retaliated for Abuse.

By far the most humiliating incident connected with the downfall of F. C Andrews, vice president of the City savings bank of Detroit, was the manner of his arrest, says a Chicago paper. One of the many offices held by Andrews was that of police commissioner. He was a stern disciplinarian, and had little pity for members of the force who violated the rules. Just before exposure of his $1,500,000 embezzlement was made Andrews had occasion to rebuke one of the city detectives for some alleged neglect of duty, and he berated the officer roundly, giving him what is known in police circles as a severe "dressing down." By chance it became the duty of this same detective a few days later to take the bank wrecker into custody. Policemen who knew of the terrible scoring the officer had received from Andrews looked for a bitter retaliation in the way of wordy recrimination, but nothing of the kind occurred. The officer was polite and deferential in making the arrest, almost as much so as if he were taking orders from his superior instead of conveying him to jail. "I'm really sorry to do this, Mr. Andrews," he said, "but it's my duty." There was a sting in these simple words, however, that the bystanders did not appreciate, for in the scoring the detective had received from Andrews while police commissioner great stress was laid upon the necessity of a policeman doing his duty without fear or favor.

CONFISCATION IN MOROCCO.

When an Official Dies His Property and That of His Relatives Reverts to the Crown.

It is a custom in Morocco that all the property of an official reverts at death to the crown. The logic which leads to such a result is simple, for the government argues that all fortunes thus accumulated consist of moneys illegally retained by the authorities, says Blackwood's Magazine. A governor when appointed is probably possessed of no considerable fortune. When he dies he may be a millionaire. Whence came this wealth? Squeezed most certainly from the tribes under his authority, and therefore amassed only by the prerogatives of the position in which the sultan had placed him. It has never struck the Moorish government that these great fortunes might more honorably be returned to the people from whom they were stolen. The result is entire confiscation to the crown, including often such private property as his governor may have been possessed of before his appointment, and not seldom, too, of the property of his relatives.

When the mighty fall in Morocco the crash brings down with them their families, even uncles and cousins and all connected with them, and it is not seldom that the sons of great governors, who have been brought up in the luxuries of slaves and horses and retinues of mounted men, have to go begging in the streets.

WAY TO SAVE MONEY.

Young Man Who Wishes to Marry Takes to Shabby Dress of the Professional Cut.

"Perhaps you have noticed that I am doing the artistic stunt in the matter of my attire and personal appearance," said the engaged young man. "I have come to the conclusion that if I am ever to get married I must save money, and the only way I can save money is by denying myself things I like.

"Now, I have always been fond of dressing well, but that is a thing of the past. Instead, I am doing the genius pose. Notice my unkempt appearance. I wear my hair long and am raising a beard. I never learned to shave myself, you know, and that in itself is a considerable saving. I wear shiny black clothes, a flowing Windsor tie and an old soft hat with a very broad brim—the broader the better.

"The people who do not know me may take me for a tramp," he said, with a smile, according to the Philadelphia Record, "but for their opinion I do not care. The people who do know me merely think I am becoming eccentric. In the meantime I am saving money, and that's the main thing."

Coffee Cigarettes.

They are the newest sort of smoke in Paris, and have been invented by intending benefactors of the human race who consider nicotine is deteriorating modern man. A correspondent explains that the new cigarettes contain not a compound made of the ground bean, as might be imagined, but the leaf of the tree, fine, coarse or navy cut, or manipulated after the birdseye method, according to taste. Coffee leaf smoking is said to be not only perfectly harmless, even if indulged in to the wildest excess, but to possess the property, deemed by the inventors an unquestionable advantage, of imparting to those who practice it an intense and lasting dislike for the flavor of tobacco. Lovers of the weed should beware how they trifle with the coffee cigarette.

Living in New York.

The question has often been asked how much it costs to live in New York city. It costs as much as one is willing to spend. One can live and be comfortable, too, on a surprisingly small sum. The rates are varying. The latest compilation puts the minimum figure at eight dollars a week for board. The maximum flight is terrific. In Madison avenue the high-toned boarding house mistresses ask $30 a week. Rooms alone can be had at all prices. You pay in advance for everything.

WAIST TRIMMINGS.

Guimpe For Evening Dress—Berthas of Lace and Ribbon.

There are some noticeable novelties in waist trimmings. The bertha is now more pronounced and the fichu deeper than formerly. First the upstanding collar was omitted, and instead the wide collar was substituted, and from this to the godet bertha or the flat fichu was a short step. The fronts of waists pouch a great deal, and frequently so do the backs. The fashionable rosette appears less isolated than before, for it is usually attached to a folded strap or band starting at the waist, and this keeps all the fullness of the waist well in front, for the strap is pulled up sharply when the rosette is fastened into place with its safety pin.

Low waists are softened by little boleros or oddly shaped collars of lace inset with narrow lace ribbon or spangled ornaments. Net, yellow valenciennes and alencon are the favorite "tuckers," to use on old fashioned expression.

Guimpes made to wear with low neck evening dresses are of all over lace or embroidered mousseline. They have transparent collars carefully boned.

The evening dress in the cut is made of pale pink chiffon embroidered with chenille and chiffon in delicate tints of pastel blue and gold, and it is studded with paste brilliants. It is made very plain, the waist being cut with a square decolletage and the sleeves being elbow length, with full ruffles of lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SPRING MILLINERY.

The Newest Shapes Are to Be Worn Off the Face.

Fashionable hats this spring will show a variety of flower trimmings. Roses will, of course, prove the most popular, but all kinds of rich foliage mingled with bows of pale colored ribbons will be very chic. Odd flowers in a variety of strange shades and with their petals jeweled and frosted are among the novelties now being offered for sale. Flowers made out of artificial pearls and huge grapes made out of white and smoked pearls are seen on many of the imported hats.

Light facings are not so much in favor as formerly. The tendency seems to be to have the entire brim of the hat of one shade. Sometimes lace figures are appliqued on the crown and brim. The drooping bow has apparently come to stay.

The newest millinery shapes are designed to be worn off the face.

The hat in the illustration is made of pearl gray tucked chiffon, trimmed with a ruffle of yellow lace and a gray and white bird. At the back a large velvet bow droops over the hair.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Quaint Rosette.

Rosettes will be used as trimmings for touches of color on the spring frock which has a penchant toward the picturesque. The proper making of these rosettes is worth a little study, for they appear a good deal on the skirts of new models in varying sizes and are used instead of buttons on bodices. To make them as buttons, ribbons about half an inch wide should be selected, plaited up very finely and stitched on to a small center (a plain flat linen button will do) round and round in three or four rows, with a stress or turquoise stud set in the middle to finish it off.

"She will not assent," he said, savagely; and then quickly, lest a natural inference should array her against him again, "I have purposely made myself so obnoxious to her that she would rather be a pauper than share a fortune with me. She has yet time to decide; for she is not 21; but I know her decision in advance."

"And then?"

"Then life with you, Louise, our child's happiness provided for. I do not count upon that fortune; the slaves will be free and all values upset; land will not be worth much in this state." Louise came close to him and laid her hand upon his shoulder.

"If I could only trust you," she said, sadly, "all might yet be well, for I have a way—"

"What do you mean?" She hesitated and, leaning over, whispered a sentence in his ear. He lifted his face quickly.

"How much?"

"Our own price."

"Our own price!"

"And revenge, Raymond, revenge for you."

"Revenge?—yes—well said. No price could be complete without that. And what a revenge! The assassin stabs his foe and is infamous; the man who slays his country's foe is a hero. Louise, you have made me happy, and you little know how chance has favored you. I am connected with the war department — I have friends around me; and, better, I have my facts in hand."

"You were planning then, too."

"I did not know what might arise, and I was determined to be ready; I was tired of doing the work while others reaped the benefit. But now comes the greatest difficulty—and that reminds me. How did you get here through the lines?"

"You remember the little farm in which I had only a life interest, the only thing we could not sell? I was warned that it would soon be within the southern lines and was sent there to wait. Jackson's army passed over it, and I came on to Richmond and delivered my messages." Holbin was astounded.

"Who do you know here?"

She shook her head. "Not a human being beside yourself. I placed my papers in a certain receptacle to which I had been directed. If there is an answer I shall find it in the same place at an appointed time." Holbin walked the floor in great excitement.

"I know both the place and the time," he said; "I took your messages; but there never would have been any answer except for this meeting. I alone can supply the information which is desired, and I shall not let it go through the usual channel. It is the chance of my life. I have facts that no other human being could have accumulated, facts of vital importance. My God, Louise! A million dollars is a small price."

"Give them to me," she said; "I will deliver them upon one condition."

"One condition? Name it."

"The price shall be paid to me." Holbin stood in deep thought.

"No," he said, as if dismissing some mental argument, "it is too dangerous a mission for any woman. Capture would mean for you certain death."

"My child!" she said simply; and then: "I shall find a way to get through."

"Then make the trip safely, and I swear to you I will surrender the child and come to you, too."

"Oh, Raymond, promises, promises! It would be inhuman to deceive me now."

"You will control the future if you deliver my information and collect the price." She knew him well enough to understand that this logic with him was conclusive.

"Then I go," she said, "but how?"

"I shall prepare a way," said Holbin.

But when he was gone Louise, free from the influence of his personality, began to feel all her suspicion and distrust returning. She reviewed calmly but bitterly his life with her; it had been a succession of deceptions and utterly selfish. She asked herself over and over what recourse would she have if he should slip away and leave her in Richmond, and gradually, as she considered his manner, she became convinced that he intended nothing more or less so far as she was concerned. The spirit which had sustained her during the past year returned, and she felt herself full of fight. Experience had given her better control of her nerves; her life, when away from Holbin, carried a more masculine note; most women who go to school in Washington acquire it. She had come to Richmond with the full intention of seeing Mrs. Brookin, forcing a settlement of her claims upon Raymond, and securing her child. Of success as to the latter she felt assured; the other was doubtful. In the hour after her last interview with Raymond it came to her as an inspiration that she now had a weapon in her hand that would beat down any guard, pierce any armor; for he had admitted his connection with the enemy and had a gigantic enterprise afoot. She had but to insist upon a settlement in advance and to threaten; but the pressure upon Raymond should come from his mother. She therefore determined to carry out her original intention, call on that lady, and have a plain talk. Her surprise was complete when at the moment that decision was reached the card of Mrs. Brookin was brought to her room—complete, because not only was the visit of this lady a most astonishing thing, but upon that card was a sign for which she was instructed to look in every instance—two periods following the name. The meaning of the two periods was that the visitor had a message to be sent by word of mouth only and that she might be trusted.

By what means the visitor knew of her Louise was not informed; but she had been given a name and directed to register under it, and she readily guessed. She at once said, after the formal greetings were over:

"I perceive, madam, that your mourning has reached the second period." The visitor moved her chair close and made a statement, carefully worded, of considerable length, and this Louise was required to repeat over and over until its main points were fixed in mind. It related to a cabinet meeting of the day before. Mrs. Brookin then offered a few comments upon the weather and the unfortunate war and would have arisen, but Louise detained her. She said, bending over her:

"You have a son in the war department who is in great danger, and his indiscretion has endangered you and our whole system—"

"Lower!—speak lower, for God's sake!"

"He has grossly deceived and wronged a woman named Louise, and has been rash enough to let her into his and your secrets."

Mrs. Brookin was almost unable to articulate; the other handed her a glass of water.

"Where is she—this Louise?" she asked then.

"Madam, she stands before you." Louise had then and there a part of her revenge; the elder woman, in spite of all her experience, gave way to a sudden panic. But only a few moments was she absolutely helpless. Habit and the calm face before her restored her presence of mind.

"What is it we can do for this woman who has been so badly treated? She has no cause to doubt me. Tell me how I may serve her." Her voice was calm and insinuatingly conciliatory.

"She demands a public marriage, madam. Until this year she has believed herself less than the legal wife of Raymond Holbin, though God knows she never intended to be less than that. She was his wife abroad, openly acknowledged as such, and now she has proof of that fact—absolute, undoubted proof of the highest character—affidavits of acquaintances, registers, letters addressed to her in his own handwriting and photographs. All this mass of evidence is properly certified to in duplicate, and she has one copy of each in the hands of her lawyers in Washington and one copy here. Madam, your son has lived with this woman as his acknowledged wife, and I am assured that under Virginia law she is his wife and would inherit his estate."

"Ah! She wishes money?"

"No. She wishes to have her child restored."

"Her child? Raymond's child?"

"Alas, madam, one word answers you—yes!"

"He has not told me this," said the mother. "It is all that he had left to tell; his life has been a great, a painful disappointment to me."

"It is likely that he has not told you other things. He is preparing for transmission information which he thinks is good for a vast sum of money; and there is the trouble, for I believe, as you sit before me, madam, that, having given me his sacred promise, his sworn promise to send it by Louise, join her later and right all her wrongs, he is really planning to desert her again. And in that event, madam, he would leave a desperate woman behind."

"What could such a woman do then? Who would believe her—a self-confessed spy?"

HORSES LIKE TOBACCO.

One Nag That Got to Be a Confirmed Chewer of the to Some Obnoxious Weed.

"You bet your life that horses love tobacco," said a horse owner to the man who was inclined to doubt his original assertion that horses were very fond of chewing tobacco, relates the Washington Star. "Don't they?" he asked the fat policeman who was listening to the argument. The latter assented, and the first speaker went on. "My old friend here," pointing to the policeman, "remembers that roan horse I used to have. Well, every morning when I went into the nag's stall she looked around at me as much as to ask if I had brought her morning chew of tobacco with me. I used to tease her by pretending I did not see her, but she would look around again and then begin to make a noise. After I would tease her awhile I would give her a good chew of tobacco, and she would be satisfied. Then I gave her the morning meal on top of that. The tobacco was somewhat stimulating, and whenever it is once started you may be sure you will have to keep it up. It prevents colic, and makes the coats of the animals sleek and pretty. I remember a horse I used to have that I frequently gave a chew of my tobacco. One day I pulled a long plug of the weed out of my pocket, and after taking a chew myself handed it over to the horse. The animal tore off a big chew and was rolling it around in his mouth when I looked around and saw an old woman standing there. 'You ought to be ashamed of yourself,' she said. 'Isn't it bad enough to chew tobacco yourself, without teaching the poor beast to contract the vile habit?' I didn't answer her, as I felt certain that the horse was enjoying himself, while the woman fussed."

THE ABYSSINIAN CALENDAR.

Names of the Days and Years Are Those of Saints—Method of Reckoning Time.

A fearful and wonderful thing is the Abyssinian calendar. Nearly every day is a saint's day, and is known by its proper name, and not by its date. For instance, if you ask an Abyssinian whether a certain thing happened on the 14th of Hadar (the equivalent of our November 23), he will not understand what you mean; but if you say: "Was it on Abuna Aragawe (the name for that day) that you stole that sheep?" a comprehending smile will overspread his handsome and intelligent features.

The year is divided into 12 months of 30 days each, and at the end of the year, to make up the 365 days, are added five days, called "Quagme." Each year in succession is called Matthews, Markos, Lukos, Johannis. Matthews, Markos and Johannis have each a "Quagme" of five days, but Lukos, or leap year, has a "Quagme" of six days. The Abyssinian year begins on our September 11, and, although dating as we do from the birth of Christ, they are nearly eight years behind us in time—September 11, 1900, was in their calendar 1st Maskaram, 1893. Their method of reckoning the hours of the day is also peculiar, to our notions. They count the day as beginning at sunrise, and not at midnight, as we do. Thus our seven a. m. is their 12 o'clock day; eight p. m. is their one o'clock day, and our six p. m. with us would be two o'clock night with them, and our four a. m. would be their ten o'clock night.

BIRDS FROZEN TO DEATH.

Mudhens by the Hundreds Caught by Sudden Cold Snap on a Lake in Washington.

A very singular incident was noted in the neighborhood of Loomis, Wash., as a result of a recent and sudden cold snap. Some four miles above Loomis is a large, beautiful mountain lake and among the native fowl that collect on the lake are many mudhens, a homely and useless member of the web-foot family so common all over this country as to be well known to every sportsman. The nature of the bird when flushed is to fly, or flop, along the surface of the water.

For the first time that it has ever been noticed the mudhens have remained upon the lake this late in the season. The recent cold weather was inaugurated with a stiff and bitter gale, churning the lake into many waves. As the birds flew along the surface, striking the water, the ice formed upon them so rapidly that they lost the power of locomotion and 200 or 300 of them were caught in the rapidly forming ice and frozen to death. This may not be an uncommon circumstance, says a Loomis special to the Seattle Times, but it is the first time it has ever been seen by the residents of this locality.

Royal Mascots.

Most of the sovereign houses of Europe possess one or more relics which they regard as mascots. The house of Bonaparte possesses the boots and little hat of Napoleon I. The Hohenzollerns preserve piously the gray leather breeches worn by the Burgrave Frederic when he entered his marquisate of Brondenburg. There is also at Sans Sousi the cane which Frederick the Great carried at the battle of Rosbach. The Romanoffs cherish the carpenter's tools of Peter the Great, and the fetish of the Hapsburgs is the shoe which the horse of Count Rudolph cast at the moment when the envoys from the reichstag announced to him his election as German emperor.

Twins in Lancashire.

Lancashire boasts of producing more twins than any other county in the United Kingdom. During the past five years 668 pairs of twins were born annually in that county. Of this number Liverpool contributed 110 and Manchester 79.

FLEES FROM HAREM.

Cincinnati Girl Has a Narrow Escape in Persia.

Fights the Amorous Shah More Than Two Years and Finally Runs Away—Thrilling Story or First-Class Lie.

Emily Barnaby, a Cincinnati girl, has just arrived at Paris from Tabreez, Persia, after a most extraordinary adventure.

She was among a lot of beauties selected at Paris two years ago by the shah for various offices at his court and sent ahead to Teheran under escort to await his pleasure.

Emily then was a destitute student of music and had applied to the recruiting Persian minister upon the advice of a friend, also an American, who had already accepted an engagement. Emily was duly presented to the shah, who gave a short, unintelligible order to his minister, and the latter told her she was engaged.

She left Paris three days later with nine other girls, mostly French, in charge of two old English shrews who have been long attached to the shah's household.

She remained at Teheran four months before she saw the sovereign. Then the two American girls were unexpectedly summoned at midnight and asked if they would entertain the shah, who was troubled with sleeplessness. The potentate was found in his bed surrounded by a crowd of attendants, among whom was a physician, who spoke English. Emily's friend played the piano, while Emily sang and danced. The shah, at first languid, soon became interested.

The next day Emily alone was summoned. Before being introduced she was dressed in oriental gauzes by the same two English shrews, who complimented her on the fact that the shah had taken a great fancy to her.

At the second interview the shah tried to express his fondness too warmly and Emily vigorously objected. When she finally broke down and cried the shah's anger was mollified and he ordered that she be taken to her apartment after sending her a considerate message, accompanied with valuable presents.

BROKE DOWN AND CRIED.

Thereafter she saw the shah almost daily, being his favorite entertainer. She says she learned to like the shah well except when a tender fit seized him.

Finally the shah grew ugly because of the girl's steadfast refusal to become a member of the royal harem, and she, following the advice of a French physician, ran away from the palace. She had in Teheran three days and then the physician's servant took her, disguised and veiled like an oriental woman, to Tabreez, where she lived secretly with kind French nuns.

Four months ago Emily married a French merchant, rich, handsome and a Catholic convert. But the shah's emissaries finally locating her, she escaped, finding the country unsafe.

The young couple joined a Russian caravan, reached the Black sea and sailed from Batoum for Marseille aboard a Greek vessel, which stopped at Trebizond.

There Emily's husband went ashore, saying he would take just a short stroll. He never returned, and his wife does not know whether he was murdered or had deserted her. Being afraid to risk herself alone in a strange city, she continued her voyage and finally reached Paris.

She tells the correspondent for the Chicago Chronicle she has most of her husband's wealth—jewels, quite a cargo of precious rugs and more than $1,000,000 in money.

Hen Clothed in Flannels.

An old hen belonging to Mrs. M. A. Stormont, says the Kirkwood (Ill.) Leader, began laying late in the fall and was so persistent that she laid 26 eggs before she concluded to stop. During all this time she had neglected her moulting, and when she finally got ready to shed her feathers it was in the middle of winter, but the old ones had lost their life and were dry and harsh, consequently there was no other way but to make the change. In a short time she was almost bare and suffering from the cold. The Misses Stormont, seeing her predicament and appreciating the value of her service rendered, determined to come to her rescue. They accordingly took the old hen into the house, took her measurements, made her a suit of flannels to fit, and then released her. Her ladyship took the matter very philosophically, and strutted off to her companions, apparently very comfortable in her new suit.

SUIT OVER A FISH MARKET

JURY FAILED TO AGREE AS TO TREATMENT RECEIVED BY PURCHASER.

W. W. Stratton Claimed Profits of Place Had Been Misrepresented to Him.

A jury composed of twelve men failed to reach an agreement yesterday after hearing the testimony of both sides in the contract case of W. W. Stratton against L. S. Pocock, tried in Justice Hand's court.

As brought out at the trial the facts of the suit are that Stratton purchased from the defendant the fish market at 230 Park avenue. It was represented, Stratton alleged, to be paying $10 weekly but he found after conducting it for two months that he was losing money. Stratton also declared that the fixtures sold him as part of the market did not belong to Pocock.

The defendant alleged that he never claimed the fixtures to be his and that they were not included in the sale. He produced a witness to show that the place was profitable if conducted properly.

The jury went out at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and remained out until 2:30. It returned with the disagreement verdict but it is understood that it stood nine to three for no cause of action. Those composing the jury were B. W. Hand, foreman, H. A. Bodine, John Ross, Henry Paul, W. W. Coriell, W. J. Ford, Cornelius vanHerwerden, J. A. Smith, H. C. Corsa, J. H. Kingston, H. D. Thompson and Abram VanCleef.

To Abandon Old Station.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad announces that its old Mauch Chunk station will be abandoned and all passenger business in future will be conducted at the station that has been heretofore known as East Mauch Chunk. This move has been contemplated for some time, owing to the extreme curve at the old station, which required a helper to start heavy trains out of the station. The present station at which passenger trains stop at Mauch Chunk is more conveniently located to the city than the old one.

HOSPITAL REPORT ISSUED

CONTAINS SOME VERY INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE HOSPITAL.

Plans for New Building Are Advanced Sufficiently So That the Ground Can be Broken June 1.

The report of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital for 1900-1901 is issued today and contains much information of interest. It includes a list of donations of money and other necessary articles during the past year and tells of the work which has been done. The report is belated, as it bears date of June 1.

An interesting item is that comparing the number of patients and sources of income of last year with that of ten years ago. There is an increase of 361 per cent. in the number of indoor patients and eleven hundred and forty-seven per cent. in the number of dispensary patients. In the same years the individual money donations have increased but fifty per cent. and the church donations have decreased thirty per cent. The treasurer has received from this city and the borough cash donations from only one hundred and twenty people.

It is said that the plans for the new hospital are now sufficiently advanced so that ground can be broken on the new site as early as June 1.

JURY GAVE VERDICT.

It Was Against the Plaintiff in Jensen-Taylor Case.

The contract case of Charles Jensen against William Taylor, of Chimney Rock, tried yesterday afternoon before Justice Smalley and the following jurors: Edward Francis, Louis Hummer, Ira Mundy, J. M. Coddington, of Reed & Coddington, represented the defendant.

WHY GOVERNOR OBJECTED

WOULD NOT SIGN GREATER PLAINFIELD BILLS WITHOUT REFERENDUM.

Boroughites Appeared Before Him This Morning and Were Given a Favorable Reception.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

March, 19—A delegation of citizens from North Plainfield conferred with Governor Franklin Murphy this morning on the Greater Plainfield bills, which are in the Senate awaiting passage. The delegates were of different political faith but all enthusiastic supporters of the annexation measure.

Governor Murphy explained that he had been inclined to look with disfavor on the plan in its original shape. When the intent and the reason for the bills were made clear to him, it was evident that his opinion changed. Assurance is now given that the measure with a referendum attached will meet with the hearty sanction of the chief executive. After the conference the members of the committee expressed themselves as being highly satisfied with the outlook of the conference. Mayor Newton B. Smalley, William L. Saunders, B. A. Hegeman, Jr., and Elston M. French composed the borough committee.

Monkey Flagged the Train.

"Do you see that little gray monkey? Well, he's a hero," said John Lover, one of the keepers of the zoo, as he put his hand tenderly in between the bars of the cage. "That monkey used to belong to an organ-grinder, who one day got full and fell in a drunken stupor on the railroad track between Manayunk and Bala. The monkey sat on the organ beside him, waiting patiently for him to come to. Suddenly there was a distant whistle. It was an express train, still half a mile away, but advancing rapidly. With almost human intelligence, the monkey tore the red bandana handkerchief from its master's neck, leaped boldly to the middle of the track, and flagged the train. The engineer, just in time, pulled up, and could hardly believe his eyes when he saw that he had been flagged by a monkey. Don't talk to me after this," ended Lover, "about the lack of intelligence in apes." The keeper didn't even smile as he told the affecting tale.—Philadelphia Record.

The Romance of Gum Gathering.

In Yucatan the gathering of the famous chicle chewing gum is an occupation apparently full of romance, not unattended with considerable danger. Bands of men, known as "chicleros," go into the deep forests, under experienced leaders, armed with heavy knives of special make, pails and ladles for the sap, and each one provided with a strong rope, more than 80 feet long, to be used in climbing the lofty sapota trees from which the gum is procured. The sap flows from gashes cut in the bark. A camp of chicleros, where the sap is boiled, resembles in some respects an American maple sugar camp. After months of work the chicleros return from the forests laden with brick-like blocks of aromatic gum. The finest gum, known as "sicte," is collected from the fruit of the sapota, mostly by the native women, and is seldom exported because it is too well liked at home.—Youth's Companion.

Samoa's Official Chaperon.

The chaperon is becoming extinct over here, but she is an important person in Samoa. She is the constant companion of the taupou, or village guide, who is appointed to entertain strangers and show them the various sights. Each village in Samoa elects a girl for this office and it is necessary that she should be the daughter of a chief. Her house is provided for her by the village and she is surrounded by a court of native girls. No man who lives in the village is allowed to enter the sacred precincts, and the taupou goes nowhere without an elderly woman. If the taupou resigns her office the chief can appoint another damsel of high degree.—London Chronicle.

Tree-Planting on the Prairies.

In the opinion of Mr. William L. Hall, of the division of forestry, the time has come for an extensive development of forest plantations in the middle west. It is now known that the area for profitable tree planting is much larger than ten years ago it was thought to be. The demand for timber has also increased, owing to the rapid diminution of the supply of natural timber in the Mississippi valley. Mr. Hall believes that 500,000 acres of timber annually planted would be inadequate to meet the demand.—Youth's Companion.

OLD PIANOS MADE NEW

By Leo H. Battalia.

It is a pleasure to introduce Leo H. Battalia to the people of Plainfield because he comes highly recommended by most famous piano factories and tuners in the United States. Mr. Battalia is not simply a repairer of pianos. He renews all worn-out parts of piano hammers, actions and felts without removing the instrument from the house. He simply removes the action of the piano to his factory, 884 East 134th street, New York, where the old hammers, felt and actions are duplicated with new ones, so as to insure durability, mellow tone and firmness of keys at a trifling expense. He has renovated hundreds of instruments of all kinds of makes, and has received numerous testimonials throughout the States for his fine work.

During Mr. Battalia's long experience as a piano rebuilder, he has handled all the most reputable makes and in many instances found good instruments exchanged for a trifle when the defective parts could be renewed and the piano transformed as good as when new. After years of study and labor, he has accomplished a method in restoring mellow tone, stopping the squeaking and rattling keys, not by repairing but by renewing the action and hammers without removing the piano from the house. The action is the only part that he requires, the case being thoroughly seasoned, its value being ten times better for tone than a new instrument, and after the action is inserted back in the old case, the player will find a great volume of tone seldom found in a new piano.

Below is an indorsement which should have weight:

Smith College of Music, Northampton, Mass.

L. H. Battalia—Dear Sir: Having had an opportunity, through your kindness, of examining specimens of your work in renovating old pianos, I wish to say that your work surpasses my expectations, and is evidently thoroughly scientific, while the results are amazing. I have taken pleasure in recommending you to any whose instruments are showing the marks of age and hard use.

Sincerely yours,
Benjamin C. Blodgett,
Instructor of Music.

SHAKEUP ON THE CENTRAL

W. G. Besler Has Succeeded C. H. Warren as Vice President and General Manager.

C. M. BURT MAY GO.

President Baer is Making a Number of Changes—Rumored That W. C. Hope Will be the General Passenger Agent in Place of Mr. Burt—Mr. Warren is West.

Rumors of changes in the management of the New Jersey Central were verified yesterday by the announcement of the appointment of W. G. Besler to be vice president and general manager in place of Charles H. Warren, resigned. It is believed that this is the first of series of changes to be made in the near future.

Mr. Besler has been general superintendent of the Philadelphia & Reading, with headquarters at Reading, Pa., for several years. He is considered a capable and painstaking official. It is believed that he will be popular with the trainmen, which does not seem to have been the case with Mr. Warren.

Another report is to the effect that C. M. Burt, now general passenger agent of the New Jersey Central, who has held the position since the death of H. P. Baldwin, will soon resign to make room for W. C. Hope, who was Mr. Baldwin's chief assistant. General Superintendent W. W. Wentz, Jr., brother-in-law of Mr. Warren, is very likely to go as well.

To all intents and purposes the New Jersey Central and Philadelphia and Reading Railroads are one corporation, although operated under distinct charters. George F. Baer is the president of both companies, and it is said that his policy is to replace many of the heads of the departments of the Central with employes of the Reading. Exactly where the shakeup will end, employes of both roads hesitate to predict, and no information can be obtained at the offices of the company.

Charles H. Warren is now in Chicago, where it is said that after an extended vacation, he is to enter the employ of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad in a high official capacity. He refuses to be interviewed.

SOMEONE SHOUTED "RAUS."

Then the German Understood He Could Leave Court Room.

Jacob Schmidheim, a good natured German, got an American jag on last evening and was arrested by Patrolman Myers. This morning, when arraigned in the city court, he escaped a fatherly lecture from City Judge Runyon because the Cadi wasn't up in German and Schmidheim had neglected to brush up his English. Sentence was suspended but the prisoner didn't know he was free until a bystander shouted "raus." His face lighted up with a genial smile and he made all haste to obey orders.

ASKED TO REMAIN.

Unanimous Call Extended to Rev. Dr. Snodgrass by the First M. E.

An unanimous invitation was extended to Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, at the meeting of the quarterly conference of the church held in Vincent chapel last evening, to continue in charge of the church for another year. This will be the doctor's sixth year at the church and the congregation is anxious to have him remain here.

Two Lathes From Potter's.

The department of industrial mechanics of Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y., is indebted to the Potter Press Company through David E. Titsworth, for two lathes, desirable and useful pieces of machinery for that department of instruction of which George A. Main, formerly of this city, is foreman.

Settled Amicably.

The contract case instituted by Ralph W. Christie against Edward Apgar in Justice Mosher's court has been settled amicably. William G. DeMeza represented the plaintiff.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement of Miss Lottie B. Cockley, daughter of Mrs. S. A. Cockley, of West Front street, to Jesse P. Perrine, of this city, is announced.

—Monday, March [illegible] the Plainfield Building and Loan Association will elect directors at its annual meeting and open a new series of stock.

CARPENTERS STRUCK.

Because Master Plumber on New Silk Mill Had Helper Who Was Not Member of Union.

There is trouble among some of the mechanics who have been building the new mill for the Watchung Silk Company. The outbreak occurred yesterday, when the carpenters refused to continue work unless Michael Armstrong, the plumber, removed a helper from the building.

Mr. Armstrong is a master plumber and claims he has the right to employ a helper. In this case the young man is an apprentice and is not entitled to membership in the Union. However, the carpenters quit and refused to go to work this morning. The other mechanics, including the masons and painters, are still at work.

The company has given A. A. Stryker, who has the contract for the carpenter work, three days' notice to resume work. If he fails, other men will be engaged.

BASEBALL AT WESTFIELD

BOOM IN THE NATIONAL GAME HAS ALREADY REACHED THERE.

Plans of the Westfield Nine for the Coming Season—The Games Now Scheduled.

The coming baseball season in Westfield promises to be a most interesting one. The management of the Westfield Baseball Association promises good ball and plenty of it. The visiting nines will rank with the foremost in the State, and the patrons of the sport will have no reason to complain of Westfied's team.

The nine for the coming season has been arranged with the exception of a short stop. The other players are: Captain Mallen, centre field; Burt, catch; VanZant, pitcher; McGrath, first base; Cary, second base; Lenz, third base; Beck, centre field; Mc Manus, left field.

The season will open Saturday afternoon, May 3, at the Recreation Park grounds, when the first scheduled game will be played with the Cuban Giants. The other games for the month are: May 10, O. N. T.; May 17, St. Xavier College; May 24, N. Y. A. C.; May 30, A. M., Carterets; P. M., Manjer, A. C. of Brooklyn.

The schedule for June and July is as follows: June 7, Knickerbocker A. C.; June 14, Jersey Cubans of Passaic; June 21, Brooklyn F. C.; June 28, Marion F. C. of Jersey City.

There will be no afternoon game on July 4, on account of the big race meet to be held by the Fair Acres Driving Club at the pretty track in Westfield. There will, however, be a morning game, which has not as yet been arranged. On July 1 the visitors will be the Manjer A. C. of Brooklyn; July 19, Pearsall A. C. of Greenville; July 26, Everett College of New York.

The management has decided to arrange no dates for August and September until July, when the schedule for the balance of the season will give preference for games with the Equitable Life, the Marions of Perth Amboy, Watsessings, Irvingtons and teams having made the best showing during May, June and July, in games played with the Westfield team.

Tire Blew Up.

The sudden explosion of his front bicycle tire caused Herman Prell, of East Sixth street, to take a forcible tumble on East Front street, near Richmond, Tuesday evening. The deflated rubber became entangled in the wheel and Prell was thrown on his head. He received a generous supply of cuts and abrasions which required the services of a physician to fix properly. The wheel was not harmed.

MUSIC AND REPAST AT EASTER SUPPER

Successful Affair Given at the Seventh-Day Baptist Church Last Evening.

THOSE WHO ASSISTED.

AN EXCELLENT SUPPER WAS SERVED EARLY IN THE EVENING.

Chorus of Women's Voices Sang Several Selections—The Programme Also Included Instrumental Solos and Recitations.

The inclement weather without did not interfere with the pleasure of those who attended the Easter supper and entertainment given, last evening, in the parlors of the Seventh-Day Baptist church under the auspices of the Woman's Society for Christian Work. It was a delightful affair and the large attendance was gratifying to those who arranged it. The parlors were decorated in bright colors, while the many tables prettily set added much to the attractive scene. The supper room was eagerly sought by all and no one was allowed to leave until the inner man was well satisfied.

Mrs. John P. Mosher was chairman of the supper committee, and she was assisted by Mrs. William C. Hubbard, Mrs. Ira West and Mrs. H. M. Maxson. The waitresses assisting were Miss Mildred Green, Miss Mary St. John, Miss Nellie St. John, Miss Cornelia Miller, Miss Olive Randolph, Miss Kizzie Neagle, Miss Louise VanSickel, Miss Abbie Lewis and Miss Edna Randolph. There was also a very pretty candy and flower booth in charge of Miss Myra Clark and Miss Louise Clawson.

The committee having general supervision of the whole affair, including the entertainment, consisted of Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, chairman; Mrs. Joseph G. Miller, Mrs. Charles H. Dunham, Mrs. Frank H. Smith and Miss Ida Randolph.

After the supper hour, a pleasing entertainment was provided. This included the singing of "America," by the following chorus: Mrs. David E. Titsworth, Mrs. George Homan, Mrs. James E. Kimball, Mrs. William C. Hubbard, Miss Mary Griswold, Miss Cornelia Miller, Miss Filmer and Miss Nan Randolph. This chorus also sang two other selections, "Snowflakes," and "Sand-man."

Other numbers on the programme included a recitation by Miss Arline Brown and a violin solo by Mrs. Robert Johnston. Each number was well received.

COUSIN OF THE MAYOR.

New General Manager of Jersey Central Has Visited in Borough.

W. G. Besler, the successor of C. H. Warren as general manager of the New Jersey Central Railroad Company, is a cousin of Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield. He has been the guest of the borough's chief executive on several occasions and is favorably impressed with the two communities.

By birth Mr. Besler is a Pennsylvanian. For a number of years he was connected with a western road. Recently he has served as general superintendent of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company. He assumed charge of his duties at the Central's offices on Monday.

After Summer Cottage.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of West Seventh street, who, with Mrs. Lewis, expects to spend the coming summer in Rhode Island, is experiencing some delay in securing a desirable site upon which to erect a cottage. He selected one piece of property, but has since learned that the land cannot be secured. He expects to have a property soon and then a cottage will be erected at once. Dr. Lewis is anxious to get a site near the coast upon a high elevation.

Faye Fell Victim.

Robert Faye, who was a roommate of Robert McCullough, the man who succumbed to smallpox in this city some weeks ago, has been located. He is now in the isolation hospital at Allentown, Pa., suffering with the same disease. Faye escaped from this city without being vaccinated.

BOWERYITES TO FARM IT

FARM, NEAR ISELIN, HAS BEEN SECURED FOR A YEAR.

Bowery Branch, of New York Y. M. C. A., Will Try Experiment of Sending Boys There.

If the Boweryites, of New York, do not find a perfect haven of rest and reformation in Middlesex county, it will be their fault, for they are soon to have an opportunity to forsake the stale beer dives and ten cent lodging houses and drink in the pure air and fight the Jersey mosquito in the vicinity of Iselin.

The cause of all this is that the Bowery branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, of New York, has leased a farm of nearly one hundred acres on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Here it is proposed to send probationists, where temptations are not as many and glaring as on the Bowery.

This property is known as the John B. Brown farm, and it has been leased for one year, with the option of buying at the end of that time. Rev. Ernest R Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church, at Carteret, will superintend the place.

TO SHARE FIELD.

Plainfield High School and Y. M. C. A. Will Both Use Diamond on Pittis' Common.

Pittis' Common, at the corner of Stelle avenue and Division street, has been secured as a diamond for the season by the Plainfield High School baseball team and the ground is now being gotten into shape. During last season it was used by the victorious Leal's School nine, but that school does not intend to place a team in the field this year.

Permission has also been obtained by the Y. M. C. A. team to share in the advantages of this excellent diamond. The High School team's last date is set for June 7, and after that time the Y. M. C. A. nine will use the field exclusively. It is the intention of the latter team to erect bleachers on the Common and otherwise improve its condition for the required purposes.

LAST LENTEN MUSICALE.

Fifth of Series Given at Randolph-Cooley Collegiate School.

The last of a series of five Lenten musicales was given at the Randolph-Cooley Collegiate School yesterday afternoon. These lectures and musicales were given by Miss Fowler, a well-known music teacher of New York, who has studied abroad. The musicales comprised a short sketch of the lives of Bach, Bethoven, Chopin, Schumann and McDowell, after which the works of these composers were illustrated in a most delightful manner. These musicales were given on succeeding Wednesdays to the older pupils and friends of the school. Yesterday's musicale was of great interest and all enjoyed the summary of the life of McDowell and the illustration of some of his works.

DOUBLE PAY.

Court Decides That Election Officers are Entitled to the Double Pay.

A question was previously raised as to whether election officers should receive double compensation from the county and local municipality in which they were located. This question was referred to Chief Justice Gummere and yesterday he handed down a decision. This decision states that the Meeker act does not change the law and that officers are entitled to to double compensation.

Fumigating Trolley Cars.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, March 20.—The officials of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, has begun the work of fumigating every trolley car running through this place. This is in accord with a recent order of the Board of Health compelling this work for the safety of the public health.

Don't Expect to Meet.

Owing to the illness of Chairman R. I. Tolles, of the Councilmanic street committee, it is quite likely that the regular meeting will be omitted this evening. There is nothing of any special importance to be considered this week and it is not necessary that a meeting should be held.

Play for Class Day.

The senior class of the North Plainfield High School is rehearsing "The Cricket on the Hearth," which will be presented on class day in June.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook, of Westervelt avenue, have moved their household goods to Newark, where they are now residing.

TEA AND SALE IN VERY WORTHY CAUSE

Given at Rooms of Plainfield Relief Association Yesterday For Its Benefit.

TO CONTINUE TODAY.

STORM KEPT MANY AWAY SO THAT EVERYTHING WAS NOT SOLD.

Pretty Decorations in the Rooms—Those Who Assisted in Serving—The Receipts for the Sale Amounted to $40.

There was a gratifying attendance of women at the tea, cake and candy sale held yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Plainfield Relief Association, under the auspices of the officers, executive committee and Board of Managers, all of who formed a general reception committee. The stormy weather detained many who would otherwise have attended, but notwithstanding the rooms were well filled with members and friends of the association. A number of cakes and a good deal of home-made candy remained unsold, and an opportunity will be given this afternoon to purchase the same at reduced prices.

The decorations in the reception room consisted chiefly of American beauty roses. In the serving room pink roses were used with good effect. Those in the serving room were Mrs. Saumel Huntington, Miss Mary Tweedy, Mrs. E. T. Barrows, Mrs. E. R. Ackerman. The assistants were Miss Bowen, Mrs. Lindsay Best, Miss Mary Whiton, Miss Efna Strong and Miss Josephine Lapsley.

Those in charge of the cake and candy table were Mrs. Evarts Tracy, Miss Edith Tracy, Miss Conklin, Miss Ellis and Miss Kenyon. At this table there were many sales, as the receipts, $30, show. A silver offering was received at the door and from this source over $4 was received.

It is hoped by the members that the balance of the cake and candy will be quickly disposed of. The association is in need of the money to carry on its work and the people of Plainfield can help in this and other ways to the profit and pleasure of the worthy women who have charge of the work.

READY FOR FIRE.

Borough Department Took Special Precautions on Account of Wind.

Chief J. J. Stahl, of the borough fire department, made arrangements to be in readiness to cope with any possible fire last evening. The high winds caused some alarm and the Chief was determined to be prepared for fire. Accordingly Thomas McGann and another boroughite stayed at the fire headquarters all night and kept vigil. A double team of horses was there for any emergency. Mayor Smalley conferred with the Chief early in the evening and expressed the wish that the department be on guard.

Still Vaccinating Tramps.

The police officials at headquarters are still making it a practice to vaccinate all prisoners and persons who in any way approach the cells where the smallpox suspects were held. Monday morning Dr. Probasco treated ten persons, Tuesday five and yesterday three. Most of them were tramps who had applied for a night's lodging.

Funeral of Mr. Voorhees.

Funeral services over the remains of James M. Voorhees were held from his late residence on East Seventh street, yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, was the officiating clergyman. The pall bearers were six relatives from Bound Brook and Somerville. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

Drafting New By-Laws.

New by-laws are being drafted by the Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association to meet the new conditions of the association.

ALL DANGER OVER.

No More Small-Pox From the McCullough Case Need be Feared—Only One Case Resulted.

All danger arising from the case of small-pox in the West End of the city is passed. Robert McCullough, who had the disease and who died in this city, was associated with a great many pepole while ill and before he was taken to the isolation hospital. All but one of those persons, so far as known, were vaccinated at once, and there has been no further develoment of the disease, except in the case of Robert Faye, who escaped. He is now ill with small-pox at Allentown, Pa., and it is said that his chances for recovery are small.

The Board of Health is much gratified with the present health of the city and the comparatively few number of cases of small-pox in Plainfield. This is undoubtedly due to the very strict and prompt sanitary measure adopted by the board at the start.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON AFRICA BY W. D. MURRAY.

Missionary Meeting Held at the Crescent Avenue Church Last Evening.

An insight, as to what is being done by the Presbyterian Board in the African mission field, framed the basis of an interesting lecture, given by William D. Murray, in the Crescent Avenue church, last evening. The talk was illustrated by an abundance of excellent views and it was enjoyed by an appreciative audience.

The various missions under the board's control and the work each is accomplishing were described by the speaker, showing the attendants, teachers and many interesting features in regard to the daily routine of the schools. Many of the pictures were exhibited for the purpose of showing the geographical nature of the country, for the most part wild and but little traversed, in which the missionaries are devoting their energy and life work.

In closing Mr. Murray made an earnest appeal for the support and furtherance of the work of which so little is known at present. He declared there was no field more in need of attention and none that would yield better results. In a touching way he referred to one Christian from this city who gave up her life for the cause and asked that the work she left off be taken up with renewed vigor.

PLAYED WHIST.

In That Way Miss Arnold's Guests Spent Most of the Evening.

A pleasant affair in the nature of a whist party was given last evening by Miss Nellie Arnold, daughter of Councilman J. K. Arnold, of Manning avenue. A dozen friends including some from out of town participated in the games.

The first prizes were won by Miss Wood and John Maguire, both of Scotch Plains. Dancing was a feature at the conclusion of the whist. Delicious refreshments were served before midnight.

BILLS WILL GO THROUGH

Greater Plainfield Measures Will Go Back to Assembly for Referendum Provision.

BUT NOT TO BE KILLED.

Assembly Passed Hoagland's Resolution Asking for Return of Bills—They Will be Passed in Present Shape and Signed Unless Assembly Accepts Provision.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 20—Well informed politicians declare that the Greater Plainfield bills will become laws, and the supporters of the measure are more sanguine than ever over the prospects of the passage and signing of the bills.

Assemblyman Hoagland, prompted by Somerville friends, yesterday introduced a resolution in the Assembly, requesting that the bills be transmitted back to that body for reconsideration. It was passed but received no attention from the Senate. Those on the inside say that the resolution passed by the lower House asking for the recall of the bills will not be noticed by the Senate if the purpose is to "knife" the measure as Assemblyman Hoagland threatens.

On the other hand the Senate will pass the bills in their present shape and transmit them to the Governor who, it is claimed, will sign them as they are, if he is assured that the House will not accept the referendum amendment to the annexation bill.

When Senator Reed had introduced his constituents from North Plainfield to the Governor yesterday morning, Assemblyman Hoagland was called and listened to the conference. The Assemblyman attacked the Senator personally and it is understood the impression he thus made on Mr. Murphy did not help the cause of the opponents of annexation. Senator Reed denied the allegation made by Assemblyman Hoagland and there is no evidence that the Senator expressed any opinion concerning the merits of the bills.

TALK OF UNITING.

Unity and Perseverance Lodges, K. of P., May Join as One.

There is a movement on foot to consolidate Unity and Perseverance Lodges, Knights of Pyhtias. The recent fire putting Unity Lodge out of a home has had a tendency to bring the matter up for discussion. It is known that many favor the consolidation, believing it would mean a stronger organization and great prestige. According to the rules of the lodge seven members can defeat the proposition. Perseverance Lodge will meet tomorrow evening and consider the question from its point of view.

Expect Many Guests.

The members of the I. C. T. Club have received word from New Brunswick that a stage load of twenty-four, chaperoned by Myron A. Pollard, will attend their dance to be given in Central Hall this evening. There will also be a large number from other nearby places and the prospects indicate a successful affair. The committee in charge is arranging a number of features which will make it a memorable occasion.

Settled With Jerusalem Lodge.

Mulford, the real estate and insurance agent, effected a settlement yesterday with Jerusalem Lodge, No. 6, F. A. M., for the risk carried by this agency. The amount of insurance placed with Mulford was $150. This covered certain portions of the lodge property, and the settlement was in full.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

In Delaware, in New York and in all the nearby States excepting Pennsylvania, laws have been enacted prohibiting the shooting of live birds, at shooting matches, from traps. The New Jersey Legislature should lose no time in enacting a similar law. Last year some 200,000 pigeons were slaughtered at a shooting match at Interstate Park, Long Island. A similar number will be slaughtered this year in New Jersey, at live bird shooting matches, unless the slaughter is prevented by law.—Elizabeth Journal.

If Senator Wakelee's voting machine bill becomes a law—it has already passed the Senate—voting machines may or may not be used in New Jersey. The bill contains a referendum clause which leaves it to the people of the voting districts to say whether they will use the machines or not. For the most part they will not; because every municipality voting to use the machines must pay for them. Elizabeth would want twenty-four of them, and they would cost $12,000. It would be a considerable time, under this bill, before voting machines would be in general use in this State. A much better way would be to make their use compulsory in every voting precinct, and the State pay for them, own them and take care of them.—Elizabeth Journal.

The bill allowing trolley lines to carry freight should not be passed in its present form. It applies to cities as well as to the rural districts, and permission of the municipal authorities to transport freight through the streets is not required. It can easily be imagined what a nuisance and detriment to street traffic would be the presence of freight cars on busy thoroughfares.

The steam roads are spending millions in abolishing grade crossings and diverting freight traffic around the cities, but the trolley companies, which as a rule secured their franchises for nothing, have the sublime audacity to ask the Legislature to perpetuate the freight carrying nuisance in cities.

The Newark News suggests that "the best possible solution is, perhaps, for the Legislature to confine its action to a simple authorization of the right to transport freight by trolley under such restrictions as the different municipalities may see fit to impose. This is a matter which may well be left to local bodies having charge of the public streets, with the proviso that any grant shall only be for a limited period. Under such a law the different municipalities would be empowered to prescribe terms suited to local conditions. Limiting the grant to a fixed period would permit, at its expiration, such modifications, either in the way of liberality or the reverse, as experience might prove desirable. Certainly, the bill, in its present form, is a good one to defeat."

After a long struggle Camden has secured concessions from the trolley companies for extension of their franchises, and certainly will protest most vigorously against having its streets delivered over for freight traffic purposes, without local option in the matter.—Camden Post-Telegram.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A visitor to Plainfield tells the following story of his little daughter. The child in company with a little playmate had heard reference made to a grass widow, and in their play hour the next day were discussing what was meant by the term. They both conceded that a widow was a woman whose husband was dead. "Well then," argued the daughter of the Plainfield visitor, "A grass widow must be a woman whose husband has died of hay-fever."

—Harry Gardner, of Annandale, N. J., has removed to the borough and taken a residence on Manning avenue.

—Miss Emma Strand, of Harrison street, has accepted a position in the millinery department of Crosby & Hill's, on West Front street.

LITERARY.

"Success" for April is a wellspring of inspiration, delight, and comfort to the magazine reader. It is a splendid symposium of up-to-date information, and a lively mentor of the world's affairs. It opens with a new poem by Edwin Markham, the famous author of "The Man with the Hoe." The poem is entitled, "The Dream of Pilate's Wife," and is symbolic of the glory of Eastertide. Justin McCarthy, the eminent author and politician, contributes an important article, entitled, "Humor Is an Element of Life," in which he shows that some of the most noted men of the world have won achievement through a keen appreciation of fun. Frank Hix Fayant presents another of his interesting and timely industrial articles, which are appearing exclusively in "Success," on the building of powerful locomotives for the world's trade. Theodore Dreiser describes, with graphic intensity, the terrible condition of the "sweatshops" of New York City. A notable feature is a powerful editorial on the character-crushing calamity of wealth-worship, by Edwin Markham. Other features are, "Married Life Can Be Made Supremely Happy," by Mary A. Livermore; "Life Insurance Soliciting as a Business," by James W. Alexander; "Inventions Awaiting the Touch of Genius," by Franklin J. Forbes; and "Physical Culture and Domestic Duties," by Cynthia Westover Alden. There are a number of other interesting features in this issue, that will appeal to all classes of readers.

PERISHED IN THE STORM.

Loss of Ranchmen and Herds in the Terrible Blizzard.

BISMARCK, N. D., March 20.—Reports of loss of live stock in the storm have begun to come in. Joe Allen, a ranchman, was found near Sterling so badly frozen that it is feared he cannot recover. One of his horses was dead, and the other has not been found. William H. Bratton of Sterling lost a hundred cattle and several hundred sheep. A ranchman named Cook lost fifty cattle. William Wilton lost 400 sheep. A band of 5,000 sheep in the western part of the state was turned out to graze the day before the storm. The herder perished with his flock.

The blockade of this division of the Northern Pacific has been broken, and several passenger trains from the east have arrived. At Sterling, thirty miles east, there was a cut a mile and a half long filled with snow from six to fifteen feet in depth. The snowplows were broken down in clearing the track. The Northern Pacific tracks are reported clear from Jamestown west to Glendive.

ACHILLES I. DEAD.

King of Patagonia Succumbs to Pneumonia in Paris.

PARIS, March 20. — Achilles I., known as the "king of Patagonia and Araucania," is dead here from pneumonia. Achilles, who held his court in a modest apartment in the Place de la Nation, succeeded his second cousin, Antoine I., on Sept. 17, 1878.

The latter, who was originally a lawyer of Perigueux, capital of the department of Dordogne, France, went to South America and claimed to have become king of Patagonia in 1861.

Achilles, whose real name was Laviarde, accompanied Antoine in his travels, returned to Paris and assumed the royal title on Antoine's death. Achilles, in view of the difficulties between Patagonia and Chile, it is claimed, deemed it imprudent to return to his kingdom and surrounded himself with a court here, appointed functionaries and lavishly distributed high sounding titles and decorations.

Western Union Changes.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Dr. J. C. Barclay, electrician of the western division, has been appointed electrical engineer of the Western Union Telegraph company, with headquarters at New York, vice A. S. Brown, resigned. The appointment takes effect April 1. Mr. Barclay began service with the company in 1868 at Greensburg, Pa., and has been with it ever since. He was at one time Associated Press operator at Baltimore and after filling other positions in the east came to this city twenty-five years ago and while here has been chief operator, night manager and electrician of the western division.

Would Not Accept Chun's Gift.

BERLIN, March 20.—The presents given to Emperor William by Prince Chun, who came from Peking to Berlin last year to make atonement to Germany for the murder in Peking of Baron von Ketteler, the German minister to China, have been in storage here since Emperor William refused to accept them. The emperor took this action because he believed their acceptance would be incompatible with the charter of Prince Chun's mission. The presents, which consist of costly silks and objects of art, will, upon the second request of the Chinese prince, be sent to certain German museums.

Consul to Ecuador Coming Home.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—United States Consul General Perry M. de Leon, at Guayaquil, Ecuador, has applied for and been granted a leave of absence and will come to Washington soon to confer with the state department regarding the recent troubles in Ecuador growing out of claims for illegal arrest and imprisonment of American citizens. The acute stage of the trouble in Ecuador passed with the recent release of Americans held in Ecuadorian prisons.

Burglars Cause Big Fire.

MARISSA, Ill., March 20.—Safe burglars are responsible for a fire which destroyed $150,000 worth of property in Marissa. They entered the Commercial hotel, where fifty persons were asleep, and blew open the safe, containing $2,500. The robbers then escaped, leaving the building in flames. The fire spread rapidly and was not checked until a dozen business buildings and several residences, with their contents, were destroyed.

FAIR TRUST INVALID

Clause In Millionaire's Will Is Set Aside.

THE LONG FOUGHT CASE DECIDED.

By Decree of Supreme Court C. L. Fair, the Son; Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, the Daughters, Share Estate.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—By a decision just rendered in the state supreme court the trust clause in the will of the late James G. Fair so far as it pertains to the personal property of his estate is declared invalid, and an order of distribution granted by Superior Judge James M. Troutt to the children—Charles L. Fair, Mrs. Theresa Oelrichs and Mrs. Virginia Fair Vanderbilt—is affirmed.

The effect of the decision is in reality the complete dissolution of the trust which the late millionaire sought to create for the purpose of passing final distribution of his property beyond his children and to their heirs, vouchsafing for them the net monthly income of the estate as a life interest.

By a former decision the trust was invalidated so far as it related to the real property, which was ordered distributed.

The trustees contended, however, that this decision did not extend in effect to the personal property, valued between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000, and on the order of Judge Troutt for a distribution to the Fair children of that portion of the estate they prosecuted the appeal which is now determined in the court of last resort.

The personal property is now subject to distribution.

Rhode Island Banker Dead.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., March 20.—Hon. George L. Littlefield, a banker of wide acquaintanceship, is dead, aged seventy-eight years. After a long career as a manufacturer, chiefly in the thread and yarn trade, he became president and manager of the Cumberland Mills company in 1866, holding that office for twenty-one years. He was president of the First National bank of Providence at his death. He had had considerable legislative experience. His brother, Alfred H. Littlefield, was governor from 1880 to 1883, and another brother, David G., was lieutenant governor in 1880.

House Democrats Favor Boers.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The Democratic members of the house at a caucus held last night unanimously adopted resolutions declaring that congress should express the sympathy of the American people for the struggling Boer republics and pledging themselves to use their utmost endeavors to "force" the committees to report resolutions expressive of such sympathy if only that congress might have an opportunity to act.

Shot His Wife.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., March 20.—Henry Nye filled his wife's head with a charge from his shotgun at their home in Stephentown, N. Y., about twelve miles from Pittsfield, and the woman died two hours afterward. Nye escaped. Jealousy is said to have prompted the act. The couple had been married but six months. A posse of citizens has been on Nye's trail since the shooting, but the man has eluded them.

Members of Robber Gang Arrested.

BEAUMONT, Tex., March 20.—Three more arrests have been made here in connection with the operations of the Mattie Bennett gang of robbers and murderers. It is suspected that one of the three is the hackman employed by the gang to haul the bodies of their victims to the river. The sheriff refused to make known the names of the arrested men who are white, or to give any other facts.

A Present From Empress Dowager.

PEKING, March 20.—The dowager empress, learning that Mrs. Bainbridge, wife of W. E. Bainbridge, secretary of the United States legation, was starting for home, sent her an immense box of costly confectionery, shark's fins and other delicacies, with scrolls expressing her majesty's personal regards and wishes for a pleasant journey.

Turkey Refuses to Pay.

LONDON, March 20.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Constantinople says the Turkish government has flatly refused the demand of the United States for the repayment of the sum of money ($72,500) paid to the brigands as a ransom for Miss Ellen M. Stone and her companion, Mme. Tsilka.

RUSSO-FRENCH DEFI.

Conjoint Declaration Published In St. Petersburg.

COPIES SENT TO GREAT POWERS.

Possible Inimical Action on Part of Other Powers Not Lost Sight Of. Would Not Disturb Status Quo In Far East.

ST. PITERSBURG, March 20.—The Official Messenger today prints the text of a Russo-French conjoint declaration sent March 16 to the Austrian, Belgian, British, American, Spanish, German, Italian, Dutch, Chinese and Japanese governments. The declaration is as follows:

"The allied Russo-French governments are wholly pleased to discern that the Anglo-Japanese convention supports the essential principles which, according to the reiterated statement of France and Russia, constituted and still constitute the foundation of their policy. Both governments believe that the support of these principles is also a guarantee of their interests in the far east.

"They are compelled, however, not to lose from view the possibly inimical action of other powers or a repetition of disorders in China, possibly impairing China's integrity and free development to the detriment of their reciprocal interests. They therefore reserve to themselves the right to take measures to defend these interests."

The prefatory remarks say that Russia desires the maintenance of the status quo and the attainment of complete tranquillity in the far east.

French Press Approves.

PARIS, March 20.—The morning papers here comment with much satisfaction and approval upon the Franco-Russian declaration concerning the Anglo-Japanese convention, which they consider strengthens the chances of lasting peace in the far east, as contributing to the establishment of the necessary balance of power, as a striking consecration of the dual alliance and a definition of its scope, field and objects. "If," says the Figaro, "Germany and the United States have any misunderstanding regarding alliances and policy in China or fears for the open door, these are now removed. We are for the open door on the condition that nobody attempts to close it on us."

Gales In Connecticut.

NEW HAVEN, March 20.—Considerable damage was done throughout the state by the severe wind which accompanied the storm. A new summer hotel which was being erected at Fort Trumbull beach was blown to the ground. The roof of a car was blown from a moving freight train between Stamford and Sound Beach on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, the wreck delaying traffic for a short time. Northwestern Connecticut suffered greatly by the high winds. Several buildings in the vicinity of Winsted were unroofed, and persons were picked up by the wind and thrown some distance. No serious injuries are reported, however.

A Railroad For Peru.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—The Post says that J. B. Haggin, the wealthy mine owner, is contemplating the construction of a railroad in Peru. Some time ago the Haggin-Twombley syndicate secured possession of valuable mining properties near Pasco, Peru, and plans are under way for working the mines on an elaborate scale. Years ago a survey of the route was made from Arroya to a point near the Sierra Pasco mines, which J. B. Haggin has discovered would be most valuable to the syndicate in its plans for carrying its ores to the coast. It is proposed to utilize this.

Lehigh Valley Road Repaired.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 20.—It is officially announced that the Lehigh Valley railroad will open up on Monday next not only the main line, but all of its branches from New York to Buffalo. This announcement was made after Superintendent Wilbur had read reports of the progress of the work of restoring the road after its million dollar damage by the recent flood, and orders were at once telegraphed to New York and Buffalo to get in readiness all passenger trains, including the Black Diamond express, to move on schedule time next Monday.

Aged Actor Dead.

BATH, N. Y., March 20.—Robert Johnston, one of the oldest actors in America, is dead at the hospital of the State Soldiers' home, aged seventy-five years. He claimed that he played with Junius Brutus Booth, Forrest, McCready and other prominent actors of their day. He will be buried in New York at the expense of the Actors' fund of that city. He served during the civil war as captain in the Twenty-fifth regiment, New York volunteers.

A Normal School For Newark.

TRENTON, N. J., March 20.—The house has passed Mr. Williams' bill appropriating $250,000 for a state normal school at Newark, after defeating amendments to locate the school in Hudson and Cumberland counties. This bill came up on reconsideration, it having failed to pass the house last week. It was passed by a vote of 35 to 14.

Servian Cabinet Resigns.

BELGRADE, Servia, March 20.—The Servian cabinet has tendered its resignation owing to the adoption by the skupshtina, or national assembly, of a civil service reform measure against the wishes of the ministry.

THE DEFENSE CLOSED.

Surprise In the Patrick Case—Counsel and Recorder Quarrel.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The trial of Albert T. Patrick, accused of instigating Valet Jones to strangle William M. Rice with chloroform, came to a sudden end so far as the case of the defense is concerned yesterday afternoon without the calling of Patrick to the stand in his own defense.

Upon the refusal of Recorder Goff to permit a handwriting expert of the defense to give certain testimony the defense announced through Mr. Moore, "We rest, your honor."

This action was taken after a series of quarrels between the counsel for the defense and the recorder and after the former had seriously consulted upon a proposition to withdraw from the case as a protest against what Mr. Moore said he believed to be a course on the part of Recorder Goff discrediting the defense with the jury. It was expected that the case of the defense would last until Friday.

The defense is confident that they have destroyed the case of the prosecution and that Patrick will be acquitted without further expert testimony.

THE HOBOKEN BLAZE.

The Latest Estimates Place Loss at $2,000,000—Two Lives Lost.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Two dead, two missing, six victims in hospital and property worth about $2,000,000 destroyed is the story of the fire that burned the Phœnix line pier in Hoboken, N. J., and the steamer British Queen, besides a dozen lighters and barges.

It is known almost to a certainty that none of the 129 longshoremen employed about the Phœnix line pier and on the steamer British Queen is lost.

A superficial examination by the marine underwriters during the day resulted in a statement that the fire was due to defective electric light wires on the pier.

Fancy Prices For Shorthorns.

KANSAS CITY, March 20.—At the dispersion sale of W. R. Nelson's herd of thoroughbred Shorthorn cattle here fancy prices were realized. Fifty-seven lots were offered, including imported animals bred by the queen of England, J. Dean Willis of Waltshire, England; A. M. Gord, Aberdeenshire, Scotland; C. E. Wodehouse, Hertford, England, and other noted Scoth and English breeders. Cattlemen from all parts of the country attended the sale, which included some of the best cattle ever offered in a sale ring. Bidding was active. Among the big sales were: Lavender Lily, with calf at side, bred by J. Dean Willis, Bapton Manor, Codford, St. Mary's, Wiltshire, sold to Dan R. Hanna, $1,600; Miranda, calf at side, bred by her majesty the queen, Windsor, England, sold to Dan R. Hanna, Ravenia, O., $1,500; Village Bell, bull calf at side, bred by her majesty the queen, Windsor, England, sold to Dan R. Hanna, $1,080.

Church Steeple Blown Off.

ADAMS, Mass., March 20.—A high wind which prevailed all night suddenly assumed cyclonic proportions yesterday. The spire and belfry on the First Congregational church was wrenched off. In falling the spire took with it two large cupolas and a portion of the roof from the congregational house, which adjoins the church.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.

The Assembly to Report the Weekes Canal Bill.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 20.—The assembly rules committee has decided to report today the canal bill of Assemblyman Weekes, which appropriates $37,200,000 for the improvement of the Erie, the Champlain and the Oswego canals. The committee did this in spite of a written protest filed by Mr. Weekes, in which he asked that his bill be abandoned and in its stead the bill of Senator Davis, which has already passed the senate and which did not include the Oswego canal, be reported.

In explanation of the committee's action one of the members said: "The bill we reported is an assembly measure and has already been debated on the floor. Mr. Weekes' bill as originally introduced did not include the Oswego canal, and the amendment was inserted because the assembly desired it. Mr. Weekes was thus eliminated, and the bill became an assembly measure, and the committee deemed it advisable to report it as such."

Governor Odell when told of the committee's action said: "That is probably all right. They may have reported it because it was part of a plan to expedite matters. I believe yet that there will be canal legislation at this session."

The senate held a short session last night, but owing to the fact that the special train on which the members had returned from Warsaw after attending the funeral of the late Senator Humphrey had been delayed for two hours by the storm adjournment was taken without taking up the calendar.

PORTO RICANS AID.

Islanders Contribute Generously to McKinley Monument Fund.

CLEVELAND, March 20.—Thousands of Porto Ricans have contributed to the McKinley national memorial. Governor William H. Hunt in a letter just received by Ryerson Ritchie, national secretary, reports that $1,497.42 has been raised in the island, and the number of contributors runs far up into the thousands.

Governor Hunt asked some one in each town to receive the funds, and no contribution was to be over 10 cents. The people of the island responded at once. To each of the contributors will be presented a certificate, and in this manner pictures of McKinley, the White House and the McKinley home at Canton will adorn thousands of homes in Porto Rico.

Palisades Commission Needs Funds.

TRENTON, N. J., March 20.—Governor Murphy has sent to the two houses of the legislature a special message drawing attention to the report of the Palisades park commission. The report shows that the commission is in need of funds for its ordinary expenses. The $5,000 appropriated to the New Jersey commissioners for office expenses has been expended. The report states that of the $50,000 appropriated by New Jersey to buy land $18,270 has been paid out and that the commissioners have received one-half of the $400,000 appropriated by New York state. The total amount of ground already purchased aggregates about 44 per cent of the total amount desired. There has been paid out for land $257,375.79. This includes $122,500 contributed from private resources.

Planning Fall Campaign.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 20.—Senator Patrick McCarren, who represents the Kings county Democracy and who has been mentioned as a candidate for chairman of the Democratic state committee, held a long conference with former Senator David B. Hill yesterday afternoon. Neither of the men would be quoted, but they allowed it to be understood that they are making plans for the fall campaign and that they would work in harmony.

Negro Murderer Lynched.

NATCHEZ, March 20.—John Woodward, the negro murderer of Leonard Calvitt, a white planter, at Union Point, Concordia parish, La., has been lynched within 300 yards of the parish prison in Vidalia, La. The mob gained admission to the jail by claiming they had a prisoner from Catahoula parish. After the door was opened they demanded Woodward. Jailer Suchs refused to surrender him and was overpowered.

Santos-Dumont to Visit Us.

PARIS, March 20.—M. Santos-Dumont has accepted an invitation from the officials of the St. Louis exposition to go to St. Louis, assist the authorities in the organization of the proposed balloon contests and select a site on which to erect a balloon shed. The aeronaut will sail for New York on the Hamburg-American line steamer Deutschland April 4.

Royal Party Reaches Kiel.

KIEL, Prussia, March 20.—The German battleship Kaiser Wilhelm II., having on board Emperor William and Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia, arrived here at 5:30 p. m. His majesty and the prince were welcomed with the firing of salutes and cheers from the naval squadron in these waters.

Yellowstone Expansion Proposed.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The secretary of the interior has sent to the senate the draft of a bill providing for the enlargement of Yellowstone park. In a communication accompanying the bill he says the extension of the park boundaries is necessary to protect the game in the park.

A Place For Garfield.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—James R. Garfield, son of the late president, will be given the appointment of civil service commissioner, to succeed William A. Rodenburg, if he will accept it.

PANAMA CANAL TITLE

Majority of Senate Committee Consider It Invalid.

NEW COMPANY CHEATED FRENCHMEN

Accepting Offer Might Lead to Unpleasant Relations With Those Who Lost $250,000,000—Minority Report Upholds Title.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Senator Morgan from the committee on isthmian canals has presented to the senate the majority and minority reports of that committee on the question of the validity of the title of the new Panama Canal company and its rights to transfer the Panama canal property to the United States for $40,000,000. The objections of the majority to the title held by that company are based largely on the relations of the canal company to the governments of France and Colombia, but the committee also discusses at length many other phases of the question. Among these is the relation of the shareholders who subscribed $260,000,000 to the old Panama company, whose interests, the report holds, cannot be lightly regarded. On this point the report says:

"The spectacle of the United States congress authorizing the president as the agent of our government to conduct a trade with such a corporation (the new Panama company) without consulting France as to the claim of independence it (the new Panama company) asserts will be entirely new in the history of nations, and its consequences cannot be lightly disregarded.

"Among these is the serious danger of the United States being drawn into disagreeable relations with a large and influential body of the worthy people of France, whose friendship for us has been cherished during the entire life of our republic and had its origin in magnanimous sacrifices for our country when this government was in the travail of its birth. Unfortunately the report of the isthmian canal commission reveals the fact that men who make this offer are chief among those who defrauded these 600,000 or 800,000 Frenchmen of $250,000,000."

The minority report, which was prepared by Senator Kittredge, completely upholds the title of the new Panama company, as will be seen from the following extract, which constitutes its opening paragraph:

"The title of the new Panama company to its concessions and other property appears from the facts and documents which have been laid before the subcommittee and is clear and free from any complications. For a transfer of its concessions to the United States the consent of Colombia is requisite, but this consent has been given by the government of that country as fully as it can now be given. The purchase of the canal by the United States, different concessions and different rights must be obtained by treaty between this country and Colombia, and such a treaty would necessarily involve a consent to the sale by the company of its rights and property on the isthmus to the United States. Such a treaty Colombia has shown and declared its readiness to make. On every other point the right of the new Panama Canal company to transfer its property to the United States is perfectly clear. Every link in the chain of its title and every step in the course by which it became in a position to sell its property, free and clear, is plain and satisfactory."

During the entire session of the senate the bill providing for the protection of the president of the United States was under consideration.

Mr. Hoar, in charge of the measure, elucidated some arguments he had made previously, and Mr. Teller (Colo.) and Mr. Bailey (Tex.) spoke briefly on the bill.

The senate in executive session confirmed the nomination of Captain A. S. Crowninshield to be a rear admiral. There was no comment upon the nomination.

The house made fair progress with the river and harbor bill. After the close of general debate forty-seven of the 116 pages of the bill were disposed of. No amendments were adopted. The general debate was featureless.

The Huntington Estate.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The Tribune this morning says that the Collis P. Huntington estate, now being inventoried by the state's transfer tax appraisers, acting with the executors, Charles M. Tweed and Isaac F. Gates, will amount to about $28,000,000 or $29,000,000. The transfer tax will approximate $800,000. This is the unofficial estimate made by the state comptroller's office. The state officials as well as the executors decline to give any official information about the schedule of property left by Mr. Huntington.

Early Navigation on Great Lakes.

DULUTH, Minn., March 20.—The opening of navigation on the upper great lakes will be earlier than has ever been known. Ships will be plying between Duluth and Lake Erie ports by April 1. The usual date is a month later. An opening of navigation thirty days ahead of the usual time means an addition of the capacity of the lake fleet amounting to at least 15 per cent.

LINCOLN, Neb. March 20.—W. J. Bryan is no longer a resident of the city of Lincoln. Yesterday was Mr. Bryan's forty-second birthday, and he celebrated the event by moving to his farm four miles from the city. Until a handsome country residence which he is building shall be completed Mr. Bryan and his family will live in the barn.

REPORT OF THE HOSPITAL.

A much belated annual report of Muhlenberg Hospital was issued yesterday bearing date of June 1, 1901. There is much of interest in the statements presented, but perhaps the most interesting and significant of the statistics of the hospital affairs are the figures comparing the number of patients and sources of income of last year with the same items ten years ago, in 1891. The figures show an increase of three hundred and sixty-one per cent. in the number of indoor patients and of eleven hundred and forty-seven per cent. in the number of dispensary patients; while in the same ten years the individual money donations have increased but fifty-two per cent., and the hospital Sunday collections taken in the churches have decreased in amount thirty per cent. And in the two great towns of Plainfield and North Plainfield only one hundred and twenty people have sent to the treasurer a cash donation during the year covered by the present report.

A large percentage of the patients, both indoor and outdoor, are treated free, and a large part of the work of the hospital, that of the physicians and managers, is gratuitous. Surely among those who have heretofore neglected the opportunity there must be many who are able and willing to send a gift to the treasurer.

Large as the work was last year, we are assured that the patients during the current year will exceed those of last year at least twenty-five per cent.

Of course all this increase calls for increased expense, and calls loudly for the new hospital. The board of governors say that the plans are now so far advanced that they expect to break ground on the new site as early as the first of June.

The present hospital was built to accommodate eight patients in each of the two wards and five in private rooms. In this space for twenty-one patients thirty have been packed on some days recently, and the limit has been exceeded constantly for many weeks.

The hospital work is a great one, economically done, and every dollar given to it is beneficently expended, and none is wasted.

It is welcome news that the eyes of Governor Franklin Murphy have been opened to the need of the consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield and that there is every reason to believe that he will place his name to the "Greater Plainfield" bills as soon as they pass the upper house of the Legislature. Neither Governor Murphy nor any reasoning man can fail to see the need of such a step as these bills will bring about. If a referendum clause can be satisfactorily added to the bill which changes the county lines, by all means let it be placed there, particularly if that will be the means of carrying the bills through. When it comes to a vote, there is no doubt but the people of North Plainfield will express their approbation of the plan in no uncertain way. A vote by the people is the last thing which the advocates of the measures have to fear.

In Printers' Ink, points out the Philadelphia Record, an experienced advertiser deplores the disposition of new advertisers to use the magazines instead of the daily newspapers, since they [are sure to form a poor opinion of the results of good advertising. He concludes thus: "General advertisers are just beginning to awaken to the power of the daily press. In the past few years some of the leading advertisers have left the magazines almost entirely for the daily newspapers. The advertisers who sell for home consumption first broke ranks and employed mediums which reach the homes first and most often—the daily press."

School meetings in North Plainfield are not usually noted for any wonderful display of harmony so Tuesday evening's meeting was considerably above the average for quietness. There was no organized opposition to the present administration in the schools and the old trustees were returned to their places without a fight of any consequence. While it is manifestly impossible to please all, it is evident that the efforts of the members of the Borough Board of Education have not been in vain and that many citizens appreciate the very excellent work that they have done.

When the Common Council of Rahway recently granted a franchise to a trolley company, one of the provisions was that the company should sprinkle the streets, where its tracks ran, on those days that they were dusty. The next time the Plainfield Council has a chance to make any new arrangements with the local trolley company, it will be well to make a similar agreement. The present arrangement, which confines the sprinkling practically to the summer season, has proved far from satisfactory.

It is refreshing to read the Hunterdon County Democrat actually advocating the establishment of good roads in that county. Hunterdon county has been at the wrong end of the procession for so long that everyone is glad to see any chance of a change. If the Democrat succeeds in its present campaign for good roads, it will certainly be entitled to the thanks of all that community.

It was with much interest that the people of city and borough read the only complete account of the hearing of the "Greater Plainfield" bills in The Daily Press yesterday. It was a subject in which all were interested. Although some preparation had been made for a unusually large demand for that issue, it was hardly sufficient to meet the demand.

Plainfield property owners will have to suffer with the rest of the land from the inevitable results of so many great fires. Another disastrous conflagration swept the water front at Hoboken carrying death and ruin with it. It, to, will help to increase the insurance rates which are now steadily travelling upward as the result of all these fires.

It is likely that all the projects, now under way to provide contemplated municipal improvements for North Plainfield, will be held up pending a decision by the Legislature on the "Greater Plainfield" bills. If the two municipalities are to be consolidated, it will be well to view these changes from an entirely different point of view.

The weather of the last two days was needed to remind some people that summer had not yet quite arrived.

Flooded at Big Fire.

Coon & Co., of West Front street and Madison avenue, has received settlement for the loss sustained by the firm at the time of the Babcock fire. A leak in a line of hose attached to a fire plug near the store caused a stream of water to flow into the basement of the establishment. A quantity of goods was stored there and the loss was $124. The insurance was placed with Liefke & Laing.

Miss Clark to Wed.

The affair will be a quiet one owing to the ill-health of the bride's mother.

DUNELLEN.

Barnard McGovern, of the borough, has gotten up a baseball team. The aggregation will be known as the Lyceum A. C. and will play games on Saturdays and Sundays throughout the season on a diamond at the corner of Rock avenue and Fourth street, near Kerwin's Hotel. The make-up of the team is as follows: First base and catcher, Wm. Taylor; third base, B. McGovern; pitcher and fielder. J. Hubbard; catcher, J. Moran; pitcher, Benford; short stop, Cooney; fielder, Phil Sheridan; catcher and second base, Schneiderwind; second base and center field, Fleming; pitcher, Scott; pitcher, Finnerty; second base, J. Dunn. John McMann will be signed as extra man. Barnard McGovern is manager and all communications should be addressed to him.

Barnard Siriski has made arrangements whereby after the first of April he will occupy the front part of Carpenter & Frazee's store, vacating his present quarters in the Kretzel building.

It is probable that a decison will be arrived at this evening at the meeting of the Dunellen Baseball Club as to who is to pitch during the coming season. There are several candidates.

F. C. Buten, a resident of this place twenty-five years ago but now from the west, is visiting at the home of Mrs. Jennie Larkin. Mr. Buten contemplates moving back.

Some of the younger boys are meeting with great success in getting up a junior ball team. A large number of candidates will be out at the first practice.

The cornet band held the regular practice last evening in Apgar Hall. A number of outsiders were present and enjoyed the excellent music.

SPORTS AND ATHLETES

GOSSIP OF SEVERAL LINES THAT IS OF TIMELY INTEREST JUST NOW.

GENTLEMAN IN APPEARANCE

WILLIAM H. ROTHWELL.

IT IS part of the publicity plan of the modern champion prize fighter to give huge orders for photographs and conduct a bureau for supplying thousands of papers and periodicals with pictures, gossip and pugilistic news. Since it has been definitely arranged that the battle for the featherweight championship of the world shall be fought October 15 between Champion William H. Rothwell (Young Corbett) and former Champion Terry McGovern, the "bureaus of publicity" of the two athletes have been busy flooding the cities with "literature" and photographs. One of the pictures of the Denver lad who gained a fortune by defeating McGovern recently found its way into a club the membership of which is composed exclusively of college men. There were millionaires—financial kings of the stock market—professional men, clerks, salesmen, etc., in the group that sat in the library when one of the young men produced the photograph of the champion pugilist.

"See how good you fellows are at character study," remarked the old Yale man, cutting off the name from the photograph and exposing the features of a smooth-shaven, square-jawed and determined-looking well-dressed young man. There was nothing about the photograph to indicate the prize ring votary.

"That young man has character stamped on his face," said a well-known lawyer.

"He resembles the boy we had playing quarter on our team when I was trying for the 'varsity," said a Harvard man.

"Almost an image of Art Curtis, who used to captain the Wisconsin eleven," said another.

"Reminds me of a civil engineer course student at Illinois who went to New York to install the electric system of the Manhattan railroad," was the opinion of another.

"Might be Pitcher Mathewson when he was twirling for Bucknell college," said another.

"I'll warrant you he's a trim-cut 'varsity athlete," ventured another.

So the current of opinion ran. Not a man mentioned the prize ring in connection with the boy whose photograph was on view. One particularly shrewd business man thought it was the photograph of the young Vanderbilt who worked in the New York Central railroad shops.

"Give him up?" asked the owner of the picture, after exhausting the symposium.

Sufficient to say that when the throng learned it had been looking at the features of the greatest little general of the prize ring at his weight—127 pounds—there were expressions of absolute surprise. This test satisfied the critics that the modern prize fighter bore few of the characteristics that were generally attributed to him in fanciful newspaper sketches.

A WATER HAZARD.

THERE is a better chance this year for a western golfer to capture championship honors than ever since the memorable tournament of Morris county, N. J., when Walter B. Smith, a young western schoolboy, came close to premier honors, lasting to the finals with Findlay Douglas. To avoid the charge of injustice and unfairness to the west and to promote the national spirit in golf, the U. S. G. A. recently decided upon the Glenview Golf club's links at Golf, Ill., for the amateur championship of the United States. This victory for the west after the east seemingly had adopted the policy of keeping the championship tourney in its own locality indefinitely was gained only after the hardest and most spectacular fight ever waged for a championship.

Why should the voices of Champion W. J. Travis and his great rival, former Champion Findlay S. Douglas, be raised against the western course? That is the query that was asked when it became generally known that these golfers had opposed Glenview and had belittled the representation of the west in past championships.

The cold fact is, according to an expert who has followed the play in every national championship held in this country, that the east does not take kindly to the water hazards that obtain on the western courses.

At Atlantic City Country club, where Travis last season retained his championship honors by a desperate contest with Douglas in the semi-finals and a more or less exciting round with Walter Egan, the schoolboy golfer of the west, there were no creeks and ponds to play over. It is well known that there are courses in the west that have water hazards that try the patience and skill of the visitor from the east, whereas they are scarcely noticed by those who are accustomed to playing over them. Both Douglas and Travis have played on courses abroad and fear little in the way of bunkers or water hazards, yet they are cautious enough to realize that the element of uncertainty on a course which crosses a big reservoir once and the meandering river five times is too great not to be regarded as a handicap for the men of the east. Furthermore, the greatest golf ever played by any man in the United States was put up on the Glenview course when William Holabird, Jr., now attending Pottstown school in preparation for Yale, defeated Lawrence Auchterlonie, the western professional champion, and made the 18 holes in 71, or 12 strokes under "bogey."

EARLY TRAINING IN THE SOUTH.

AS REGULARLY as the seasons roll by come the reports of the early work of race horses that annually are quartered in that famous horse haven—Montgomery Park, near Memphis, Tenn. New Orleans winter racing, outside its one classic — the Crescent City Derby—is not generally recognized as the beginning of the thoroughbred's season of activity. Men who follow the horses "up the line" from the Little Rock to the Chicago race meetings wait for Memphis to open before they begin to plan on stake victories. The Montgomery Handicap and the Tennessee Derby mark the beginning of the stake season, which also has the Kentucky and Latonia Derbies and the old American "blue ribbon event," the original Derby of Washington park.

Reports from horseland in Tennessee during February generaly scintillate with trials of Derby candidates. Trainers have all sorts of tryouts, and many a stake is won by the owners and "rail birds," who sit on the fence and watch the work-outs. This year has been the most backward season in the south noted in many seasons. Because of the severity of the winter and the presence of snow and mud many a valuable colt and filly depended upon for large earnings this year has been deprived of opportunities to show fast quarters and start all sorts of gossip in the haunts of the winter bookmakers.

Costly indeed are the early spring operations of a big stable. The owner foots big bills that the public has no idea of. If the season is backward and the trainers are unable to report satisfactory progress in preparing horses for racing, the financial backers of the stables are likely to storm and fret. The conservative owners, however, nonchalantly accept the conditions and hope for weather in the spring meetings that will compensate for the bad spells. J. W. Schoor, one of the representative turfmen of the south, recently declared that as long as he had been conducting a stable he had made no profit from it. His animals are first to make the mud fly at Montgomery park, yet both he and Sam Hildreth, who owns McChesney, considered to be a great factor in the American Derby and other stakes, realized this year the futility of trying to give their animals early preparation when the weather was more suitable to arctic exploration than to training. "As the die is cast in the south, so it will remain through the season" used to be an adage with the turfmen. But the latter have departed from that belief. They will not move their animals farther south next year, but will take the early spring weather as it comes.

CONVINCING PROOF.

The Average Plainfield Citizen Must Accept the Following Proof.

The great Sir Isaac Newton, one of the most profound reasoners the world ever produced, once cut a large hole in a board fence to allow a favorite cat access to two gardens, and cut a smaller hole to allow her kitten to follow her. The weakness manifested in Sir Isaac's action was due to want of thought. Any reader who mentally debates the proof offered here about Doan's Kidney Pills and arrives at any other conclusion than that stated in this citizen's statement, is as short of reasoning powers as the philosopher when he turned carpenter.

Mr. Robert Love, of 44 Duer street, member of the firm of Love Brothers, grocers, of 257 West Front street, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for eight or nine years—pain across the back and a lameness over the kidneys. Colds always settled there and aggravated it. At last my back grew weaker and any heavy lifting or too much standing or sitting gave me additional pain. In the morning my back bothered me greatly until I moved about and took some exercise when it became better to a certain extent. I doctored and used different kinds of so-called kidney cures, but it was throwing money away. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our paper, and, being in bad shape at the time, I got a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. Before taking half of it my condition was greatly improved, and continuing their use all the pain left me."

TAILOR MADE GOWNS.

Simple General Utility Dresses to Be the Style This Spring.

For the warm spring days a tailor made dress will be found useful. This should be made, as its name indicates, in a rather simple manner, carefully fitted and with strapped or stitched seams. Smart little fronts can be introduced to vary the monotony, and these can be of delicate colors harmonizing with the goods. With a costume of this sort a rather severe hat is a necessity. By this is meant a hat that is smart rather than dressy.

The blouse waist is being more and more replaced by the dress. Especially is this the case with women whose stout figures will not permit them to look well in a two piece costume. Besides the tailor made costume of woolen goods there will be worn a little later chic general utility gowns of black and white foulard, brilliantine and linen.

Dresses of blue or red brilliantine, trimmed with bands of black moire, will be both useful and smart.

A serviceable tailor made gown is shown in the cut. It is made of deep blue cheviot, with a front of tan broadcloth. This front is made plain, with two rows of buttons. The waist has two pointed straps over the shoulders, and it is made to pouch slightly in front. The sleeves are full at the wrists, with tight fitting cuffs. The skirt is trimmed with four rows of strapping. The hat worn with this is of white felt, trimmed with buff colored ribbon and a broad band of black velvet.

UP TO DATE HOUSE GOWNS

They Combine the Best Elements of Historical Costumes.

The picturesque element is obtaining a greater hold in house dresses. Here the empire, the Louis XV. and even certain styles suggesting the mediæval are to be found.

Handsome picture gowns intended for house wear are made with a watteau overdress falling in straight plaits over a full soft front of lace. The sleeves are elbow length and are either of the goods with soft ruffles of lace or of the all over lace of which the front is made.

Flowered china silks now come in all the pompadour colorings and are charming for these dainty house gowns. They are tucked in clusters or trimmed with butter colored lace applique.

Fichus, with long ends reaching to the feet, are very handsome and give the wearer a stately air.

The wrapper in the illustration represents one of the most fashionable and latest designs. It is made of accordion plaited goods or rough crape. The neck is finished off with two broad tucked collars, banded with cluny lace insertion. Where the collars meet in front there is a long sashlike pendant reaching below the knees. The sleeves are on the picture order and are heavily trimmed with the insertion. The bottom of the skirt is finished by a double fulled ruffle, banded with the insertion.

"That thought has already impressed me deeply. I am satisfied now that the woman's safest plan is to see that he doesn't leave until he has met her demands. And, madam, you have the power to control him. At six o'clock, unless I see you both earlier, I shall address an anonymous communication—"

"Will you take tea with us at six, instead—in my own apartments? I think that better."

"At six then. I like the idea!"

In the privacy of her own room Mrs. Brookin gave unrestrained expression to a rage that was consuming her. No one who knew the cool, suave, tactful woman of affairs would have recognized her at that moment. She paced the luxurious apartment with the fury and abandon of a tigress entrapped, her crushed parasol and the emblems of her mourning beneath her feet. Responsive to her furious ringing, William came running to the room at intervals of five minutes to answer over and over:

"No, ma'am, Mr. Raymond ain't come in yet," and returned to tell below stairs that "Mistis is done gone plum mad over some'p'n!" Raymond came at last. As he entered his mother's room such a storm burst upon him as he had not dreamed could emanate from the heart of a woman. She had been humiliated, outwitted and belittled by an adventuress, she declared; she had been threatened and would be forced into a compromise with a creature of the gutters, and if they carried out their contract, what a triumph for Brodnar and the jealous, envious people who had resented their entrance into Richmond society! At the moment she hated even her son; she blamed him for his insane disregard of her wishes; he had been a marplot, she declared, balking her efforts to advance his fortunes, winning disgrace where she had opened the path to honor; and now nothing was left for him but marriage with a low woman, and the loss of all for which she had striven.

"Take her," cried the despairing woman, "and out of my sight forever. Go down to her level—starve, and leave your miserable offspring to wretchedness." She gave way at length under the strain, and Raymond for the first time in his life beheld his mother abandon herself to tears. He stood moodily looking from the window until she grew quieter. When he turned she was carefully righting the room, her face was pale, but her old expression of resolve had returned, and a dangerous light shone in her eyes.

"You spoke of marriage," he said. "Do you think Louise will insist upon that? Will she not be satisfied with the child?"

"She will dictate the terms, not you. She is desperate enough for anything; and I know what a desperate woman will do to save herself." Raymond turned quickly and looked at his mother. She did not avoid his questioning gaze. "She will denounce us both to the government if you do not marry her and give her back the child. I should if I were in her place. And she will make public announcement of her claim to a common law marriage with you."

He waited in silence a minute, as though to weigh her words.

"Whether or not Louise substantiates her claim, proof of your immoral life would kill the will of my husband, for public policy would not compel Frances to marry you to inherit her property. It will not compel a young girl to condone immoral conduct for which it would grant a married woman divorce."

"Then we are ruined!" said Raymond. "I shall look out for myself. Promise her anything to-night." The selfishness of the decision would have been appalling to anyone but his mother. She looked at him a moment, a sarcastic smile hovering about her lips.

"And I shall look out for myself." She began this self-preservation instantly, and with a falsehood so ingenious that its use at that moment would alone have proven her ability as a diplomat. "But hard as it is upon me, great as is my disappointment, for you the blow is heavier; I should not, except under these circumstances, tell you, as I do tell you now, that Frances and I have reached an agreement; she has consented to carry out her father's wishes; she stipulated only that you were not to be informed of this agreement until she chose to tell you; she will not place herself in a position to be harassed or worried by a lover now; her whole thought is on the wounded soldiers." She saw the sudden rush of blood to her son's face, and then the pallor return. A groan burst from him, and he turned away; and therein was apparent the vast difference in the natures of mother and son; helplessness, weakness and surrender was possible with the man; but with the woman, though storms of adversity might overwhelm her and clouds darken her path, nothing could long daunt her fierce, relentless sirit. For her there was no such thing as complete despair. Her time had come in this battle which she was fighting against odds; she approached her despairing ally and laid her hand upon his shoulder.

"Raymond," she said, "what would you sacrifice to clear the way for marriage with Frances?"

He saw the calm, confident look in her face, and a breath of hope stirred his fainting manhood.

"Anything—everything!" he said, at length.

"If you will yield implicit obedience to me—if you will be guided—I shall clear the way for you. Will you?"

"Yes."

"Human life or lives must not be regarded. We have no friends; we are surrounded by enemies; we must put aside conscience and sentiment to win; we must hesitate nowhere. Do you understand? And do you consent?"

"I shall leave it all to you, mother. What is first to be done?"

"Meet Louise here at six o'clock, and take your cue from me. She must be disarmed of suspicion."

From the moment of his surrender Raymond Holbin was ripe for anything his mother might suggest. It was her mind that conceived the plan to convince Louise that she would be permitted to ride through the confederate picket line; that, under an arrangement secured by Raymond through friends in the war department, only a pretense of firing upon her would be made. It was a plan that would have deceived no other than a woman.

That six o'clock tea was the triumph of a brilliant diplomatist's career. Louise was forgiven, caressed, received back as a member of the family, her claims and wrongs acknowledged, and full reparation agreed upon. No one could have excelled Mrs. Brookin in the tenderness with which she treated the now happy woman. She blamed Raymond openy for having concealed the truth from her.

"I knew nothing of the unfair advantage he took of you—nor of the child," she said to Louise. "My husband's niece! It was indeed a crime! And yet I see now that I largely have been to blame. I threatened him; my heart was set upon another plan. My dear child, if loving care and sympathy can compensate in part for what you have suffered, they shall be yours. But although the circumstances seem to demand that marriage should at once be solemnized, the ceremony must not be performed in Richmond. In all likelihood this city will be your home, and you should come here as Raymond's wife. Fortunately, he has given no one here reason to suppose he is single, and it will be very easy at the right time to have you and the little girl arrive. I assure you, my daughter, that your reception will leave no room for doubt as to your future position." As Louise sat looking into the benevolent face of the older woman, with tearful eyes, her heart overflowed with gratitude.

"My child, madam," she faltered. "Where is she?"

"Near the city, but just now beyond the lines. You will be directed how to reach her when you get through; or better, Raymond will join you, and together you will find her."

Louise went back to the hotel almost content.

Marriage Encourages.

It is doubtful whether any inducement to marriage was more remarkable than that recently put forward by a well-known Austrian nobleman who was anxious to encourage matrimony among the peasants on his estate. He undertook to provide each bridegroom with tobacco supplies for life and each bride with four pairs of gloves per annum. The generous offer acted like a charm, and very soon there was scarce a single bachelor remaining on the nobleman's vast estate.—Argonaut.

WANTED TO MAKE SURE.

A Little Incident Which Illustrates Senator John T. Morgan's Devotion to Accuracy.

Senator John T. Morgan, of Alabama, is said to have more general information stored away in his head than any other member of the United States senate. Although he has devoted the most of his time for years to the isthmian canal question, he has found opportunity to keep track of everything else that was going on in Washington. When the other members of the senate want to find out anything they ask Morgan.

The other day, during a discussion of the interoceanic canal bill, one of the members of the committee asked Senator Morgan what were the provisions of a certain treaty with France which had worked itself into the controversy. Much to their surprise the senator did not answer, but sent his clerk to Senator Cullom's room for a copy of the volume containing a compilation of the treaties entered into by this nation with foreign governments. When the clerk returned Mr. Morgan laboriously looked up the treaty in question in the index and then proceeded to enlighten the other senators. He held the open book before him while he repeated the provisions of the treaty, but the other senators noticed that not once did he glance at the printed page while he was reciting the provisions.

HON. JOHN T. MORGAN.
(Senior United States Senator from Alabama.)

"Why did you send for the book if you knew the text of the treaty by heart?" asked Senator Elkins.

"Well," replied Morgan, "I could not remember for the life of me whether it began with 'This,' or 'A' and I wanted to make sure."

GLOOMY RETROSPECT.

Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania Proves Himself a Wit as Well as a Wise Statesman.

No man in office in Pennsylvania better appreciates a story or a bit of wit more than Gov. Stone, says the Philadelphia Press. It is an admitted fact that of all the legislatures that ever assembled in Harrisburg that of 1901 was the worst. To this day men speak in whispers when they say that they were members of the last Pennsylvania legislature. When the legislature adjourned a friend of Gov. Stone, meeting him in the capitol park, said to him:

"Well, governor, now comes your time of recreation and release from trouble. You have 18 months more of office, and you will have literally nothing to do. You will be called upon to make a few minor appointments, but you can do that without fear of offending anybody. There is nothing ahead to trouble you, and, best of all, there is no legislature before you."

GOV. WILLIAM A. STONE.
(Chief Executive of the State of Pennsylvania.)

Gov. Stone smiled grimly, regarded his friend curiously, and then, with a sad shake of his head said:

"No, there is no legislature before me; but, good Lord, look at the one behind me." And he passed on down the hill to the executive mansion.

Brain Lifted from Its Bed.

By one of the most remarkable operations known to surgery the brain of Rev. William A. Stark, pastor of the Broadway German Methodist church of Baltimore, actually was lifted from its bed and the roots of certain nerves that had caused the clergyman excessive neuralgia were extracted. The patient is said to have stood the operation well and small doubts of his recovery are entertained. The operation was performed at the Johns Hopkins hospital.

TROUBLE IN HAWAII.

President Determined to Restore Peace and Unity.

George R. Carter, a Prominent Politician of Honolulu, Summoned to Explain the Situation in the Islands.

Senator George R. Carter, of the legislature of the territory of Hawaii, is now in Washington, as a sort of commissioner to President Roosevelt, to inform him as to the political situation in Hawaii. Carter is a well-known young business man of Hawaii who was elected to the last senatorial senate on the republican ticket. A few days ago, when Hawaii was agog with reports that Gov. Dole was about to be removed and Samuel Parker was to be put in his place, Carter received a personal letter from the president, inviting him to make a statement of the situation in the territory. The letter was a complete surprise to the recipient, who has never met Roosevelt and did not know that the chief executive was aware of his existence.

Carter's task is compared in Hawaii to that which President Cleveland imposed upon the late J. H. Blount, of Georgia, when the latter was sent to Hawaii, after the overthrow of the monarchy, to investigate, as a "paramount commissioner," what had taken place, and report to Washington. Since Carter received his letter, he has had much the same experience as Blount had, having been called on by party leaders of all kinds and business men generally, who were desirous of getting their views before him before he left for Washington. The president's letter indicated that he expected Carter to write a statement, but Carter preferred to see the president in person.

In Hawaii the impression prevails that the action of the president portends a general reorganization of the territorial government. Ever since the organic act by which Hawaii was made a territory went into effect the islands have been torn by political dissensions. There has been a continuous campaign against Gov. Dole, the main movers being the royalists of the old days and their sympathizers. Visitors to Washington have followed one another, a large number of them trying to have Dole removed, though no charge has ever been brought against him such as would warrant investigation, or be a reason for removal. Just before Carter received his letter it was reported in Honolulu that the president had decided that in order to bring about a harmonious administration in the new territory it was best to ask for the resignation of Dole, and it was also reported that Samuel Parker was to succeed him.

HON. GEORGE R. CARTER.
(His Advice on Hawaiian Affairs Has Been Sought by President.)

Senator Carter, says the Washington Star, comes from one of the oldest white families in the Hawaiian islands. His grandfather arrived in the islands before 1830, reaching there on a whaler and settling in the country. His father was H. A. P. Carter, a successful man of affairs in the islands, and his mother was the daughter of the late Dr. G. P. Judd, the man who negotiated the treaties with France and England by which both countries agreed to keep their hands off the islands, and by which, it is generally thought, the independence of the islands were preserved up to the time when America took them.

Senator Carter was born in Hawaii, 1869. He entered Yale (Sheffield Scientific school) with the class of '88, after a preliminary education in Oahu college, Honolulu. He was a member of the Yale varsity football team for three years, in '86, '87 and '88. He was one of Yale's oarsmen in '87 and '88. He returned to Honolulu in 1896, and is now the treasurer of the Hawaiian Trust and Investment company, the Hawaiian Electric company and the Hawaiian Fertilizer company, very successful corporations. He was elected to the first legislature and was one of the hardest fighters against some of the frivolities of the home rule lawmakers. During the bubonic plague epidemic in Honolulu nearly two years ago, Carter was made chairman of the citizens' financial committee which took charge of the finances of the very expensive quarantine and campaign against the disease for the board of health.

It is thought in Honolulu that if President Roosevelt decides to ask for the resignation of Gov. Dole he will at the same time call for a number of other resignations. The judiciary is involved as well as the executive department, and a cleaning out there may be made.

SPORTING NEWS

GOLF.

Edward Eriksen, the expert at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, says that the course is in fine condition. He believes that if the weather continues favorable it will be possible to use the course quite early.

There will be a meeting of the golf committees from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club in a few days when plans for the season will be made. It is reported that Morirs J. Dumont will be captain of the club's team.

It has not yet been learned whether Frank O. Reinhart will enter the collegiate golf tournament this season or not. His recent experience at Trenton together with his subsequent suspension from Princeton has kept him off the University golf team. It is to be hoped that he will have an opportunity of joining the team. This would go a long way toward helping the team to win high honors. Inasmuch as Reinhart was acquitted of the charge brought against him, it seems as though he might be allowed to compete in the coming golf events. Plainfield is sure, however, of having an able representative in the Princeton golf circles in J. Whitney Baker, who has developed rapidly and plays a strong game.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

An invitation has been received by the Plainfield High School Athletic Association to participate in the relay carnival to be held under the auspices of Rutgers College Athletic Association May 24. The meet is to be confined to the preparatory schools in this State. Rutgers College has practically a new field and the meet will be a great event in the history of the institution's athletics. No action has been taken on the invitation.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Watchung Baseball Club has organized for the season. At a meeting held Tuesday the folowing officers were elected: Captain, Levis Minford; manager, Willie Doane; treasurer, Arthur Wills. Practice games are now being held and it is hoped to be able to start the regular schedule the latter part of April. The make-up of the team will be changed but little from that of last year.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Jolly Bowlers and the Bound Brook bowling club will meet on McLaughlin's alleys this evening. The Jolley Bowlers recently defeated the Bound Brooks three straight games and the latter are anxious to even matters. It is said the visiting team will be greatly strengthened and an exciting contest is looked for.

TENNIS.

The four new tennis courts which have been located near the Hillside Tennis and Golf Clubhouse, will be ready for use at an early date. It is proposed to make tennis a feature equal with that of golf, this year, and already a number of enthusiasts have signified their intention of playing the game.

Attempt at Poisoning.

There was a narrow escape from poisoning for a Washington Park family this week. The peculiar actions of a colored domestic, whose term of service had nearly expired, were noticed and this led the family to have some queer looking drinking water analysed. It was found to contain poison. After a consultation with the authorities the servant was dismissed.

WHY MISSIONARY RETURNED

REV. R. D. SCHOONMAKER EXPLAINED REASONS FOR HIS COURSE.

Felt It His Duty to His Widowed Mother—Rev. Dr. Watson Advised Him to Return.

Rev. Robert Dazell Schoonmaker, who departed a fortnight ago for Africa, where he intended to labor in the mission field, returned home this morning, arriving on the Teutonic. When seen by a Daily Press reporter he gave the reason for his return without hesitation.

The young clergyman states that his action is a duty which he believes he owes to his widowed mother, Mrs. J. S. Schoonmaker. It had been a great grief to her that her oldest son felt a call to go to the mission fields of Africa and labor amid all the dangers of the torrid climate. While she made no attempt to restrain him, her worriment began to seriously affect her health. When on the steamer, outward bound, he soberly considered the matter, and on arriving at London consulted Rev. Dr. Watson, "Ian MacLaren," who advised him that his Christian duty to his mother was to return as he could be of as much service to the cause of Christ at home as in the foreign field. He said that he realized he would be criticized for his act but he was ready to meet it. For six years he had been preparing for the work but he felt that it was his duty to give it up.

Smuggling Made Easy.

A schooner loaded with very bad whisky tried in vain to land its illicit cargo in Bangor, Me., as the deputies were unusually watchful. Finally the skipper grew desperate and decided on a bold move. He happened to own a small and unused barn in the suburbs. That night he caused it to be set on fire, and had some of his friends set up a great hullabaloo about the streets, to the effect that a terrible conflagration had started. The police, deputies, small boys, town dogs, members of the board of trade, secret societies and citizens, on foot and in carriages, turned out and started for the fire. During the excitement the clever liquor dealer ran his schooner up to the pier and got her cargo safely housed before the crowd came back. —N. Y. Tribune.

A Warning from Lo.

"We are absoultely sure," said the western man, "that Germany thinks ever and ever so much of us, and wouldn't do a thing to harm us for the world."

"How do you know?" asked the Indian chief.

"Because Prince Henry is coming over here to present our leading citizens and officials with beautiful cigarette cases and sleeve buttons and other valuable souvenirs."

"Listen, O white man," said the Indian, earnestly; "listen to the voice of sad experience. Do not be too trustful. When the Europeans first visited our country they made us beautiful presents of glass beads and jackknives. And now they are trying to make us cut our hair and wear suspenders!"—Washington Star.

Paper Valises.

The traveling-bag has undergone interesting changes within the last few years, and has become a much more handy article than it used to be. Recently the valise of woven straw, which weighs practically nothing at all, and actually not more than a few ounces, has come much into fashion, but now this seems likely to be in its turn superseded by the paper traveling-bag, invented by a Pennsylvania man. It is collapsible when empty, so that it can be stored or shipped in that condition just like a flat sheet of paper. When wanted for use it may be expanded at a moment's notice into the form of a valise, with a suitable handle.—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Function of the Arms in Walking.

It is pointed out that, in walking or running, the arms and legs produce a "balancing" like that of the reciprocating and revolving parts of a locomotive. The movements of the legs react upon the trunk and tend to rotate it, in alternate directions, about a vertical axis. But the swinging of the arms, each in unison with the opposite leg, produces an opposing mechanical couple, the effect of which is to rotate the trunk in the other direction, thus balancing, in part at least, the rotating action of the legs. —Youth's Companion.

"They certainly were," asserted the other, gulping down a pill containing two fried eggs and a cup of coffee. "Why, Ruggins' 'Customs of the Ancients' says that during the period 1902-'25 a busy merchant frequently spent ten minutes in eating one meal."—Baltimore News.

IN MEMORY OF PRINCETON

Annual Dinner of Princeton Alumni, of Union County, Held at Park Ave. Hotel.

WITTY THINGS SAID.

Some Distinguished Men Among the Guests—Plainfield Was Well Represented—Speeches Follow the Excellent Repast—City Judge Runyon Spoke for "Yale."

Songs dear to the sons of Old Nassau and speeches filled with antecdotes and stories, having special reference to men and things at New Jersey's historic seat of learning, combined to gladden the hearts and bring back fond memories of the Princetonians who gathered at the Park Avenue Hotel last evening and held the annual banquet of the Union County Alumni Association of that famous institution. In the gathering were many men who in life's race have won distinction and stand as types of the university man.

The affair was held in parlor A of the hotel and lasted until the midnight hour, although after that time some Bohemian moments were spent. Between the courses college and class songs, and some that were of a different sort, for instance a few of Kipling's ballads, served to enliven the periods although the true college spirit of good fellowship was enough to answer the purpose.

George C. Thomas, class of 1879, of Elizabeth, the retiring president of the association, acted as toastmaster. Before he was allowed to proceed with a few remarks concerning the purpose of the organization this is what they sang:

"Here's to the class of seventy-nine!
They fill up our programme every time.
See them sitting there two in a line.
Here's to the class of seventy-nine!"

A locomotive cheer was ordered for Professor Woodrow Wilson, of the Princeton faculty, who was assigned to answer to the toast "The University."

The volunteer choir started in and this was what was sung:

"Here's to Woodrow Wilson Oh!
He'll tell us what we want to know,
So now cork up and give him a show.
Heres' to Woodrow Wilson Oh!"

The scholarly speaker in commencing his remarks stated that an alumni banquet was no place for him to play a part for those at the board were onto his curves. He admitted that there was a sort of family relation between such a function of Harvard and Princeton and of Yale and Princeton, but he submitted that a Princeton affair of the kind had a certain distinctiveness that the others lacked. A speaker, said he, is supposed to say something with an air of saying it for the first time. A university professor today, said he, apart from his regular duties is supposed to make after dinner speeches, and talk on things he kowns nothing about and, aside from this, lecture in the University Extension course, where the university is spread on so thin that it does no one harm. He made reference to the part of the procession in which the university is to be found, and touched on the attempt of certain college professors to become partisan and settle questions of the day, as Dr. Andrews, of Brown, did.

"The true idea of the university is not to exclude new thoughts," said he. "We want light on things before us, not on the past. Gather the lights that have never gone out." At some length he dwelt upon the benefits of a small institution of learning by reason of the intellectual giants being closer to the student, than at a big college. The substitute, at the university, is the ideal and that ideal, said he, should be embodied in the corps of instruction. There should be an atmosphere or a college spirit. At Princeton, said he, this spirit is comradeship. In closing, Professor Wilson stated the real purposes of a college education and had something to say regarding the harmfulness of an elective system. His remarks were replete with funny stories.

City Judge Wm. N. Runyon responded for "Yale." He came in for a little jibe dressed up in this rhyme:

"Here's to Runyon our friend from Yale!
He'd like to twist the Tiger's tail.
The thought of a speech has made him pale.
Here's to Runyon our friend from Yale!"

The Judge waxed witty and managed to get in a number of hits on Princeton. In speaking of the benefits of a college education he confessed that it had puzzled his mind for some time to learn why he went to the univeristy. He got the solution in the Yale charter which states that the purpose of the institution is to train the youth for the Church and the Civil State. As a result of his education for the Civil State he found himself transferring "jags" from Plainfield to Elizabeth, and for the Church in giving a colored minstrel show at Hope chapel.

Incidently he referred to the fact that Plainfield had furnished Princeton with a golf champion and at the same time, according to events at Trenton, with a long distance alibi champion. In closing he paid a tribute to the master minds, Hadley, of Yale, and Wilson, of Princeotn.

A speech abounding in dry wit was made by A. G. Reeves, of New York, who had consented to speak on "At Large" in place of R. H. McCarter, who was unable to attend. He was greeted with this "composition:"

Here's to Reeves of eighty-four!
A man who's learned in the law.
Listen now and give him the floor.
Here's to Reeves of eighty-four!

The topic assigned to him, said Mr. Reeves, compelled him to confine his remarks to the man of the world, or the worldly man. He declared that it was best for the graduate that Princeton sent him out in the world to fight alone and to succeed on his own basis. Princeton, he pointed out, does the work for the student while there and then leaves him to rise according to his own efforts.

It was explained by Wilson Farrand, who responded to "The Evolution of a Freshman," that his subject had been changed three times and he first knew of the real topic on arriving in Plainfield. He explained the relation of a school to a college and traced the efforts towards perfect co-operation between these two links in the educational chain. He said that the true influence of school work should not be merely to get a pupil into college, but that it should last during the time he is there.

After the speeches some remained to spend an informal sort of a time. At the request of Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, City Judge Runyon was announced to favor the crowd with "If I Was Born a Millionaire." His rendition of this local song, accompanying himself on the piano, made a decided hit.

The officers for the coming year are: President, Walter Gaston, of Plainfield; vice president, State Senator Joseph Cross, of Elizabeth; executive committee, Dr. William H. Murray, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges and E. J. Patterson, all of this city, and George C. Thomas, of Elizabeth. The members of the organization are Whitney Baker, James R. Blake, E. J. Patterson, O. G. Waring, D. W. Taylor, Dr. B. vanD. Hedges, J. P. Murray, H. C. Munger, Dr. E. W. Hedges, W. T. Kaufman, Dr. W. H. Murray and Walter Gaston, all of this city; Gardiner Miller, of Roselle; Knox Taylor, of Bound Brook; C. English, J. H. Chidester, F. W. Park, Dr. F. W. Bailey, W. M. Atkinson, Dr. J. E. Green, Dr. E. B. Grier, George C. Thomas, Rev. W. C. Bonnell, Senator Joseph Cross, County Prosecutor N. C. J. English, Surrogate George T. Parrot, and Judge E. S. Atwater, all of Elizabeth. The guests were Judge William N. Runyon, Dr. Frank C. Ard and Dr. John H. Carman, all of this city.

TALK ON BROWNING.

Prof. E. H. Griggs Gave Another Lecture to Monday Afternoon Club.

An instructive talk on Browning's "The Ring and the Book" was given by Professor Edward Howard Griggs before the Monday Afternoon Club in the Sunday-school room of the Crescent Avenue church yesterday afternoon.

There was a large attendance and everyone was absorbed in the remarks of the leotruer. He first told the story of the work, which is divided into twelve books. The books in particular, Caponsacch and Conpilia, he dwelt at some length on and described the beauty of the lines and the excellence of the description.

WOMEN DRANK TEA AND TALKED MISSIONS

Missionary League of Trinity Reformed Church Gave a Successful Affair.

IN BEHALF OF MISSIONS.

IT WAS HELD AT HOME OF S. C. PECK, OF WEST FRONT STRTET.

Sold and Distributed Literature on Missions—Charming Decorations—Those Who Received and Assisted in the Dining Room.

Under the auspices of the Missionary League, of Trinity Reformed church, a successful tea was held at the home of Mrs. S. C. Peck, of West Front street, yesterday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. The affair was well attended by members of the league and their friends.

Sociability was a prominent feature, while the cause of missions received attention through the sale of literature telling about the several missions in which the League is interested. The mounted pictures in the different mission fields, prepared by Mrs. W. A. Woodruff, were also greatly enjoyed. In the reception room there were the tables of literature, one for each of the missions represented, such as the Aribian, Japan, China, as well as home missions. There were for sale interesting missionary books, while there was a supply of missionary pamphlets for free distribution. At another table there were received renewals or new subscriptions for missionary papers.

The decorations in the dining room consisted of tulips and pink carnations, while in the drawing room red carnations were used in profusion. Those in the reception room were Mrs. Charles P. Leggett, Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mrs. S. C. Peck, Mrs. C. Frank French, Mrs. Kershaw.

Those who poured tea and cocoa were Mrs. Ellen Disbrough and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., while those who served were Mrs. H. B. Paul, Mrs. J. Beckman, Mrs. G. W. Cole, Mrs. S. C. Baker, Mrs. G. VanWinkle and Mrs. P. M. Demarest. Those in charge of the tables of literature were Mrs. William A. Woodruff, Mrs. A. M. Gillem, Mrs. O. W. Dunham, Mrs. Henry VanName, Mrs. B. D. Newell and Mrs. A. L. Force.

A silver offreing was recieved at the door by Mrs. Caspar Bolseterli and a considerable sum was realized from this source. The money received at the affair will be used to further the missionary work in which the League is introduced.

IT WAS HIS DRIVER.

Not A. Perregauc, of Stirling, Who Fell Off Wagon and Was Injured.

It was not A. Perregauc, foreman of the Stirling silk mill farm, who fell from his wagon, in an intoxicated condition Monday afternoon, and allowed his horses to wander away. It was a driver employed by Mr. Perregauc and he is still confined to his bed by the injuries received on that occasion. Mr. Perregauc is well-known here as a highly respectable man and bears an excellent reputation in Stirling. The wagon contained a load of furniture, bound for Stirling. Horses and wagon were found unharmed in the woods next day.

DEATH OF THOS. HONAN.

He was an expert gardener and for many years had charge of the Serrell property on West Front street. Ill health compelled him to retire from active work several years ago.

He leaves a widow, one son, John Honan, and two daughters, the Misses Kathryn and Mary Nonan. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

"His residence among us and the fellowship with his family have been greatly enjoyed by us, and we regret the severance of these delightful associations. Our best wishes and ardent prayers shall go with him to whatever field of labor he, in the Providence and Wisdom of the Church, may be called."

AS SEEN BY HER.

Miss Carman Gave Illustrated Lecture on Trip to the Orient.

The Y. M. C. A. Hall was well filled last evening with an appreciative audience that fully enjoyed the first of a series of three lantern evenings, given by Miss Julia Carman, D. D. S., on a "Trip to the Orient." The affair was given under the auspices of the Plainfield Camera Club.

The pictures shown last evening depicted life chiefly in Egypt, as seen every day. Miss Carman spent three months abroad and all of the pictures shown last evening, as well as those which will be used later, were taken by herself.

At the next talk, March 27, Miss Carman will illustrate her travels in lower Egypt and Palestine. Last evening Miss Carman was assisted by her father, Dr. Carman and John Neagle, of the Camera Club.

STATE APPORTIONMENT OF FRANCHISE TAXES

Allotted Among the Various Municipalities of the State by Secretary of the Board.

WHAT COMPANIES PAY.

PLAINFIELD'S SHARE WILL NOT BE COMPARATIVELY LARGE.

The Total Amount of Tax Apportioned Is $316,703.60—How It Is Divided Among the Different Counties—The Companies.

Secretary Irvin Maguire, of the State Board of Assessors, has sent out to the tax collectors of the various municipalities of the State a statement of the amount of tax apportioned to the several municipalities and to be paid by the companies using the streets and highways of the State, under the Voorhees two per cent. franchise tax act of 1900.

The total amount of tax apportioned is $316,703.60. This does not include any tax to be paid by companies that refuse to make returns because of a contention that they did not exercise municipal franchises and were exempt by the special provisions of the Voorhees act. The Supreme Court has sustained the contention of these companies and the matter is now before the Court of Errors and Appeals.

The total amount of tax to be paid by the different classes of companies is as follows: Street railway companies, $151,805.80; gas and electric companies, $116,319.90; oil and pipe line companies, $2,732.86; district telegraph companies, $715.69; telegraph and telephone companies, $23,770.71; water companies, $19,639.97.

In this city there are a few companies that are taxed. These include the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company, the Plainfield Water Supply Company, the telegraph and telephone companies. The work of apportioning the two per cent. tax has involved a great deal of detail. The tax paid by a single company, in many instances, had to be apportioned to scores of different municipalities.

Under the Voorhees act the two per cent. tax to be paid by a given company had to be apportioned to all the municipalities in which the company operated on a basis of the assessed valuation in the different municipalities of the property of such companies in the streets of those municipalities.

Under the apportionment Plainfield does not get as much as many other cities in the State. This is due to the fact that it has no great number of companies upon which taxes are levied.

The total tax to be paid by the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company will be $4,146; New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, $15,863.26; Western Union Telegraph Company, $1,261.68; Postal Telegraph and Cable Company, $159.30.

The gross receipts of the different classes of companies which form the basis for determining the amount of tax to be paid by them are as follows: Street railway companies, $7,590,290; gas and electric companies, $5,815,995.73; telegraph and telephone companies, $1,188,535.78; water companies, $981,999.68; oil and pipe line companies, $136,643.19; sewer companies, $85,933.12; district telegraph companies, $35,784.55; total, $15,835,182.05.

The following table will show the amount of tax apportioned to all the municipalities of the several counties of the State:

PLEASING EVENING OF MUSIC

GIVEN TO SHOW BEAUTY OF UNITARIAN CHURCH'S NEW ORGAN.

Ward Stephens' Selections Were Fine—Miss Pierpont, Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Waldo Did Well.

Four musical artists, all of whom have gained distinction in their adopted profession, formed a quartette which gave a most delightful concert at All Souls' Unitarian church, last evening. The artists appearing were Ward Stephens, the well-known organist; Miss Ida Mae Pierpont, soprano; A. H. Chamberlain, baritone; and Fullerton L. Waldo, viola. The concert was enjoyed by a large gathering of music lovers.

While the eleven numbers composing the programme were all rendered in a manner which merited the generous applause, those by Mr. Stephens and Miss Pierpont were charming. The former's perfect mastery of the organ is well known to Plainfielders and last evening's portrayal but maintained his standard. Of the six selections allotted him, his "Parsifal—(prelude to Act 1) from Wagner, was clearly the favorite. It afforded him an opportunity to display his delicate touch without sacrificing any of his wonderful technique. All of his selections were faithfully interpreted.

Miss Pierpont, while not a total stranger to local audiences, won many more friends by her beautiful soprano voice. Unlike most singers of her class, she has perfect range, high and low notes alike, but serving to show its sweetness. Her selections were varied in character but in none was she at all unfamiliar. They were from Adams, Lohr, Chaminade, Nevin and Rogers.

The baritone solos of Mr. Chamberlain were an enjoyable feature and contributed greatly to the excellence of the programme. They were "Dio Possente," from Gounod, and "When Richelieu the Red Robe Wore," by Murray. His expression and pronunciation were distinctively fine.

Fullerton L. Waldo rendered two selections on the viola in his usual excellent manner. Both were interpreted with much feeling. They completed a programme which has seldom been surpassed.

The concert was given in the main for the purpose of exemplifying the beauty of the new organ, which was recently installed

SECOND "AT HOME."

Those who assisted Miss Rafferty in receiving were Mrs. Henry A. McGee, Mrs. George P. Dupee, Mrs. John Gray Foster, Mrs. D. DeWitt Brokaw, Mrs. Susan Wilson, Mrs. James R. Joy and Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr. The young women who assisted in the dining room included Mrs. Alexander Milne, Mrs. William M. McCutchen, Miss Frances Weir, Miss Helen Weir, Miss Edith Clapp, Miss Saidee Mae Howell, Miss Elsie Brokaw and Miss Bessie Valiant.

SENATE PASSED ALL THE BILLS

Referendum Clause Was Attached to the Annexation Bill and Sent Back to Assembly.

FOR ACTION MONDAY.

Other Two Bills Await Governor's Signature—It Is Expected That Annexation Measure Will Go Through the Assembly With But Little Opposition.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 21—One solitary vote was the only dissent recorded in the Senate to the Greater Plainfield bills, which passed that body yesterday after an eloquent speeches being made in their favor. A referendum clause was attached to the bill for the annexation of North Plainfield to Union county. In this shape the annexation bill has gone over to the Assembly for approval with the amendment attached.

The consolidation bill, which provides for the coalition of the two municipalities, having been passed by the Legislature, is ready for the Governor's signature. Senator Hutchinson, of Mercer, alone opposed the annexation bill. He explained that his vote was in the interests of the agricultural sections of Somerset county.

Senator Reed, in the course of his remarks, clearly defined his position in the matter and nailed the lie concerning alleged trickery over the bills when in the House. He declared that North Plainfield was nothing more than an overgrowth of Plainfield. He also dwelt on the excises and other features of the question.

Senator Joseph Cross, of Union, made a ringing speech in favor of the bills and after a full discussion of the intent of the measures they were put through the Senate. Monday evening the Assembly will pass on the annexation bill and it is thought that there will be small opposition to it. Thereafter it will be immediatley transmitted to the Governor for his signature which is looked upon as certain.

BELONGED TO BOLSTERLI.

Money Found in Babcock Building Ruins Was Part of His Loss.

The $80 found at the Babcock building last week by Robert Motley, proved to be a portion of the $260 lost by Caspar Bolsterli, tyler of the lodges forming the Masonic Hall ssociation. The money was returned to the owner.

In the meantime, the Masonic brethren made up a purse of $80 which they have given to Mr. Bolsterli. He is now $100 short on the sum he had in a tin box. It is possible that the balance may be found. Mr. Bolsterli has been given room in W. H. Sebring's tailoring establishment in Park avenue, where his friends can find him.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The reports of the terrible seasickness on ferryboats plying between New York and Jersey City may have been the basis of the successful arguments which resulted in the withdrawal of all opposition to the Pennsylvania tunnel bills in the Senate.—Newark News.

Assemblyman Newcorn, of Plainfield, has introduced a bill which establishes the office of registrar of deeds in all counties over 85,000 population, to be elected by popular vote.

This bill, if it becomes a law, will take effect in Union county only at the expiration of County Clerk Howard's term. It will practically cut down the county clerks fees one half, unless this or a subsequent measure fixes the salaries of county clerk, registrar and all other county officials. That the salary system must supersede the fee system, sooner or later, all will admit, but it is a question whether it is best to make the change now. The county clerk is now about the best paid official in the county, but if the emoluments were reduced one-half the office would not be so greatly sought after. If a law were passed fixing liberal salaries to all county offices, instead of fees as at present, the total expense to the county would be greater than the total fees, especially if a registrar of deeds was provided for, but in the course of a few years the county would receive more in fees than it would pay in salaries. The change will come, but this county is hardly prepared for it at present.—Elizabeth Journal.

The popular demand for free public baths is not confined to any locality. It is as emphatic in New York City as it is in this city, where Mayor Fagan has taken up the subject with commendable vigor. The New York Times, in urging the New York authorities to provide free baths in Manhattan, says these things, which are directly applicable to Jersey City:

"The comparatively narrow space in which most families are compelled to live increases the intensity of existing evils by making even provisional bathing arrangements difficult of creation.

"Such a condition as this is a menace to the city's health, is a discredit to the city's humanity, and a reflection on the city's enterprise. The present administration can give no more welcome proof of its purpose to shape the course of the municipality toward a better future than by appropriating during its term of office as much money as its somewhat cramped financial condition will permit to the erection in various quarters of bath houses so planned and constructed that they will be capable of future development; laundry facilities available to the very poor are a necessity, and public bath buildings should be so constructed as to permit of their introduction whenever in the future the city government can afford the money necessary for their creation."—Jersey City Journal.

NOT DEFEAT.

Assembly Newcorn Does Not Believe That Their Recall by Assembly Would End Their Career.

When Assemblyman Newcorn was seen yesterday regarding the proposition to have the three Greater Plainfield measures returned to the House by the Senate, he said that he did not believe that it would mean their defeat. He believed that Assemblyman Hoagland simply desires to set himself right with his constituents who do not favor the bills and for that reason had asked for their return.

Mr. Newcorn gave assurances that if the bills are returned and there is a movement made to defeat them, after the necessary referendum clause is attached, he will then make a fight in support of the measures. He feels confident, however, that a majority in the Assembly will vote in favor of adoption.

VENEZUELAN REVOLUTION.

The Situation Considered Critical For General Castro.

WILLEMSTAD, Island of Curacao, March 21.—The Venezuelan revolution headed by General Matos seems to be taking form. Eight hundred revolutionists under General Penalozo are besieging Carupano, a seaport town in the state of Bermudez, and the revolutionists under General Monagas have surrounded Barcelona, the capital of the state of Bermudez.

General Velutini, the Venezuelan minister of the interior, has been dispatched on a special mission to Barcelona, but it is said that he will arrive there too late.

General Riera, who escaped the pursuit of the Venezuelan government troops near Cumarebo, in the state of Falcon, is marching in the direction o. Tucacas, a seaport town in the state of Lara, which place is to be attacked on land by his troops and from the sea by the revolutionary steamer Bolivar, also known as the Libertador.

The Venezuelan government is sending troops to El Hacha to intercept General Riera and prevent the junction of his troops with the revolutionists in the Barquisineto district.

It is reported that General Rolando has landed at Maturin, in the state of Bermudez.

The revolutionists have cut the cable to Barcelona, and consequently the Venezuelan government is without news from Carupano.

The situation is said to be critical for President Castro.

The Venezuelan fleet is not in condition to pursue the Bolivar, and the plans of President Castro to capture her have failed. The Bolivar was at Piritu, state of Bermudez, March 12, and during the night of March 13 she was off this island, and March 14 she was off Coro, in the state of Falcon. General Sturbe, the president of the state of Gunare, has been taken prisoner, with his staff, by the revolutionists under General Solagni.

The financial state of affairs in Venezuela is as bad as the political situation in that country. The government clerks have not been paid for six months, and coffee is unsalable.

M. Santos-Dumont's Plans.

PARIS, March 21.—M. Santos-Dumont, the aeronaut, appears very enthusiastic concerning his approaching trip to the United States, whither he will go on his own initiative. M. Santos-Dumont said: "Yes, after some negotiations I have decided to go to St. Louis and assist in drawing up the rules for the aerial contests of 1903. I will be accompanied by my secretary and my chief mechanic. I will take with me as far as New York the forty-five horsepower motor, the framework and the two propellers of my balloon No. 7. From New York I shall proceed to St. Louis to confer with the exposition authorities regarding the contests. My idea is to make a sort of aerial track, say fifteen miles in circumference, around St. Louis, marked by captive balloons and visible for the whole distance from the exposition grounds, which are to form the starting and finishing points. There should be a series of races, varying in distance from one to several times around the track. But I am strongly in favor of establishing one big race, a sort of aerial grand prix with a hundred thousand dollar prize. This would be a great stimulus to competition."

Petitions For Injunctions.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Petitions for injunctions have been filed here in the United States circuit court by United States District Attorney S. H. Bethea against six of the railway companies centering in Chicago, charging them with infractions of the interstate commerce law in regard to rate cutting. In substance the complaints are the same as those filed at Kansas City. The defendants are the Michigan Central, Illinois Central, Pennsylvania, Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis, Lake Shore and the Chicago and Northwestern roads.

FRIEND OF LAWYERS

Boston's Most Eccentric Woman Found Dead.

SHE HAD A MANIA FOR LITIGATION.

Mrs. French Lived In the Back Bay District Alone and Was Both Penurious and Generous by Turns.

BOSTON, March 21.—Mrs. Julia R. French, wealthy, eccentric and famous throughout the country because of her many and varied lawsuits, has just been found dead in her Back Bay residence. Her body, badly disfigured, lay on top of the elevator, which was on the basement floor, and had evidently been there three or four days. Medical Examiner Draper reported the death as due to an accident. Mrs. French, who was seventy years old and lived alone, apparently fell from the third floor in the well to the elevator canopy.

Mrs. French is said to have had more lawsuits brought against her and had appeared as plaintiff more times than any other person appearing in public. The litigation territory extended from the Atlantic coast to the Rocky mountains.

In fact, she had such a tendency for going to law that in November, 1900, Dr. Bloomer, superintendent of the Butler Insane asylum at Providence, R. I., testified as an expert that Mrs. French was afflicted with "litigious paranoia"—in plain language, a mania for bringing lawsuits.

This testimony was based on the actual court record which she was known to have established, coupled with knowledge obtained as to her eccentric habits and mode of life.

The most important lawsuit of her life was in relation to the will of her second husband, Benjamin French, and involved not only her right to the estate, but the question of her sanity. From her first husband Mrs. French was divorced on the ground of desertion in 1861. She married Benjamin French the next year.

At the time of his death he was the head of a firm dealing in photograph materials. His will made her heir in full, his son Wilfred being cut off with $5. The estate was worth over half a million, and the suit was to prevent her acting as executrix of it. The case was full of sensational features. At the instance of the son Mrs. French was placed under temporary guardianship as an insane person. Nurses and private detectives were employed to watch her.

A detective declared in court that Mrs. French had told him that a Russian prince had proposed to her when she was a young girl and that he still stood ready to marry her. He testified also that she told him the pope of Rome singled her out one Easter Sunday when she was at the Vatican, but the witness could not recall the details of the conversation that led up to the latter boast. She told him also of how she had been entertained by the nobility abroad—by Queen Victoria, the emperor of Germany and others. The case dragged for months, and the probate court decided that Mrs. French was sane.

Two months later the will contest was decided in her favor by the supreme court.

Among other famous lawsuits in which Mrs. French was involved was one which caused her to leave Colorado for the east. She sued a Denver firm over a disputed bill, and a counter action for $20,000 damages on the ground of malicious prosecution was brought. The firm got a verdict of $4,000 and then swore out a warrant charging Mrs. French with perjury. Mrs. French eluded the sheriff and started east. She reached Omaha, was arrested, but secured release on a writ of habeas corpus. When she reached Mendota, Ill., an officer boarded the train and tried to force her to leave the car at Aurora. She declared that no official in the state of Illinois had authority over her. Mrs. French sprained her ankle, but won the struggle and continued on her way to Boston.

These two cases, however, were only incidents in Mrs. French's legal career. She always had a number of contests on hand. Usually she retained a new attorney for each new case, and when the case was disposed of she dropped the lawyer for a new one. She admitted that she had a fondness for lawyers. She used to say that they were the brainiest and cleverest class of persons to be found and that she enjoyed talking with them.

Curious contrasts present themselves in the career of this woman. She was parsimonious, and yet she was generous. Stories were told in court of her living in two or three rooms in her big house, of her living without servants and doing the work of the house herself, of her cooking in the bathroom and being too poor to have the gas turned on in her house. But to offset these tales are the known instances where Mrs. French made valuable and unexpected gifts to people for whom she had some liking.

Planning a Strike.

PASSAIC, N. J., March 21.—The police announce that fully half the mill employees of this city are planning a strike for higher wages to start April 1. The police officials say labor leaders from the coal regions of Pennsylvania are here forming the plans. About 7,000 persons are interested.

PHILIPPINE MATTERS

Acting Governor Wright Corrects False Impressions.

GREAT PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE.

In 95 Per Cent of the Territory Peace and Safe Conditions Prevail—Fast Dying Insurrection In Two Provinces of Luzon.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Judge Wright, acting civil governor of the Philippines, has written a personal letter to General Marcus J. Wright of this city which gives an interesting insight into the condition of affairs in the Philippines.

"We are so far removed from the United States," says Governor Wright, "that I fear the people at home get rather an inadequate idea of the situation here. The press reports of the last month or more which have reached us, together with the comments thereon, seem to indicate that the general opinion is that the whole islands are either blazing with insurrection or else that outbreaks are prevented only by the use of troops on an extensive scale. This is wholly misleading. The real truth is that in 95 per cent of the territory of the islands there is no insurrection, and Americans go about singly and unarmed with about as much safety as they would in a large majority of the states at home.

"There is a fast dying insurrection in two provinces of the great island of Luzon and in the remote southern island of Samar. Here and there in more remote sections there are instances of cattle stealing and occasionally murder or robbery. We are dealing very energetically with the lawless element, and the people as a rule are rebuilding their houses where they have been destroyed, tilling their fields and pursuing their ordinary vocations.

"Of course telegraphic dispatches generally deal alone in something sensational. I apprehend that if any one of us were in a foreign country and received only news of what was happening in the United States in police circles we would get about the same idea of our own country as many of the people of the United States seem to have of this. The fact is that the progress we have made in the last year is tremendous and to me very encouraging. While I do not look for the millennium either here or elsewhere speedily, I see no reason to doubt that American authority can be maintained without more troops than indicated by Governor Taft. Of course we must utilize the native in policing his own country, just as has been done by England in all her colonies from the beginning."

Marquis Ito Warmly Welcomed.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Mail advices from Japan say that Marquis Ito, ex-premier of Japan and the man to whose efforts the conclusion of the Anglo-Japanese alliance is credited by many, returned to Japan on Feb. 25 after a long tour around the world. The marquis, who is in good health, is being feted by his countrymen and foreign residents and has made several speeches advocating closer relations between his country and western nations and telling of the courteous treatment he received in the United States and elsewhere during his tour. He diplomatically evades any attempt to thrust upon him all credit for effecting the alliance, which he admits is of great benefit to Japan.

To Be Tried For Heresy.

MCPHERSON, Kan., March 21.—Rev. Granville Louther, D. D., pastor of a local church, has been served with papers at a Methodist Episcopal conference here charging him with heresy and setting forth that he would be tried at Arkansas City, Kan., March 26. Rev. Mr. Louther, who is a member of the Southwest Methodist conference, is charged with being guilty "of disseminating doctrines contrary to and subversive of the doctrines of the Methodist Episcopal church," and it is alleged that he is "atheistic and evolutionistic."

Charity Movement In Cuba.

HAVANA, March 21.—The first national conference of the Society of Charity and Correction has been opened here. Great interest has been manifested in this movement, and a number of Cubans have been enrolled as members of the society. Twelve thousand persons attended the opening meeting, when Governor General Wood in his speech said he was sure the conference would bring about good results and stimulate interest in the charitable movements already inaugurated.

BOSTON, March 21.—The general committee having charge of the raising of funds for the relief of the families of the Monomy life savers who were drowned recently at a meeting yesterday afternoon announced that the subscription fund had reached $14,000. Senator Nye, the chairman of the committee, was authorized to visit the cape with a portion of the funds for the immediate relief of the families.

MILES WOULD RESIGN.

Head of the Army Opposed to the Hawley Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—General Nelson A. Miles told the senate committee on military affairs that if the bill introduced by Senator Hawley at the instance of the war department for the organization of a general staff for the army should become a law he would decline to longer hold his commission.

The reason he gave for the statement is that the bill is utterly subversive of the interests of the military establishment, and he said that he would not be a party to such a proceeding to the extent even of continuing to hold his place.

The portion of the bill to which General Miles directed his especial criticism is that contained in section 7, which creates a general staff, of which the present lieutenant general shall be chief so long as he remains in active service. On his retirement, however, it is provided that the president or secretary of war shall assign an officer to be chief of staff.

The news of General Miles' statements before the military committee of the senate excited great interest at the war department when it became known there late in the day. There was a very general inquiry as to whether by passing the criticisms upon various officials, as reported in the press, General Miles had not exposed himself to disciplinary treatment. The answer to this must be based on the exact amount of privilege which attaches to testimony given before a committee of congress. This question arose last week in the course of General Hughes' testimony before the senate Philippine committee when the general sought to escape answering questions which would involve criticism by him of his superior officer, General Otis.

THE PRESIDENT'S PROTECTION.

Senate Votes Today on the Measure. Slow Work In the House.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—During the whole of yesterday's session of the senate the bill providing for the protection of the president of the United States was under discussion. Just before adjournment an agreement was reached to vote on the measure and pending amendments at 4 o'clock today.

The speeches in the main were a reinforcement of arguments that have been advanced heretofore, few new points being raised. The principal point made by the opponents of the measure was that federal officials ought to be treated in the courts precisely as are other citizens.

Three substitutes for the bill are pending and will be pressed when the voting begins today.

The house made very slow progress on the river and harbor bill, disposing of only thirty pages and leaving fifty pages still to be considered. The river and harbor committee again succeeded in defeating every amendment offered.

Eight Hour Day Demanded.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 21.—The most important feature of yesterday's session of the convention of districts Nos. 1, 7 and 9, United Mine Workers of America, was the adoption at the afternoon session of several resolutions. These were the result of various alleged grievances announced in the convention by the different delegations and were presented by the committee on resolutions. Most of them were of sectional rather than general interest, but their tone was not the less emphatic. The first resolution adopted demanded an eight hour working day in all the collieries of the anthracite region.

France's Dealings With Us.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The United States stood second on the list of nations from which France purchased her supplies last year and fourth in the list of purchasers of products of French origin, according to a report from United States Consul Thackara, at Havre, dated Feb. 20, and now made public at the state department. Last year, it is stated, France imported $93,002,261 worth to the United States, a balance in our favor of $46,776,259.

Fine Marksmanship.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 21.—Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Ia., gave another remarkable exhibition of marksmanship at the Limited Gun club tournament yesterday. He broke seventy-five straight and missed but two targets out of a possible 165. Eleven fifteen bird contests were shot. Ed Rike of Dayton was again second gun, and the other experts, Tripp, Heikes, Budd, McMurchy, Neal and Marshall, were up in the first and second moneys in nearly all events.

Georgia Bank Closed.

MACON, Ga., March 21.—The People's bank of Americus, Ga., W. H. Simmons, president, has closed its doors as a result of a quiet run for a week. The capital of the bank was $50,000, and the amount due creditors is said to be $30,000. The county had $6,000 on deposit. President Simmons claims that the assets will offset the liabilities. The assignee is G. R. Ellis of Americus.

An Oil Gusher In Ohio.

BARNESVILLE, O., March 21.—The Unity Oil company of Pittsburg has struck an oil gusher a few miles southeast of here. The oil shot up fifty feet above the derrick and is flowing at the rate of 300 barrels a day. Two wells recently drilled by the company produced only gas.

BERLIN, March 21.—Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia has hoisted his pennant on the battleship Kaiser Friedrich III. as commander of the squadron in Kiel waters.

ROW IN THE COMMONS

Exciting Debate Over South African Affairs.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN CALLED A LIAR.

Irish Nationalist Dillon Makes the Assertion and, Refusing to Retract, Is Suspended—Other Unseemly Wrangles.

LONDON, March 21.—John Dillon, Irish Nationalist, was suspended in the house of commons yesterday for calling the colonial secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, "a d—— liar."

The incident came as a climax to one of the most exciting scenes witnessed in the house of commons since the palmiest days of the Irish Nationalists.

During the discussion of the South African affairs the Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, vigorously protested against the government's conduct in uttering "malignant slanders" in calling the Liberals "pro-Boers." These slanders, Sir Henry said, were used for party purposes. The government, which had been going from blunder to blunder, claimed immunity from criticism, and if this continued it would follow "the precedent of the evil days of the American war."

The colonial secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, in the course of an equally incisive reply said he desired to deliberately accuse Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman of losing no opportunity of slandering his countrymen, the soldiers and the government. Consequently the "malignant slanders" had come from the opposition side.

The speaker, Sir William Court Gully, here intervened and declared that the term "malignant slanders" was unparliamentary.

Both Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman and Mr. Chamberlain thereupon withdrew the words amid cheers.

Mr. Chamberlain, proceeding, referred to the Boers who are fighting on the British side, when John Dillon (Irish

JOHN DILLON.

Nationalist) interjected, "They are traitors," on which Mr. Chamberlain retorted:

"The honorable gentleman is a good judge of traitors."

A scene of great confusion ensued. When order was partially restored, Mr. Dillon demanded a ruling on Mr. Chamberlain's words.

The speaker said: "An honorable member spoke of soldiers serving under the British flag as traitors. I deprecated the interruption, and I deprecated the retort of the other member."

Mr. Dillon then said:

"I will tell the right honorable member that he is a d—— liar."

A dead silence followed this remark. Such unparliamentary language seemed to stun the house.

The speaker invited Mr. Dillon to withdraw the expression, but the latter said:

"I will not withdraw."

"Then I must name you," said the speaker.

The government leader, A. J. Balfour, then said, "I beg to move that Mr. Dillon be suspended from service in the house."

The motion was carried by 248 to 48 votes.

Mr. Dillon immediately, by direction of the speaker, left the house, amidst wild Nationalist cheers, and Mr. Chamberlain resumed his speech.

The ejection of Mr. Dillon did not serve to clear the atmosphere, and the remainder of the debate was filled with personal allusions and unpleasant exchanges, the nature of which would have excited comment had they not been discounted by the first explosion.

Separate Government Desired.

ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies, March 21.—The newspapers here are gratified at the suggestion contained in dispatches received here from the United States that separate government will be given, at least provisionally, to the Danish West Indies, as this is in accordance with a general wish of the people of the islands, who have long enjoyed a measure of self government unknown to Porto Ricans until the United States assumed control of that island.

Millionaire Merchant's Will.

NEW YORK, March 21.—By the will of Hugh O'Neill, the Sixth avenue dry goods merchant, who died on Sunday last, his property, which is said to be worth more than $8,000,000, is divided between his widow, Caroline O'Neill, and his two daughters, Letitia O'Neill, who resides with her mother at 143 West Fifty-seventh street, and Mrs. Creighton Hencken of 30 West Eighty-seventh street.

MR. WARREN'S SUCCESSOR.

If the truth be told, it cannot be said that the people of Plainfield greatly regret the departure of C. H. Warren as practical head of the Jersey Central Railroad. While it is not disputed that Mr. Warren was well versed in railroad matters and that he labored under very adverse conditions for a time, he would have won far greater popularity in Plainfield if he had shown a different disposition in receiving the perfectly just complaints of the Plainfield patrons of the company. Even had he not accomplished any more, the people would have appreciated some show of interest in their welfare and convenience.

W. G. Besler, who succeeds Mr. Warren as vice president and general manager of the Jersey Central, is not a total stranger to Plainfield. He has visited relatives in this city and has always shown a decided interest in the place. He has made a success as general superintendent of the Reading system and has achieved a reputation as a able and practical railroad man. He is still a young man and has characterized his adminisfration by a display of energy and promptness to meet the emergency.

While it is not to be expected that Mr. Besler will show any favoritism to Plainfield, it is quite certain that this city will not be neglected in the conduct of the railroad company and will get all the advantages which would naturally come to the most important city on the system. Mr. Besler is an approachable man like the new president, Mr. Baer, and both will undoubtedly be willing and anxious to hear any suggestion which the Plainfield commuters may have for the betterment of the local service.

THE GOVERNOR'S STAND.

Certain stories, probably emenating from enemies of Senator Reed at Somervillle, have been published in the newspapers. They refer to his connection with the Greater Plainfield bills. It might be well to state the true facts in the case and correct any mistaken impressions which have gone forth.

Former Mayor W. L. Saunders frankly assumes all responsibility for the conception and drawing up of the consolidation bills. His lawyer was Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, and W. S. Angleman, of this city, also gave valuable assistance. Mr. Bergen advised that a referendum was never applied to changes in county lines. It is well-known that Senator Reed suggested the referendum at the public hearing Tuesday and it was promptly acceeded to by Mr. Saunders and the other advocates of the bills.

The next day a conference was held in the presence of the Governor, Assemblyman Hoagland and Senator Reed participating. The Governor stated plainly to Mr. Hoagland that he had no cause to complain of Senator Reed's action as it was perfectly natural that the Senator should want these bills to pass on to the Senate as the matter was one of local interest with Mr. Reed, who wanted to give his constitutents a public hearing and that with the referendum attached to the county line bill, there should be no cause for objection on Mr. Hoagland's part.

For the first time in the history of Methodism in Plainfield, a local pastor has been invited to remain beyond the usual term of five years. Until a year ago, this was not possible under the church laws of this State. It was then deemed advisible to allow pastors to remain an indefinite time should the churches so desire. For the last five years, Rev. Dr. William C. Snodgrass has acted as pastor of the First M. E. church. He has been greatly esteemed by his congregation and his services there have been so much appreciated that the church has just extended a unanimous call to him to remain another year. Dr. Snodgrass is a man of much abiliay and learning. He is well qualified to care for the interests of a large and important church. The fact that he is to remain will be received with much satisfaction, not only by the members of the church, but by others who have come to know him and recognize his true worth.

The friends of Freeholder Gus Mobus are very indignant over a report that was printed which declared that Mr. Mobus died twenty years ago. While they admit that some members of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders act occasionally as if life had departed from them years ago as far as the interests of North Plainfield are concerned, they declare that Mr. Mobus does not come in that catagory. For a dead man, it is certain that Gus Mobus is the most wonderful imitation of a live man ever seen.

One of the arguments advanced in behalf of the Meeker election law, which consolidated local and general elections in the cities, was that it would reduce the cost of conducting the elections. The Court of Errors and Appeals has decided that the election officers are entited to compensation for both elections, whether they are held together or separately, and that the Meeker act did not change their pay in the slightest. This decision will be a surprise to many.

Thanks to prompt measures on the part of the Plainfield Board of Health, the second appearance of small-pox in Plainfield was controlled as successfully as the first. With the dread disease on all sides, it is to be expected that it will occasionally be brought here. It serves, however, to greatly reassure the people when the Board of Health demonstrates its ability to cope with the situation and prevent any spread of the disease.

This small-pox scare has had some good effects after all. It has been the means of keeping away many tramps, who are not anxious to be vaccinated, and of securing the fumigation of the trolley cars of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company.

The April meeting of the Common Council will be the time for the various city departments to announce their financial needs for the next twelve-month.

LADIES' NIGHT.

Greenbrook Council, R. A., Entertained Some of Its Friends.

"Ladies' Night" was appropriately observed by Greenbrook Council, No. 1725, Royal Arcanum, last evening. The entertainment was in charge of a committee consisting of William Taylor, chairman; William Oliver and Charles Wilson.

The programme was presented by Bert Forrest, a humorous and character sketch artist, of New York. He was assisted in his work by Andrew Carpenter, accompanist.

Mrs. Thatcher Will be Here.

Among the prominent W. C. T. U. workers who will attend the annual conference of the State Loyal Temperance Legion to be held in the First Baptist church, April 2, is Mrs. Thatcher, State superintendent of soldier and sailor work. She is a most talented woman and no doubt many will be pleased to hear her.

Application Night.

Wednesday evening, April 23, has been set as the date when Company K will hold a smoker. It will be known as "application" night and an effort will be made to secure new members. Captain Browning wants to take a full company to Sea Girt next summer and for this reason is anxious to recruit additional members.

Unity Lodge Meeting.

Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., will meet Tuesday evening of next week in Trades Council Hall. As yet no arrangements have been effected for a permanent meeting place.

No Committee Meeting.

The Councilmanic fire committee will not meet this week. The meeting will be put over until just before the regular Council meeting, April 7.

DIRECTORS ELECTED.

At the First Meeting of the Stockholders of the Plainfield Trust Company Held Last Night.

The Plainfield Trust Company, recently incorporated, met last evening when the following persons were elected directors for the new organization: Charles W. McCutchen, Henry A. McGee, Orville T. Waring, Edwin S. Hooley, George P. Mellick, Francis DeL. Hyde, Harry G. Runkle, Ernest R. Ackerman, James W. Jackson, A. V. Heely, Charles J. Fisk, Walter M. McGee, Frederick Geller, David K. Sutphen and J. Donald Morrow.

There have been persistent rumors that the company would absorb one of the local national banks, but as yet this cannot be confirmed.

Ready for Business.

Woodhull & Martin are rapidly recovering from the effects of the recent fire. During the past few days they have been receiving new goods which are now on sale. The store is in excellent condition considering what it has gone through and the firm is quite well prepared to look after its trade.

Dr. Bryan Resigns.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruptions. DeWitt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy condition and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Hooper, Albany, Ga., says: "I took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness. They were just what I needed. I am feeling better now than in years." Never gripe or distress. Safe, thorough and gentle. The very best pills. L. W. Randolph.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Wouldn't Paul Revere had an easy time of it had he ridden about in one of the nobby rubber-tired rigs of Andrew Love, Jr? His livery stable on East Second street is the headquarters for runabouts and traps of all kinds.

As spring comes on one admires the beauties of nature and realizes that the picture is a passing one Make it permanent by taking some snap shots. Anyone can do so. Consult Nelson VanWinkle, of North avenue.

PIANO OWNERS ATTENTION!

Old Pianos Made New!

At an extraordinary low price, without removing the piano from the house, old pianos are made new by L. H. Battalia, factory at 884 East 134th street, New York City.

He replaces with new parts every defective part of the action in the piano, leaving it literally as perfect as when new. Mr. Battalia's method of renewing parts of action is not practiced by tuners, and certain parts of his work not even by makers. He is unqualifiedly endorsed by scientific musicians, tuners and piano-makers, as a skillful piano rebuilder. Below is an endorsement from a well-known military school:

Dr. Holbrook's Military School, Sing Sing, N. Y., Jan. 3, 1901.

Mr. L. H. Battalia has rebuilt three pianos for us, one of them much used by our pupils, and has restored them all to their first efficiency. We are more than pleased with his work and are glad to add our recommendation to the long list of commendations he has won and deserved.

Practically Starving.

"After using a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure my wife received perfect and permanent relief from a severe and chronic case of stomach trouble," says J. R. Holly, real estate, insurance and loan agent, of Macomb, Ill. "Before using Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she could not eat an ordinary meal without intense suffering. She is now entirely cured. Several physicians and many remedies had failed to give relief." You don't have to diet. Eat any good food you want, but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will always digest it for you. L. W. Randolph.

LIFE IN OLD MEXICO.

Aztec Civilization Has Left Its Impress on the Country.

Why the Natives of Our Sister Republic Should Be Studied at a Respectful Distance by Final Tourists.

[Special El Paso (Tex.) Letter.]

NOW that the opening up of railroads in Mexico has become so much a thing of the past that tourists have been enabled to write so familiarly regarding the country, the general reading public is very well acquainted with the strange land and its customs. Yet no one who has known Mexico only on paper is in any way prepared for what awaits him on his first arrival upon scenes where the old Aztec civilization still lingers, touching everything lightly with dreamlike suggestions of a past of which little is really known beyond what tradition teaches and where even the deeds of the Spanish invaders are enveloped in the mistiness of languid southern fancy. Nowhere else has the Spaniard so strangely grafted himself on the ancient population, for on no other portion of the globe have such peculiar conditions been present. The Mexican himself furnishes a course of study not quickly mastered. His politeness, which means nothing, his secretiveness amounting to almost the stolidity of the Indian, his fire and ardor in contrast with his languor and his almost invariable rule of never doing to-day what may be accomplished to-morrow, his picturesque appearance, and, in the average citizen, his diet and his peculiar odor (it is said that even a buzzard won't eat a dead Mexican)—together with the way he takes his religion, which is intense enough but distinctively his own, constitute a queer bundle of contradictions. The women are just a little "more so" than the men, especially as to diet, languor and religion. They hardly present so romantic an appearance, although the younger ones are often very beautiful. The average Mexican woman, over 30, is a study in ugliness. The young children, especially in summer, look like little, brown, animated statues with very little effort at drapery. Among the poorer classes, in some sections, the children up to ten years old play around without clothing. After that age, a manila bag or garment resembling a pillow slip with holes for head and arms furnishes all the covering deemed necessary.

MEXICAN WOMEN MAKING TORTILLAS.

It is seldom that severely cold weather is experienced in Mexico.

Some time since, however, in passing through a railroad town during an unusually cold season, when icicles hung from the water tanks, a very strange sight was presented to a party of travelers. Vendors of fruit still wore their broad, straw sombreros, but these were held down over their ears by shawls, borrowed presumably from the lady members of their families, and their otherwise bare feet were wrapped imperfectly in scraps of rags of every color and description. Other portions of the body were very thinly covered. It is a sight to behold a Mexican doing his washing at some of the small towns of six or seven houses on the arid plains. Water is a great luxury and, fortunately perhaps, its scarcity does not seem a great hardship. It is easy to believe that many Mexicans put on a garment and that it is never removed until the wear and tear of time serves in the capacity of valet. But sometimes a reason is sufficiently apparent for cleansing a garment, and the process was witnessed by the writer during one of those unaccountable rests taken by the trains passing through Mexico, probably caused by delay in removing drifting sand from the tracks. The gentleman in question appeared in the sand from nowhere in particular with a quart tin dipper of water and a large piece of soap. He calmly removed his shirt, laid it on a flat rock, poured a tiny and brief stream of water upon it and rubbed the soap on vigorously. Then he struck it sharply with another piece of stone. He repeated the process until the water in the dipper was exhausted—and it lasted some time—then hung his garment on a cactus plant and placidly seated himself in the sun on the rock, which had served as washtub and board, and rested while it dried. He was still resting when the train started, gazing with dreamy eyes on a mirage near the distant horizon.

ENJOYING A HOLIDAY.

Many of the Mexican towns are most beautiful, but of a beauty not at all in conformity with American notions of thrift and progress. Cuernavaca is about a half day's charming ride from the city of Mexico, through scenery bounded by mountains and gemmed with lakes. The narrow streets of Cuernavaca, steep and tortuous, are paved with clear, white cobblestones over which tropical torrents dash when it rains.

The red, pink, yellow and blue adobe houses, with red-tiled roofs projecting in wide eaves, are surrounded by a riotous vegetation. Honeysuckle, coffee, mangos and poinsettias fill the squares and alleys and hide the garden walls.

The mornings and afternoons are delightful and the nights rather cool, while the midday sun is hot as in most parts of Mexico. Being a favorite resort of Americans, there are American boarding places and hotels, but if one desire to see more of the "true inwardness" of the country, he should patronize a Mexican hotel where large cool bedrooms paved with bricks are lighted at night with but one forlorn little candle. Most of the Mexican houses of any pretensions have a courtyard or plazita in the center (the house being built around it) and many of these are perfect wonderlands of beauty. Unless he can witness the real home life of some good family, a visitor can never appreciate the true beauty of Mexico. Cuernavaca, in fact the whole valley, is a portion of an estate bestowed by Emperor Charles V. upon Cortez. The palace built by the latter, 350 years or more ago, now serves as state government building. Through the grand vistas of its arched corridors, magnificent views may be obtained. The sugar-cane culture was first introduced into Mexico by Cortez. The whole surrounding country seems dotted with patient little burros plodding around everywhere.

Leon is a manufacturing center. A large proportion of the 60,000 or 70,000 inhabitants are engaged in their homes (not congregated in factories) in constructing useful or ornamental articles for which there is a good demand. Beautiful costumes, rich sombreros, saddles heavily embroidered in gold, or in colored silks and large quantities of gold lace, are manufactured here. This is also the center of the shoe trade. Hosiery and blankets are also made, and rebosas and other garments of wool, cotton or linen. The higher class Mexican women wear imported clothing, principally from Paris, but in the country districts all cling more or less to the mantilla for the head, which is worn with much grace. Leon is 100 or more years behind the times. The inhabitants depend for their newspapers upon the City of Mexico, 24 hours distant. Only a small proportion of the population can read, and, if they have a sufficient quantity of tortillas and frijoles to satisfy hunger, and rags enough to cover them, they seem content. A straw mat or raw hide to sleep on are luxuries among the poorer classes.

The old customs regarding courtship still prevail largely throughout the land. The lady while conversing with her fiance must be attended by numerous relatives or pass the time of their interviews behind a grated window while he stands, often on tiptoe, in the street whispering his adoration to her who is to him so near and yet so far. Although Leon is the largest town in the state of Guanajuato, a city bearing the latter name is the capital and much more interesting. It is difficult of access, being remote from the usual lines of travel, but the resident governor takes great pride in beautifying his town. It contains a very elegant theater, all the furnishings having been imported from Paris, and it has never been used because the inhabitants of Guanajuato are waiting for President Diaz to come and open it. Among the favorite drinks of the Mexicans are aquadiente, a poor sort of brandy, and pulque made from the cactus plant; also wine, beer, tea, coffee, chocolate and lemonade. The food does not present as much variety as the resources of the country would seem to indicate. Meat of a poor quality is used to excess, when the people are rich enough to purchase it, at the expense of vegetables which could be rendered much more appetizing. Eggs or hueros form a staple article of diet, usually well seasoned with red pepper, and chilli con hueros is only less popular than chilli con carne.

CANAL BILL REPORTED.

Weekes' Measure Decisively Killed in the Assembly.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 21.—The Weekes canal improvement bill, which included the Erie, the Champlain and Oswego canals in its operation, was defeated in the assembly by a vote of 67 to 63. When the measure was reached on the calendar, Mr. Weekes offered an amendment decreasing the appropriation to $31,800,000, being the same amount which is carried by the bill of Senator Davis, now in the committee on rules. An explanation was immediately asked for.

"It takes out the Oswego canal appropriation," said Mr. Weekes.

"Then I oppose it," said Chairman Lewis of the canal committee.

A call of the house was moved. The sergeant-at-arms was not very successful in gathering in twenty absentees, and Majority Leader Allds moved that all proceedings under the call be dispensed with. There was a chorus of dissent from the canal men. A vote was then taken, and the motion was carried—74 yeas to 56 nays.

Discussion on the bill was then taken up. Mr. Costello argued that the only saving grace in the canal bill had been the Oswego system appropriation. That taken out, the bill was a bad one. The roll was then started.

"Every anticanal man ought to vote against this amendment," cried Mr. Burnett, but the admonition was not needed, so strong was the feeling manifested by both sides. The amendment striking out the Oswego system by reducing the expenditure to $31,800,000 was lost by a vote of 71 to 64.

The original bill was then voted on and defeated.

Assemblyman Burnett announced that on Tuesday he would move to suspend the rules so that he could move to discharge the committee on rules from consideration of the Davis canal appropriation bill.

A delegation representing the executive committee of the supervisors' highway convention of the state appeared before the senate judiciary committee and urged that the concurrent resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution authorizing an appropriation of $20,000,000 for the construction of good roads under the Higbie-Armstrong bill be reported.

South Carolina Day.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 21.—South Carolina day was one of the most successful of the special days at the exposition. In spite of poor crops and a very recent cold snap in middle and upper South Carolina all the trains were crowded. The attendance was very large, a conservative estimate making it 20,000. There were notable formal ceremonies at the Auditorium, in which Governor McSweeny and the exposition officials participated. Governor McSweeny officially announced the counties of the state that had won the prizes for the best exhibits. Spartanburg won first prize, $1,000; Chester, second, $500. Georgetown and Darlington tied for third. This concluded the exercises.

Missing For a Month.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Frank M. Hill, for the last ten years traffic manager of the Chicago Junction railway, has been missing for nearly a month. Telegrams have been sent broadcast throughout the United States, but no trace of Hill can be found. It is feared Hill is temporarily mentally unbalanced as a result of brooding over a reduction in salary.

DAINTY NOVELTIES.

Copper Buttons—Smart Belts For Evening Wear.

Copper buttons are the latest fad on a brown costume. They contrive a harmony of an exceedingly pleasing character. On a black dress when highly burnished they look smart. Besides the plain copper buttons there are others mixed with oxidized silver or steel or otherwise embellished.

The favorite belts for evening wear are generally made of the material in folds and cut on the bias. These can be pulled down to any shape, and fastened with jeweled pins are very attractive. An all white gown is very chic made with a folded band of black velvet or the velvet may reproduce the color of the flowers worn and so give an added touch of color.

A NEW SHAPE.

Point d'esprit is very fashionable, and frocks for young girls made of this material are most effective when mounted over colored silk and daintily trimmed with narrow ribbons and lace insertions.

One of the new straw shapes is shown in the illustration. It is of yellow straw and is trimmed with black velvet ribbon and yellow and white roses. The underbrim is of tucked chiffon, and it is looped up on the left side to allow a second band of the small yellow and white rosebuds to be seen. These chains of tiny roses go with the Louis XV. styles and are very popular at present.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A BRILLIANT SUMMER.

Fashion Authorities Predict a Season of Gay Dresses.

Fashion has struck the keynote of brilliancy. Gay fabrics, gay colors and frivolous styles are to prevail during the spring and summer. Narrow embroideries are seen on many of the dressy tailor mades, and lace appears on nearly every costume, be it tailor made or otherwise. Jabots of tulle and chiffon are fastened to the base of the collars in front. From all this it will be seen that stiff effects are things of the past.

Sleeves show more change than any other article of woman's dress. They are becoming daily more voluminous, especially below the shoulders.

There is a new shade of heliotrope which, mixed with ecru lace, is very charming, especially when the lace is outlined with one of the new silver and white embroideries.

A USEFUL FRONT.

Soft fronts are useful accessories to the spring tailor made. These fronts usually simulate an underblouse.

For the economical girl a front which simulates a waist will be useful. The illustration shows such a one. It is made of deep red silk panne, embroidered with white dots. It opens in front over a chemisette of white mull, with a stitched turndown collar and a dainty white tie. The fronts of red velvet are laced together by a stitched white taffeta tie passed through eyelets of white silk.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Bedroom Blinds.

If you have a sensitive eye and brain and sleep lightly, it is not at all a good plan to screen your windows with red blinds or curtains. Brain specialists report that a good many cases of weakening of intellect arise from this cause every year, and for some natures and constitutions it is certainly a very bad thing to do. The scarlet light reflected in the face of the sleeper in the morning and allowed to rest there for some time has a bad effect on the eyes and brain. The best and healthiest color for bedroom blinds is green, and dark green at that. It is always recommended by both brain doctors and oculists. Dark blue is next best, but not nearly so good as green. To induce the soundest and most restful kind of sleep, however, apart from brain sensitiveness, make the room absolutely pitch dark by means of a thick black blind. If you must have light, let it be green, and you will sleep well and never suffer. Red, too, is a great factor in keeping one awake.

CHAPTER XIII.

Raymond Holbin had found it difficult to advance his cause with Frances, if for no other reason than that few opportunities for seeing her alone presented themselves. He had sought interviews repeatedly and entered the many little courtesies which the male resident of a house may extend to those of the other sex, but they had been declined with a persistance that only added fuel to the flames which were consuming him. The girl seldom dined with the family; she had during her father's long illness instituted a little housekeeping plan of her own and took her meals in her apartments, a matter very conveniently arranged by reason of the position of the apartments and the constant attendance of mammy. Occasionally, yielding to the insistence of her stepmother, she joined the family upstairs, but on such occasions she carefully avoided a tete-a-tete with Raymond, withdrawing always with the elder woman. On such occasions, the inevitable topic had been the war, its vicissitudes, and the responsibilities it involved. In these meetings and the presence of great events she after awhile learned, if not to like her stepmother, at least to suspend judgment upon her; indeed, sometimes she had been tempted to doubt the correctness of her former judgment, for when the city began to be crowded with wounded Mrs. Brookin threw open her house to them and gave much of her time to their care. The gentleness with which the elder woman entered into this work, her generosity and her universal courtesy were bound to impress such a girl as Frances. Once, as though yielding to a noble impulse, she placed her arm about the girl and said:

"My child, you have surprised and gratified me of late. If I had known you years ago we should never have been less than friends. Try to forget the days when I seemed unkind, please, and do not cherish anger towards an old woman." Frances tried to forget, but always in the presence of Mrs. Brookin she felt a constraint. She seemed ever to have entered an atmosphere that had been stripped of its electricity. Try as she might, it had been impossible to respond unreservedly to her advances; the best she could do was to meet them with courtesy.

The presence of wounded men in the house gave Raymond for a short time an opportunity to see something of Frances, and he, too, became a famous nurse. But one day Frances assured him that if he should prove as good a fighter as he was a nurse promotion would follow; then he came less often. Twice before she had been unable to resist the temptation to touch the raw place; once she had asked him directly how it was that a man could keep out of a war in which other men were winning fame; and once, in reply to his question: "Will you ever like me, Frances?" she said: "A Virginia woman should not be expected to like civilians overmuch when Virginia soil is invaded." At length, to avoid him, she gave more of her time to the hospital, yielding the care of those in the home to her stepmother and the trained nurses. Mrs. Brookin won golden opinions in those days. A week seldom passed without the appearance of her name in print coupled with lavish commendation.

Dr. Brodnar, busy every hour of the twenty-four in which his giant strength could sustain him awake, had but little time to spare for Frances; but one day in the hospital he got a brief report of the girl's new experience.

"If I had not discovered that I am better at sawing off legs than fighting scheming women, my child, I should say that you have never been in so much danger as now; but I have retired as an adviser of young women. By the way, have you decided that you will come out and keep us company at home? My wife sends an invitation not less than once a week."

"No," she said, "it would seem like running. But tell Mrs. Brodnar I am very grateful for her kindness."

"All right. Come when you please; and, Frances, call me a fool as often as you wish, but be careful what you eat in your stepmother's house—and take no medicine there! How have you satisfied them about the night when a friend of ours got his wound?"

"They have never been satisfied, I think. They tell me I am full of whims, and perhaps they class that night among them. You have not heard—?"

"Not a word. Good-by!" Dr. Brodnar in the brief meetings with Frances would never discuss Somers. It is likely that his friend's choice of sides had been an immense disappointment. Frances was bound to receive Brodnar's hint unfavorably when she considered the new and continued kindness of her stepmother. Often the latter said:

"When it is all over, my child, this cruel war, these scenes of suffering, we will take our trunks and go abroad somewhere for a year of rest." The idea seemed to be a favorite one with her; she told all of her acquaintances that she and "poor dear Frances" were going abroad as soon as hostilities closed; that the child was simply worked down. And in the face of this tender solicitude and the old lady's devotion to confederate sufferers, people shook their heads and acknowledged that one should not always believe the unkind things whispered of a neighbor. From the isolation of a suspected person, in a year Mrs. Brookin achieved immense popularity and won the confidence of even the highest officials, in whose home circles she was as welcome as they were in hers. How welcome they were might be estimated from certain government records, if the records were accessible and possible of translation now.

Holbin had heard of Frances' latest whim, the union soldier. He had not interested himself in the latter's welfare, but he made his appearance in the wingroom on the day after Louise had been pacified, and, finding only mammy there with the wounded man, he entered and engaged him in cheerful conversation. He gave him the latest news from the front, and supplied him with cigars. Responding to these attentions, the soldier readily told his story. When the name of Richard Somers, his former enemy, was reached, Holbin was visibly excited. Still, not for one instant did it occur to him to connect the presence of the wounded man in that room with the fact that Somers was his captain; and the soldier himself naturally took it for granted that the cause of his presence was well understood by all.

Frances found Holbin there, and stood silently resentful upon the threshold until he had explained his visit.

"I am told by the clerk in the department," he said, "that you had secured a pass for your protege, and I was repentant that you had been forced to go there in person. I have called now to offer my assistance. There is something else to be done for a wounded man besides getting him a pass. He must have transportation and assistance generally."

"I have been thinking of that," she admitted, troubled.

"If I may be allowed to do a wounded enemy a service," said Holbin, "I shall take him in my buggy to our outposts."

"I am sure that he will be greatly obliged." The soldier expressed himself grateful, and Holbin went away, making light of the service and without further effort to trespass upon the girl's rare mood. On the inner stair he paused in deep thought, his dark face savagely triumphant. His mother met him in the hall above and read excitement in his every movement.

"What is it, Raymond?" He hesitated and smiled wickedly.

"I am afraid even you would be shocked, mother mine. But trust me, when I do tell you about it, you will not be ashamed of your cub."

"Raymond, how dare you?" The woman's face grew crimson, and then white as from a sudden terror. He showed his teeth and disappeared before she could stop him. Angry and uneasy, she sought her own room.

The wounded soldier rode next day with Raymond Holbin, his pale face reflecting the light of liberty's sun not yet risen for him, his blue uniform dusted and cleaned until every button was as of gold.

"Good-by, miss," he said; "I'll deliver your message, an' I know the cap'n 'll be a proud man to see me back!" He offered mammy his last greenback, but it was indignantly refused, witnesses being present.

"Dat green money ain't no good down here nohow."

"It will be," said the soldier, simply.

Holbin returned next day and gave a vivid account of his parting with the happy prisoner; and then he immediately sought his own room; but not before Frances, a little ashamed of herself, had thanked him warmly for his kindness to her soldier.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week Beginning March 23—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Missions; a meeting in the interest of home missions. "Our Own For Christ."—Ps. lxxxv, 1-13.

In the Eighty-fifth Psalm, which is the basis of our study, the psalmist acknowledges the blessings of God vouchsafed to his nation in the past and appeals to God for the continuance of these divine favors, that the land may be full of spiritual and temporal blessings. "Lord, Thou has been favorable unto Thy land; Thou hast brought back the captivity of Jacob; Thou hast forgiven the iniquity of Thy people; Thou hast covered all their sin. * * * Shew us Thy mercy, O Lord, and grant us Thy salvation." Thus the psalmist acknowledged the presence and favor of God, and thus he prayed for the continuance of His mercy and for the salvation of His land. His heart's desire was for the salvation of his land. With Paul he might have said, "My heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is that they might be saved."

The desire for the salvation of one's own land is a worthy and laudable desire. Christ Himself wept over the city of Jerusalem when He realized that it would not be saved because of its unbelief. He sent His disciples in the first place "to the lost sheep of the house of Israel," and in His plan for the evangelization of the world the apostles were to begin "at Jerusalem and Judæa." Paul's heart burned for the salvation of his people, and he made it a subject of prayer to God. The scenes of the missionary labors of Peter and James and John were practically entirely among the Jews, their own people. The Jews should want Jerusalem saved, the English should desire the salvation of England, the Germans the salvation of Germany, and Americans should desire and pray for the salvation of America.

Our interest in the salvation of our land should not end in desire. We should pray and labor for the realization of this desire. The ancient Jew prayed for the salvation of Israel. Paul's heart's desire and prayer for Israel were that they might be saved. Nor should our desire end in prayer; it should continue to service. God only can save the land, but God works through means. "Prayer and pains," declared John Eliot, the apostle to the Indians, "through faith in Jesus Christ can accomplish anything." Prayer must be supplemented by pains. The test of the genuineness of our prayers is service. We must do as well as ask God to do. We must pay as well as pray. Prayer, pains, payments—these will win our land for Christ.

How anxiously we should desire and pray that our land may be won for Christ. God has been favorable unto our land. It is "Immanuel's land" in a peculiar sense. But many in it are still unsaved—250,000 Indians, 300,000 Mormons, 250,000 Mexicans and millions of freedmen, mountain whites and foreigners! Let us do our part in winning the land for Christ.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. lii, 7; Nah. i, 15; Matt. v, 11, 12; xxviii, 18-20; Acts i, 6-14; Rom. ix, 1-5; x, 14, 15; I Cor. iii, 5-10; II Cor. xi, 23-33; Rev. xxii, 17.

Let Your Light So Shine.

Jesus does not say that men should put the unlighted lamp upon the lamp stand; that would be to expose it to derision and mockery, and He would not have men assume the name of Christian while their spirit is still unkindled by the flame of divine love. He declares the fact that when the love has come to their spirit it will of its own spontaneity manifest itself in those actions and words of love which have been forever the love of God showing itself through man to man, to be a light in the darkness to lead to greater light beyond; by those actions and words of love, moreover, God has transmitted His life from man to man, as in the ancient Greek races one runner lighted his torch at the flame of his who ran before him, and as he bore it on lighted that of the one who came after him. So the light of God's enkindled in one man's soul, diffusing itself into other lives, has become by the laws of propagation the light of the world. Can one of us, then, be so unmanly as to refuse to bear or bestow that light lest some idle spectator mock him if he stumble and fall?—Church Standard.

The Smile of Greeting.

Why do we not always smile whenever we meet the eye of a fellow being? That is the true recognition which ought to pass from soul to soul constantly. Little children in simple communities do this involuntarily, unconsciously. The honest hearted German peasant does it. It is like magical sunlight all through that simple land, the perpetual greeting on the right hand and the left between strangers as they pass by each other, never without a smile.—Helen Hunt.

At Sea.

The wind is like an armed foe
Drawn up to bar the way;
The strong seas smite us blow on blow;
The decks are lashed with spray;
High crested tower above the ship
The waves with lips afoam,
But welcome every plunge and dip
Which brings us nearer home.

The dear west beckons from afar
With gold gleams in her eyes;
The glinting stars familiar are
High hung in clear, cool skies.
We send an answering smile for smile
Up to the airy dome
And welcome every weary mile
So it but bring us home.

Sweet hope which lifts the dull, long hour
And makes it light to bear;
Sweet waiting welcome which has power
To make the dark seem fair;
Sweet hands held out across the sea
To reach us where we roam.
We can bear hardest things since we
Have turned our face toward home.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 23, "Difficulties In the Way of Evangelizing the World." Texts, Jonah i, 1-3; Matt. xxiii, 37, 38; Mal. iii, 8-10—Read Matt. iii.

The last thing Jesus told His disciples before His ascension was "that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name among all nations." This is the special work of the church of Christ on the earth. For this the Holy Spirit was given on Pentecost and continues to abide in the church until the work is finished and Christ comes.

The world is to be evangelized. Matthew, Mark and Luke all tell the same story in different words. All nations are to be discipled, organized and taught the principles which Christ revealed. Men should repent of their sins and find salvation from them through Him.

The task of preaching and teaching and administering rests on the church. The power to convict, convince, persuade, regenerate and sanctify is with the Holy Spirit alone. He never fails to do His work where the church faithfully does her part. The two must cooperate to reach the desired results. In a very true and solemn sense the salvation of the world depends on the church, although it is equally true that only the Holy Spirit chn save men from sin. The truth must be preached by men fired and led of God. By the simple means of preaching the truth it has pleased God to save them that believe.

Why has not the world been evangelized before this time? Well may we ask the question! The answer is a long one and not easy to give or understand fully. Every age since Pentecost has seen faithful disciples who have lived and died for the faith, who have done all that inspired souls could do, and yet the work is unfinished.

This year the League gives special thought to this cause. We call it the cause of missions. It is really the bringing in and making real the kingdom of God among men. Special attention should be given to tracing the historical progress of the extension of the kingdom of God since the time of Christ.

A special library of helpful books has been prepared on this subject, and it is desired that every chapter of the League shall arrange for special reading or study of the work that has been done, is now in progress and should be attempted.

Rev. S. Earl Taylor, 57 Washington street, Chicago, has charge of this department and will aid all who wish information.

The particular difficulties in the way of success have ever been—

First.—Unfaithful messengers, like Jonah.

Second.—Unwilling hearers, like the Jews, who rejected Jesus.

Third.—Covetous followers who withhold offerings due the cause of God, as in the days of Malachi.

The work moves on in spite of all hindrances, because some are inspired by the same Spirit which sent John into the wilderness to preach "prepare ye the way of the Lord," and which from the opened heavens rested on Jesus when He had been baptized by John. The Spirit filled messengers shall find Spirit filled hearers and givers who will do the work.

Real Joy.

Real joy is as sacred and divine a thing as there is. You know that it is true that we may, if we choose, begin to enter on our inheritance of eternal things now, here in this life. Especially is this the case with this divine gift of the gladness of the soul. Do not rest content with any mere small, finite, temporal thing and call that joy. It is some mere passing earthly elevation of spirit. That is merely a selfish impression. That is not connected with any feeling of regret for our imperfection, as true joy must ever be. In true joy there can be no selfishness. It is the delight that comes from consciousness of the nearness of God, consciousness of love to Him, consciousness of sin forgiven, consciousness of living for the good of our brothers and sisters of the human family.—William MacDonald Sinclair.

No Duty Without Love.

We cannot do our duty to any one without love. We cannot keep His commandments without doing our duty to men. But when we learn to love and to obey the promptings of love in our human relations we find that "His commandments are not grievous" any more. The spirit in us is in sympathy with the spirit in Him, and we are the children of our Father which is in heaven. —Outlook.

She Hath Done What She Could.

"She hath done what she could," said the Master, "for Me;"
How tender and sweet was the word!
"And the deed she hath done her memorial shall be Wherever My gospel is heard."

Ah, 'tis this that must try every deed that we do
Ere Jesus pronounces it good;
Not the thing we have done, but the love it may show,
And whether we've done what we could.

There are some that are struggling along on the way
And reaping, they think, only leaves,
Whilst others return at the close of the day
And bring in a harvest of sheaves.

But the eye of the Master is on every one;
Not a sigh nor a struggle is lost,
And it is not the much nor the little we've done,
But—what has the offering cost?

Not the poor widow's mite nor the gold of the king
Shall count of itself in the test;
It will not be the stamp of the coin that we bring,
But whether the gift is our best.
—Philadelphia Ledger.

SPORTING NEWS

GOLF.

The annual meeting of the East Jersey Golf League was held at Newark Tuesday night. Messrs. Jacobs and Sherman were there from Glen Ridge, E. Heller from Forest Hill, E. G. Kent from East Orange, and R. E. A. Waterbury from the Elizabeth Town and Country Club. Because of the uncertainty with regard to Glen Ridge remaining in the league, President Jacobs refused to accept a renomination. When this fact became settled, E. Heller was elected president, Waterbury vice president and Kent secretary. So far as the Glen Ridge club is concerned, it may be said that it is likely to remain in the league, although it cannot be determined positively until after the organization holds its meeting, which will be within a few days. Golfers generally in this vicinity will be pleased to learn that the South Orange Field Club was taken into membership Tuesday night, making the league now consist of six clubs—Morristown Field Club, Glen Ridge Golf Club, East Orange Golf Club, Forest Hill Field Club, Elizabeth Town and County Club and South Orange Field Club. Another meeting of the league will be held next Tuesday night, March 25, when the Glen Ridge matter will be definitely settled and plans for the season decided upon.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Plainfield High School Athletic Association has issued season tickets for the baseball games. The scheme met with ready support on the part of the pupils.

Hervey K. Doane's scrub team will encounter the regular nine of the Plainfield High School Saturday morning. The game will be played on the Pittis Common diamond and promises to be an exciting one.

The Clinton Avenue Baseball Club met last evening and elected officers as follows: President, Ernest Derflinger; manager, W. C. Squire; secretary, Edward Hardingham; treasurer, J. Brown. A team will be selected and it is proposed to join the city baseball league recently organized.

Washington Brought Back.

Horace Washington, the colored man indicted for stealing wheels, was brought to this city from Hartford, Conn., by Chief Kiely, last night. He retained Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh as his counsel. The prisoner will be taken to Elizabeth today.

BASEBALL PROSPECTS FOR COMING SEASON

What Material the New Local League is Likely to Bring Out This Summer.

NUMBER OF CHANGES.

HOPE CHAPEL IS GOING TO LOOSE MONTROSS, ITS CRACK PITCHER.

St. Mary's Will Have But Few Changes—Lots of Old Players on Y. M. C. A.—Unknown Quantity is Safe Works Team.

Through the formation of the Plainfield Amateur Baseball League, which organization was completed Saturday evening, baseball enthusiasts foresee a revival of their favorite sport locally such as they have not enjoyed since the old Crescent and "Tee Kay" Keller days. Although still in a formative state the league is one of the most talked-of subjects of the day. By the time schedule games have commenced the interest will reach such a height that only an exodus to the baseball diamonds will relieve.

Much of the interest taken in favor of the league is due to the feeling of rivalry which existed at the close of last season's schedules between the various local teams. As the games were played the superiority of none could be established to a certainty, as will be accomplished by the new venture. The St. Mary and Hope teams were in the limelight most of the time and both claimed the championship of the city with some right. The St. Mary's defeated the Hope's in a series of three games, but the latter's players were at the top in point of playing for the entire season. A careful record was kept of each man's points and the averages were not exceeded by any other team, singly or collectively. The Scotch Plain team also entered a claim for the record for this vicinity, claiming to have lost the least number of games. Being out of the city its claims did not carry as much weight as they otherwise would.

As the league was formed, it is composed of the Hope, St. Mary, Safe Works and Y. M. C. A. teams, the latter two newcomers on the local diamond. The Clinton Avenue nine, which had a somewhat erratic career last summer, has made application for entrance and there is talk of the Scotch Plains team following suit. If each furnishes a bona fide guarantee to remain solid until the close of the season there is little doubt but they will be allowed to enter.

The make-up of the St. Mary team will practically remain unchanged and as it stands will be a strong organization. Before the Hope team is finally formed, a plethora of good material offered will be sifted down to the very best men. Practice games will commence next week and expert baseball critics will be on hand watching for every outward show of ability. Every position on the team is being sought after by from two to four appplicants and the rivalry will be keen.

A heavy loss to the Hope's will be James Montross, last season's star twirler. He is now employed at the safe works and has about given a decided answer in the affirmative to join the factory team. Manager Muir has some other good players in prospect for his nine, none of which he will announce until a later date.

Of the Y. M. C. A. team little can be said at present but the fact remains that some excellent players are on the waiting list for positions. Among these are John G. McLaughlin, who is well known to local enthusiasts, George Bolsterle, who held down various positions on the Clinton Avenue team last season, and George Dupee who is no newcomer in baseball ranks. Others are J. O. McKelvey, a member of the original association team, and the best players on last season's Leal team. With this list to choose from, the chances are favorable for the Y. M. C. A. completing the schedule with a generous share of the percentage to its credit.

A further meeting of the league organizers will be held Saturday evening when it will be formally completed and resolutions and by-laws adopted. It is also stated that several merchants, who sanction the example set by others, will offer suitable prizes to be added to the others already extended.

Trolley Power Plant at Cranford.

A plant to furnish power for the entire line will be erected by the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company at Cranford in the near future.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORK REVIEWED FOR YEAR

Annual Meeting of Sunday-School of First Presbyterian Church Held Last Night.

REPORTS WERE READ.

SHOWED SCHOOL'S FINANCES TO BE IN EXCELLENT CONDITION.

Picture and Books Presented to Superintendent Cave—Considered Purchase of Carpet—Old Officers All Re-Elected.

A large number of the active workers attended the annual meeting of the First Presbyterian church Sunday-school held last evening. LeRoy H. Gates, assistant superintendent, acted as chairman, and the business was transacted with dispatch.

Freeman Shotwell, the treasurer, presented his report and it showed that the finances were in excellent condition. In the missionary fund $324.36 was raised during the year and the expenditures amounted to $301.30, there being a balance of $23.06 remaining. The receipts of the Sunday-school fund were $174.70 and the payments $161.85, the balance remaining on hand being $12.85. The birthday fund, which is devoted to library purpose, showed receipts amounting to $9.27 and expenditures amounting to $8.55, leaving a balance of seventy-two cents. A piano had been purchased and paid for during the year.

LeRoy H. Gates, chairman of the Christmas committee, reported that a balance of $23.25 remained in his hands and this amount was turned over to the Sunday-school fund. Two entertainments had been given and the donations aggregated $103, while the collections amounted to $44.22.

A proposition to purchase a new carpet came up at the meeting and a committee was appointed to report upon the advisability of the matter. This committee consists of Edgar Williams, chairman, Mrs. Edwin Burroughs, Mr. Hill, and Miss Jennie Abbott.

A pleasant feature of the meeting was the presentation of a handsome framed picture and some books to Eugene M. Cave, the superintendent. The picture is a carbonette photograph of the painting by Zimmerman, the German artist, representing Christ seeking the fisherman and the books consist of the two volumes by Dr. Geikie, "The Holy Land and the Bible." Mr. Williams, in making the presentation speech, said it was a token of the silent appreciation of Mr. Cave's self sacrificing labors.

The officers of the past year were all re-elected. They are: Superintendent, Eugene M. Cave; assistant superintendents, LeRoy H. Gates and Miss Jennie Abbott; secretary, Edgar D. George; assistant secretary, Frank Hazeltine; treasurer, Freeman Shotwell; librarian, Warren Townley; assistant librarian, Frank C. Knight.

SERVICE RESUMED.

Lehigh Valley Has Full Passenger Service in Perfect Working Order.

Beginning Monday all passenger service will be resumed on the Lehigh Valley Railroad system. This includes the famous Black Diamond Express. The time-table dated January 12 is still in force. During the several days prior to and including February 28 the incessant snow and rain storm which visited the territory traversed by the Lehigh Valley in Pennsylvania culminated in a general washout of the line. The system has now recovered from the effects and will be in perfect working order Monday.

REASONS GIVEN FOR GREATER PLAINFELD

Influential Boroughite Tells Where He Would Practically Benefit From It.

WOULD AFFECT OTHERS.

HOW CONSOLIDATION WOULD REDUCE THE RUNNING EXPENSES.

Argues in Favor of Borough Becoming Part of Union County—What Effects of Existing Conditions Have Been on the Borough.

A prosperous and influential boroughite, who was unable to be present at the hearing before the Senate committee the other day, advances some strong reasons for annexation and consolidation.

This man is a large property owner in the borough and hence has interests at stake in the matter. It is purely a good business proposition according to his way of reasoning. He says that the reason that so many concerns are unable to bear the brunt of competition is that they have not the resources and hence are driven out of business. Consolidation or unification of small interests make a strong institution which is able to carry on business at a much smaller cost and considerably more satisfactorily, says he.

This he points out applies to the case of the city and borough. There are two communities whose interests are identical maintaining separate governments, at a proportionately high cost. Were they united many useless offices could be done away with and there would be a great saving to the people at large from this and other causes. He points out that there must be some reason why property on the Plainfield side of the brook is much higher than on the opposite bank. This he submits is due solely to the fact that Plainfield has all desirable improvements, such as a paid fire department, sewage system, modern police department, schools of a high standard and many conveniences. In these it excels North Plainfield, he declares, and the real estate investors realize the fact.

North Plainfield has always been benefitted by its close proximity to the city and its growth is due to the fact of the existence of such a model city at its gate. The boroughite in question also states that North Plainfield has carried the burden of Somerset county for years and has received practically nothing in return. He says that the freeholders have inclined to be shabby in their treatment of North Plainfield and it is best to be rid of the troubles. The only solution he declares is in annexation and consolidation.

RESOLUTIONS AND A PURSE

PRESENTED TO E. E. ANTHONY BY HIS CO-WORKERS.

Tokens of Esteem From Sunday-School and Church—The Purse Was $50.

Rev. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Robt. Clark, Jr., and W. F. Oliver, of Trinity Reformed church, called on E. E. Anthony at his West Front street home, last evening, and presented him with a set of resolutions, also an envelope containing $50 in gold from the Sunday-school and members of the church. These expressions were tokens of esteem for the long and faithful service which Mr. Anthony gave to Trinity church as superintendent of the Sunday-school and a worker in the church.

Mr. Anthony could scarcely find words to respond to the expression of love and esteem as voiced by Mr. Clark, who presented the resolutions and the envelope. Mr. Anthony and family will leave Tuesday for Fishkill, N. Y., where they will take up their residence. They will be greatly missed in Trinity Reformed church as well as by many friends in the city.

The resolutions presented to Mr. Anthony are as follows:

Whereas; the officers and teachers of Trinity Reformed church Sabbath-school learn with sincere regret that Edward E. Anthony, the superintendent of the Sabbath-school, has been compelled on account of continued ill health to tender his resignation as superintendent of the Sabbath-school.

And whereas; He has been so long identified with the school—having served the school as superintendent for nearly twenty years, during which time the school has grown in numbers until it has become one of the largest in the city of Plainfield.

And whereas; this has come about through his untiring zeal as a devoted worker in the cause of the Master.

Therefore be it resolved; that in accepting his resignation we do so reluctantly, and desire to place on record our appreciation for his Christian character, his untiring zeal and devotedness to the cause of the Master, the tireless energy he always manifested as an indefatigable worker in all lines of Sunday-school work and it is the earnest prayer of the school that God will continue to bless him and his family and that he may be again restored to health.

Resolved; that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Mr. Anthony and also placed upon the minutes of the Sabbath-school.

Robert Clark, Jr.,
Mrs. C. Schenck,
W. F. Oliver,
Committee.

HOW SENATOR REED STANDS

Made Statement This Morning Regarding His Attitude on Greater Plainfield Bills.

A LOGICAL STATEMENT.

Outlined His Course in Matter From Start—What He Really Told Mr. Hoagland—Followed Advice of All Republican Leaders—Borough Must Decide.

A definite and logical statement regarding his past and present attitude on the question of annexation has been made by State Senator Charles A. Reed. During the past week there has been much adverse criticism, coupled with groundless insinuations, concerning his position. These statements reflecting on the integrity of the Tall Sycamore of Somerset are set to rest by the interview, which he has given to a reporter of The Daily Press.

Said Senator Reed: "That I have always opposed annexation of North Plainfield to Union county, is well known. That there is a very strong element in the borough which favors annexation, is equally well known.

"Bills were presented to the Legislature this winter providing for annexation, and some settlement, which would be considered fair, became absolutely necessary. Opponents of annexation claimed that the borough voters should not be allowed to leave Somerset because they gave a Republican majority, and because of the taxes which they pay the county. The annexationists replied that if they were to be kept in a county against their will simply because they vote the Republican ticket, they would change their politics, and that if the borough got back from the county the amount of taxes it paid, the loss to the county in taxes would be nothing.

"The feeling was bitter and bound to result in political disaster unless in some way an agreement could be reached. This I explained to Assemblyman Hoagland, and suggested that if the bills came to the Senate I would secure a hearing at which all could be heard, and after the situation should be thus made clear, some plan of action could, with the assistance of State leaders, be determined upon. I said I would take care of them, but never told him that the bills would be 'killed.' At the hearing all sides agreed after full argument that a referendum in the bill changing the county line would make it satisfactory and that after a legal vote was taken, whatever the result, it would be acquiesced in.

"The opponents of annexation emphatically declared their ability to defeat the measure at the polls, and it was admitted by many that a refusal by the Legislature to submit the matter to the voters of the borough would certainly result in a Democratic victory next fall. Under such circumstances, what was I to do? Could I, having the welfare of my party at heart, refuse to allow the only solution of the question which could possibly result in restoring party harmony? I consulted with Republican leaders from all parts of the State, from the Governor down, and was advised that, under the circumstances, the best, if not the only course, was to consent that the bills be passed with a referendum, and the people of the borough be given an opportunity to decide the much vexed and troublesome question once for all by a vote which would be legal and binding. Once before the proposition had been defeated by a vote which had no binding force because it was not authorized by any law.

"Any man of sense must see at a glance that for a Republican Legislature to refuse to submit this question to the voters solely because they voted the Republican ticket, would meet with but one reply at the polls.

"I am well aware that my attitude has been severely criticised and my motives misrepresented, but chiefly by those who either do not understand the situation, or who, for personal reasons, desire to make trouble. My conscience is clear, however. I know I have taken the course best calculated to bring about a result beneficial to the Republican party in the borough, the county and the State, and I rest assured in the firm conviction that time will demonstrate that fact.

"The bill has gone back to the Assembly where it originated and where its fate must be determined. It is up to Mr. Hoagland and on him rests the responsibility. If North Plainfield returns a Democractic majority next fall it will not be my fault."

PEARSON VINDICATED.

Through Efforts of W. A. Coddington in Case of Pearson and Fryer Estates.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 22—In the Orphans' Court yesterday counsel argued in the matter of the Pearson and Fryer estates. W. A. Codington, of the firm of Reed & Codington, appeared for the accountant, while Frederick A. Pope for the exceptant. The case has been in litigation for a year past and bitterly contested. It involved about $6,500. W. J. Pearson, of Plainfield, was administrator of the Fryer estate and managing executive under his father's will.

Mr. Codington addressed the court from 10:30 o'clock in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon. F. A. Pope, representing the exceptant, a brother of W. J. Pearson, occupied an hour and a half.

The court said it was shown that the executor had paid out over $400 more than came to him. The decision was a complete victory for W. J. Pearson. The court also complimented Mr. Codington for his conduct of the case, of his treatment of the other side and for his willingness to assist the court in learning the true facts.

WORDS OF GREETING FOR GRAND MASTER

Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., Congratulated Grand Master Workman V. W. Nash.

WAS GIVEN RECEPTION.

OTHER NEIGHBORING LODGES HAD REPRESENTATIVES PRESENT.

Prominent Grand Officers Also in Attendance — Pleasant Things Were Said—Apt Response by Grand Master Workman.

In order to formally extend their heartiest congratulations at his attaining the highest office of the order in the State, the members of Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., tendered a reception, last evening, to V. W. Nash, who last week was elected grand master workman. The gathering was not confined to Columbia alone for representatives from Central Lodge, this city, and lodges from Westfield, Somerville and Newark were present and joined in extending hearty greetings. The new official himself was in charge of the proceedings which followed the informal opening and responded fittingly to all the pleasant things said.

Speeches were the feature of the evening. The trend of all the remarks by the visitors was congratulatory.

In many ways his strength as grand master was referred to, his indomitable will and the impossibility of serving him from his purpose. All bespoke much success for him and predicted a prosperous year for the Workmen during his term.

Among those who spoke were Supreme Trustee of the Guarantee Fund Collier, of Newark; Past Grand Master Workman John Diefendorf, of Newark; Grand Overseer A. Y. Thomas, of Elizabeth; Chairman of Finance Committee Frank O'Rourke, of Bayonne; Past Master Workman William Flagg, of Westfield; Past Master Workman Charles Schroener, of Newark; Deputy Grand Master L. B. Woolston, of this city.

Grand Master Workman Nash responded with an apt speech. After thanking the gathering for its expression of good will, he took occaison to exploit the benefits of the fraternal order. He announced that in all probability, the method of classified assessment, which has been under discussion in the New Jersey division of the order, would be formally adopted at a joint session of the Grand Lodge to be held in May. This State is the only one where the Workmen have foothold where the system has not been accepted.

During the evening an informal musical programme was rendered by Dr. J. H. Buchanan and M. A. Korff. At the close, Caterer W. W. Warnock served a collation.

BIG POWER PLANT.

Something About the Building the Trolley Company is Planning to Erect at Cranford.

The Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company has had plans drawn for the erection of its huge power house at the junction of the Cranford river and South avenue, at Cranford. Actual work will be commenced within a very short time. The dimensions of the structure have not been made known but the property owned by the company has a frontage of 300 feet on South avenue and runs back to the tracks of the New Jersey Central.

It is intended to have the plant furnish power for the entire line between this city and Elizabeth. Two other plants now supplying the current will be supplanted, one of which is the Plainfield electric light station.

ABOUT THE ROADS.

What the Trenton Times Says of the Road Commissioner's Annual Report.

Among the many nice things said about the annual report of H. I. Budd, commissioner of public roads, in the preparation of which State Supervisor of Roads R. A. Meeker, of this city, assisted, the comment of the Trenton Times well summarizes some of the most important facts. It says:

"The just published eighth annual report of the commissioner of public roads, for the year 1901, is an interesting public document. It appears that the State aid for last year has resulted in the building of 109 miles of roads at a cost of $450,000.

"The demand for roads is constantly increasing so that it is hard to supply the needs of the different counties. It is only in comparatively recent years that agricultural communities have thoroughly realized the value of good roadbeds. Thousands of city people would live in country places, adjacent to cities, if the roads were in better condition.

"The commissioner says that in several localities of this State the improvement of the common roads has been instrumental in increasing and attracting from one to three or four million of wealth during the few years the work of road building has been carried on.

"New Jersey particularly needs to have good roads, because many of its small towns and villages are located near great cities.

"The commissioner pays a high tribute to Mercer county for performing the most wonderful feat in road building in the history of road improvement in the State, viz:—macadamizing 18 miles of road in less than six months. This year she is a candidate for all she can obtain from the State.

"In the State of New Jersey there are 20,000 miles of roads, independent of city streets. This would make about 1,000 miles to each county intending to avail itself of State assistance. With the present State appropriation no more than 100 miles per year can be built, or five miles per year in each county. Hence the necessity for larger local and State appropriations.

"In view of the impossibility of improving all the roads in this generation, the commissioner recommends that the freeholders prepare maps of the roads in each county, so they can study their relative importance, and plan that only those roads leading directly across their county to and from important towns should receive their immediate attention. Sometimes efforts are made to improve relatively unimportant roads, petitioners having the best pull or the greatest persistency getting what they want.

"The report contains a number of statistics, and many illustrations showing the condition of roads before and after improvement."

THEATRICAL.

There will be no retrenchment in F. F. Proctor's policy of affording the best amusement obtainable and the bills for his Newark theatre will be strictly in keeping with his past record. While the presentation of novelty programmes is his avowed purpose the principle of refinement in vaudeville is never lost sight of. Charles Grapewin, Anna Chance & Co. will be the leading features in presentation of Mr. Grapewin's ludicrous character sketch, "The Awakening of Pipp," which will then be seen for the first time in Newark. Another decided novelty will be the myriad dance presented by Mlle. Taglione.

Joseph Callahan will head the Proctor Stock Co. in a production of his own version of "Faust." He will supply special scenic embellishments and will personally supervise the rehearsals of a play in which he has gained stellar fame and attendant emoluments.

The Parros Brothers, European gymnasts, will head the Twenty-third Street's bill of continuous vaudeville presenting a novel performance entirely new to America. The World's Trio will present a comedy change act and LaMar and Gabriel will be seen in a funny black-face act.

"Nell Gwynne" moves up to Harlem for a week at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street.

The Fifth Avenue will make a production of "Humbug" with the Proctor Stock Co. playing the fun-provoking roles in Roland Reed's successful old comedy.

Coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, other throat and lung troubles are quickly cured by One Minute Cough Cure. One Minute Cough Cure is not a mere expectorant, which gives only temporarily relief. It softens and liquifies the mucus, draws out the inflammation and removes the cause of the disease. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. "One Minute Cough Cure will do all that is claimed for it," says Justice of the Peace, J. Q. Hood, Crosby, Miss. "My wife could not get her breath and was relieved by the first dose. It has been a benefit to all my family." L. W. Randolph.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT

It has the largest sale of any prepared mince meat, because it is the best. We sold ten million packages last year. It is "compressed"—sold in clean, dainty cartons.

Avoid "wet" mince meat, sold from open pails that stand on dirty floors and in dusty doorways.

"NONE SUCH" is 10c a package, which makes two large, juicy pies. "Like mother used to make." Beware of packages made in close imitation of ours—insist on receiving "a package of NONE SUCH."

CANAL IMPROVEMENT.

Governor Odell Thinks the Project Has Little Chance.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 22.—Governor Odell was asked last night what the prospect for canal legislation was, and he said:

"It is certainly not very bright. The assembly has had two opportunities to vote on two canal propositions, and what was the result? They were not able to muster the constitutional number of votes necessary to pass a bill. They had what was practically the Davis bill before them and were only able to muster sixty-one votes for it. It was understood that if the Weekes bill was amended so that the Oswego canal would be eliminated I would send in an emergency message to keep it from remaining on the desks of the members for three days before it could be called up for final passage.

"For the first time in the history of canal legislation members representing four counties along the line of the canal with cities in them voted against a canal improvement proposition. They were Monroe, with Rochester; Onondaga, with Syracuse; Albany, with Albany, and Rensselaer, with Troy.

"I am told, but have not investigated the statement, that the Brooklyn members who stayed away could have saved the day and passed the bill."

The governor was asked whether he was in favor of the proposition to submit to the people the question whether or not they favored canal improvement at all. He said:

"Certainly I am. It is a very good rule to do what the people want. Then you are sure to be right. I am out of the canal question. I have done all I could to secure canal improvement legislation. I have favored it in my public utterances and in my annual message."

Patrick Will Soon Know Fate.

NEW YORK, March 22.—With the close of the morning session of the trial of Albert T. Patrick yesterday the evidence which will in the judgment of the twelve men who have for nine weeks patiently listened to its presentation either send the cool defendant to the electric chair or return him to the world a free man was all in. So far as the actual case is concerned it is now in the hands of the jury. Mr. Moore will, by order of the recorder, be allowed the full day Monday in which to sum up his case. The people's case will take Tuesday for its presentation at the hands of Assistant District Attorney Osborne, and after the recorder's charge on Wednesday afternoon all that remains for the jury is the finding of the verdict.

Buencamino Praises Root.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Secretary Root has received a characteristic letter from Mr. Felipe Buencamino, who was one of the leaders in the original Philippine government under Aguinaldo and is now a member of the Philippine civil service commission and a stanch friend of the United States government. "Permit me," he says, "to offer you my congratulations for your policy over my people. In my people's name I request that you send promptly here Governor Taft." The officials are highly gratified at this unsolicited evidence of the appreciation by the friendly Filipinos of the efforts of Governor Taft to ameliorate their condition and give them a good government.

The Case of General Miles.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The printed testimony of General Miles has not yet been made public, and it is understood that a great deal of what the general said will not appear in the record. Members of the committee say the report published Thursday was correct in substance in every particular. At the same time these senators do not agree that General Miles can be punished for his utterances before the committee, whether they appear in the record or not. Of course the committee could take no action to prevent the retirement of General Miles. That, under the law, is purely an executive act and needs no confirmation.

They Are Friends Again.

VIENNA, March 22.—The government bill arranging for provisional consular and commercial relations between Austria-Hungary and Mexico has been agreed upon in the upper house of the reichsrath. This bill passed the lower house of the reichsrath March 18. An Austro-Hungarian minister to Mexico was appointed last June. Diplomatic relations between Austria-Hungary and Mexico had been interrupted since 1867, the year Emperor Maximilian was shot.

Mr. Cleveland Not Worried.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 22.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland, when shown a dispatch from Lincoln, Neb., which said that W. J. Bryan, commenting editorially in The Commoner upon Mr. Cleveland's recent letter to a Mississippi editor, denounces him as "a traitor, ingrate and political nonentity," said, "I am not at all troubled about it." This was the only comment Mr. Cleveland would make.

PYROMANIAC CAUGHT

Farley Confesses to Having Set Many Fires.

NINE ATTEMPTS IN ONE HOTEL.

Cause of the Numerous Fires of Late In the Astor House, New York, Made Plain at Last—Other Incendiary Attempts.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Edward J. Farley, a confessed pyromaniac, was arraigned in the Center street court, charged with setting fire to the Astor House at midnight Tuesday last. He has confessed to Fire Marshal Freel of this county to having set fire nineteen different times to various places in New York, and nine of these fires were started in the Astor House during the time he was connected with that hotel.

The circumstances surrounding the two fires in the Astor House Wednesday night pointed to incendiarism.

Suspicion was directed to Farley, who "discovered" the first fire and injured himself in putting it out. He was also one of the first to reach the blaze in the room on the top floor which broke out just as the firemen were leaving.

Close questioning failed to incriminate Farley until last night. He was taken to the private office of the Astor House and confronted with Fire Marshal Freel, Assistant Fire Marshal McGough, the proprietors of the hotel and the house detective. After four hours' cross examination Farley broke down and confessed.

Fire Marshal Freel regards him as the most dangerous person of his class in New York. His adroitness in covering his tracks was marvelous.

Suspicion was often directed toward him, but he managed to evade proof. Investigation may show his connection with some of the biggest fires New York has known in late years.

Farley is a pyromaniac. He says he cannot tell why he started fires, but the fire marshal says his incendiary tendencies grew out of his thirst for the notoriety and commendation.

He always "discovered" his own fires and generally managed to injure himself slightly in putting them out. This gave him the opportunity to pose as a hero, and he never let an opportunity slip.

Millions For Adopted Child.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Six million dollars left to the waif rescued from a railroad wreck by her benefactor—this is the good fortune which has befallen pretty Oressa Stewart Conger, adopted daughter of Frank Conger, the Brooklyn millionaire, who died a few days ago in a Detroit hotel. Over a dozen years ago Mr. Conger stood by a dying mother in whose arms lay a two-year-old baby. "Be good to her," the mother's last words, he has obeyed to the letter. He adopted the child, now a fair fourteen-year-old maiden, and so close has been the affection and care for her education and welfare in the Conger home that many of the neighbors thought she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conger.

Ice Gorge In the Missouri.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., March 22.—An ice gorge which has been forming in the Missouri river at this place for some time has reached a point that has caused the river to overflow the lowlands for forty miles up the river. The channel has reached a width of six miles in some places. The ice is packed so tight that the bed of the river below the gorge for several miles is almost dry. The snow in the upper valley is beginning to melt, and fears are entertained of a serious flood if the gorge shall not be broken. Dynamite is being used, but without effect up to the present time.

The building is to cost $50,000, and in addition to it the college will be presented with Mr. Roberts' choice collection of autographs.

CAPE TOWN, March 22.—The weather here is cooler, and it is raining. Cecil Rhodes is breathing better and took nourishment, but his heart is weaker, and this causes renewed anxiety. According to the latest report, the patient is restless and decidedly weaker.

CONVENTION HELD UP

United Miners Await Report of Committee.

SOME DELAY OVER GRIEVANCES.

Today Will Determine Whether Anthracite Workers Shall Adopt Drastic Measures to Secure Their Rights or Not.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 22.—Contrary to expectations the convention of Districts Nos. 1, 7 and 9, United Mine Workers of America, failed to reach a determination yesterday concerning the grievances of the anthracite coal miners. Many of the delegates had expected an adjournment and definite action, but the discussion of the scale committee report was more protracted than was anticipated, and its entire adoption had not been accomplished at the hour of adjournment.

The committee presented its report to the convention at the afternoon session. President Mitchell announced that a part of the report had been adopted, but failed to state the nature of the clauses accepted. Mr. Mitchell said he was unable to make a statement concerning the progress of the convention with the scale owing to the fact that there was much of the report still to be considered. President Mitchell was not certain that the report would be made public in its entirety, although he stated that he expected final action and adjournment today. The opinion is about equally divided as to whether the convention will declare in favor of drastic measures to secure an adjustment of their grievances.

The only remaining business for the consideration of the convention is the report of the scale committee.

Senator Hanna Names Committee.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Ralph M. Easley, secretary of the National Civic federation, announces that Senator Hanna has appointed the committee on conciliation for the settlement of labor controversies. This committee will serve as an arbitration committee of the industrial bureau of the Civic federation, organized recently through the efforts of Senator Hanna. It represents the larger committee of thirty-six men, made up of twelve representatives of labor, twelve of capital and twelve independent men. Senator Hanna will be chairman, and Mr. Easley will be the secretary. The committee succeeded last week in bringing the Boston strike, which threatened to tie up many of the cities in the New England states, to a speedy termination.

Conference on Cuba.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A conference on Cuban affairs will be held in this city today between Governor General Wood, who is now on his way to Washington, and the president and the secretary of war. It is probable that Mr. Palma, president elect of Cuba, also will be invited to confer with the president in regard to the proposed transfer of the government of the island to his charge. General Wood was specially summoned to Washington by the president to arrange for the transfer.

Negro Murderer Hanged.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., March 22.—George Carter, colored, has been hanged here in the penitentiary for the murder of Virgil Whistler. The drop fell at 6:45 o'clock, and in eleven minutes he was pronounced dead. He walked steadily from his cell to the gallows, singing a hymn. He said he was ready to die. He killed Virgil Whistler, another negro, in Charleston December, 1900, because Whistler refused to pay money won at craps.

Turks and Macedonians Fight.

LONDON, March 22.—The correspondent of The Morning Leader in Vienna reports a conflict between Turkish troops and Macedonian revolutionists at Sistova, near Kastoria, European Turkey. The Turks surrounded the village and overcame the rebels. During the fighting four Macedonians and two Turks were killed and twenty-six of the rebels were wounded. All the male inhabitants of the village were arrested.

The official named Scotto was convicted and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment, while the two others were acquitted of the charges against them.

Maher Knocked Out by Ruhlin.

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.—Gus Ruhlin and Peter Maher met at the Industrial Athletic club last night for a six round go, and in the latter part of the second round Maher went down and out on a hard left on the jaw. Ruhlin had the better of the go as far as it went, he repeatedly rushing Maher to the ropes.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Evidences of Improvement Numerous—Brisk Easter Dealings.

NEW YORK, March 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Evidences of further improvement are numerous. Labor controversies are less threatening, many settlements having been effected, while others are momentarily anticipated; wages have been advanced not only through strikes, but in some cases voluntarily; traffic congestion has subsided until it is possible to deliver goods according to specifications; aside from some idle footwear shops, the leading lines of manufacture are very fully engaged, while jobbing trade is of exceptional magnitude. Retail dealings are also very large, the Easter stimulus being felt in all lines of wearing apparel.

Pressure for iron and steel has not diminished perceptibly, yet the impression is growing that after July 1 the situation will become approximately normal and it will be possible to secure deliveries with some degree of promptness.

Large contracts are constantly under consideration for structural material on domestic account, including railway bridges, viaducts, car shops and office buildings. In this respect the domestic consumption this year will far surpass all records.

Grain markets have begun to feel the effects of weather reports, and for the next few months it will be a simple matter for speculators to secure erratic fluctuations.

Both at the east and west there is a little more activity in shoeshops, yet productive capacity is not fully engaged, and new orders come forward slowly. Lower prices for leather and hides may make it possible for producers to accept recent bids, in which case sales would increase, but thus far only two staple grades have been shaded.

Failures for the week numbered 209 in the United States against 224 last year and 31 in Canada against 33 last year.

Sheep Statistics.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The census bureau has issued a report on sheep on hand June 1, 1900, and their wool clip in the fall of 1899 and spring of 1900. There were in the United States June 1, 1900, 31,919,298 ewes one year and over, 8,018,275 rams and wethers one year and over and 21,668,238 lambs under one year. From the 39,937,573 ewes, rams and wethers one year and over were shorn in the fall of 1899 and spring of 1900 44,092,948 fleeces of an aggregate weight of 276,991,812 pounds of unwashed wool. Over one-half of the sheep and more than one-half of the wool are reported from the western states, of which Montana has the largest and Wyoming the second largest number and greatest quantity.

Kaiser Studying Our Case.

BERLIN, March 22.—Emperor William is eagerly engaged in studying the reasons for the industrial predominance of the United States. The reports made to the foreign office by L. M. Goldberger, royal councilor of commerce and a member of the imperial German consulting board for commercial measures, have been immediately forwarded to the emperor, who impatiently awaits fresh installments. He annotates these reports marginally and sends suggestions for new inquiries bearing especially upon German conditions.

Clark Gets City Railway System.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 22.—It is stated on good authority that United States Senator Clark has acquired control of the Los Angeles Traction company, the only street railway system in this city in competition with the Huntington lines. Thomas E. Gibson, general counsel for the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake road, has returned from Washington, where, it is said, he completed arrangements for the transfer of the traction property to Senator Clark. No details of the deal have been given out.

Serious Revolution In Albania.

LONDON, March 22.—According to the Rome correspondent of The Daily Mail, the Italian consul at Yanina, southern Albania, has sent in news of a serious revolution in Albania. The governor's palace at Yanina has been attacked, and several gendarmes were killed. The revolutionists are masters of the town. The consul says more serious outbreaks have occurred at Berat, Paramythia and Avlona, in European Turkey, and that the revolution is spreading throughout Albania.

Meyers' Will Broken.

CAPE MAY, N. J., March 22.—After a trial lasting four days the jury in the celebrated Meyers will case, after deliberating half an hour, broke the will under which the widow of Charles Meyers, who was his fourth wife, received nearly all of an estate of about $175,000. By the will Mrs. Mary de Roche, a daughter by a second wife, was disinherited except as to $50. Meyers' third wife was Pauline Hall, the opera singer.

Buying German Iron.

BERLIN, March 22.—The United States Steel corporation is buying iron in Germany, some of which is for structural purposes. It is reported in the trade that the corporation has instructed its agents to be ready to buy extensively. Two thousand tons of pig iron have just been bought in Silesia on Pittsburg account. Sales of iron are also announced from Westphalia.

Died on Railway Train.

KENT, O., March 22.—Miss Florence McCoy, aged nineteen, of Frewsburg, N. Y., died on an Erie train a few miles east of Kent. The young woman was afflicted with tuberculosis and was on her way to Colorado, accompanied by her mother. The body was prepared for burial here and sent back to Frewsburg.

DEATH THE PENALTY

Bill For President's Protection Passed by the Senate.

THE WAR TAX IS ALSO REPEALED.

Any Person Who Kills or Attempts to Kill the Official Head of This Government Must Hereafter Be Deprived of Life.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Two important measures were passed by the senate yesterday, the bill for the repeal of the war revenue taxes and that for the protection of the president of the United States. The revenue bill was passed without division and after only one short speech. Mr. Tillman embraced the opportunity afforded by the consideration of the bill to protest against the repeal of the duty of 10 cents a pound upon tea.

The bill for the protection of the president was under discussion during the greater part of the session. Mr. Patterson of Colorado made an extended speech in opposition to it, and Mr. Fairbanks supported it. All amendments to the measure were rejected, and it was passed by a vote of 52 to 15.

The bill provides that any person within the United States who shall willfully and maliciously kill the president or any officer on whom the duties of president may devolve or any sovereign of a foreign country or shall attempt to kill any of the persons named shall suffer death; that any person who shall aid, abet, advise or counsel the killing of any of the persons named or shall conspire to accomplish their death shall be imprisoned not exceeding twenty years; that any person who shall threaten to kill or advise or counsel another to kill the president or any official on whom the duties of president may devolve shall be imprisoned not exceeding ten years; that any person who shall willfully aid in the escape of any person guilty of any of the offenses mentioned shall be deemed an accomplice and shall be punished as a principal. The secretary of war is directed to detail from the regular army a guard of officers and men to protect the president, "without any unnecessary display," and the secretary is authorized to make regulations as to the dress, arms and equipment of such guard.

The house passed the river and harbor bill, which has been under consideration throughout the week. Although several minor amendments were adopted not a single dollar was added to the measure, and as passed it carried exactly what it did when it came from the committee—$60,688,267, including authorizations. Mr. Sulzer (N. Y.) attempted to force a record vote on the final passage of the bill, but failed.

The senate committee on the Philippines continued its discussion of the Philippine government bill, taking up the questions of proceedings in the courts and municipal indebtedness. The provision in regard to appeals from decisions of the supreme court of the archipelago to the supreme court of the United States was amended so as to permit them in cases where the value of property involved exceeds $5,000.

No Word of the Huronian.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 22.—The incoming shipping brings no report of the Allan line steamer Huronian, Captain Brodie, from Glasgow Feb. 11 for St. John's, and now about a month overdue. It is generally believed in marine circles here that the Huronian foundered with all hands or that she sank as a result of colliding with the ice in the north Atlantic. There is a bare possibility that she has been caught in the ice floes and that her crew has been rescued by some sealing steamer, as happened in the case of another steamship a few years ago. This, however, is thought to be very unlikely.

This Man Was a Woman.

PETERSBURG, Va., March 22.—Ettrick, a small manufacturing village near this city, has a genuine sensation in the discovery that John Green, a person who has posed before the world for thirty-five years as a married man, was a woman. She has just died from a complication of diseases in the seventy-fifth year of her age, and the discovery was made by neighbors who were called in to prepare the remains for burial. The wife in the partnership survives. The women came to the village from Raleigh, N. C., about two months ago and belonged to the laboring class.

Princess Radziwill's Trial.

CAPE TOWN, March 22.—The trial of the case of Princess Radziwill, who is charged with forgery in connection with notes purporting to have been signed by Cecil Rhodes, was resumed yesterday at the residence of the princess. Mr. Jourdan, private secretary to Cecil Rhodes, utterly repudiated the promissory notes in question and declared that Mr. Rhodes had never signed one of them in his presence. After other evidence showing the attempts of the accused to negotiate the various bills the case was remanded for one week.

Pat Has Slept Four Days.

TRENTON, N. J., March 22.—Pat Cavanaugh, the champion long distance walker of the world, who, with Peter Hegelman, won the six day race in New York, has been asleep at his home here for four days. All efforts to awaken him have failed. It is feared he never will wake up.

Railroads Will Not Fight.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Attorneys for the various railroads which it is sought to enjoin from secretly cutting rates held a conference and, it is said, agreed to make no fight against the action of the government.

URGE ITS PASSAGE.

The impression has gone abroad that those who went to Trenton to attend the hearing on the Greater Plianfield bills before the Senatorial committee were unalterably opposed to the idea of annexation with Union county. As a matter of fact, such was not the case. Objection was made to the form of the bills in that the voters of North Plainfield were given no voice in deciding the question as to which county, Union or Somerset, they preferred to be a part of. At the instigation of Senator Reed, that provision has been inserted and the bill sent back to the Assembly to passed upon again.

Under the present form, there is not a citizen of North Plainfield who can have the slightest reason for opposing the movement further. The will of the majority should rule, as every fair minded man will admit, and the two referendum clauses leave it to the people of North Plainfield, first, to decide whether they shall come over to Union county or remain in Somerset, and second, whether they shall remain a municipality of their own or consolidate with that of Plainfield.

We confidently believe that there is a great majority of the citizens of the borough who realize the wisdom of grasping this opportunity to make the change which will be of such decided benefit to the community. But there is a sure way of settling it decisively and that is by vote. This referendum provision was put in just with that object.

When the Assembly convenes Monday, the bill is coming up again. Assemblyman Hoagland, prodded by political friends in other parts of Somerset county, is going to oppose it. It will be well if every citizen in the borough will let the members of the Assemby know that the present form of the county line bill is entirely acceptable to all concerned. A letter or telegram to members from Union or some other county to that effect will show the legislators that the proposition to let the borough settle the question for itself has found almost unanimous favor.

It is hoped that the change in management in the New Jersey Central may bring about the change in the color of the fence which separates the tracks at the North Avenue station.

While the sons of the old Eli are more numerous in Plainfield than are the graduates from the halls of Nassau, the men who hold dear the memory of their college days in Princeton are a sturdy lot and include some of Plainfield's best citizens. Their annual gathering is always an occasion for a flow of merry repartee and some sayings of a more lasting character.

Many pleasant things have very truthfully been said about the efforts of Rev. Dr. George W. Smith as presiding elder of the Elizabeth district. He has been a faithful and conscientious official and has won the higehst respect of all with whom he has come in contact.

PRESIDENT BAER'S LETTER

ASSURES PLAINFELDER THAT ALL THINGS WILL BE REMEDIED.

Portions of Letter to E. D. George From President of Jersey Central Railroad.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—For the information of other Plainfield commuters I hand you herewith copy of a letter I have received from President Baer, of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, which explains itself. I might add that it is in reply to a letter recently written by me in which I severely criticized the late management of the Central for the wretched service furnished the patrons of the road during the past fall and winter and expressing the hope that we might now look for a marked improvement.

Mr. Baer's letter in part is as follows:

Reading Terminal,
Philadelphia.
March 15, 1902.

Dear Sir: You can assure all our friends that all these things will be remedied. Exceptional conditions have embarrassed our operations. The shop strikes of last summer seriously destroyed the efficiency of our motive power, which was then inadequate for the work. You will see by the annual report just submitted that we have promptly taken steps to secure additional rolilng stock. In point of fact, we bought as many locomotives as it was possible to have built during the spring, and I even went so far as to give space that had been reserved in the shops for Reading locomotives to the Jersey Central. Now, if the public will only be a little patient, and give me hearty support, I am quite sure that all things will come right.

Yours truly,
Geo. F. Baer,
President.

The above letter is certainly very frank and to the point and I have no doubt that the service of which all commuters have very justly complained will be still further improved. I think this is evidenced by the appointment this week of a gentleman who was formerly general superintendent of the Reading road, as general manager of the Jersey Central, and who is to take immediate control of the operating department.

E. D. George.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

On a country place in the lower part of the State, whose owner spends the winter in the city, the head farmer put up this sign near the road side: "No gunning aloud on these premises."

"A fine chance for the noiseless rifle!" remarked a passserby who read the warning and meditated thereon.

STILL FURTHER REDUCTIONS!

Remarkable values are being offered throughout the entire store. Deep cuts in prices of many goods have been made in order to move stock quickly.

Dress Goods suffered least from fire, but most from price cutting. Stock is new and in good condition, but must be sold at once, notwithstanding. Wash Goods are being sacrificed. To those who have seen the beautiful array of Wash Fabrics displayed on our counters this will mean much, for the showing is remarkable for variety, quality and attractiveness. They escaped the fire but have not the general sacrifice. A miscellaneous counter full of Ladies' Suits, Separate Skirts, Jackets and Shirt Waists at your own price to close. A large lot of Hosiery, the boxes of which were damaged by water, will be sold cheap. Miscellaneous articles scattered here and there throughout the stock are going for a song.

In the Basement some rare bargains in house-furnishings are to be had. Goods damaged, only slightly injured by water, but whose usefulness is not impaired.

For the Men we have our new Spring Shirts, and a finer line was never offered.

New Easter Novelties in ladies' Neckwear, showing the latest conceits in this line. Inconceivably dainty and quite inexpensive.

LAST MAN TO LEAVE SHIP

CAPT. STUART, OF WESTERVELT AVE., LOST HIS GOOD BARK, N. B. MORRIS.

Realistic Account of Shipwreck as Related by the Captain Himself.

Captain Peter Stuart, of Westervelt avenue, who suffered the loss of his trim bark, the N. B. Morris, at Cape Henlopen, Friday March 7, and who had a narrow escape with his life, gives a realistic account of the shipwreck.

The wind was blowing a gale all night and the sails were torn away. A dense fog had set in and it was impossible to see the lights. In the rigging, part of the crew were lashed attempting to save a part of the sails at least. Efforts to steer the vessel were futile and suddenly a crash told that it had struck ground.

The life guards on shore saw the perilous condition in which the crew were placed and a gun was fired. The breeches buoy had to be used and after some exciting experiences all the crew were landed safely, Captain Stuart being the last man to come ashore. The vessel was a total wreck. The boat was bound for Philadelphia from Rosario, Argentine Republic, with a heavy cargo abroad.

AN EPWORTH LEAGUE RALLY

HELD AT VINCENT CHAPEL BY LEAGUE OF FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

General Discussion of Methods Took Place of Customary Service, Some Speeches Followed.

Under the auspices of the Epworth League, of the First M. E. church, Leaguers from many places gathered in Vincent chapel, last evening. Leagues were present from churches at Dunellen, Scotch Plains, Westfield, Cranford and Grace and Monroe Avenue churches, of this city. No regular routine was followed out for some time, discussion for mutual advancement taking the place of a customary service.

After an hour's talk, the rally was called to order by R. F. Fenno, vice president of the First M. E. League, of this city, after which he delivered an opening address welcoming the visitors.

Following his remarks the presidents of the various leagues were called upon to give three minute talks.

Another pleasant feature of the affair was an informal musical programme given by Charles L. Lewis, and Miss Etta Raybert, who sang and Miss Alberta E. Waterbury and Miss May Vincent Whitney, who rendered a number of pleasing piano duets. The rally closed with a second informal social during which refreshments were served.

Want Street Accepted.

The property owners on West Sixth street, between Grant and Monroe avenues, are circulating a petition asking the Common Council to accept that street as a public thoroughfare, it having never been so accepted. Farewell Reception.

A farewell reception will be tendered to Rev. G. W. Gardner, pastor of Grace M. E. church, Thursday evening, in the church edifice. The affair will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Several physicians and many remedies had failed to give relief." You don't have to diet. Eat any good food you want, but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will always digest it for you. L. W. Randolph.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

There's nothing that brightens up a parlor so much as a dainty bunch of flowers. The cost is reasonable at C. L. Stanley's, on North avenue.

Fresh fish, oysters and clams can be found at W. W. Wilson's department store on West Third street during the Lenten season. Prices are right and goods are fresh.

Fowler, the East Front street candy man, has a fine large stock of Easter candies and novelties. It is a delight to visit his store even if only to see the pretty display.

R. Frucht, 218-224 Park avenue, received a large shipment of bicycles yesterday which include the following makes: Chainless Clipper, Spalding, Stearns, Monarch and Stormer. His next auction sale will take place April 5.

The comfort of the baby is always a paramount feature in every household. Why not help mother, too, by purchasing one of thoes pretty gocarts at Powlison & Jones'. Over forty styles to make selection from. Prices to suit all purchasers.

For that lazy feeling, which takes hold of you in the springtime, there is a remedy. Some call the condition "that tired feeling." Whatever it is, get rid of it. John P. Powers' Compound Sarsaparilla is just the thing to use in combatting the feeling. It builds up the system.

Easter weather means new clothes. Don't be out of fashion and cling to your old winter garments. Purchase one of those fine spring suits at Harry Werner's and top it off with a light overcoat. It will improve your appearance wonderfully and enable you to join the fashion parade.

At this season of the year one's mind naturally turns to Eastertide. It is always a joyous season and it can be made doubly so by securing some of the Easter novelties offered by Philip Swain at his picture store on West Front street. He has an unusually attractive line this year.

It is always proper at the Easter season to appear in new togs. To complete the attire one should have a pair of the handsome up-to-date shoes such as are sold by John H. Doane. He has a large stock of shoes for men, women and childeren, just the thing for the spring and summer wear.

This is the last day of the big reorganization sale at Crosby & Hills' store. The sale has been an unqualified success from the start and the people have not been slow to get the bargains offered. There will be unusual efforts made today to make it the biggest day of the sale. There will be great bargains to offer in seasonable goods.

Purchased Finch Residence.

William Palmer Smith, of Belvidere avenue, has just purchased the N. P. T. Finch property, adjoining his own on Belvidère avenue. It is understood that the price was about $15,000. The house was erected by the late Florence Schetter, who died in California, and it was the first dwelling to be built on Netherwood Heights.

Dramatized Version of a Gentleman of France

How Mr. Kyrle Bellew, Once a "Pretty Man," Appears as a Swashbuckler.

MR. KYRLE BELLEW, who used to be such a conspicuous and admired figure on the New York promenades, deserted us some years ago and, so far as we have been able to learn, during his absence from his American appreciators, shed his sweetness on the desert air; in Australia, or some such howling wilderness.

It is well to speak of sweetness in connection with Mr. Bellew, he might almost be said to merit the gushing phrase, "sweetly pretty," so feminiely gentle do we remember him when he walked with mincing tread the pavements of Broadway, so neat and dainty, with always a posy about his person. He was the conventional matinee idol of the girls, the glass of fashion and mould of form for the boys. But during the desolate decade we have had to get along without him, it seems he has undergone some subtle sea change and has come back to us a very different gentleman from the one we thought we knew so well. The Mr. Kyrle Bellew of to-day is no drawing-room dandy, no boulevardier, no esthetic poseur, but shows himself to us as none other than the doughty "Gentleman of France" we became acquainted with in 1893, when Mr. Stanley Weyman's novel appeared and put up the model for the historical novels with which we have since been deluged.

MISS ELEANOR ROBSON.
As Mlle. de la Vire in "A Gentleman of France."

It does look a little incongruous when Mr. Bellew, rather slight of frame and not gigantic of stature, alone, single-handed as the thrilling writers say, dispatches five lusty fellows, one after another. Indeed we almost grin openly when a touch of Mr. Bellew's dainty sword sends all the valor and life out of his five brawny antagonists, and we do wish, if only for the sake of appearances, the antagonists would take a little longer time in getting killed. But the dispatch that is used probably makes Mr. Bellew think the audience will consider him no end of a swashbuckler, a fit rival of Sothern and the terrible Mr. Hackett, and will make the people forget he was once a "pretty man."

Mr. Weyman's novel is one of the best of its class, and seems to us the most meritorious book the author has produced; though if it had been the last instead of the first of these novels that have been the fashion for some years past, we doubt if it had ever won the reputation it has enjoyed. They are all made after the same recipe, concocted of the same materials, and we are grown aweary of the dish, hunger for a change of diet.

There is always a hero of wonderful strength and valor, who thinks nothing of killing his man every morning before breakfast; a heroine of beauty great enough to have every man she meets ready to go through fire and water for her sake; a whole bunch of deep-dyed villains, despoilers of widows and orphans, murderous fellows that differ from the hero, not in the number of men they have killed, but in the manner of doing the fatal work:

But give Mr. Weyman his dues and acknowledge he led instead of followed. Mr. Weyman has long been a loving student of French history, and the stories he writes are peopled with characters that appear to have the manners of their day, the scenes have the right local color. It is some years since we read "A Gentleman of France," but when we heard there was to be a dramatized version at once there stood out quite boldly in our minds the principal scenes, events, and figures of the story; and we said to ourselves: "That will make a rattling good play."

Mr. Bellew, of course, plays the part of Gaston de Marsac, and Miss Eleanor Robson portrays Mlle. de la Vire. The role of the brave, much-beset young noblewoman is one particularly suited to Miss Robson, whose spirit, beauty and youth show to good advantage in the various adventures through which Mlle. de la Vire passes. Left as guardian of the honor and possessions of the old chateau, called upon to conceal and protect the loved man of the family, who has made himself obnoxious to the powers that be, the young mademoiselle is required early in life to realize she must play a man's part in the world; must forget she is a woman, forget all womanly softness and dependence.

I always like to hear about courage in a woman, and perhaps that is one reason the memory of Mlle. de la Vire remains with me. We are wont to have heroes of surpassing bravery and dashing courage dished up for us in every volume we open, but not all authors have painted a woman of the possible fortitude that Mlle. de la Vire shows.

Miss Robson seems to have an assured career before her. She is still quite youthful, but has won merited praise for her work in the theatrical field. As "Bonita" in "Arizona" she first attracted notice, and afterwards added to the good things that were being said about her by her interpretation of "Constance" in the Browning play, "In the Balcony." Although "Unleavened Bread" was not a great success itself, Miss Robson's role in it was played by her with much skill, and gave the young actress not only experience, but also brought her an increase of appreciation.

Mr. Bellew is a good deal more of a man than the average dramatic critic, who sees but one side of him, would lead one to suppose. And we feel we shall have failed in justice if we show up Mr. Bellew only as a "pretty man"—and, lately, a would-be swashbuckler. Notwithstanding his unusual good looks and clothes, Mr. Bellew has merited distinction for manly qualities and deeds.

He has certainly had a checkered career. His father, who was bishop of Calcutta, evidently intended his son should appeal from the pulpit rather than the stage, for young Bellew once was a divinity student at Oxford. He left this sheltered walk of life to seek change and adventure, shipping before the mast as a common sailor. Since that revolutionary move, he has tried divers occupations; to-day an officer in the English navy, to-morrow a miner digging for gold in Australia. Then for a season he attempted monastery life, seeking happiness far from the madding crowd.

There seems to be a bit of gypsy blood in him that will not let him rest. A few years of work on the stage, and then he packs away his actor clothes and sets sail for the other side of the world, to see what he can obtain in the way of satisfaction for his roving spirit. After an absence of six years in the Australian bush, we find him back again in the profession in which he has made a considerable reputation.

Mr. Bellew's travels have been of more than personal interest and profit. He is a fellow of the Royal Geographical society of London, where he is seen sometimes as an interested hearer and again as an interesting speaker. He is also a fellow of the Royal Microscopic society, of London. Mr. Bellew has tried his hand at inventions, has patented a process for gold extraction from mineralized ores, and a process for the manufacture of a new hydraulic cement. It is said he is owner of six gold mines in North Queensland, Australia. And we are ready to believe anything that may be related about Mr. Kyrle Bellew.

goods costumes are relieved by trimmings of Indian cashmere in shawl patternings.

Costumes of white cloth are considered particularly stylish, and after white crayon pinks, blues and grays are considered the thing. White gowns are fancifully tucked in squares or diamonds, with a figure of black lace in each section.

Very smart costumes of pale gray are trimmed with applications of deep yellow lace, with here and there a touch of pale blue in the shape of embroidery.

The Louis XV. coat and three cornered hat will be quite as much worn this spring as in the winter. The illustration shows models of such. The coat is of black rough goods, with an inner vest of embroidered cloth and a second loose fitting half vest of white cloth, banded with narrow braid. The crush belt is of black velvet. The sleeves are loose and are gathered into cuffs of white cloth. The coattail is long and full.

The hat is of white felt, trimmed with a wide scarf of black silk, having a fringed bow drooping over the hair in the back. This scarf is passed at intervals through oval gold buckles.

The Vogue of the Bolero—Fashionable Mourning.

That the bolero is still a fashionable model is certain, for the best houses are making nearly all their handsome gowns with this chic ornamentation, and, as these gowns are designed for the spring and summer, the future of the bolero is assured.

The widow's first mourning is now modernized into something modish in shape which does not shroud the figure in masses of crape and cashmere. The new silky black goods are partly of wool. They have the depth of color required for mourning and yet make up gracefully. A mourning gown recently made for a woman of forty was of silky cloth densely black, with a deep godet flounce entirely covered with crape and headed by a broad piping of the same.

The deep, folded belt was of the crape, and it just showed under a sack bolero of the cloth bordered with a hem of the crape, cut to shape and curved up in a point in the center back.

One of the most fashionable colors just now is chinchilla gray.

A Louis XV. effect in an evening waist is here shown. The materials are heavy Russian lace and chiffon. The neck is cut V shape and is made in the back to reach a wide belt of crushed taffeta, from which depend tails of lace. The sleeves are of shirred chiffon. In front the lace is cut into points opening over an underblouse of the chiffon. The belt is narrow in front and finishes on the left side with an upstanding bow. JUDIC CHOLLET.

ACROSS THE LINES

BY HARRY STILLWELL EDWARDS

Upon the same day the confederate relief picket found a federal soldier lying dead within their lines. He had been shot from behind with a pistol held so close to his coat that it was burned by the powder. The affair afforded but a few minutes' discussion, for the explosion of firearms was almost incessant at times, and dead men in June, 1862, were plentiful around Richmond. The only part of the mystery worth considering from the military standpoint was how the man got through the lines at that particular place. A watch taken from his body contained the names of Capt. Richard Somers and the regiment to which he was attached, and also the likeness of an elderly woman. It was surmised that the victim of the pistol shot was a deserter and robber; that he had been captured and killed while attempting violence or an escape. The officer into whose possession the watch drifted was in charge of a burial party next day under a flag of truce, and, learning that Capt. Somers was among the troops opposite, sent the watch to him with a courteous explanation. The gratification of Capt. Somers was only equaled by his bewilderment. Many weeks before he had intrusted the jewel to his faithful artilleryman, and this soldier, he had been assured, was left dead upon the bloody battlefield. His conclusion was that some one had robbed the body at that time and had been overtaken by fate while engaged in some other nefarious enterprise. But when Capt. Somers casually opened the locket and found therein a long, slender curl of reddish-golden hair and on the narrow ribbon with which it was tied the name "Frances," he was involved in a hopeless mystery. He was within sound of the Richmond church bells that morning, and between the intervals of fighting and moving to new positions he had already in imagination entered that city. The name thus sent was the only tidings of Frances he had ever received, and it made him a sadly happy man.

CHAPTER XIV.

Locked within his own room, Raymond Holbin drew from his pocket the packet of papers taken by him from the murdered man with the official order for which he had committed the crime. The order read: "Pass the bearer, Thomas Riley, paroled prisoner, through the lines." "It will not do Louise much good, anyway," he said, "even were I disposed to give it to her." The name "Martha Somers" upon the sealed packet attracted his attention, and he recognized in a Delaware address beneath the home of Richard Somers. He remembered then the dead soldier's description of the battle in which he was wounded, and guessed that the packet contained the papers given to him to deliver. Holbin would hardly have troubled himself to wade through a score of farewell pages from a soldier to his mother, and would have promptly destroyed the whole collection, but that the remaining envelope, addressed to Richard Somers, lay before him, and upon it his eye caught the Brookin crest.

"This is very different," he said to himself with interest. "Let us see what Frances has to say to the fellow." He broke the seal and read:

"I send you back, well and free, the man who saved your life; I found him grievously wounded—a prisoner. It is all that I have been able to do in return for your kindness to me, a stranger, and for the wound you received in my house. Think me not indelicate when I say that the sweetest memory my heart carries is in the memory of your face beneath the match that night and of the words 'Frances, my wife,' which you have engraved in your locket, and over which I have placed a message to you. Forgive me; it can never matter much, for a sea of blood rolls between us. Good night. God be with you till we meet—in Heaven.

"FRANCES."

Holbin sat gazing blankly upon the lines. His head was in a whirl.

"Her husband! her husband! Pshaw!" he exclaimed with an uneasy laugh, springing to his feet and beginning to walk the floor; "this comes of the damnable work out yonder to-day; my nerves are simply unstrung." He took a bottle from his dresser, poured out a stiff drink, and tossed it off with one gulp. Then he went back to his table and, picking up the letter, read aloud: "wound received in my house"—"your face beneath the lighted match." As he stood thus the letter slipped from his hand. "Louise!" he whispered, "the man whom Louise shot!" Not in all the vicissitudes of his wild career had Holbin received such a shock of surprise. His mind, dazed and bewildered, could not arrange a deduction beyond the discovery that Richard Somers was the man around whom so much of mystery had gathered, and that Frances referred to him in the tender word "husband." He laid his hand upon the bell-cord and hesitated; then his wicked smile came back again as he pulled it.

"Tell your mistress I shall be glad if she will favor me with her presence here," he said to William. When, a few minutes later, Mrs. Brookin came into the room he failed to hear her.

"What is it, Raymond?" she asked. He roused himself and spoke rapidly.

"Frances got her wounded soldier a pass through our lines, and to please her I carried him to the front. After he left me I found these papers in the buggy where he had dropped them. The fellow's captain is Richard Somers."

"Richard Somers!"

"And now, madam, read the note from Frances to him and let me congratulate you upon—"

She read it rapidly, and when her amazed face was lifted he added:

"Your son-in-law."

"I do not understand! What does it mean?"

"Answer that question for me, mother; my head has ceased to be of any assistance. Undoubtedly, however, the woman who you lead me to believe gave you her promise to marry me some day is already in point of law Richard Somer's wife and has forfeited her right to any part of her father's estate. Madam, fortune favors the bold; I congratulate you!" His manner betrayed an intense excitement and bitterness.

"Wait, wait!" said the woman, quietly, her eyes riveted upon the letter. "It seems that he was her husband that night. Was not that night prior to the signing of the will?"

"Yes, the night before." The son, looking upon his mother's face, could find no evidence of satisfaction there. It was ghastly. "Why, what is it now?"

"A stronger will and a clearer head than we imagined has been at war with us. I do not know the law, but they were trying to defeat the will in advance. It does defeat it in some way, or our enemies would not have taken the risk. If Frances were really married before the will was signed, she cannot comply with its requirements, and the law will not demand an impossibility."

"Well!" He bent forward, his voice reduced to a whisper.

"We have lost, you and I. Except for my pittance, we shall be beggars upon the day that Frances comes of age; and that day is near at hand."

A long silence followed, and then the eyes of mother and son met.

"Do you not share alike if the will fails?"

"No. The intention of my husband will be operative; only the condition fails. There is no hope that way." His mother looked from him and spoke slowly.

"Is there no remedy?" he asked.

"Yes. If Richard Somers is not living when Frances comes of age, or should Frances—"

"Mother, mother, take care!" The words burst in sudden energy from the wretched man. "Lift a hand to harm but one hair of her head, and, by the Mother of God—"

"Hush! Hush!" she said, quietly. "You love her; that is enough. She is safe."

"Swear it."

"Read the other letter," she said, disregarding him. "It is likely that a man would mention his wife in his last letter to his mother." Raymond stripped off the envelope and shook two letters to the table. One, unsealed, was addressed to Mrs. Martha Somers.

"Nothing but gush," he said, running his eye hurriedly over the lines. Mrs. Brookin had picked up the other, which was addressed to Dr. Brodnar.

"We are getting to the heart of the mystery," she said. "Read this one." Raymond read in silence first, and then, leaning forward, excitedly read aloud:

"Go to the girl I married at your request and say death has dissolved the bond. Break the news to her as gently as possible, for I have been vain enough to believe that the child loves me. You prepared the way by your partiality, and her loneliness and excess of gratitude accomplished the rest. Let me confess that I have been foolish enough to love her and to dream that some day you would permit me to return and openly seek her out. But this cursed war has killed my dream, Brodnar, and if this letter reaches you, it will be after it has killed your friend also! Go to her and say that since he met her Richard Somers has loved her as a man loves but once."

There were other lines dealing with the friendship between the two men while in Paris and containing a tender farewell.

"It is now plain to me," he said. "The meddlesome scoundrel Brodnar is the author of the whole plot!" Mrs. Brookin folded the letters into their places. Her hands were without a tremor.

"Let them keep their secret. To inform them is to arm them. We will continue to be—their dupes. Richard Somers may not be living when Frances reaches twenty-one; who can tell? The man who lost those letters has, I suppose, ere this made a full report."

"The man who lost the letters, mother, has reported elsewhere with a bullet through his heart."

"Raymond!"

"What does it matter? We are killing them in front of our lines every day. One behind counts for little. He had a pass; I needed it. I need it now more than ever." The woman's face glowed with a sudden light.

"You are too rash, my boy; take no steps before consulting me. In the meantime these papers have no value for us. Burn them, burn them now! But no! give me the letter to Brodnar; it may be valuable some day as evidence that Richard Somers is dead." One by one Holbin held the others over lighted matches and saw them vanish into cinders. His mother placed her hand upon his shoulder.

"Raymond, you are again planning to cross the lines—"

"I know what I am doing! Do not seek to influence me."

"What do you mean?"

"There is no time for explanation, nor is there any need, for you already understand. It is sufficient to say that I am going across the lines for more than one purppse now."

"There are all sorts of people in an army," she said; "I have seen it stated that many officers killed in battle are shot from behind."

"That is one," he replied, "and men who serve their country in time of war are forgiven many things. I am in possession of that which will secure for me a review of my case and restore to me my commission. I have offered my sword to the confederacy once; the next time I will offer it point first!"

PERISHABLE CURIOSITIES.

Singular Designation of a Carload of Tramps Shipped Out of a Mexican Town.

In Mexico the billing of railroad freight requires a knowledge and precision which can only be attained by years of practice. This is due to the peculiar classification of various articles and the different rates of customs duties. A case recently occurred which severely taxed the ingenuity of the station agent, although he finally succeeded in meeting all requirements, states Youth's Companion.

The town was overrun with tramps, and the council determined that steps must be taken to rid the city of them. It was finally decided to round them up and ship them out of the country. It would be too expensive to purchase tickets, so they concluded to hire stock cars and ship their tramps as freight.

The cars were procured and by the aid of the police the tramps were gathered; but then the question arose as to how the shipment should be designated on the bill of lading.

The term "persons" could not be used, as it would conflict with the state law relative to proper accommodations for the traveling public, and it would also be in violation of the company's rules governing the rates of passenger traffic. "Marketable commodities" would not do, as that would subject the carload to a heavy duty upon crossing the tariff zone. Again, they would have to be classified as "perishable," or the dispatcher might order the cars sidetracked along the line.

But fortunately there is a customs law which exempts certain kinds of curiosities from duty, and so, after much consideration, the tramps were billed and forwarded as so many hundredweight of "perishable curiosities—unfit to eat."

PLAY CHECKERS BY WIRE.

Telegraph Operators in Canada While Away Their Spare Time at the Game.

When the American management assumed control of the Grand Trunk railway in Canada it set about the abolition of many easy-going habits the employes had drifted into. One unbusinesslike practice to which the telegraph operators of the road were addicted was playing checkers over the wires. Each operator kept a numbered checker board and after arranging the checkers on the squares when the wires were not busy they indicated the moves to be made by telegraphing the numbers of the squares a checker was to be moved from and to. The objection the management had against checker playing was that the pastime sometimes occupied the keys against the transmission of important dispatches.

One winter's evening shortly after the new management took over the Canadian railroad two operators stationed along the main line east were whiling away the time playing checkers when a key was opened at the Montreal office. The head office of the Grand Trunk is at Montreal, and the superintendent's "call" requires immediate attention and a clear wire. The checker-playing operator nearer Montreal heard the magic signal and promptly opened his key. His friend further west, being without suspicion and unable to account for the interruption in the game, ticked out the inquiry: "Whose next move?" and on receiving no answer repeated it, giving his station call.

Then the Montreal key, operated by a touch that was strange, says the New York Times, wired the terse reply: "I guess it will be your next move. I am the new superintendent."

AMERICANS WIN.

Foreign Retail Tobacconists Reject English Terms.

LONDON, March 22.—The feeling among the London tobacconists, exemplified at a big meeting held to consider the rival bonus schemes, was one of bitter opposition to the boycotting clause of the agreement proposed by the Imperial Tobacco company (British), which was described as arbitrary and unjust.

Ultimately the London tobacconists, after a long discussion, passed a resolution unanimously absolutely refusing to sign the Imperial Tobacco company's agreement as being "unjust and unfair to the dealers and un-English."

At a meeting of the Edinburgh Association of Retail Tobacconists a resolution was adopted unanimously declining to sign the Imperial Tobacco company's agreement, but expressing willingness, if the medium price is raised so as to allow a fair profit to dealers, to do what is possible, bonus or no bonus, for the sake of British goods.

The chairman declared that no one outside of a lunatic asylum would sign such an agreement, which would make them the servants of the Imperial Tobacco company.

The Belfast tobacco dealers at a meeting went further than the Edinburgh dealers. The former decided to accept the American proposition.

Advancement For Captain Coghlan.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—It is understood that Captain Joseph B. Coghlan is about to be advanced five numbers on the list of naval captains through the remission by the president of part of the sentence of a court martial from which he is now suffering. Years ago when the captain was a junior officer he cashed with the detail officer of the navy department and for writing a sharp letter was court martialed and sentenced to lose eleven numbers in his grade. By the special act rewarding the captains of the United States fleet engaged in the battle of Manila Bay Captain Coghlan regained some of the lost numbers, and he now seeks to be completely reinstated. This would place Captain Coghlan second on the list of naval captains, and he would become a rear admiral in the course of the year through the retirements of Rear Admirals Remey and Farquhar.

Haiti Stirred Up.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 22.—Letters received here from Port-au-Prince, Haiti, say that the whole country is disturbed owing to the bad political situation. The government, it is added, is making numerous arrests in several quarters, principally Jacmel, where it is feared a revolutionary outbreak is imminent.

Kansas Wheat Crop Saved.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 22.—A general heavy rain has fallen in Kansas in many places. The fall was especially heavy in the wheat belt, and it is believed came in time to save the crop from injury from drought and high winds.

AT REVOLVER'S POINT.

Railroad Detective Saved Charles McCann From Crowd of Angry Linemen.

While returning from Somerville on a New Jersey Central train, yesterday afternoon, Charles McCann, of the local telephone exchange, had an exciting encounter with a number of former telephone linemen who are now employed by the Western Union.

He recognized one of them and in the course of conversation, the recent linemen's strike was referred to and McCann incautously spoke of an incident in regard to it. The men immediately accused him of being a scab and made a rush for him. A railroad detective, who was in the car, sprang in front of him with a revolver and ordered the man back. They obeyed but threw threatening glances at McGann until he alighted at this city.

LEAGUE OF FOUR CLUBS

Plainfield Amateur Baseball League Decided to Admit No More Teams.

OPEN DECORATION DAY.

There Will be Twenty-Four Games Altogether—Each Team Meeting Each Other Team Four Times —Applications Were Refused —The Reasons Why.

At a second meeting of the Plainfield Amateur Baseball League, held Saturday evening, it was definitely decided that the organization will consist of the four teams which were instrumental in its formation. This conclusion was arrived at after the application of the Clinton Avenue team for admittance had been refused. The Dunellen A. C. also made a request for membership but it was not accepted.

In refusing the Clinton avenue team the privilege to enter, the representatives of the league nines realized it would result in much adverse criticism but they made clear their reasons for doing so. The team, they allege, as it stands at present, is in an embryo state. It has not secured its full complement of players and the members present were not prepared to give definite assurance that it would last the season. By dropping out before the schedule was completed, it would result in complications that would leave the league demoralized. Each team in the organization has a responsible association behind it with the exception of the Safe Works nine and this is backed by individual members who are prepared to guarantee any amount that the nine will last. No one was willing to assume this position for the Clinton Avenue's, consequently the application was turned down. The Dunellen request was not considered on account of a constitutional provision which does not permit of out-of-town teams entering.

Continuing the business of the evening, John H. Cose, Alex Muir, John G. McLaughlin and Thomas Comerford were named as an executive committee to co-operate with the secretary in preparing the necessary schedule of games and all business incidental to it. As arranged, the season is to include four games between each two teams which will make twelve to be played by each one and twenty-four altogether. The season is to be opened on Decoration Day morning with two teams playing and in the afternoon the other two will hold forth. Between League games out-of-town games will be played, but with postponements and the regular schedule, this will allow of but very few.

Those at the meeting were Thomas Comerford, of the St. Mary team; Captain Martin, Manager Cose and William N. Runyon, of the Hope; Captain McLaughlin, Manager Heywood and George Dupee, of the Y. M. C. A.; Manager Muir, Richard Higgins and Charles Ward, of the Safe Works. There were also present Henry Apgar, Charles Bulmer, Warren Squires, and Ernest Derflinger of the Clinton Avenue. The next meeting will be held on April 5.

SPRING CAMPAIGN.

Street Commissioner After Property Owners to Lay Stone Walks.

Street Commissioner Gavett has inaugurated his spring custom of notifying property owners where flagstone walks should be laid. Nearly every section of the city is being looked after and when all are responded to, hundreds of feet of new walk will have been laid. In the past few years so many streets have been attended to that but very few of the most traversed remain in poor condition.

Going to Give Another Dance.

The I. T. C. Club, which conducted a successful dance in its rooms, Thursday evening, is already making arrangements for a similar affair. It will probably be held about April 10. It is the intention of the club officials to make the organizatian one of the most socially prominent in the city.

In New Quarters.

The Plainfield Camera Club has taken possession of its new quarters in the room over police headquarters and the place will be thoroughly equipped at once. New pool and billiard tables have been purchased.

DON'T ALL LIKE CITY FARE

CITY'S CHARGES MADE ANNUAL APPLICATION FOR MAINTENANCE.

Incidentally Aired All Their Complaints—Made Before City Judge Runyon.

The annual custom of taking the applications for maintenance of the city's charges at the Industrial Home, and incidentally complaints from same, took place Saturday afternoon. The inmates, fifteen in number, were sworn before City Judge Runyon.

Nearly everyone had a grievance to air or a suggestion to make as to how the place should be conducted. Despite reports to the contrary that Poormaster Ayers was supplying their table with twenty-eight cent veal cutlets and high-grade candies, three of them asserted that they were being kept on a starvation basis. One old patriarch asserted that the alms committee was so stingy that the most potatoes he could get at dinner was one and a half. Another declared Superintendent TenEyck was breaking the law by serving imitation butter.

The subject of insufficient heat is always a favorite one and the usual amount of complaints were made. According to one, the superintendent stole the wheel (that's the way he expressed it) off his radiator and he had been frozen ever since. Mr. TenEyck explained the matter by saying that the complainant had nearly ruined the heating apparatus by continually fooling with the valves and he had been forced to take them off.

After hearing them all, Judge Runyon promised that they would be given due consideration and the charges went back to their rooms completely satisfied.

PALM SUNDAY.

Fittingly Celebrated in the Roman Catholic and Episcopal Churches.

Palm Sunday was fittingly celebrated in all the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches yesterday. Christ's glorious entry into Jerusalem was the text of the sermons for the day.

There was the usual blessing and distributing of palms at each mass in St. Mary's and St. Joseph's church. At Grace Episcopal church there was a distribution of palms. In both the Roman Catholic and the Episcopal churches the alters were profusely adorned with palms and the Palm Sunday music was a feature at all services. This is Holy Week and there will be special services daily.

DRIVER THROWN OUT.

Three Plainfielders Had Thrilling Ending to a Pleasure Drive.

Archibald Hacquer, George Firstbrook and Thomas Muir, well-known young men of this city, went out for a pleasure drive, yesterday afternoon, in a runabout owned by Henry DeMott. In attempting to turn around in the narrow "notch" road, near Watchung, too sharp a turn was made and the wheel caught under the body of the vehicle.

Hacquer, who was driving, was thrown out and the horse promptly ran away. Firstbrook finally recovered the reins and stopped the mad flight of the horse. Hacquer was stunned by the fall and received numerous bruises. One wheel of the wagon was smashed.

AT PARK CLUB.

Social Activity Will Be Resumed As Soon as Lent is Over.

The entertainment committee of the Park Club announces several events for the near future. The Easter dance will be held at the clubhouse Tuesday evening, April 1, instead of April 4, as previously stated. On Thursday evening, April 10, at 8:30 o'clock, there will be an auction party. Each patron is supposed to bring a pound package to be sold, the proceeds to be for the building fund. On Tuesday evening, April 15, at 8:30 o'clock, there will be progressive euchre. Each person is requested to bring some twenty-five cent article.

Prayer Services This Week.

There will be prayer services this evening, tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at Trinity Reformed church. On Friday evening the union Good Friday service will be held. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend any or all of these services during Holy Week.

Contests at Bowling.

A meeting of the Ladies' Bowling Club was held Thursday afternoon. The contests were won by Mrs. Henry Rummell and Mrs. Matthias Menzenbach.

Out-of-Town Contract.

Mundy Brothers have received a contract to build a house at Cape Cod.

HOW FREEHOLDERS ARE BUILDING COURTHOUSE

Reasons for Building an Addition First and Then the Main Building.

THE ORIGINAL PLAN.

THE STAND TAKEN BY FREEHOLDER WESTPHAL, OF THIS CITY.

Original Idea Was to Build Courthouse in Two Sections—It is Believed New Plan Will Save Considerable Money.

There has been much inquiry concerning the plans regarding the new court house at Elizabeth. At the last meeting of the Union county Board of Freeholders $30,000 was appropriated for the erection of a building on ground adjoining the present county jail. It is understood that the original idea was to build a new court house in two scetions and move the court and offices of the county clerk, and other offices in the new half. The old structure was then to be removed and continue with the second section. But, upon the advice of the constructing architects, the commission offered a solution asking for an appropriation of $30,000 for a new building to be occupied temporarily as a court house, the same to be so built that upon its completion this building could be used as a jail for women and also as the cook room. This would give more room in the new Court House and also bring the kitchen up from the basement to the first floor.

Now, the opinion of the architects was that it would make a difference with the contractors in bidding, if compelled to build in two halves, of from $20,000 to $30,000 more; and further that the building would not be so well constructed. This was explained in this way that the first half would be settling while the second half is still green. This $30,000 must come out of the amount appropriated and covered by law, not to exceed $200,000.

Wm. A. Westphal, of this city, one of the members of the board, says that his stand is that if it will cost as much to build in two sections as in one also to include a second new building, it will be best to secure two buildings instead of one for the same money.

A GREAT FESTIVAL.

Easter as it Will be Observed at Atlantic City.

Of all the festivals that which closes the Lenten season at Atlantic City is the grandest and most unique imaginable. First, Atlantic City is grand because of its size. Think of it; accommodation for a hundred thousand guests and regal accommodations too. Its popular board walk has no comparison anywhere, for its length is nearly five miles, and on Easter Sunday the entire promenade is crowded by a gaily attired throng. Hundreds of roll chairs are in use. Bands furnish appropriate music and the life one sees there is unequaled The temperature is delightful, and the visitor is carried away with the surroundings.

The quickest and best route to Atlantic City is via the Jersey Central, which operates 3 hour service from New York at 9:40 a. m. and 3:40 p. m., with a special train Saturday, March 29, at 1:30 p. m. These trains are equipped with modern vestibuled coaches and parlor cars, and if you want time-tables, send to C. M. Burt, G. P. A., 143 Liberty street, New York.

A $5,000 Residence.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane has granted a permit to Hugh H. MacMurray, of West Sixth street, for the erection of a dwelling on the south side of West Seventh street west of Monroe avenue. It will cost $5,000. The plans were drawn by E. V. French. Seaman Williams will do the mason work and J. Manning & Son the carpentry work.

Endeavorers' Social.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel will give a lunch-box social and pantomime show, in the Sunday-school rooms, this evening. An invitation is extended all members and friends of the society to be present.

Improvements to Residence.

Dr. W. E. Stelle, of 609 Park avenue, has received a permit from Building Inspector T. O. Doane to make some alterations and improvements to his residence.

ELABORATE DISPLAY.

At Millinery Opening at Crosby & Hill's Big Store, Which Will Begin Tomorrow.

Mrs. Jones, the milliner at Crosby & Hill's store, has prepared a most elaborate display of spring and summer hats which will be exhibited tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday. On the second floor at the store a large room has been prettily arranged for the display. The black and white hats are attractive. Lots of flowers will be used, and there is a large assortment of domestic and imported. The soft braids will also be used.

There is a select assortment of street and outing hats, with fancy trinimings and the linen effects. This year's hats are of good style and quality and Mrs. Jones has made a careful selection. In the general decoration flowers and palms are used with good effect.

MORE SMALL-POX.

Case Discovered at Kerwin's Hotel, Over in Piscataway Township—Under Quarantine.

A three-year-old son of Michael Kerwin, who resides in Middlesex county, just across the border line of this city, is suffering with small-pox. The case developed Friday and the house is quarantined.

Dr. VanHorn, of this city, has vaccinated all the children in the neighborhood. The case is in charge of Dr. Nelson, of New Market. It is learned that Robert McCullough, who died in the isolation hospital from the dreaded disease, was a visitor at Kerwin's place before he was stricken.

MOUNTAIN PARK INN LEASED.

Proprietor of the Hotel Plainfield Takes It for Five Years.

Charles L. Strong, proprietor of the Hotel Plainfield, has leased, through J. T. Vail, the Mountain Park Inn for a term of five years. The Inn will be opened for the season on May 15. Manager McConnell, of the Hotel Plainfield, will be in charge of the Inn thus insuring every comfort and courtesy. There will be no trouble in the future about people getting from the trolley to the Inn and back again. A systematic arrangement will be made with a local liveryman to properly look after this matter.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BISHOP.

Services Held From the Late Home Saturday Afternoon.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. John Bishop were held at her late home, Saturday afternoon, before a large gathering of sorrowing relatives and friends. Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, was the officiating clergyman.

At the close of the obsequies, the remains were interred in Evergreen cemetery. Those who acted as pall bearers were Robert Kenney, Joseph Brown, James Patterson, John Paterson, James Smith and Harry Shirley.

MORE MONEY FOR MEAT.

Price of Beef Has Advanced in the Local Market.

The price of beef in the local market has advanced. This is the general condition throughout the country. On Thursday last the rate per hundred was higher in Chicago, which is the centre of the trade, than it has been for ten years past.

This morning another advance in meat was recorded and in consequence all the retailers have been compelled to raise the prices. Muton, beef and poultry are particularly dear.

Gave Lodge Another Chair.

Among the articles destroyed in Woodhull & Martin's store when the Babcock fire occurred, was a chair displayed in a window, which was to have been chanced off for the benefit of Star of Bethlehem Lodge, Shepherds of Bethlehem. The firm has since furnished the lodge with a handsome new chair and the drawing will take place as intended.

Fumigating Cars.

The work of fumigating the cars on the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company line, between Elizabeth and this city, is progressing satisfactorily. The work does not interfere in the least with the traffic.

Arrested for Drunkenness.

Frank Moncton was arrested Saturday evening by Special Marshal Fahn and placed in the borough lockup. He will be given a hearing, this evening, on the charge of drunkenness.

Temperance Address.

Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson made a temperance address before the First Baptist church Sunday-school, yesterday, and Mrs. John H. Manley sang.

—In the line of fresh vegetables at Neuman Brothers tomorrow are crisp table celery, Boston head lettuce cucumbers, cauliflower, spinach, radishes and new potatoes.

WHAT IS TRUE SECRET OF A CHRISTIAN LIFE

Strong Sermon by Rev. Dr. Judson at the First Baptist Church Yesterday.

ABLE BAPTIST DIVINE.

POINTED OUT THE QUALITIES OF THE CHRISTIAN MAN.

Impressed Upon All the Necessity of Keeping Busy in the Service of God, and Thus Avoiding Falling Into Temptation.

The First Baptist church was crowded yesterday morning and evening, when Rev. Dr. Edward Judson, of the Judson Memorial church, of New York, occupied the pulpit. Dr. Judson is one of the ablest divines in the Baptist denomination.

The subject of the morning discourse was "The Tranquil Pursuit of a Heavenly Aim is the True Secret of a Christian Life," and the chief thought was that one should not lay up treasures on earth, for where one's heart is there will his treasure be. The speaker said that if religion does not make a person better, purer and sweeter, it is not worthy anything.

"The first quality in a good Christian man," said Dr. Judson, "is humility, a consciousness of shortcoming. The next quality is contrition, sorrow because of spiritual poverty. The third quality is meekness toward God. One possessing this quality does not resent punishment, but responds to the touch of God's will. The fourth quality is a passion for perfection, a desire to be better and seek more righteousness. The fifth quality is mercy toward those who need it, a sympathy for those employed. The sixth and last quality is purity, to possess a pure heart."

Continuing, Dr. Judson said that a man possessing these qualities has an influence for good which cannot be hid, he is like a city that is set on a hill. There is no attractiveness in vice, virtue has the only true fascination. Good people make the best society in any community. Christ teaches that a good Christian man can be trusted.

In conclusion Dr. Judson impressed upon all the necessity of learning how to pray and to keep busy in the service of God, thus permitting no time to be used to follow the works of the evil one.

During the service a beautiful duet "Love Divine All Love Excelling," was sung by Miss Harris, soprano, and George Smith, tenor. Last evening Dr. Judson preached a strong sermon on the theme "The Shepherd's Psalm."

OFFICERS CHOSEN.

For the Sunday-School of the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Chapel.

John C. Osborne lead the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, at Watchung, Friday evening. A delegation from the society of the Congregational church attended the meeting and participated in the discussion of the topic, temperance.

Subsequently the annual meeting of the Sunday-school was held and the following officers were elected: President. E. L. Bonney; vice president, Miss N. J. Beeching; secretary, W. B. Ackor; librarian, R. J. Rogers; treasurer, Miss N. J. Beeching; organist, Edward Spier. E. L. Bonney was re-elected trustee for three years. Theodore Seurssen was appointed to consider the matter of introducing electric lights in the chapel.

Town Committee Organized.

North Plainfield's Township Committee met and organized for the year, Saturday. The meeting was held at Watchung and all three members were present. They include Thomas Taylor, Charles Sebring and Henry Kliner. Mr. Kliner was chosen at the recent election.

Tripped on Track.

While crossing the tracks at the North Avenue station, Friday evening, Mrs. Elizabeth McLaughlin, of Somerset street, fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had just alighted from a westbound train when she tripped on a rail. Dr. P. J. Zeglio made the examination.

Talked to Boys.

DEATH GAVE NO WARNING

Constable W. R. Mattox Was Stricken While Sleeping Yesterday Morning.

EVERYBODY KNEW HIM.

An Old and Well Respected Citizen Passed Away Suddenly After an Eventful Career—A Veteran of Civil War—Native of Newark —Delinquent Tax Collector.

William R. Mattox, one of the oldest and best known residents of this city, died suddenly at his home, 732 Webster place early yesterday morning. His wife discovered that he was dead about 6 o'clock in the morning, and it is believed that he had been dead a few hours. Saturday he complained of not feeling well and was treated by a physician, but it was believed that he would fully recover. His death was due to heart trouble.

Mr. Mattox was born in Newark sixty-five years ago. In the early days he was a member of Engine Company No. 7, of the volunteer department in that city. While still a member the Civil War broke out and he enlisted in the First N. J. Volunteers, with his two brothers, one of whom is still living. The other died in Andersonville Prison. He enlisted for three months, returned home and enlisted again remaining with his regiment until the close of the war. He received honorable discharge both times.

In March 1881, Mr. Mattox came to Plainfield and was foreman at the oil cloth factory for several years. He was a regular policeman for a time, after which he associated himself with Music Hall. He assisted in the opening of the hall, October 16, 1884, when Theodore Thomas appeared. He remained at the hall for several years as a property man. In Newark he was also a property man at the Newark Theatre for twenty-two years. He was a member of a stock company and appeared in a number of plays.

For several years past Mr. Mattox has been a constable from the Second ward, and recently was appointed delinquent tax collector. This work he was just entering upon most successfully. Mr. Mattox had his office at Justice Nash's office, where he was a familiar figure. He was genial, of a happy disposition and always made friends. He always had a good word for everyone.

Mr. Mattox was a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and Howell Division, Sons of Temperance. He leaves three sons and three daughters as follows: Patrolman William J. Mattox, Aaron J. Mattox, Louis S. Mattox, Mrs. Euphemia Celia Perrine, Miss Tryphena Mason Mattox and Miss Sarah Alice Mattox. Louis Mattox lives at Dunellen, Mrs. Perrine in North Plainfield and the others in this city. There are twenty-one grandchildren. He also leaves four sisters, Mrs. James Huntington, of the borough; Mrs. James Benedict and Mrs. Eliza Christy, of Newark, and Mrs. Hattie O'Melley, of Orange, and a brother, John Mattox, of Newark.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Warren chapel and the G. A. R. will officiate. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

LITERARY.

The Youth's Companion, that model story paper, enjoys an unique distinction in carrying on its mailing lists a number of subscribers who have taken the paper since its first issue, April 17, 1827. Among these veteran subscribers is R. W. Peabody, of Chicago, Ill., who paid a visit to the office of the Perry Mason Company, the publishers, at Boston, last week. He is now ninety-one years of age and the letter in which he sent his first subscription was one of the first he ever wrote. Through young manhood, maturity and old age, through times of war and times of peace, his constant friend has been the Youth's Companion, an original and enterprising story paper.

The contribution to The Century's papers on the Great West in the April number will be by Noah Brooks—a paper of recollections of the overland trip to California in the '50's. The paper has for its title "The Plains Across," in defense of which Mr. Brooks says: "In the rude ballads of the time, the phrase for crossing the plains was 'the plains across;' never by any chance did the verse-maker write 'across the plains.' This form of locution was at once adopted by the plainsmen, who unconsciously drifted into the use of the more poetic phrase, 'the plains across;' and to this day you will find old pioneers scattered among the solitudes of the far Northwest who never admit that they came across the plains; they came the plains across."

The illustrations by Remington include some novel subjects, such as "A Lane Through the Buffalo Herd," "Moonlight in the Western Desert," and others.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Patriotism takes different forms. Dunellen, where effigies were burned when President McKinley was assassinated, gave $8 toward the Memorial Fund. Yet Dunellen claims to be important enough to have a freeholder. The old Democratic town of Spotswood, with half Dunellen's population, went this half a dollar better. South River, larger than the two combined, raised $5, which was equalled by the hamlet of Franklin Park. The best showing of all in Middlesex was made by Helmetta, which, with less than a thousand population, raised $63.30. New Brunswick very properly heads the list. It is to be hoped that the small deficiency of $31 will speedily be made up.—New Brunswick Home News.

Senator Reed and ex-Senator Thompson, of Somerset county, have maintained a factional war for some time, not perhaps so much on acount of personal differences as on account of location. The real trouble is caused by jealousy between the borough of North Plainfield and the county seat of Somerville. The borough is practically a part of Plainfield, and a stranger visiting the city would be unable to distinguish any difference between the two places. In some instances the line runs through city plots dividing a house, so that it is in both municipalities. The borough population is mainly composed of comparatively recent comers and their interests are in Plainfield. The population of Somerville is more interested in the farming section and it does not grow so rapidly as that of the borough. There is not much difference in the size of the two places, so far as population goes, and the borough is nearly evenly divided politically, so that the politics in the proposition to unite the borough of Plainfield is not especially notable.

The leaders for and against the proposition are rivals in Somerset, and the addition of the borough to Union county would remove Reed from the county and leave Thompson supreme. In spite of that Thompson, representing Somerville, must be opposed to the proposition, and Reed, who seems to enjoy the political scrap in Somerset, is by reason of his residence apparently in favor of annexation. If both Reed and Thompson were suddenly removed the desire of one place to secede and of the other to prevent it would be just as strong.

The change proposed made three bills necessary, and these passed the House last week. This week an effort was made to recall them from the Senate. Hoagland had a resolution to that effect passed, but there is a hitch and there is some doubt about the Senate giving up the bills.

There is a good deal of feeling manifested by the people on both sides of the controversy. The people of Union show but little interest in the matter and outsiders feel sympathy for Somerset county because there is a general disposition to oppose dismemberment bills.

The passage of the bills will affect only the locality, but the contest between the opposing factions has formed an interesting episode in this winter's legislation. — Jersey City Journal.

WILCOX FOUND GUILTY.

Slayer of Ella Cropsy Sentenced to Be Hung.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., March 24.—Twelve good men and true, after many hours of deliberation, have found James Wilcox guilty of the murder of his sweetheart, Ella Cropsy, with whom she left the parlor of her parents' home on the night of Nov. 12 last and was never again seen until her body was given up by the river that flows close to her home several weeks after.

The verdict that young Wilcox was guilty of the murder of Miss Ella Cropsy seems to have met with popular approval, though it was not considered probable on Saturday that the jury would so report. District Attorney Ward said he never looked for any verdict other than murder in the second degree. Lawyer Aydlett, for the defense, will enter an appeal on behalf of the prisoner. He will seek to set aside the verdict on the ground that it was not consistent with the evidence brought out in the trial. There is little prospect of the prisoner paying the death penalty on April 23, the date set by Judge Jones. As the supreme court does not meet until next September it is more than probable that it will be twelve months before the case is disposed of finally.

WANT UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE.

Agitation In Belgium Continues. Liberals Resort to Dynamite.

BRUSSELS, March 24.—The Liberals and the Socialists, including many members of the chamber of deputies, held a big parade here yesterday afternoon. The paraders halted in front of the city hall and sent in a deputation to the burgomaster of Brussels bearing a petition for universal suffrage and proportional representation. The burgomaster promised to submit this petition to parliament. There were no disorders here.

As Prince Albert, a nephew of King Leopold, was leaving the theater Saturday night hundreds of Socialist students gathered about the prince and shouted for universal suffrage.

Dynamite cartridges were exploded in the postoffice at La Louviere, province of Hainaut, Belgium. The building was damaged, but no one was hurt.

The explosion last Friday night of dynamite cartridges under the home of M. Dorbaise, a Catholic deputy, at Binche, Hainaut province, by which no one was injured, is also attributed to the suffrage agitation.

A Bishop as Commander in Chief.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 24.—A strong movement has been set on foot in this city to secure the election of Bishop Thomas F. Gaylor, Episcopal bishop of Tennessee, as the next commander in chief of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans. The N. B. Forrest camp of Memphis has unanimously indorsed him for the position, and a committee consisting of some of the most prominent and influential sons of veterans in the south called on the bishop and prevailed on him to allow the use of his name at Dallas next month under the conditions that his election be unanimous and that the military feature of the organization be eliminated.

Virginia Miners Likely to Strike.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 24.—The announcement of Secretary Treasurer W. B. Wilson of the United Mine Workers of America that a strike would likely be called soon of the 25,000 miners in this state and Virginia caused no surprise here, where both sides seem to be anticipating it. It is believed that a conference between the operators and the miners of the two states will soon be held, although there are reports that the demands of the miners may be made without further conferences.

His Eightieth Birthday.

BOSTON, March 24.—A celebration in honor of Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale on the eightieth anniversary of his birth, April 3, is planned, and the occasion promises to be one of the most unique ever held in this country. The orator will be the venerable Senator Hoar, who has been for years one of Dr. Hale's closest friends and greatest admirers. Dr. Hale will respond to the address of Senator Hoar.

Fatal Family Quarrel.

WASHINGTON, Ind., March 24.—During a quarrel at the supper table Liberty Kempf, a well known business man, choked his wife. The woman managed to get a revolver and fired five shots at her husband, one bullet penetrating the brain. He died in a few moments. The wife told her story to the police and has not yet been arrested.

Five Prisoners Burned to Death.

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., March 24.—Five county convicts made an attempt on Saturday night to burn their way out of prison, burning the stockade house in which they were confined down over their heads, cremating themselves. They were all negroes.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Farm laborers to the number of 150,000 are on a strike in three provinces of Italy.

A census report showed the annual egg production of the United States to be 1,293,819,186 dozen.

Mr. David Bispham, who lost his voice while singing at Worcester, Mass., has fully recovered.

Christian Nelson was arrested in Texas on bigamy charges. He is alleged to have married eleven women.

At Canandaigua, N. Y., a person known for five years as William C. Howard died suddenly, and an autopsy showed that the supposed man was a woman.

COMPROMISE LIKELY

Mine Workers' Convention Is Still In Session.

NO OPEN STRIKE DECLARATION.

That Question Will Probably Be Left to a Committee Who Will First Present Grievances to the Coal Operators.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 24.—From an official source it is learned that an effort will be made to adjourn the joint convention of districts Nos. 1, 7 and 9, United Mine Workers of America, without committing the delegates to a strike declaration. At an all night meeting the special committee appointed on Saturday formulated a resolution which the leaders hope will satisfy both radical and conservative delegates. The committee consists of President Mitchell, District Presidents Nicholls, Fahey and Duffy and the three district vice presidents.

The report of the committee will take the form of a resolution the principal clause of which, it is authoritatively stated, will recommend the appointment of a committee to present to the operators the demands of the convention.

Incorporated in the report are a number of resolutions adopted during the week in addition to those made public by President Mitchell. All of these resolutions, it is stated, contain a strike declaration effective April 1, but they were made subject to the resolution of the special committee report, which, so far as could be learned, does not declare for a strike. All of the demands made in the scale committee report are also embodied in the resolution, but the statement is made that only two of these—an eight hour working day and the weighing of coal wherever practicable—will be insisted upon if the convention adopts the resolution. Should the report prove satisfactory the convention is expected to select a committee composed of others than officers of the union.

In the event of the operators refusing to recognize the committee it is within the province of the district presidents to declare a strike after receiving the sanction of the national executive board.

Russian Battleship Ready.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—The big battleship Retvizan, which has just been completed for the Russian government at Cramps' shipyard, was officially added to the czar's navy yesterday and the regular routine of a man-of-war began on the ship. The ceremony was simple and was conducted by Father Ratskowtsky, the ship's chaplain. The crew of 750 men and officers were lined up on the main deck with bared heads as the services of the Greek church were read, after which, at a signal from Captain Stchensnovitch, the Retvizan's commander, the blue cross of St. Andrew was hoisted at the stern. Soon after the ceremony had been concluded the battleship was hauled into midstream by four tugs and will sail for Cronstadt about April 12.

Execution May Cause Trouble.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, March 24.—Leon Gabriel, who claimed to be a citizen of France and who was executed on Saturday after having fired a shot from a revolver at General Cameau, the chief of police, was formerly an aid-de-camp of ex-President Legitime. Upon this fact the Haitian government bases the claim that Gabriel was a Haitian and not a citizen of France. The French minister here maintains that Gabriel was a citizen of France. He was regularly registered here at the French legation. He left seven children. As a result of the execution of Gabriel the French minister has requested that a French man-of-war be sent here and is awaiting a reply from Paris. Quiet prevails here.

Thirty Strikers Killed.

TIFLIS, Russia, March 24.—The Official Caucasus Gazette reports a strike among the men employed at the Rothschild Petroleum works at Batum, on the Black sea. According to this newspaper, 300 strikers went last Friday to the police station and demanded the release of the ringleaders in the strike movement who had been arrested the previous day. This demand was refused. The strikers reassembled the following day, attacked the jail and attempted to release the prisoners. They fired at the soldiers who were guarding the prison. The latter in turn fired on the mob, and thirty of the rioters were killed. One soldier was wounded.

Guden Still Sheriff.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Supreme Court Justice William J. Gaynor of Brooklyn has handed down his opinion in the matter of the application of Charles Guden as sheriff of Kings county against Norman S. Dike, appointed by Governor Odell to succeed Guden. The application was to compel the delivery of books and papers belonging to the office of sheriff, and the court grants the application in behalf of Guden, stating in the concluding paragraph of the decision: "It is found that the act of removal of the elected sheriff (Guden) by the governor was without jurisdiction, unconstitutional and void and that he is still sheriff."

Will Hold Both Positions.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 24.—Professor E. C. Pickering of the Harvard observatory has accepted his appointment to the Carnegie institute at Washington. He will retain his position at the Harvard observatory, as his duties in connection with the Carnegie institute will not necessitate his living in Washington.

CHOLERA IN MANILA

Further Deaths From the Plague Have Occurred.

RIGID HEALTH REGULATIONS ADOPTED

These, It Is Thought, Have Averted an Epidemic—Third Infantry Embarks a Week Ahead to Avoid Danger.

MANILA, March 24.—There have been four more cases of cholera here, and two more deaths from the plague are reported. The health authorities believe that their rigid precautions have averted an epidemic.

As General Chaffee did not want the men of the Third infantry to run the risk of cholera as a result of contact with the city that regiment has already been taken aboard the United States transport Grant, which will sail for San Francisco one week ahead of her schedule time.

Five cases of cholera have been reported from the provinces.

Brigadier General George W. Davis, stationed at Zamboanga, island of Mindanao, reports that a detachment of the signal corps consisting of seventeen men has been attacked by 200 Moros near Paran-Paran, Mindanao. One of the signal corps men was killed. The Moros captured the transportation of the detachment, including four pack mules.

The United States transport Buford has arrived here. She has on board a detachment of the Twenty-seventh infantry, a squadron of the Eleventh cavalry and fifty pack mules.

To Colonize Philippines.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Efforts are being made by a number of local capitalists to take advantage of the low railroad rates from the east to send a number of colonists to Manila. The projectors of the enterprise hope to get up a rush to the islands that will equal if not eclipse the rush to the northern goldfields. As soon as the legislation relating to the islands now pending before congress shall be finally passed a wholesale descent will be made upon the islands. It is the expectation of the promoters that the land laws of the United States will be applied to the islands and that thousands of acres now idle will be filled with American farmers and miners.

To Discuss Railroad Rates.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Hundreds of manufacturers and shippers of the central states have been invited to attend a dinner to be given at the Auditorium hotel Tuesday evening, April 1, by the Illinois Manufacturing association for the purpose of discussing "competition in railroad rates." President Charles H. Deere of Moline will preside, and Charles A. Prouty of Vermont, a member of the interstate commerce commission, will deliver the principal address. There has been dissatisfaction among manufacturers and shippers over transportation rates since Jan. 1, when the Central Freight association issued a schedule of rates, revising the classification of materials and merchandise.

Textile Workers' Demands Refused.

LOWELL, Mass., March 24.—Lowell is threatened with one of the largest strikes in its history as a result of the communication sent to the Textile union by the mill agents in reply to the official demand of that body for an advance in wages for the textile operatives of the city. The communication was read at the meeting of the Textile council yesterday afternoon, and its tenor was a positive unconditional refusal of the demands of the operatives. A suggestion of a compromise was the least the operatives expected, but from the determined stand of the representatives in the Textile council it is claimed that unless their demands are acceded to it will be a fight to a bitter finish.

Sixteen Horses Cremated.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The hunting stable of P. F. Collier at Eatontown, N. J., with sixteen valuable hunting horses, has been burned, the total loss being about $100,000. Mr. Collier entertained a party of guests at his place, and about 10 o'clock at night took a number of them out in his automobile. On their return they saw the hunting stable in a blaze. The party hurried home, but could not save the horses, among which was Mr. Collier's ten thousand dollar hunter Greenfield. It is believed the fire was of incendiary origin and is the third within two weeks, each destroying valuable property.

College Professor Dead.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., March 24.—Seth J. Axtell, professor of Greek in Kalamazoo college for the past twelve years, is dead here from grip, aged sixty years. Professor Axtell, who was a graduate of Brown university, from which he held the degree of M. A., was president of Leland university, at New Orleans, from 1878 to 1882 and president of Central college, at Pella, Ia., in 1889-90.

Actor Attempted Suicide.

DANBURY, Conn., March 24.—Walter Staines, aged thirty, an actor, attempted to commit suicide here by cutting the arteries in both wrists with a razor. He was discovered in time to prevent his death. Staines is said to be the son of a wealthy family in New Jersey.

Spinners Demand an Advance.

LEWISTON, Me., March 24.—At a meeting of the Mule Spinners' union it was voted to demand an advance in wages of 10 per cent, to go into effect March 31, thus giving the mill owners a week in which to consider the proposition.

NEW RAILWAY SYSTEM.

Schwab at Head of a Consolidation Scheme.

PITTSBURG, March 24.—The Gazette says that the Varney syndicate, the highest bidder for the Western Maryland railroad, in which Charles M. Schwab and Charles T. Schoen are deeply interested, proposes to utilize the West Side Belt line for its Pittsburg entrance. The "central point" mentioned in the eastern dispatches is the little town of Chairton, on the Monongahela river. The purchase of the Western Maryland is to supply the only link needed to make it a through line to tidewater, and the promoters plan a great system that is to tap a territory rich in coal, coke and manufacturing industries.

The surveys and right of way of the old Canonsburg and State Line charter will be used to furnish a route to Warrenton, O., where connection will be made with the Wheeling and Lake Erie. The real entrance into Pittsburg itself will probably be over the Wabash tracks, and terminal facilities in the city will be supplied by that road, with which the promoters of the new line are desirous of friendly arrangements.

This information has come out piecemeal, and not only has it not met with denial, but its truth was practically conceded yesterday by J. H. McRoberts, chief engineer of the West Side Belt line, which holds the charter and right of way of the old Canonsburg and State Line railroad.

Conference About Cuba.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Matters incident to the transition of Cuba from American to Cuban control formed the subject of a conference of several hours' duration at the White House last night. Those present included the president, Secretary Root, Postmaster General Payne and Governor General Leonard Wood. General Wood's visit here will be very short, and officials desire to learn everything possible about the condition of affairs while he is in Washington. The subject was gone over in many of its features and a very general interchange of ideas expressed. Postmaster General Payne had his first opportunity to meet General Wood last night. Mr. Payne believes that the change in the two governments so far as postal matters are concerned can be accomplished very easily, although he thinks it will be necessary for a time at least to retain some of the postal officials of the island in their present places until the business of the department is in a smooth running order.

Fatal Explosion of Dynamite.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 24.—A special from Houghton, Mich., says: "A terrible explosion of dynamite occurred near Oskar, eight miles north of Houghton, yesterday, resulting in the death of two men and serious injury to another. The scene of the explosion was in the house of John Boullard. The building caught fire while the family was at church, and when the heat became intense two boxes of dynamite which were stored away for blowing up stumps exploded, killing neighbors of the Boullards while fighting the flames."

Train Wrecked and Burned.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 24.—Passenger train No. 38 northbound, on the Southern railroad, was wrecked by a landslide at Covesville, fifteen miles south of here, at 4:15 o'clock yesterday morning. The train was forty minutes late and running at an unusual rate of speed. The engine was ditched, and six coaches were destroyed by fire. The loss of mail was the greatest in the history of southern railroading. Nicholas Lown, a Pullman car porter, and an unknown tramp were killed. The passengers escaped without injury.

A Big Hardware Combine.

ST. LOUIS, March 24.—F. C. Simmons, advisory director of the Simmons Hardware company, states in reply to questions that there is a thirty million dollar deal on, which will probably end in the consolidation of four of the largest hardware concerns in the country. He said: "I am not in a position to make any definite statements regarding the deal, but will say that there is such a movement on foot, and all the companies named in the dispatch will be interested. As yet there has been no meeting of the promoters of the plan."

Fierce Cyclone in Japan.

TOKYO, via Victoria, B. C., March 24.—The Japanese tea guild, which is hoping to hear that the war tax on tea in the United States has been taken off, has been holding sessions for a week in Tokyo with a view to devising means for retaining foreign markets. A cyclone occurred in southern Japan on the 3d inst., killing many persons and wrecking temples and whole villages. The Red Cross society is aiding the officials in the relief work. Many Japanese officers have been engaged in China to instruct its troops.

Prominent New Englander Dead.

NEWTON, Mass., March 24.—Allen Spaulding, president of the Allen Spaulding company of Boston and one of the most widely known business men in New England, is dead at Pasadena, Cal., where he had been staying, with his wife, for the past six weeks. The news of his death has just been received here. Death was due to heart failure. He was born in Chelsea, Vt., Oct. 20, 1825.

Cold Weather in Spain.

MADRID, March 24.—Spain is experiencing extremely cold weather. Heavy snow and hail storms at Seville and Corunna have destroyed the crops and killed some people.

THE FINAL WEEK.

New York Legislature Has Its Work Nearly Completed.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 24.—The legislature of 1902 will adjourn sine die on Thursday. There remains but very little more to do that is not already known. An attempt will doubtless be made to pass the canal appropriation bill calling for $31,800,000 now in the assembly committee on rules. This is the Davis bill, which passed the senate after a hard debate. It cuts out the appropriation for the Oswego canal system, and on this account it will be fought hard by a number of legislators who when the Oswego system was included in the appropriation were enthusiastic advocates of it. Five of the six members of the assembly rules committee are opponents of canal legislation.

The mortgage tax bill is dead. There was the usual annual battle over the proposition, and for a time it looked as though the advocates of the bill would win out. The decisive vote was taken in the senate last week, and the bill failed. This is the fourth year that an attempt has been made to pass a mortgage tax bill and failed.

The Raines bill to hold the heads of municipal departments responsible for the rental and continuance of improper hotels has passed the senate, but it is doubtful if it will get through the assembly. Governor Odell has publicly stated that he did not believe that there would be any excise legislation this year. All of the numerous other excise bills have died in committee on this account.

Mayor Low's bills to reorganize the list of municipal employees in New York city are in an uncertain condition. There has been so much change in the text from the time that they were originally introduced that their fate remains in doubt.

CHINESE FEEL HURT.

Native Press Say Nation Is Humiliated by Powers.

PEKING, March 24.—There is little discussion either among the diplomats or the Chinese of the Franco-Russian declaration, and this declaration is generally regarded as making for peace.

The Chinese newspapers are emphasizing the humiliation of China, saying she is treated by the powers as though she were incompetent to defend her own interests and that she is placed upon a level with Korea.

The Chinese foreign office is preparing to send independent ministers to establish legations in Italy, Austria and Spain. The Chinese ministers to Great Britain, Russia and the United States have been heretofore respectively accredited to these nations.

The dowager empress has appointed Wua Mu Lun to be president of the Imperial university, to succeed the Rev. W. A. P. Martin, who was recently relieved of the presidency of that institution. Wua Mu Lun is a progressive and learned official.

Methodists to Get Together.

BALTIMORE, March 24.—As a result of the meeting here of a joint commission of the Methodist Episcopal Church South the general conference of the northern church will be urged to adopt at its next meeting a plan for federation in several branches of work. The adoption of this plan will result in a consolidation of mission work and the publishing houses at Shanghai, China, the publication of a union paper in Mexico and the preparation of a union hymn book, common catechism and common order of public worship. The northern commissioners acknowledge that their church made a mistake in beginning the work of a revision of the hymn book without first inviting an equal committee from the southern church. It has therefore been decided that the work of revision must begin over again. The plan of federation has already been adopted by the general conference of the southern church.

Noted Publisher Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—C. G. Sower, president of the Christopher Sower company, publishers of schoolbooks, is dead of angina pectoris, aged eighty-one years. Mr. Sower was a member of a famous family of publishers, the first of whom, Christopher Sower, has the fame of having issued the first Bible to be published in America in the German language. The publishing house is the oldest in its line in America, having been established in 1738.

Building Fell in Ruins.

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., March 24.—A three story brick building on Fall street, owned by Isaac Desky of Elmira, collapsed without warning and was completely wrecked. The building was occupied by L. E. Nelson, with a stock of crockery, and by the Hotel Manlin. A number of people who were in the building had narrow escapes, and one of them, Anna Wilson, was badly injured. The loss on the building and contents was $25,000.

Another Street Railway Taken In.

NORFOLK, Va., March 24.—It is reported that the Old Dominion Street railway has been sold for $450,000. William L. Elkins and P. A. B. Widener, owners of the Philadelphia Traction company and of street railway interests in New York and St. Louis, are mentioned as the purchasers.

Very Mild in Russia.

ODESSA, March 24.—After abnormally mild weather the frost has now closed all the rivers of southern Russia, including the Dnieper and the Dniester, to navigation. The absence of snow promises badly for crops.

Cecil Rhodes Weaker.

CAPE TOWN, March 24. — Cecil Rhodes is weaker. Otherwise his condition is unchanged.

Movements of Transvaal Officials Start Them.

MEETING WITH KITCHENER PROBABLE

Letters Recently Seized Seem to Strengthen the Hope That the Boer Government Is Anxious to End the War.

LONDON, March 24.—A dispatch from Pretoria says: "Acting President Schalkburger, F. W. Reitz, ex-secretary of state of the Transvaal, and Commandants Lucas Meyer and Krogh arrived here yesterday on a special train from Balmoral, about fifty miles east of here. They reached Balmoral under a flag of truce. After a short stay here they proceeded for the Orange River Colony."

The news that the wandering Boer "government" has entered the British lines is regarded as having but one meaning—namely, that another attempt is being made to negotiate peace. The fact that the censor passed this news of the movement is accepted as confirmation of this opinion.

Nothing is actually known here of the intentions of Messrs. Schalkburger, Reitz, Meyer and Krogh. It is possible they have only sought permission to traverse the British lines in order to consult with Mr. Steyn and the Boer generals De Wet and Delarey; but, whatever their object, the news has been welcomed in London as pointing to the possibility of peace.

Some correspondence which was seized a short time ago when Mr. Steyn narrowly escaped capture proved that he and Mr. Schalkburger were anxious to conclude peace. No extravagant hopes, however, are being built on the outcome of the movements of Mr. Schalkburger and his companions, chiefly because it is feared that Delarey, in the flush of his recent success, will refuse to be a party to any negotiations.

The war office says that it has received no official information either to confirm or contradict the news.

Commandant Krogh is one of the secretaries of the Boer government. He was formerly the administrator of Swaziland and has not been prominent during the war.

A Brussels dispatch says that the Petit Bleu, referring to the arrival at Pretoria of Messrs. Schalkburger, Reitz and Commandants Meyer and Krogh, says it believes that Mr. Schalkburger's move is in response to fresh British overtures for peace, made out of gratitude for the release of General Methuen, and predicts that these overtures will lead to no result unless Boer independence is conceded.

A Clever Crook.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 24.—Since Feb. 13 there has been operating in this city perhaps one of the cleverest crooks in his peculiar line at present outside of prison walls. In defiance of all efforts put forth by the police the "lone worker" has succeeded to date in gathering together from several business places and residences in the eastern part of the city jewelry, cutlery, silverware and clocks, in all valued at over $1,000. His latest raid was conducted some time during Saturday night. When M. Seiber went to his offices in the Liberty building he found that a burglar had been through the place and secured between $60 and $70 in money. The lone worker leaves absolutely no clew, and the police are completely baffled.

Reciprocity's Chances.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—There is a bare possibility that the fight over the question of Cuban reciprocity will be transferred to the floor of the house during the coming week. The probabilities, however, are that the reciprocity resolution introduced by Mr. Payne, the floor leader of the majority, after the action of the Republican caucus last week will not be called upon until the following week, though upon this point no definite decision has been reached as yet by the leaders. The present programme is to take up the army bill first. Several days will be consumed in general debate on this bill. It is a foregone conclusion that Mr. Rhea will be unseated when the vote on his contested election case is taken tomorrow.

Macedonian Uprising Feared.

LONDON, March 24.—Wiring from Vienna, the correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says it is officially reported that M. Sarafoff, the chief of the Macedonian committee, is in communication with the American revolutionary committee for the purpose of arranging a general uprising in Macedonia. The correspondent also says that the porte has notified the powers that comprehensive arrangements have been made to suppress any Macedonian revolution.

PASS THE BILL.

According to the plans of the advocates of the Greater Plainfield measures, House bill No. 154, which was amended by the Senate when the other two accompanying measures were passed, will be taken up again for action by the Assembly this evening. Although this bill was introduced into the Assembly by Assemblyman Hall, of Cranford, Assemblyman William Newcorn, of this city, is prepared to lead the fight in its behalf tonight. Naturally it is expected that Assemblyman Hoagland, of Somerset, will head the opposition.

While it is possible that the consideration of the bill, which changes the county line so as to include the borough of North Plainfield in the county of Union, may be delayed until later in the week, it has been promised by the House leaders that it will be brought up at this evening's session. Owing to the fact that the Legislature is going to try to complete its work this week, if possible, and there is a host of bills still to be considered, it is not likely that there will be any extended debate on the subject. Each side will probably be heard in a short speech and then the measure will be put to vote.

The general opinion of the legislators seems to be that it is distinctively a local question. As the Senate amendment leaves the decision in the hands of the people of North Plainfield, it is very likely that there will be no objection to it aside from Assemblyman Hoagland and, perhaps, a few of his personal friends.

The members of the Legilsature have learned more about Plainfield and North Plainfield during the last week than they ever knew before. It has been made very plain that North Plainfield is purely an outgrowth of the city of Plainfield. All its interests lie with Plainfield and Union county. There is nothing in common between the borough and the rest of Somerset county. The photographs, showing the location of the county line, passing right through stores and other buildings, were a powerful argument in favor of the passage of the bill.

Of course, the rest of Somerset county is inclined to object. But the Republican leaders throughout the State have seen the justice of allowing the borough of North Plainfield the chance of getting into Union county and becoming a part of Greater Plainfield. There is no compulsion about it. The subject must first go to the vote of the people. While there are some selfish interests which will work against the measure, the great majority of the people of North Plainfield are, we confidently believe, heartily in favor of it and the opportunity to be allowed to decide the question for themselves will be hailed with satisfaction by all. By all means let the Assembly pass the bill. Then North Plainfield can decide the question for itself.

While the enemies of Senator Charles A. Reed have been wildly protesting that the Senator had deceived them and turned against the best interests of his county, they forgot that the truth of the case might come out as it did in Senator Reed's interview Saturday. The people of North Plainfield are getting very tired of being used to decide the political battles so that the rest of the county can reap the full advantages.

A power house of its own is one of the latest plans of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company It is to be hoped that the company will not neglect the subject of new and suitable cars in the excitement of its other scheme. Plainfield is not going to put up with the present very unsatisfactory rolling stock any longer than is absolutely necessary."

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Under the head of "Bigotry against Science," the Newark News publishes the following:

Vaccination makes one's arm sore. Small-pox makes one sore all over.

Vaccination makes one feel bad for a week. Small-pox makes a man useless to himself or his family for months.

Vaccination results fatally sometimes. It causes death to 10,000 from small-pox.

Vaccination is a scheme to help certain persons make money. So is life insurance. Vaccination is the cheapest kind of life insurance.

Vaccination is intended only for the very poor who live in unhealthy neighborhoods. Small-pox appears in the best of homes. Infection may be spread in churches, street cars, offices, restaurants.

Vaccination, when compulsory, is an infringemnet on personal liberty. An unvaccinated person menaces the whole community's right to keep well.

There is no positive cure for small-pox. Complete vaccination has never failed to prevent it.

Ninety-five per cent. of small-pox patients have not been vaccinated within ten years, or were never vaccinated.

At this highest period in the world's enlightenment it seems that science has harder work convincing than discovering.

WORTHY APPEAL.

Aid Needed by the Young Women's Club to Fit Out Its New Rooms.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Knowing your interest in any good cause that tends to advance the welfare of Plainfield, I trust you will grant me space in your valuable paper to present the interests of the Young Woman's Club.

An account of this club and its heavy loss by fire was given in this paper a few days since. Your readers will be glad to know that the young women have secured a room on the corner of Watchung and North avenues, but a room without furniture. They expect to hold a meeting there this evening, and would be very glad to have chairs, at least for that occasion.

The people of Plainfield have always shown themselves so ready to help, that it is thought that a statement of the case will be all that is necessary to supply their wants. They need $50 for a piano, chairs, tables, rugs, books, book-cases, kitchen and pantry furnishings.

The advisory board of the club consists of Mrs. John M. Whiton, Mrs. Marion Ackerman, Mrs. L. C. Biglow, Mrs. H. M. Maxson and Mrs. J. E. Kimball, and they unite with the club in asking the generous assistance of Plainfield people.

Contributions of furniture for the club can be sent to their rooms at any time (the earlier the better) and the key can be obtained at the rooms of E. S. F. Randolph, corner of Watchung and North avenues. Contributions of money can be sent to Mrs. H. M. Maxson, 439 West Sixth street. "He gives twice who gives quickly."

Mrs. H. M. Maxson,
For the Advisory Board of the Young Woman's Club.

Marconnier's Anniversary.

The second anniversary of Marconnier chapel will be appropriately observed next Sunday afternoon in the chapel. There will be interesting reports and addresses will be made by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., of Trinity Reformed church, and M. Seymour Purdy, followed by the usual Easter egg hunt.

Cannot Meet in Their Rooms Yet.

It will be impossible for the W. C. T. U. to meet in the old quarters, in the Babcock building, for some time to come. The walls are in an unsafe condition, besides the room is very damp. The union's piano, which was considerably damaged by water, will be sent to a repairer in a few days.

In Justice Warden's Court.

Contract proceedings have been commenced in Justice Warden's court, in Dunellen, by R. W. Chrystie, of this city, against J. H. Adams, of New Market.

—Neuman Brothers' Old Government coffee at twenty-eight cents and Mocha and Java at thirty cents cannot be equalled in the city at the price.

STILL FURTHER REDUCTIONS!

Remarkable values are being offered throughout the entire store. Deep cuts in prices of many goods have been made in order to move stock quickly.

Dress Goods suffered least from fire, but most from price cutting. Stock is new and in good condition, but must be sold at once, notwithstanding. Wash Goods are being sacrificed. To those who have seen the beautiful array of Wash Fabrics displayed on our counters this will mean much, for the showing is remarkable for variety, quality and attractiveness. They escaped the fire but have not the general sacrifice. A miscellaneous counter full of Ladies' Suits, Separate Skirts, Jackets and Shirt Waists at your own price to close. A large lot of Hosiery, the boxes of which were damaged by water, will be sold cheap. Miscellaneous articles scattered here and there throughout the stock are going for a song.

In the Basement some rare bargains in house-furnishings are to be had. Goods damaged, only slightly injured by water, but whose usefulness is not impaired.

For the Men we have our new Spring Shirts, and a finer line was never offered.

New Easter Novelties in ladies' Neckwear, showing the latest conceits in this line. Inconceivably dainty and quite inexpensive.

Our New Shirt Waists are now here. A more attractively designed showing of waists could scarcely be thought of.

If interested in securing some excellent bargains, visit us at once.

PIANO OWNERS ATTENTION!

Old Pianos Made New at an Extraordinary Low Price.

Without removing the piano from the house, action only is required by Leo H. Battalia, "the original" expert piano reconstructor. He has toured the United States for eighteen years, and has re-built 3,000 pianos. The largest piano re-building factory in Harlem, now permanently located at 884 East One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street, New York city.

Please remember he does not repair the worn out parts of hammers or action as it is generally done by tuners. He renews all parts of hammers and actions which will restore the accuracy of tone and touch with great success same as when instrument was new.

Read endorsements of the following well-known music instructors.

New York, Jan. 14, 1901.

Mr. Battalia—Dear Sir: It affords me great pleasure to assure you that the work done on my piano under your personal supervision is entirely satisfactory. My instrument seems as good as new and you are at liberty to refer to me at any time in this connection. Yours truly,

M. Price, Cor. Seventh avenue and One hundred and Twenty-fifth street. Conservatory of Music.

Boston, Mass., October 28, 1884.

My Dear Mr. Battalia—I am more than pleased with the manner of your work on my Steinway Grand. I am delighted with it, and wish to compliment you on the tuning of the instrument. You are at liberty to refer to me at any time.

Yours very truly,
A. Rotoli,
Vocal Instructor at New England Conservatory.

Orders received at Edward A. Laing's stationary store, 110 West Front street.

Purchased One Instead of Building.

George Taylor, of Elmwood place, has decided not to erect a dwelling for himself. Instead he has purchased through John Kitchen the house on East Second street owned by the late John Adams. He will move there April 1.

Miss Curry to Speak.

Miss Sara Curry, of The Little Missionary's Day Nursery, New York, will speak to the Christian Endeavor Society at Trinity Reformed church, this evening.

Dread of the "Foreign Devil."

A high premium seems to be placed upon the foreigner's power in the Chinese courts, at least in a certain county in Eastern Shantung. A certain man had a lawsuit which seems to have gone against him in spite of all ordinary measures. He suddenly left for Chefoo, but soon returned and announced to his adversary that he had bought a foreign title. To prove the genuineness of his claim in official rank he donned a suit of foreign clothes and flourished a cane. This was enough. The opposing parties sued for peace and gave up the case.—North China Herald.

He Was Not Color-Blind.

"Did you hear how Murphy spoiled his chance of getting an engine?" inquired one railroad man of another.

"No," was the reply. "How did it happen?"

"Why, they were testing Murphy's eyes to see if he would be all right on colors. Everything went along smoothly until they put out an orange-colored card. When the smoke cleared away, instead of having an engine Murphy was in jail on seven different charges, ranging from assault with intent to kill to willful destruction of property."—Syracuse Herald.

Her Comment.

"The habit," quoted the young man with the red-rooster-decorated vest, "oft proclaims the man."

"But," suggested the young lady with the lofty brow, "it doesn't always use a megaphone to do its proclaiming, does it?"

Wincing under her sarcasm, he buttoned his coat tightly across the offending garment, yet could not altogether silence it.—Baltimore American.

No Fear.

Slopay—Hello! Where did you get your new suit?

Snappe—Bought it.

"O! you needn't be afraid to tell me your tailor's name. I wouldn't go to him."

"I'm not afraid of that. He does a strictly cash business.—Philadelphia Press.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruptions. DeWitt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy condition and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Hooper, Albany, Ga., says: "I took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness. They were just what I needed. I am feeling better now than in years." Never gripe or distress. Safe, thorough and gentle. The very best pills. L. W. Randolph.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Yesterday afternoon, the dry grass in the field opposite the roundhouse caught fire from a spark and in a short time the entire field was ablaze. A high board fence around the property of Francis Sutphen caught fire and for a time the conflagration threatened to extend to several houses adjoining but the prompt action on the part of some bystanders prevented any serious results. The fire company was called out but could do little good. All the grass in the field was burned down and the woods also caught fire.

Francis Ginder received a slight injury in a peculiar manner in the Presbyterian chapel yesterday afternoon. While attending Sunday-school he happened to pass under a raised partition. The partition fell and grazed his head giving him a slight scalp wound. The door was heavy and had it struck him would have injured him severely.

Lewis Mattox, of this place, met with an extremely unfortunate accident Friday evening. While working at his place of employment in the American Engine Works at Bound Brook he had one of the fingers of his left hand partly cut off. He was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital and treated.

Arthur Bogardus had a narrow escape from severe injury if not death on Saturday by a shot from a rifle. He was watching a friend shooting at a mark when the rifle was permaturely discharged. The bullet only missed his head by a few inches.

John Dolan Cronin, aged five years, the youngest son of John Cronin, of this place, died of membraneous croup in the Catholic Home for Children at Hopewell Saturday after an illness of but a few days. The body will be brought home and interred.

The chairman of the electric light committee of the Borough Council has had postal cards printed and left at various points about the town so that if the lights are broken or out of order complaints may be made and the matter remedied quickly.

Services in the Presbyterian church were well attended. In the evening an unusually large congregation was present. The pastor's sermon in the evening was "The Men of Ninereh and the Men of Dunellen."

Mrs. Maurice Rarick gave a very pleasant dinner to the members of her Sunday-school class in the Presbyterian church Friday evening. All were present and had a most enjoyable time.

The eighteenth annual Woman's Presbytery of Elizabeth will be held in the First Presbyterian church at Westfield this month.

Services were well attended in the Methodist church yesterday. Special music appropriate to Palm Sunday was rendered.

A large number of candidates for the baseball team were out for practice on the Lincoln grounds Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. VanEps, of Plainfield, visited Mrs. John Laing, of Dunellen avenue, yesterday.

W. L. Larrabee is having his wagon painted. The work is being done by Chas. Milliken.

Miss Bessie Milliken, of Belle Meade, visited relatives in town on Friday.

The Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club will meet for practice this evening.

NEW MARKET.

Miss Irene Day entertained the G. E. Club, the local social club, in a very pleasant manner Saturday evening. The evening was passed in the usual manner. The serving of refreshments was a pleasant feature.

Special Palm Sunday music was rendered in the First Baptist church, yesterday, before a large congregation.

A number from here attended services in the Presbyterian church last evening.

Regular services were held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church on Saturday.

P. S. Emmons is having his wagon painted at Milliken's, in Dunellen.

William Walm, of Bound Brook, visited friends in town Saturday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

A regular meeting of the Board of Health was held Saturday evening. With the exception of the smallpox case at the French farm, the township is without a contagious disease. No alarm is felt by the board in regard to the spread of smallpox, as a strict quarantine is kept and the farm is on the outskirts of the village and borough. Both the nurse and Hans Olsen are both doing nicely and recovering rapidly.

Palm Sunday was appropriately observed yesterday at All Saints Episcopal church. Special music was rendered by the choir, and the committee on decorations had trimmed the auditorium of the church prettily.

"Our Own for Christ" was the subject of an interesting meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union, held in the Baptist church, last night.

The Township Committee met in the township rooms Saturday evening to organize and swear in the newly-elected township officers.

John B. Anderson, who has been in town for several days visiting friends, has returned to his home in Jersey City.

Samuel Taynor, of Plainfield, a former resident of the village, was the guest of friends in town Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stamets, of Westfield, have been visiting at the home of friends in town.

Miss Josie Marsh spent Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. John Johnston, of Plainfield.

Miss Susie Parse has returned from a pleasant visit with friends in Newark.

Miss Sadie Reger was the guest Sunday of her sister in Westfield.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Rev. Mr. Jones assisted in conducting the services at the church yesterday morning. He will preach next Sunday.

The church meeting will be held a week from next Saturday instead of next Saturday, as was given out at first.

Mary Hoffman, who has been very ill for the past week with convulsions, is still in a dangerous condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tappen, of Newark, spent yesterday with friends in town.

Mrs. Reune Manning has recovered enough so that she is able to sit up at times.

George Ryno has secured a tenant and family.

More Buildings for Safe Works.

Excavating has commenced for the addition to the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works plant. An entire new building is to be constructed, running parallel with South Second street, west of the present structure. It will provide room for many more employes and will facilitate the work of filling the many orders now on hand.

—Neuman Brothers are disposing of a fresh consignment of fancy strawberries at moderate prices.

—The regular meeting of the Loyal Temperance Legion will be held tomorrow afternoon at 117 Elmwood place. A full attendance is desired.

Practically Starving.

"After using a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure my wife received perfect and permanent relief from a severe and chronic case of stomach trouble," says J. R. Holly, real-estate, insurance and loan agent, of Macomb, Ill. "Before using Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she could not eat an ordinary meal without intense suffering. She is now entirely cured. Several physicians and many remedies had failed to give relief." You don't have to diet. Eat any good food you want, but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will always digest it for you. L. W. Randolph.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants.

Have you noticed the handsome line of goods that Cashin, the Park avenue tailor, is showing? Everything new, stylish and strictly reasonable.

Now is the time to place your order for Easter lillies and plants. Leave it with John L. Brower, 127 East Fifth street, of the firm of Wm. H. Brower's Sons, 946 Broadway.

Campbell has a large line of strictly home-made chocolates and bon bons. Only pure goods are handled by him. His Easter display is one of the attractions of the city.

Order your goods in the delicatessen line early for Easter. There's only one place to leave your order and that's the reliable store, R. W. Barnes, Park avenue.

If you want groceries fresh and at the same time cheap try George Kirch, the careful grocer, of Liberty street. Orders promptly delivered no matter how small or how great a distance.

There is much dispute concerning consolidation, but there is agreement on the fact that L. Moraller & Son, of Park avenue, are right up to time when it comes to repairing watches.

What makes people cross, asks a medical magazine. Ill fitting shoes do very frequently. Flynn Brothers, of West Front street, have a complete line of the most comfortable footwear in the market.

Have you had any trouble with the milk you have been buying? If so, give William Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue, a trial. They will serve you with the best milk and you will never complain.

That corn on your toe is very uncomfortable and quite painful, no doubt, but did you ever realize how foolish you are to bear with it? C. E. Hepburn, the druggist, of Park avenue and Second street, has an infalliable remedy.

Pure and unadulterated drugs and all the standard proprietary medicines are the articles at Nagle's West Front street pharmacy. In prescription work, Mr. Nagle excells and has built up a nice trade in this department. A full line of toilet articles always on hand.

If fish is brain food, then the best brains come from Foss & Jeter's Park avenue seafood market, because their stock of fish is the best and most carefully selected to be found in the city. All the fish at both their stores come direct from the nets. All orders delivered.

Meat that is rich and nutritious, fresh and sweet, dainty and tender, will be found at J. W. VanSickle's choice market. It is sold at the lowest market price but strictly for cash. Compare his prices with those of other markets and see where you will be benefitted.

A Pigeon Post.

Pending the general institution of wireless telegraphy systems a pigeon post is doing great service between Los Angeles, Cal., and Avalon, on Santa Catalina Island, in the Pacific, 50 miles away, a distance that the pigeons cover in an hour. Messages by the bird route, however, cost from 50 to 75 cents each.—Detroit Free Press.

POLITICAL, COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL NOTES FROM MANY FOREIGN LANDS.

Representation in Great Britain.

ENGLAND has a new grievance, or rather an old one rejuvenated, to lay at the door of her "Grand Old Man," Mr. Gladstone. It is based upon his "redistribution of seats' " act of 1885, which is now pronounced unfair to England and greatly in favor of Ireland.

According to present population figures, Ireland has now 31 seats in the British house of commons more than she is entitled to, while England has a correspondingly number too few. Of the three sections of the kingdom, Scotland alone is justly represented. This comes from the increase of England's population and the decrease in the population of Ireland, but it is a condition that has been in existence to a greater or less extent since 1881. At that time Scotland was the portion of the kingdom under represented, having ten seats too few, while England and Wales had three too many, and Ireland seven too many.

The total number of seats, or members, of the British house of commons is 670. Distributed according to population, England and Wales would have 526 of these, Ireland 72 and Scotland 72, but in reality England and Wales have but 495, while Ireland has 103, Scotland alone having the proper number.

Striped Columns.....England and Wales Seats too few Solid Black Columns.....Ireland's Seats too many.

Showing the Under-Representation of England and Wales and the Over-Representation of Ireland during 1886-1901; Scotland has been justly represented during 1886-1901.

J. Holt Schooling, an English statistician of considerable prominence, contributes to the current number of the Fortnightly Review a proposition for remedying this anomaly, as he calls it. He proposes to reapportion the seats in the house of commons in pro rata to the estimated population of the different sections of the kingdom in 1911, basing the estimated population on the increase of the past 20 years in England and Wales and the decrease in Ireland. In this way he would give to England 535 seats, to Scotland 73 seats and to Ireland 62 seats. With such a redistribution he claims that while England and Wales would be over-represented up to 1911, the representation after that time would be under her proportionate share in sufficient quantity to make up for the over-representation up to that time.

It is a proposition that is just now attracting considerable attention all through the various sections of the kingdom, and should it come before the house of commons in the shape of proposed legislation would in all probability be productive of a bitter political struggle.

The accompanying diagram shows the present and past representation of the three parts of the British kingdom in proportion to the population in the different years.

German Imports of American Meats.

THE imports of American meats into Germany have greatly decreased since they reached their highest point in the year 1898. According to official statistics, their value for 1897 was $5,117,000; for 1898, $9,448,600; for 1899, $6,806,800; and for 1900, $4,260,200.

Of these respective amounts, bacon, ham, salted or otherwise preserved pork, together, constituted $3,831,800, $7,568,400, $5,069,400 and $2,308,600; and sausage, $285,600, $904,400 and $7,616,000, respectively, for the years given.

Since the German prohibitory law, which went into force on October 1, 1900, the importation of sausage and canned meat has entirely ceased; on the other hand, the imports of bacon and other kinds of pork, with the exception of hams, show an increase during the year 1900 and the year 1901. During the first ten months of 1901 there were imported from the United States into Germany 16,218,877 pounds of pork and 2,185,927 pounds of hams, and 6,707,433 pounds of other preserved pork.

By a law which was ordered to be put in force April 1, 1902, an official inspection of all imported meat will take place in Germany, and a microscopical inspection in America will no longer be looked upon as a condition for import. That this law will be enforced in April does not seem likely. At the present time the bundesrath is busy with the details of carrying the law into effect.

Meat, Butter and Eggs in Russia.

THE recent visit to England of a committeee of Russian agriculturists and dealers in live stock, to promote the trade in fresh meats and produce, has increased the interest in these industries.

It is proposed to establish abattoirs at Baltic ports, with a line of refrigerator steamers which will reach the United Kingdom in 56 hours. These steamers will also carry butter and eggs.

During the past 11 months, Russia's exports of meats (on the hoof, fresh and salted) was, including Finland:

Description.	Quality. Pounds.	Value.
Fresh meat (except hog)	1,588,928	$114,845
Salted, smoke-dried meat (except hog)	225,008	25,750
Swine's flesh	.....	661,776
Cattle (cows and oxen)	180,560	164,800
Boars (hogs and pigs)	2,094,496	1,316,010
Sheep and lambs	1,886,160	124,630

It is estimated that, at an average price of $3 per pood (36 pounds), an immense business can be built up in England. The export of Russian eggs has increased in value from 3,000,000 rubles in 1875 to 30,000,000 rubles $15,450,000 in 1901, and the British branch of the trade is capable of much greater development. The line of refrigerator steamers would enable Russia to compete with Denmark's large export of butter to England. The Russian authorities are well aware of the necessity of improving the quality of these commodities, in order to give them a stronger position in British markets.

Australian Gold Products in 1901.

THE official figures of the gold production of Australasia for 1901 and 1900 are:

Colony.	1900. Ounces.	1901. Ounces.
Western Australia	1,580,960	1,881,758
Queensland	86,463	816,582
Victoria	82,067	790,060
New South Wales	243,664	279,724
South Australia	24,098	35,000
Tasmania	8,225	70,000
Total for Commonwealth	3,804,274	3,878,122
New Zealand	373,616	455,559
Total for Australasia	4,177,890	4,333,681

The increased yields of West Australia and New Zealand bring the total nearly up to that of 1899. A comparison with previous years is appended:

Year.	Australia.	New Zealand.	Total for Australasia.
1861	2,434,535	194,031	2,628,566
1871	1,857,028	730,029	2,587,057
1881	1,354,976	270,561	1,625,537
1891	1,411,469	251,996	1,663,465
1899	4,048,582	389,558	4,438,140
1900	3,804,274	373,616	4,177,890
1901	3,878,122	455,559	4,333,681

The probability is that Australaisia will soon again head the rist of the world's gold producers.

THE WISE OLD RAT.

He Scolded the Young Rats Who Got Caught, and Then Coolly Opened the Trap.

A man from Baring, Me., came into Calais lately and unfolded a rat story that has by unanimous consent been placed first in the local book of fact and fiction. Daniel Pike, who told the story, declared that it was true to the last word, and offered to go before a justice of the peace and make oath to that effect.

Mr. Pike had been bothered by rats in his barn, and after inspecting all the ancient and modern devices for the capture of rats, selected one of the wire-cage variety. The first morning after the trap had been set he went to the barn and found it nearly full of half-grown rats, but not an old rat in the collection.

On the following morning he went out again, and found the same result. Thinking that the presence of the captives would attract others, he decided not to empty the trap for an hour or two, and went away.

When he came back the trap was empty. Pike was astonished, and asked the hired man about it, but the man declared that no one had been in the barn except himself, and that he had not touched the trap.

The next day and the next a like strange filling and emptying of the trap occurred, and Pike determined to keep watch to see how the thing was done. When the next batch of young rats had been caught he concealed himself in the barn loft and waited.

When he had been on watch about half an hour he saw a hoary old rat approach the trap and apparently begin a sort of cross-examination of the prisoners. Then, after satisfying himself as to the exact condition of things, the cute old rat, to the amazement of Pike, deliberately poked his paw between the wires of the cage and tilted up the weight that kept in place the little trap door through which his young friends and relatives had fallen.

This opened the trap door sufficiently to let all the prisoners out, and away they scampered, the old rat bringing up the rear, and all squeaking joyously. Farmer Pike sat for a minute speechless with amazement. Then he said, simply but energetically:

"Well, I'll be hanged!" and climbed down.

JUSTICE VERSUS LAW.

Pennsylvania Magistrate Orders Wives to Beat Their Husbands if They Abuse Them.

Alderman John F. Donohue, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., first won fame when he descended from his bench and soundly thrashed a man who had beaten his wife several times. He is ready to inflict similar punishment any time it is needed.

In his office, he says, justice reigns, even though the law always does not. He believes that all the law in Blackstone fails to fit some of the cases which are brought before him. In passing upon the case of a young man arrested for wife beating (it was his first offense), he said:

"You go home and buy your wife a stout club—a pick-handle will do nicely I command your wife every time you come home drunk and abusive, to take the club and lay it on you hard and often. Every time you swear at her she is to do the same thing; every time you refuse to bring in coal to her she will thrash you. And you, madam," turning to the tearful wife, "I insist that you obey me in this. You thrash him hard each time he does not act as a good, sober and industrious husband should. If he strikes back, you just let me know and he will be sorry he was born."

As an evidence of the effectiveness of this justice the couple have lived happily together ever since, and the club has never been used, the fear of it and the squire keeping the husband well behaved.

FOR EVENING WEAR.

Artificial Flower Trimmings—Ruffle Skirts.

Tiny artificial flowers are much used to trim evening dresses. They are tacked on the sheer material in irregular loopings and patterns and give a very dainty effect.

Ball gowns made of sheer silk shawls are among the novelties. The fringe is so arranged that it forms the trimming of the decolletage and droops in graceful lines on the skirt.

Gowns of black point d'esprit laid in many lines of shirrings are charming for slender blonds. Princess dresses of oriental satin thinly veiled in chiffon are among the richest full dress toilets. The thin chiffon overdress is in many cases embroidered and appliqued with sheer and costly lace.

Skirts composed of three and five lace ruffles are favorites with tall, slender women.

The picture shows a handsome ball gown of dotted chiffon over satin of the shade of the dot. The waist has a round, square decolletage and full bertha trimmed with irregular applications of rosebuds. The belt is a sash of peau de soie ribbon. The skirt has a full flounce headed and outlined with the rosebud and chiffon ruchings.

WHAT WOMEN ARE WEARING

Turkish Sleeves—Ribbon Embroidery and Woolen Guipure.

Pretty arms are growing scarce, so fashion authorities tell us. Perhaps this is due to the violent exercise girls are now taking. At any rate, the fact is conducive to the vogue of long sleeves. The Turkish sleeve is one of the novelties now seen on dinner gowns. It is made of some sheer material and is soft and voluminous, its saving grace being the peep of the bare arm between the shoulder strap and the top of the sleeve.

The dainty and charming ribbon embroidery is growing daily in favor. This is frequently intermingled with chiffon and applied on a ground of coarse net, reminding one of fish net. Pearl embroideries are very much in favor and insertions of cluny also. Cluny lace is especially effective where a transparent look is desired.

Woolen guipure is among the trimming novelties. To be fashionable it must be dyed in soft grays, mushroom and biscuit tints to accord with the cloth it adorns.

This pretty flower trimmed hat is of satin straw, with a tucked underbrim of chiffon, which is bent irregularly. It is trimmed with pink and white roses and their foliage, together with twists of black velvet.

Epitaph In Martha's Vineyard.

In a quiet and deserted burying ground on the island of Martha's Vineyard, with not a few stones bearing dates of the seventeenth century, the occasional visitor, if he takes time to decipher them, finds many quaint epitaphs. One of these reads as follows:

Had charming grace and innocence
And all that's pleasing to the eye
Against grim death been a defense
Elizabeth had not gone hence.

Lace on Table Linen.

Fashionable dinner and tea table cloths are edged and inserted with renaissance, cluny and guipure laces, and the prices for the best qualities range very high. Napkins to match are likewise expensive.

HOW to Treat The Servant

"I DON'T know why it is," sighed old Mrs. Fogeyite, "but I never can keep a girl any length of time. I pay them good enough wages, too; better than most women I know."

"Oh, they're a mean, low down, impudent lot, that's what they are!" cried her friend, young Mrs. Highstepper. "They're the curse of the modern home. For my part, I'll be glad when they invent automatic service or co operative housekeeping or some one of those newfangled ideas."

"I don't quite agree with you," interposed Mrs. Goodhousekeeper gently.

"Put yourself in the maid's place," she went on.

"Dear me, how could I?" shivered young Mrs. Highstepper disgustedly. "A low, ignorant, uneducated thing!"

"And whose fault is that, pray?" retorted Mrs. Goodhousekeeper sharp

LEND HER A BOOK OCCASIONALLY

ly. "Do you think the poor girl had anything to say about what family and what environment she should be born into? Don't you think that if she had been able to choose she would have selected your wealth, your station in life?" Then, turning on Mrs. Fogeyite before the other had time to recover, Mrs. Goodhousekeeper asked, "Would you mind telling me what your last servant left for?"

"Why, she had a string of admirers as long as my arm," said the latter; "at least," correcting her exaggeration, "she had two of them, the butcher and the policeman on the beat, and I had all I could do to keep them away. Of course I couldn't have strange men coming to the house. She must see them on her afternoon off or not at all, and I told her so. Then she left."

"Um," commented Mrs. Goodhousekeeper. "And you, Mrs. Highstepper?"

"Oh, Jane was perfectly aggravating and stupid, and I went down to the kitchen and spoke to her. She flared up as impudently as possible and gave me notice then and there."

"You went down into the kitchen to do it?"

"Why, yes, of course," admitted Mrs. Highstepper.

"Suppose you tell us how you manage so beautifully?" remarked Mrs. Fogeyite, in a rather sarcastic tone.

But Mrs. Goodhousekeeper took no notice of her manner. "It's just this way," she answered. "I try to look at things as much as possible from the girl's point of view. Of course that doesn't mean that there isn't a boundary line drawn between us, for such a line is necessary to maintain the proper business relations between employer and employed, but I don't flaunt it in the girl's face all the time. I give her a good sunny room, where she can be comfortable during her leisure hours. After her work is over she can receive such friends as she pleases. I don't consider that I have a first mortgage over her life and actions just because I am paying her $4 a week. As for forbidding her to receive her male acquaintances, I think that is downright cruelty. The servant in the kitchen has a heart just as surely as the mistress in the parlor, and the old, old story is just as sweet to her. What right have I to ruin her chance of having a happy home of her own? She looks after my comfort; I look after hers. I take an interest in her welfare, lend her a book occasionally and inquire after her parents and family. In other words, I make her feel she is in a home, not in a slave pen. I keep my dignity with her by always appearing neat and well dressed when around the house. A servant can have no respect for a slatternly mistress. I direct her more by praising her for what she does well than by scolding her for what she fails in. If it is necessary, however, to administer a reproof I never go down into the kitchen, which is her domain. I make her come to me. Above all, I never speak to her in anger and I expect her to exercise the same control over herself, and my household moves on peaceably on a perfectly friendly and yet businesslike basis."

"You have valuable information for sale.—Is that what you mean? Go slow upon that line; if you draw your sword against Virginia openly you sacrifice all interests here. Better be a friend to both sides, and when you come back with proofs that Richard Somers is really dead all may yet be well. If she is free at 21 the will is binding, even if it were held that she has not already sacrificed her interest."

"Come what may," he said, passionately, "while I live Brodnar shall never see Frances Brookin the wife in truth of Richard Somers."

"Nor while I live," said his mother; "there is my hand upon it."

"Keep out of it, mother, keep out, or you will regret it!" said the wretched man.

"Ungrateful boy! Where is your promise? Do you repudiate that? Have you forgotten your danger?"

"No, but she shall not suffer at your hands. Leave her to me. And, mother, if you ever find us dead together in that room downstairs, have no thought of me. The man who has neither love nor revenge has nothing to live for." He seized his hat and rushed from her presence.

CHAPTER XV.

Col. Richard Somers dismounted and took refuge upon the veranda of a little cottage that fronted a cross-road near Mechanicsville while his artillery thundered by and unlimbered in position to face the enemy. Men, horses and officers were worn out with fatigue and hard fighting and eager for an opportunity to snatch a few hours of rest. The two great armies had entered upon the memorable seven days' fight which was to swing around Richmond and leave a bloody path to Malvern Hill. The cottage seemed deserted, but presently an aged negress made her appearance from somewhere and pathetically attempted to extend its hospitalities to the officers who began to swarm into the yard. Clinging to her skirts was a little girl of six or seven years, whose fair complexion, blue eyes and silken curls bespoke a patrician parentage, but whose frail figure and incessant cough gave evidence of a fatal weakness.

"Her ma is done dead, sah," said the old woman, respectfully, when Col. Somers hurriedly questioned her concerning the family. "an' her pa left 'fo' you-all come; done come yistiddy an' go right back to town. He don't stay hyar anyhow."

"But that child must not remain here; she is in danger every moment. You must move out!"

"Whey we goin' move, sah? Don't know nobody any better nuf'n we are roun' hyah. Marster tell me to stay right hyah an' I goin' ter stay hyah. Better tek yo' folks an' move on, sah, whey you started." Somers had other things to think about, and turned away. Very likely the movement next day would carry them beyond the cottage, and the danger was not pressing at the moment. In the morning the child might be sent to the rear if necessary, and to-night he rather welcomed the adjuncts of refined life. He had use for the old woman, for he was but recently out of hospital and somewhat spoiled by nursing. He made himself and officers comfortable in the best rooms after the manner of old campaigners and prepared for the short rest which he so much needed.

Somers had made the necessary dispositions and, left alone upon the porch for a moment, his thoughts reverted to the cherished memento in his locket, the worldless message of love which had so mysteriously reached him. It was just one slender curl—the curl that had touched his cheek, he was sure, and with it a name. They were enough; no words could have summoned up more vividly the scenes of that darkened wing-room, nor have told him more eloquently that within the excited city there was one heart which held no hatred for him. It was no hour for dreaming, and he roused himself to the present. Around him were contending hosts of doomed men, the spirit of war hovered over the rude camps, and death lurked in the shadows, eager for his harvest. From the distance, the echoes of dropping shots came faintly to the ear, and presently what seemed to be a small volley. This volley claimed his attention and that of the junior officers, and he had ordered a sergeant up to inquire as to the cause, when the sound of rapid hoof-beats approached upon the road, and in the dim light as he waited a frightened horse, pursued by half a dozen troopers, sped by. Presently the men returned leading the captured animal and carrying its late rider. The latter was youthful and clad in confederate gray, which was drenched with blood and covered with dust; for the wounded rider, clinging desperately to the mane of the horse as he lay extended upon its neck, had finally fallen and been dragged until the weight stopped the runaway. The face of the unfortunate fellow had escaped, and so young and so fair was it, even the hardened soldiers were touched.

"He insists upon seeing an officer," said one of them. "Claims to have secrets to tell."

"Place him upon the porch and call a surgeon. Where did he come from?" Somers was strangely affected.

"Don't know, sir. He came riding headlong through the rebel pickets. I think, and they shot him. We didn't shoot at all, for at first the horse seemed to be loose, and when we did see the young fellow on him, we knew he was too near gone to escape. We had orders against unnecessary alarms, and so we ran him down." The surgeon came and laid open the jacket of the now unconscious sufferer. He waved back the curious group and motioned for Somers to approach.

"A woman!" he whispered.

"Is it possible! To my room—to my room!" The rough soldiers again lifted the frail form tenderly and placed it upon the bed inside. A hurried examination disclosed the wound; a shot from behind had passed entirely through the body.

"She cannot live," said the surgeon, gently, as he arose and covered up the white form. "There is not the slightest chance for her." The sentence of death seemed to inspire her with a sudden consciousness. She opened her eyes widely, and they rested in wonder upon the blue uniforms and strange faces.

"What has happened?" she asked, weakly. "Where am I?"

"You have been wounded, madam," said the surgeon, "badly wounded; but you are in friendly hands."

"Ah!—Raymond—told me—that he had—had arranged with—the picket—to pretend only to fire—oh, they have—killed me!" She shuddered, but with sudden return of full consciousness she cried aloud: "My papers!—they are valuable!—where are they?"

"LOUISE!" HE SAID, SADLY, STANDING BY HER SIDE.

"We have none, madam."

"Oh, God!—what agony!—oh, sirs, I suffer, I suffer so—!"

"Drink this," said the surgeon, placing a glass of stimulant to her lips; "more if you can; it will sustain you."

"In the saddle pockets—my papers!" Her eyes closed in exhaustion. A young officer who was sent to find the documents came back quickly:

"Saddle trailing underneath; pockets empty." She heard him and understood.

"Lost! Then—I, too—am lost, Raymond!—Raymond!" She turned her face away and wept silently.

"Gentlemen," said Richard Somers, hoarsely, "will you leave us? I know this unfortunate woman." He was instantly the focus of wondering eyes, but for a moment only. The little group saluted in silence and withdrew.

"Louise!" he said, sadly, standing by her side. The eyes of the woman were fixed on him as he sought to control his voice.

"Who spoke—who called Louise?"

"It was I—"

"Richard!"

"Yes; sadder, older—but Richard still. God knows I speak the truth when I say I have nothing in my heart for you but the tenderest sympathy." Her eyes clung to his face through the spasm of pain that twisted her body and drew the beautiful mouth into a thin line of scarlet.

"How may I help you? I would help you?—Louise, if I might."

"Tell me—upon your soul's honor—is—is—it—death?"

He covered his eyes and stood silent. She waited in agony; he did not answer her.

"Death!" she said, in horror. "Help me! help me, Richard!" Sobs shook her, and she stretched out her hand to him as one who is drowning. A cry burst from the lips of the manly soldier, a cry no less agonized than hers.

"Louise! Louise!—I would give my life to help you! Don't speak, don't look at me that way!"

"You must help me—you must! Quick—let me whisper! He will come—he won't refuse now! He was—to come—soon! The marriage—must—must—be fulfilled! Bring him—bring him—to me! Bring my child!"

"Impossible, Louise," he cried. "You do not know what you are saying. He is beyond the enemy's lines!"

"Ah—but—but he is—coming! Water—water!"—he placed the drink quickly to her lips—"coming, Richard! Bring him—I am dying—tell him—I am dying—I—Louise—dying! Nanon! Nanon!"

"I am a soldier," he said, "sworn in my country's defense. My life belongs to my country—not to myself. No one would give me permission to go on such an errand. And if I were captured I should die as the spy dies!"

"Richard—you and I—are—in God's presence!"

"Yes; in the presence of God!"

"Would—lie—oh, would—I lie—now?"

"No."

"Kneel here—I shall tell you—now! I swear in His presence—I have loved no man in life—but you—but you!"

"Hush!" he whispered, chilled and shocked, seeking to release his hand.

"Believe, oh, believe me!"

"I cannot!"

"Believe!"

"I cannot—I would if—"

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, March 6th, 1902, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present except Freeholder Miller.

Owing to the absence of the clerk, Mr. E. M. Wood was designated and appointed to act as clerk pro tem.

The minutes of the previous meeting, reading of bills being omitted, were on motion approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS, PETITIONS, ETC.

From George B. Benedict calling attention of the board to the bad condition of Westfield avenue above the New Orange R. R. crossing.

The board was requested to make such repairs as would make the said avenue passable in that locality.

Received and referred to the county road committe with power.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By the committee to settle with the county collector:

March 4th, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union:

Gentlemen: Your committee to settle with the county collector respectfully report that they have examined his books showing his receipts and disbursements together with his vouchers, bonds and coupons paid and bank books, and we find the same agree and are correct in every particular.

His total receipts from the beginning of the present fiscal year to date are $538,231.55; total disbursements, $477,447.67; balance in bank, $55,783.88.

Signed,
Henry Krouse, Benjamin King, Jacob Brucklacher, committee.

On motion the foregoing report was accepted and placed on file.

NEW BUSINESS

By Freeholder Swain:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to meet a similar committee from Morris county to examine the bridge over the Passaic River at Stanley, and make such repairs thereto as is necessary.

Freeholder Robison moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Swain, Farrell and Robison.

By Freeholder King:

Whereas, The county building committee of Union county, constituted and appointed under and by virtue of the provisions of the act entitled, "An act to facilitate the acquirement of lands and the erection of buildings for county purposes," approved March 19, 1901, in pursuance of their duties as such committee have arrived at the conclusion that it will be impracticable to continue the use of the existing offices of the county clerk, surrogate and sheriff during the progress of the building of the contemplated court house; and

Whereas, It is necessary that those offices should be open for the transaction of business during the construction of said building, and desirable that said offices should be maintained in the location of the present court house; and

Whereas, The removal of the said offices to a safe and convenient location during the construction of the contemplated building, or the building of a temporary structure for said purpose, would be attended with great expense and inconvenience; therefore be it

Resolved, That the county building committee be and are hereby authorized to procure plans, specifications and bids for the erection and construction of a good substantial brick building of such dimensions and construction as to them shall seem proper, and to build and furnish the same ready for occupancy for the county clerk, sheriff and surrogate, and that said building be constructed with a view that when the same shall no longer be required for the use of such offices that said building may then be utilized by the county as a jail for female prisoners, or such other county use as shall be deemed advisable, and that said committee proceed with the same in accordance with the provisions of the law respecting the building of county jails and extensions thereto.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the foregoing preamble and resolution, which was duly seconded.

Some discussion ensued, during which Freeholder King briefly stated that the matter had received careful consideration and attention, and it seemed that the interests of the county would be but served, both financially and otherwise, by proceeding in the manner as provided in the resolution as presented.

The foregoing preamble and resolution was then adopted on roll call by a unanimous vote.

CRUELTY DEFENDED.

The Custom of Vivisecting Dumb Animals in the Interests of Science Approved Of.

Several years ago a defense of vivisection, entitled "A Statement in Behalf of Science," was issued to the public by a committee of eminent surgeons and professors, says Henry C. Merwin, in Atlantic. * * * This document, which was indorsed by President Eliot and other distinguished persons, expressly sanctions the practice of vivisection, without the use of anaesthetics, however painful the operation, in those cases (and they are numerous) where to use an anaesthetic would diminish the value of the experiment. Further, the statement expressly defends the custom of vivisecting dumb animals not only for experiment, but also for mere purposes of illustration in the classroom; and it makes no distinction in this respect between painful operations and those in which anaesthetics are used—whereas in England vivisecting in the classroom without the use of anaesthetics is prohibited by law. The language of the statement is in the highest degree decorous and euphemistic, but when examined it will be found to cover every form of cruelty that can be perpetrated in the name of science.

Where Theft Is Not Robbery.

In China theft is so common that nobody notices it. A young Chinaman once slipped three oranges up his sleeve at a party. While making his bow at parting the oranges slipped out and rolled onto the floor. He accounted for the awkward event by saying that his mother was very fond of oranges. His fault was straightway overlooked, and he was afterward held up as an instance of filial piety. There are several proverbs which go to show that the folk think lightly of stealing. One says that "When tailors cease to pilfer cloth, their children will have to go without food," and another declares "When silversmiths do not steal they will certainly starve."

Another Opinion.

Said an old-time Georgia darkey, recently: "Some er dese no-'count niggers is so thankful fer de vaccinatin' season dat dey dunno what ter do! De fac' is dey too lazy ter work, en de vaccinatin' mens gives 'em a chance ter stay in de loafin' gang by des showin' how dey arms is tore up! Dey'd git vaccinated every minute, ruther dan saw wood awhile!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Clam Farming.

MYSTERY OF CRIME.

Paris Revels in a Series of Sensational Homicides.

Artist Kills His Model for the Sake of Realism — Suicides Wear Orange Blossoms — Wants to Be Guillotined.

For the picturesque and the sensational in crime there is no country that can begin to match France. Scarcely a week passes that the newspapers do not print the details of a murder that reads like a bit of Gaboriau fiction, or the fantastic dreams of Edgar Allen Poe. Such theatrical attributes seem to belong naturally to the French character, which loves odd, weird or fanciful effects in everything. The word "bizarre" was created in the language to fit this national characteristic.

Only the other day a man employed in one of the government offices in Paris killed his wife in their suburban home under circumstances of the most extreme cruelty. Then he went to his bedroom, and, preparatory to taking his own life, sat down and wrote a calm, psychological treatise on how it feels to be a murderer.

In the Vilette quarter of the capital a young man two or three nights ago climbed to the second story window of his own house (though he had the keys of the front door in his pocket), entered his own bedroom where his wife and child were sleeping, murdered them then and there, climbed out of the window and down to the ground again, and was skulking away like a duty-done burglar when arrested.

A French artist of the Latin quarter was ten days ago putting the finishing touches on his painting, "The Death of Venus," which he meant to be his masterpiece. So that his model would be lifelike, or rather, deathlike, he had been in the habit of hypnotizing her during the three hours she posed each day. That last day he grew dissatisfied with the flesh tints he had imparted to Venus, so he administered a fatal dose of chloroform to the sleeping woman. After she had passed from partial unconsciousness to death, he copied with marvelous accuracy the precise hues of the dead model's flesh. He worked all through the night and by daylight had finished the painting to his own satisfaction. Then he wrote a few words on three separate sheets of paper. One he fastened in the dead woman's hand; a second he attached to the still moist canvas, and the third he placed, like a headstone, against the pillow of his couch, where he threw himself after swallowing the rest of the chloroform that was left in the little vial.

When a friend of the artist visited the studio that afternoon he read the story of the tragedy in the three slips of paper. The lead-penciled epitaph of the girl read: "She died for Art." The inscription above the painter's head was: "He strove for immortality." The paper hanging from the painting bore the words: "Their monument."

The police fished out from the Martin canal the bodies of a man and woman who had obviously committed suicide because they had been crossed in love. They were clasped in each other's arms, and around their waists, binding them to each other, was a stout rope, in the strands of which were entwined artificial orange blossoms.

Only the other day two young men, armed with daggers, fought a desperate duel near Billancourt, in the outskirts of Paris. They selected a moonlight night as the time, a deserted road as the place, and added a further picturesque effect to the episode by each of them mounting a bicycle for the encounter.

A characteristically French criminal, who had been sentenced to death for a murder committed a year ago in Havre, has written to the president of the republic protesting against a commutation of the sentence, and explaining that he had committed the murder for the sole purpose of being guillotined, "as he had had an intense desire, ever since childhood, to learn the brain conditions of a man immediately after he is beheaded."

Big Trade in Butterflies.

The trade in rare butterflies is increasing in London, and ingenious deception is practiced regarding them. Ordinary butterflies are caught and killed; then girls are employed to smear the gauzy wings with thin mucilage, and sprinkle fine metallic powder of various colors on the wings. In this way the collector can be plied with the most beautiful specimens almost while he waits.

SPORTING NEWS

GOLF.

New Jersey is to have an almost continuous string of important golf events during the coming season. Provided the Glen Ridge Golf Club remains in the East Jersey League, the six teams which would then comprise that organization would be able to get up a most attractive schedule, with the season's play brought to a close with the annual individual championship. In addition to this is the annual championship of the New Jersey State Golf Association to be held at Montclair, to say nothing of the many team matches to be arranged by the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association. The chances are that several open tournaments will also be held in this vicinity.

INDOOR SPORTS.

Saturday's contests at the Y. M. C. A. resulted as follows: Junior department, running high jump. First, Francis Anderson, 4 ft. 4 in., second, W. Lock, 4 ft. 2 in. Young men's department. Quarter mile walk. J. Eames, first; Arthur Denton, second; rope climb, Walter Cahoone, first; William Neal, second; parallel bars, Arthur Denton, first; Walter McNaughton and Walter Cahoone, tied for second place; low bar, Walter Cahoone, first; Walter McNaughton, second.

BASKET BALL.

All members of the Y. M. C. A. basket ball team are requested to meet in the association rooms, this evening, at 6:55, preparatory to visiting Rahway. It is intended to take the 7 o'clock trolley.

AT THE TRAPS.

A special meeting of the Independent Gun Club will be held in the Arlington Hotel this evening. All members are requested to attend.

J. O. OSGOOD RESIGNS.

Gives Up His Position of Chief Engineer of Jersey Central.

Joseph O. Osgood, of North Plainfield, who, for a year past has been chief engineer of the New Jersey Central, has resigned his position, which will take effect within a short time. Mr. Osgood has been considered an excellent man for the position, but his retirement is looked upon as one of the results of the recent change in the management of the road. Mr. Osgood's successor has not yet been learned.

Holy Week Services.

During the present week services will be held daily in the Episcopal churches. At Grace church the hours are 10 o'clock in the morning and 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Morning prayer is said at the Church of the Holy Cross at 10 o'clock. An early celebration at 7:30 o'clock, morning prayer at 10 o'clock and evening at 5 o'clock is the order of daily service at St. Stephen's church, Netherwood.

Death Came Quickly.

Alfred Perrine, the six-year-old son of Charles Perrine, of Chatham street, died from diphtheria at an early hour this morning after a brief illness. The lad was taken with chicken-pox and the fatal disease did not develop until yesterday. Death quickly resulted. The funeral was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Health Officer Pangborn fumigated the premises.

Pleasure After Business.

The Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association of this city will hold its regular meeting tonight in G. A. R. Hall at 8 o'clock. Business of importance will be transacted after which an entertainment will be provided, followed by a collation.

Art Gallery Opens Again.

After having been closed for several months past the Art Gallery of the Public Library will again be opened to the public tomorrow afternoon from 2 until 5. Among the recent additions to be seen is the Gilbert collection of butterflies.

On a Flying Visit.

The distinguished foreigner was doing a little mountain climbing.

His foot slipped.

Incidentally the reporter who had been toiling along in the rear, vainly trying to overtake him, took out his notebook.

"How do you like America?" he asked, as the distinguished foreigner slid past him down the slope.

"I am—considerably—impressed—by it," called back the other, as he bumped from rock to rock.—Chicago Tribune.

King George Speaks English.

The king of Greece, when conversing with the members of his family, always speaks English. He seldom speaks French, and only uses Greek when compelled to do so. His Hellenic majesty draws his own checks, and a person who once had an opportunity of seeing one was surprised to find that the king signs himself "Georgios Christianon," or "George, son of Christian." The royal banking account is in the hands of the Greek national bank, but the bulk of his money is in English funds.—N. Y. Sun.

Marriage in Arabia.

With the Arab a first cousin of the gentler sex holds an option on the young man, and if he desires to wed outside of the family he must first renounce her and secure his release. The next in line is his deceased brother's widow. As Arabia and Turkey are polygamous countries there is often a chance to provide for several who may have first claims on the bridegroom.—Woman's Home Companion.

Pity the Thief.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Suburban Idiot. "I had my watch stolen to-day."

"I shouldn't consider that a laughing matter," said his neighbor.

"Ah! But the thing runs slow, and just think how mad the thief will be when he misses his train by it!"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Clearly a Fraud.

"Mister, can ye give somethin' to an old soldier that's been campaignin' in the tropics on the other side of the world fur the last two years?"

"Trekking or hiking?"

"I don't understand."

"Get out. You're a humbug!"—Chicago Tribune.

Had Aimed at Him.

"I think it was so unkind of him."

"What?"

"Why, when I said auntie's mouth was a perfect Cupid's bow, he said: 'Yes, but she's too fond of shooting it off.'"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Mean Thing.

Mabel—I've just got some proofs from the photographer. Which do you like the best?

Bessie—The profile view is the better picture, but the other looks more like you.—Judge.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

The condition of Freeholder Andrew Lutkins, of Somerset street, remains the same. He is still in a serious condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mosher, of Mariners place, are the parents of a young daughter, who came to their home Wednesday.

William Doud, of Duer street, is confined to his bed as a result of a fall from a wagon last week. He has severe pains in his side.

City Clerk J. T. MacMurray left last evening for Coatesville, Pa., where he goes on business. He will return home tomorrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen returned to their Rockview avenue home Saturday evening, after a pleasant sojourn at Atlantic City.

The entertainment of Rev. Dr. Edward Judson, pastor of the Judson Memorial church, New York, who preached yesterday morning and evening in the First Baptist church, was shared by Mr. and Mrs. Fowler and Charles W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue Injuries Proved Fatal.

John Voorhees, who was fatally injured last week in Newark by being thrown from a wagon, died Saturday morning, and his remains were brought to the home of his sister, Mrs. William Day, corner Duer street and Park place. The funeral services will be held from that residence tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, and interment will be at Millstone. Rev. Mr. McWilliam, of Somerville, will officiate.

Sang "The "Palms."

At the evening service in Hope Memorial chapel, yesterday, Elmer E. Runyon sang very acceptably "The Palms." The recently organized choir was also very much in evidence and added not a little to the musical part of the service.

Strong Sermon.

A large congregation which completely filled Calvary Baptist church, last evening, listened to a strong sermon delivered by Rev. Scott Wallace. The subject was "Abide in Christ" and was especially for the young people.

Special Music.

The special music at the Congregational church, yesterday morning, included a solo by Mrs. Charlotte Ross and the solo, "The Palms," by Alfred E. Holmes.

Swiss Mountain Traditions.

There is no more intensely and passionately republican republic in the world than Switzerland. This is now illustrated by the announcement that the president of the Swiss national council has been compelled to resign because he refused to return to President Loubet the decoration of the grand officer of the Legion of Honor conferred on him for services as commissioner general of the Swiss section of the Paris exposition. France is a republic, but that makes no difference with the Swiss people. They will have no decorations or titles from any foreign state whatever.—Boston Herald.

Defect That Is a Blessing.

A magazine writer complains that the human senses are grossly inadequate, and illustrates the case with the remark that "the ear hears little of what is going on around us. By means of a microphone the tread of a fly sounds like the tramp of cavalry." It would not enhance the enjoyment of a summer morning nap to add a microphone ear to a fly's present numerous advantages.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Undeceived.

As the lady reached the platform the car stopped with such precision that she was thrown against the conductor; as the polite public servitor straightened up sufficiently to put the lady to rights she exclaimed:

"This is so sudden, sir."

"Beg pardon, miss," said the Chesterfieldian conductor, "but I am already married."—Richmond Dispatch.

The Golf Craze.

From the window she saw him coming up the steps.

"He comes!" she exclaimed, joyfully.

There was a bit of ice on the top step. He struck it. Then he struck each of the other steps in succession.

"Heavens!" she cried; "he has foozled his approach."—Chicago Post.

A Close Guess.

Beecroft (compassionately)—Jove! You look miserable! Going to the dentist's to have a tooth pulled?

Vermilye—No! My wife wants to attend the grand opera to-night, and I'm going to the box office to have my leg pulled!—Judge.

Fatherly Insight.

Polly—Pa, don't you think I will be a success in business life?

Pa—No, Polly, not unless you get a situation where you can boss the boss.—Detroit Free Press.

Two Kinds of Praise.

Love is one kind of praise and envy is another.—Chicago Daily News.

WESTFIELD'S AFFAIRS.

The Township Committee Met and Organized—Appointed Township Officers.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, March 24—The new town committee met Saturday evening and organized by electing W. W. Connoly as chairman. Eugene Chamberlin was appointed sewer inspector and W. W. Winters inspector of roads. By virtue of his office as chairman of the committee, Mr. Connoly is the head of the police department in place of J. A. Dennis, who had that position last year and who is still a member of the committee.

Addison Clark, town collector, has presented a bill to the township for $750 which he claims is due him as custodian of school money. The matter has been referred to legal authority, and it is a question as to whether the bill will be paid. The law allowing Mr. Clark the money has since been abolished.

HOW KING'S DAUGHTERS WORK FOR CHARITY

Subject Reviewed at Conference Arranged by Plainfield Organized Aid Association.

MANY LINES OF WORK.

CHIEF EFFORT IS IN BEHALF OF THE KING'S DAUGHTERS' CITY NURSE.

Co-operative Committee of O. A. A. Held Last of Series of Conferences Yesterday Afternoon—Talk of Free Trolley Rides.

The last of a series of conferences, held during the past winter under the auspices of the co-operative committee of the Organized Aid Association, was held in the Relief Association rooms on West Front street, yesterday afternoon. Like all previous conferences, this one proved very helpful. The subject under consideration was the work of the various circles of King's Daughters throughout the city.

Eight different circles were represented and each gave a brief synopsis of the work carried on. Most of these circles contribute toward the work of the city nurse, giving certain amounts each year. In addition to this other kinds of work are taken up. One circle contributes toward the support of an Italian mission in New York, while another helps in the work at St. John's Hospital for Children in New York. Other circles help needy families, and many do more or less in church work.

The reports received yesterday were of a nature that gave the co-operative committee a clear idea of the work being done and there was shown how the King's Daughters can co-operate with the work of the aid association.

Mrs. Tiffany made an appeal in behalf of the county jail for good books and magazines for the use of the inmates at that place. She also introduced the subject of free trolley rides for the coming season. This work was carried on successfully last summer, when five hundred free tickets were given out. The committee hopes that substantial contributions may be receieved so that the plan can be successfully carried out during the coming warm weather. This source of getting fresh air has proved beneficial to many and often helps to rest one after working very hard. The children have also profited greatly from the rides, while it has been of great benefit to babies.

As stated, this was the last conference for the season. The committee hopes to inaugurate them again next fall, when various topics in which the association is interested will be considered.

MEEKER'S ROLLER OUT.

Rolling Streets Which Were Macadamized by Him on Contract Last Fall.

Contractor C. M. Meeker brought out his steam roller, yesterday, for the first time this season. It will be in charge of Engineer Frank Ianson.

It has been placed at work rolling First, Second and Third places which were macadamized under contract by Meeker, last fall. The other streets repaired by him, East Sixth street, Orchard place and Carlton avenue, will be attended to later.

The city roller is at present engaged in rolling Richmond street, Belvidere avenue, Ravine road and Madison avenue from Front to Second streets.

BOY RUN OVER.

Herman Baker Slipped and Fell in Path of Wagon.

While crossing at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, yesterday afternoon, Herman Baker, a six-year-old boy living on Watchung avenue, slipped and fell in the path of a horse and wagon owned by Frank Runyon. The little fellow was run over and somewhat cut and bruised. He was assisted home by Patrolman McCarthy who chanced to be in the vicinity.

Last Meeting in Old Quarters.

Friday evening Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order Red Men, will hold its last meeting in its present quarters. The event will be made one of special interest.

Discussed Consolidation.

At the meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., Friday evening, there was a discussion about a consolidation with Unity Lodge, but no conclusion has as yet been reached.

—Neuman Brothers guarantee their Mocha and Java and Old Government Java coffee to be the best in the city at the price.

NEED FURNITURE.

Lack of It Prevented Much of a Meeting of the Young Women's Club Last Evening.

The members of the Young Women's Club met last evening in the new rooms in the Love building, corner of North and Watchung avenues, for the first time. Owing to the fact that the club has no furniture it was impossible to hold much of a meeting. The members spent most of the time cleaning out the room and getting it ready for furnishing.

The club is quite anxious that the room be fixed up as soon as possible. An offer of a piano has been received and one generous person has loaned the club a number of chairs.

The room is on the second floor of the building, the entrance being on North avenue. The key can be found in E. S. F. Randolph's drug store. The club now has a membership of forty-seven and everyone is doing all they can to get the club back to its former condition.

GIFTS TO CITY HIGH SCHOOL

COME CHIEFLY FROM CLASSES AND A FEW GRADUATES.

Used to Adorn the Walls of the Assembly Hall in the High School Building.

In recent years, it has become the custom of the various classes in the Plainfield High School and some graduates to present pictures and other works of art which serve to adorn and beautify the interior of the assembly hall of the Stillman School building and at the same time take the place of memorial as it were. The collection derived from this source has become quite large.

On the walls of the room are the following pictures which have been given: "Sistine Madonna," Raphael, class of 1900; "Sir Galahad," Watts, class of 1901; "Puritans Going to Church," Boughton, class of 1901; "The Chariot Race," Wagner, class of 1902; "The Matterhorn," class of 1902; "Scotland Forever," Elizabeth Thompson, class of 1902; "A Reading from Homer," Alma-Tadema, class of 1903; "Fighting Temeraire," Turner, class of 1903; "The Windmill," von Ruysdael, class of 1903; "Returning to the Barn Yard," Troyon, class of 1904; "The Prophets of Israel," Sargent, class of 1905; "Aurora," Guido Reni, class of 1905; "Greek Culture," Otto Knille, presented by A. M. Wilcox.

INDIVIDUAL PRIZES IN DAILY PRESS LEAGUE

Hegeman, of Westfield, and Mulford, of Roselle, Carried Off the Honors.

HOW AVERAGES STOOD.

PARK CLUB'S BOWLERS DID NOT GET NEAR TOP OF LIST.

Hegeman, of Westfield, Made Highest Average Score—Mulford Was Second, and Won First Prize for Highest Number of Spares.

Owing to some delay in sending in returns of the games, the affairs of The Daily Press Bowling League for the present season have only just been completed and announcement made of the individual prizes won.

The league, this season, it will be remembered was won by the Westfield Club after playing an extra series of games with the Roselle Casino to settle the question of first place. In addition to the team prize, individual prizes are yearly offered by the league to the player making the best average score in at least seventy-five per cent. of the league games and to the player making the greatest average number of spares in an equal per centage of games.

After the first few games, it was evident that Hegeman, of Westfield, had an excellent chance of making the highest average score in the league. He rolled a remarkably steady game and did not miss a single series. Condit, captain of the Westfield team, was also in better form than heretofore but he could not hold Hegeman's pace. Mulford, Roselle's crack roller, was in better form than last year, but not up to his game of two seasons ago. He was able, however, to give Hegeman a close run and was only defeated by a very narrow margin.

Although Mulford missed the highest average score prize, he won the award for the highest number of spares per game without much trouble. Forster, of Westfield, and H. D. Hibbard and F. O. Ball, of the Park Club, were his nearest competitors.

Owing to so many changes that were made to the Park Club team during the season, the club stood little show of winning any of the individual prizes. F. O. Ball had the highest average of those who rolled the requisite fourteen out of eighteen games. H. D. Hibbard was close behind. W. R. Faber, the captain of the Park Club team, was the only other local bowler to roll enough games to qualify.

Cranford had but three who qualified. Sharp, last year's winner, was in the lead from that club and third in general rank. Four of Westfield's bowlers rolled all the eighteen games. Roselle had three men who qualified.

The standing of those who qualified and whose average was 150 or better is as follows:

Player and Club.	Games rolled.	Average.	Spare avge
Hegeman, Westfield	18	170.2	4.3
Mulford, Roselle	18	168.5	5.5
Condit, Westfield	18	164.6	4.3
Sharp, Cranford	17	164.1	4.1
Gordon Miller, Roselle	15	160.	4.4
Damon, Cranford	15	159.	4.4
C. D. Smith, Westfield	18	158.2	4.1
F. O. Ball, Park Club	18	157.7	4.5
Hibbard, Park Club	16	157.4	4.5
Myers, Cranford	14	155.8	4.2

Kenney, of Roselle, would have stood well up in the list, but he lacked one game to bring him inside the number required to qualify.

Troublesome Times.

For quarreling and fighting, last night, at the home of John Cuff in the rear of French's mill, and resisting arrest, Walter Brittin, colored, was fined $15 in the city court this morning. The amount was paid. John Peterson and Maria Pleasant, who were also arrested, were released with a reprimand.

Accepted More Loans.

At a meeting of the Home Building and Loan Association, held last evening, the Board of Directors accepted security for loans aggregating $8,200 out of $15,000 asked for. The annual meeting of the association will be held April 21.

Found a Good Thing.

Chief G. S. Angeline, of the Mt. Vernon, N. Y., fire department, is the guest of Chief Doane today. He came to Plainfield to see what kind of a department the city has.

New Fountain.

C. M. Nagle, the West Front street druggist, is having a number of improvements made in his store. He will soon install a new $3,000 soda water fountain.

CONSHEE'S BODY IN TIER'S POND

Fisherman Found It Lying in the Mud Within a Stone's Throw of His Old Home.

MISSING FOUR WEEKS.

The Body of Frank Conshee Was Dragged Ashore Yesterday Afternoon by Edw. L. Smith, of Watchung Ave., Who Was Fishing—Supposed to Have Fallen In.

After a strange disappearance four weeks ago, Frank Conshee, one of the best known characters in North Plainfield, was found dead in Tier's pond within a stone's throw of his old home, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At the time he disappeared there was a freshet in Green brook and Tier's pond was filled to overflowing. It was believed at the time that the aged man had fallen into the pond as he was very fond of spending hours along the bank. He was very feeble in his walk and the theory advanced was that he might easily have fallen into the water.

Despite this theory, no one ever interested himself enough in the matter to have the pond dragged and not until the waters subsided was the body found. It was at least fifty feet from the bank and held fast by the muddy bottom. Close inspection showed the form of the body partially. It was turned on the side and at first glance one might think that it was a bag filled with some light substance or an old decayed tree stump.

The discovery of the body was peculiar. Edward L. Smith, of 321 Watchung avenue, was standing on the bank, directly back of the new silk mill, fishing. Close by stood Thomas J. Waldron, Michael Armstrong and J. Mullin. John H. Carney, who had been at the mill looking after some business matters, walked down to where the four men stood. He greeted the men with the question "Are you fishing for Frank Conshee?" The men replied in a half joking manner that they were.

"Well," said Mr. Carney, as he spied the object in the water, "there he is out there. Throw out your line and bring him in!"

The men looked aghast and then, turning their eyes in the direction pointed to by Mr. Carney, saw what looked like a body lying in the mud at the bottom. A line was then thrown out by Mr. Smith who succeeded in drawing the corpse close to shore where with the aid of a stick it could be reached.

In the meantime, the proper officials were notified and soon Undertaker DeMott appeared with his wagon. Mr. DeMott, assisted by several men, brought the body up on the bank. The features were not disfigured to any considerable extent. The face was completely covered with mud but after Mr. DeMott removed this, there was not the slightest trouble in identifying the man. The body was in an excellent state considering the length of time it had been in the water. It was slightly drawn up, giving one the impression that the man had been suffering terrible pain.

Mr. DeMott notified County Physician Taylor, of Millstone, at once and he granted a burial permit.

In the death of Mr. Conshee one of the most peculiar characters in this vicinity passes from view. For many years past he lived in the borough. During recent years he has done no work and he has spent his time in wandering about. His wife died sometime ago. He has a daughter. Mrs. George Giddis, of Duer street. So far as known Mr. Conshee had nothing of any value on his person. Sometime ago the borough took his property to satisfy an assessment for improvements on Watchung avenue. This left him without anything. He lived in Pearl street and got along after a fashion.

County Physician Taylor, of Millstone, arrived in the borough at midnight last night and gave the usual burial permit.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of Mr. Conshee's daughter, Mrs. George Giddis, 180 Duer street, and the interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

P. L. Conde's Concert.

The annual orchestral concert and pupil's recital will be given under the direction of P. Ludwig Conde, in the Y. M. C. A. Hall in May.

STRANGE BILL THAT POSSESSES TWO FACES

Chas. A. Pomeroy, of North Plainfield, Has Only One of Its Kind Now in Existence.

WAS MADE BY MISTAKE

IS $10 NOTE ON ONE SIDE AND A $20 NOTE ON OTHER.

Has Had Offers of From $300 to $1,000 for It, But is Holding It for a Bigger Price—The Description of the Bill.

Charles A. Pomeroy, a resident of North Plainfield, is a much-envied man by curio hunters, for he possesses a piece of money that has attracted attention from hundreds of people from the Government officials down. This piece of money happens to be the only one of its kind in existence in this country and was issued together with four others January 5, 1869. The Government has succeeded in securing the other three pieces, but this one is in Mr. Pomeroy's possession and unless he gets his price, $2,500, it is likely to remain there.

The piece of money is a $10 and $20 bill combined, that is, it was printed that way by mistake. It came to Mr. Pomeroy's uncle, the late Charles S. Upton, of Rochester, N. Y., with some other money, and when Mr Upton died five years ago it came into the nephew's possession. This hybrid note was made by a sheet bearing a face imprint of a $10 bill being mixed with a pile of sheets which had the face imprint of a $20 note. It was a most unusual mistake to be made. According to the Treasury department it is the only note of its kind in existence and so anxious is the Government to get it that $300 has been offered for it. This Mr. Pomeroy refuses to accept. He has had offers from $300 to $1,000, but he says that he can afford to hold it at $2,500.

The note was issued by the Second National Bank, of Springfield, Mass., January 5, 1869, secured by United States bonds. The Government number is 970,793 and the bank number 4,515. The number of the bank is 181. The bill bears the name of Former Secretary of the Treasury S. C. Spinner, also the name of H. Alexander, Jr., president of the bank, and the name of Former Register of the Treasury S. E. Chittenden.

The note has been tested by the Importers and Traders' National Bank and the Chemical National Bank, of New York, also by the Treasury department. For two whole days the note was soaked in water, the officials thinking that possibly two notes might be fastened toegther. They then tore a piece off the note and finally decided that it was genuine. A brother of H. Alexander, Jr., who lives in Springfield and who is eighty-two years of age, came to New York not long ago to see the bill and identify his brother's signature. He declared that the signature is genuine.

With the knowledge of the cashier at the Importers and Traders' National Bank, the bill was deposited with some other money, for the purpose of seeing what effect it would have with the bank employes. It threw out the balance and for nearly four hours the clerks worked to make their accounts balance. Finally the cashier came to their rescue.

The bill is valued at $10 by the Government, but there are hundreds of people who are willing to pay many times that amount for it. Mr. Pomeroy has received letters from curio hunters located in all parts of the country, making inquiries about it. One man in Phialdelphia wants him to send the bill for inspection and he has asked what price will be accepted for it. Newspaper men in New York and elsewhere are seeking information about the note and within the next two weeks there will be probably different articles published about it.

Mr. Pomeroy has placed the note between two small pieces of glass, thus insuring its safety from being torn. He takes particular care to see that it is well preserved.

City's Furniture Moved.

The Common Council furniture was moved today from the old Council chambers in the Coward building to the Smalley building in North avenue. The city office belongings have also been moved to the new quarters.

RETAIL CLERKS MET.

Officers Chosen, Then Followed the Programme, and All Enjoyed the Collation.

At an important business meeting of the Retail Clerks Association, held in G. A. R. Hall, last evening, the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, H. C. Hoagland; vice president, H. P. Greenwood; secretary, J. Howard Bennett; financial secretary, W. P. Henderson; treasurer, W. D. Williams; guide, F. C. Conkey; guardian, James Daley; chaplain, Louis Bruker; pianist, Miss Justina Smith; trustees, James McLean, L. D. VanCamp and Daniel Galbraith. The association was also organized for mutual aid in sickness and death and for courtesy at all times.

Following the business meeting an entertainment was held to which the contributors were the Misses Justina Smith and Josie Murphy. Phonograph selections were also given. A collation was served at the close.

IT WAS NOT ON PROGRAMME

SCENERY TIPPED OVER AND NEARLY DISABLED PARTICIPANT.

Matthew Sweeney Took a Sudden Dive in Midst of Shadow Pictures at Hope Chapel.

One of the most delightful socials which have been given in Hope chapel the past winter, was given last evening, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. It was termed a lunch box social and pantomime show, the latter forming the entertaining features.

In this the pantomime consisted of "The Ballad of the Oysterman" read by Rev. L. R. Howard and pictured by silhouetted figures. Those assuming characters were Miss Laura Hangliter, Matthew Sweeney and James Slorah. The pantomime was greatly enjoyed, but at one time came near terminating abruptly through an accident. In one of the most interesting parts where Mr. Sweeney, as the lover, was about to embrace the oysterman's daughter, a table and stool on which he was standing, toppled over and he made a sudden dive to the platform. He was stunned by the fall and was unable to proceed for a half hour.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to the auctioning off of lunches prepared by the young women. H. D. Thompson made an excellent auctioneer and by his tact induced the young men to do some spirited bidding. The social was arranged and given under the auspices of the entertainment committee of the society consisting of Mrs. L. R. Howard, the Misses Mabel Firstbrook, Elsie Slorah, Emma Foster and Mary Duvier, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Charles Dixon, James Slorah and Geo. E. Firstbrook.

ART GALLERY OPEN.

Adjunct to City Public Library Was Reopened to the Public Today.

When the Art Gallery of the Public Library is opened to the public again, this afternoon, it will hardly be recognizable to former patrons. It has been put through a course of thorough repairing and presents a most attractive appearance. The art loving public will find much of interest in it and a great deal of instruction.

Principal among the new additions is the magnificent collection of butterflies, recently presented the library by Alexander Gilbert, now scientifically arranged and on exhibition for the first time. It needs several visits to realize the extent and importance of the collection. Those interested in the subject of entomology will find numerous periodicals convenient which will greatly assist them in understanding the display.

Its Anniversary.

The regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting at Grace M. E. church will be in charge of the Women's Home Missionary Society this week. This organization will commemorate an anniversary on this occasion.

At St. Joseph's.

Rev. Father Leahy will make an address at the service at St. Joseph's church this evening. The priest is the author of "Clarence Belmont" and other works. He is an able speaker.

No Quorum.

Owing to the lack of a quorum no meeting of the Independent Gun Club was held last evening as scheduled. No business will be transacted until the regular session in April.

Going to California.

C. E. Hepburn, the druggist, has decided to give up business in this city. He and his family will leave in a few weeks for California, where they will reside.

WAITED VAINLY FOR THE ANNEXATION BILL

Expected Measure Did Not Come Before Assembly Last Night—Expected Today.

OTHER BILLS PASSED.

BUSY TIME FOR THE LEGISLATURE BEFORE ADJOURNMENT.

Pennsylvania Tunnel and Trolley Freight Bills Went Through—A Delegation Present in Interest of Greater Plainfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 25—A large number of Plainfielders and North Plainfielders, as well as citizens in general from various parts of Somerset county, principally from Somerville, gathered yesterday afternoon about the lower house, anxiously awaiting the appearance of the annexation bill. As the evening bore on it was evident that the measure would not be reached but those interested in the plan stayed near the assembly chamber. In all probability it will come up today.

Among the bills passed were the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel proposition, which received only two negative votes and the Atlantic City Charter measure. The bill designed to give trolley lines the right to carry freight was passed in the Senate. President Francis took the floor and declared that the measure was in no wise connected with the tunnel scheme.

Governor Murphy has sent to the Senate a message asking that some action be taken in regard to the Passaic river pollution before adjournment. Another bill passed by the Senate was that which empowers the Governor to appoint a commission to investigate and report upon a better system of primary elections

CUT CLERGYMAN.

Unknown Tramp Attacked Rev. Mr. Cadwell, of Westfield, With a Razor Last Evening.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, March 25—Rev. N. W. Cadwell, pastor of the Presbyterian church, had a lively time with tramps last evening. Two knights of the road entered his barn where they proposed to spend the night. The minister found the two men there and ordered them out of the building. They resented the order and both men attacked Mr. Cadwell.

One had a razor, which he made use of. Mr. Cadwell received a gash in the side of the face. The men escaped, running through adjoining lots and making off in the darkness.

Owing to the lateness of the hour, about 10 o'clock, it was imposible to do much in the way of catching the tramps, but the police were notified and every effort is being made to capture them. Mr. Cadwell's injuries are not serious.

MUSICAL TREAT.

Concert to be Given by Choir of the First Baptist Church at That Church This Evening.

A musical treat is in store for those who attend the sacred concert to be given this evening by the choir of the First Bapist church. For some time past the choir under the direction of E. J Fitzhugh has been rehearsing for the concert and a most delightful evening of music is promised.

The selections to be rendered are "The Stabat Mater," Rossini; part of the "Passion," Haydn, and "Gallia," Gounod. The choir will have the assistance of Otto K. Schill, violin; Miss Dorothy Waldo, violin; Fullerton L. Waldo, viola, and Dr. Leonard Waldo, violoncello. Howard Case, organist of the church, will preside at the organ and direct the presentation of the music.

As admission to the church will be by card and the demand for these cards have been so great, those desiring seats should be at the church on time so as not to delay the programme.

Not One Response.

A few days ago an appeal was made for old sheets for use at the hospital. As yet there has not been one single response. The sheets are still needed and liberal contributions will be gratefully received.

WORK OF CONGRESS.

Senate Takes Up Oleomargarine Bill, Hepburn Pure Food Bill Favored.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Consideration was begun by the senate yesterday of what is popularly known as the oleomargarine bill. The measure places a tax of 10 cents a pound on oleomargarine colored in imitation of butter and reduces the present tax of 2 cents per pound on oleomargarine to a quarter of a cent a pound in its uncolored form. Mr. Proctor (Vt.), chairman of the committee on agriculture, made the opening statement in support of the measure. He concluded with the observation that the pending bill was "a measure to protect an honest product against a fraud." A few bills of minor importance were passed before the oleomargarine bill was taken up.

The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce has voted to report the Hepburn pure food bill. The bill was framed by the national pure food congress, and for some time hearings have been in progress on this and other pure food measures. The vote was practically unanimous for reporting the bill.

The Hepburn bill prohibits the introduction into any state from another state or the shipment abroad of any article of food or drugs which is adulterated or misbranded. The agricultural department is given supervision over the analyzing, etc., to determine questions of adlteration and is to have the assistance of a board of food experts chosen from the army and navy medical services, the marine hospital service and from scientists in chemistry, hygiene, commerce and manufactures.

An Indian Territory Railway Wreck.

DENISON, Tex., March 25.—The Frisco's new train, known as the Meteor, southbound, left the track near Francis, I. T., yesterday, and four passengers were seriously injured. The accident occurred at a curve where the track skirts a high embankment and approaches a trestle. All the cars except the baggage and combination coaches left the track. The engineer and fireman were thrown off their feet, and the engine, which was bumping along the ties, was stopped by the automatic brakes. The cause of the accident is problematical. A special party of Frisco officials and newspaper men from St. Louis and Kansas City were on the train. They were in the cafe, and when the car was overturned many of them had narrow escapes.

Case of Too Much Holiness.

ARDMORE, I. T., March 25.—Rev. Ensley Lamar, a Holiness preacher, shot and killed Calvin Van Winkle, aged twenty-four years, a well to do citizen of Cumberland. Before the services in his church began Lamar made the statement that no other Christian belief than that of the Holiness sect was of any value. William Van Winkle, father of the young man who was slain, is a strong Baptist and was offended at the statement of the preacher and invited him outside. Lamar followed the elder Van Winkle out of doors. Calvin Van Winkle heard the men quarreling, came to his father's rescue and was killed.

A STRIKE IMMINENT

Great Miners' Struggle of 1900 May Be Repeated.

MINE WORKERS ADOPT ULTIMATUM

Operators Refuse the Request of President Mitchell For a Conference With Employees.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 25.—Unless the efforts of the Civic federation are effective with the coal operators it is more than likely that a repetition of the struggle of 1900 will occur in the anthracite region. In that year 140,000 employees of the anthracite mines were out on strike for six weeks. The convention of districts Nos. 1, 7 and 9, United Mine Workers of America, which districts comprise the entire anthracite field, has made a provisional strike declaration, leaving the date to be decided by the executive boards of the three districts. This was practically the last official act of the delegates, and the convention adjourned sine die.

The adoption of the resolution containing the ultimatum of the mine workers was followed by a scene of wild enthusiasm, and the opera house rang with the acclamations of the delegates, who with lusty cheers approved the work of the special resolution committee and expressed their confidence in President Mitchell.

The convention from the first session showed a disposition to insist on an adjustment of the mine workers' grievances, but the delegates were willing to relinquish the question of recognition providing other more important concessions were granted. This fact is evidenced in the resolution adopted, which states as the chief demands a shorter work day, a minimum wage scale, a uniform increase in wages and the weighing of coal wherever practicable.

The Civic federation is regarded by the delegates as the last hope of the mine workers in their demands for improved conditions, and the gravity of the situation is manifest in the words of President Mitchell, "I am free to say that to me a strike seems imminent."

The resolution adopted was the result of a difference of opinion among the delegates as to the methods to be pursued in enforcing the mine workers' demands. Resolutions had been presented to the convention for all of the districts, but none of them was satisfactory to the entire body of delegates. It was then decided to place the matter in the hands of President Mitchell and the district presidents and vice presidents. Before completing the draft of the resolution President Mitchell telegraphed the presidents of the coal carrying roads, making a last appeal for a conference.

He received several replies, one of which was from President Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company and all of which refused to meet the representatives of the union. Others made no response. The text of the replies was not made public.

Governor Odell In New York.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Governor Odell arrived from Albany at 6:30 o'clock last evening and went to the Fifth Avenue hotel, where he was met by Mayor Low, who had come in response to a dispatch from the governor's secretary. The governor and the mayor remained in consultation about fifteen minutes, when the latter departed. Governor Odell said to a reporter, "I have come down to attend the military tournament and shall return to Albany tonight." When asked about the Guden-Dike contest, he replied, "I have nothing to say except that I have done everything that it was necessary for me to do in the matter."

Alabama Negro Lynched.

TROY, Ala., March 25.—Bill Zigler, a negro, has been lynched about eight miles below this place. He was charged with an assault on a little white girl, whose name is withheld. The negro had a preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury. The sheriff started to town with the prisoner, but was overpowered by the mob. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that the negro came to his death at the hands of unknown parties.

Timber and Coal Lands Sale.

PITTSBURG, March 25.—W. H. Sykes of Homestead, Pa., has closed the purchase of 25,000 acres of coal and timber land in Virginia near the West Virginia line, the deal involving an expenditure of about $500,000. Mr. Sykes represented eastern men in the deal, the options having been obtained about four months ago. As soon as a railroad which is now projected taps the property a mine will be opened and the timber cut.

Big Game Bagged In Boston.

BOSTON, March 25.—Fred Miller and Frank Myers are under arrest here, and the Boston police believe they have the principals in several big burglaries. Both of the prisoners are said to be Sing Sing convicts and are classed as desperate housebreakers. In dress suit cases which the men carried were two loaded revolvers, a burglar's jimmy, a quantity of silverware, clothing and jewelry. One case was identified by George C. Squire of this city.

Cassatt Breaks His Own Record.

NEW YORK, March 25.—President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad made another flying trip across New Jersey yesterday and clipped a minute from his own best time, the record for the road. He went the distance between this city and Philadelphia, ninety miles, in seventy-nine minutes.

CONFERENCE ON CUBA

Opposers of Reciprocity at the White House.

A PLEASANT INTERVIEW REPORTED.

Object of Meeting Was to Bring About Harmony on This Important Question—No Conclusions Reached.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A conference was held at the White House yesterday afternoon between the president and seven of the Republican members of the house of representatives who have been foremost in opposing the plan of Cuban reciprocity urged by the ways and means committee and understood to have the support of the administration. The members who called were Representatives Tawney and Morris of Minnesota, Dick of Ohio, William A. Smith of Michigan, Minor of Wisconsin, Metcalf of California and Dayton of West Virginia.

The call was at the request of the president, who desired an exchange of views to the end that harmonious action might be secured in such steps as are taken in behalf of Cuba.

The talk took a wide range, covering the conditions in Cuba, what should be done to meet these conditions and also the question of harmonizing conflicting interests so that there might be unanimity of action on the part of the Republicans in congress. It was stated afterward by those who participated in the conference that it was of the most agreeable and pleasant character and that there was not the remotest suggestion on the part of the chief executive which could be construed as seeking to urge them to yield their personal convictions. On the contrary, it was stated, the president listened to the recital of difficulties which had been encountered by those who opposed the reciprocity plan and also heard from them the various plans by which they had hoped to reach an agreement.

The callers were frank to concede that they found the president desirous of extending effective relief to Cuba by the reciprocity plan. In this connection, it was stated, the president drew attention to the fact that the Sibley amendment limiting the reciprocity period to Dec. 1, 1903, gave the Payne bill a rather one sided aspect, as it asked Cuba to adopt our naturalization and immigration laws and give us tariff concessions without limit of time and in return gave to Cuba tariff concessions limited to about a year and a half. Some of the congressmen present were inclined to admit that we were asking a good deal from Cuba in return for the little we would grant to her.

The interchange of views became quite general, there being nothing in the way of definite propositions one way or the other, but merely an agreeable expression of opinion as to what was best to be done under all the circumstances of the situation.

In the course of this general talk the suggestion was made that if the Payne bill had been modified so as to take off the differential on refined sugar some of the grounds of opposition might have been removed. However, there was no request, so far as can be learned, that the bill be amended in this particular at the present stage. The plan of rebate, which was urged at one time, also came in for discussion and explanation.

At the conclusion of the conference the general understanding was reached that any statements made to the public would be to the general effect that no conclusions were reached and that the conference was confined to a general interchange of views. It is understood that the president will see some of the members of the ways and means committee again, thus familiarizing himself with both sides of the issue which has recently arisen in the house. He hopes that this general interchange with the leaders from both sides may bring about unanimity of action in whatever is done in behalf of Cuba.

Tennessee Day at Exposition.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 25.—Tennessee day at the exposition was celebrated with much eclat. Governor McMillin and members of his staff and some other state officers and 500 Tennesseans from all parts of that state had possession of the Ivory City. At the exposition the formal exercises of welcome were held during the morning. Mayor Smyth and President Wagener of the exposition made speeches of welcome, and Governor McMillin responded in an eloquent address. The party will remain until tomorrow.

Drydock In Philippines Needed.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Rear Admiral Endicott, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, will ask congress for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the construction of a new drydock in the Philippines. If the appropriation is made, the long and risky voyage projected for the big dock purchased from Spain from Cuba to the Philippines will be rendered unnecessary.

Leprosy In This Country.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The secretary of the treasury has sent to the senate the report of a commission of medican officers of the marine hospital service appointed to investigate the origin and prevalence of leprosy in the United States. The report shows 278 cases of leprosy in the United States.

Wireless Telegraphy For Alaska.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—General Greely has invited bids for supplying a system of wireless telegraphy between Nome City and St. Michael, Alaska, 104 miles distant across Norton sound. Bidders must prove the capacity of their apparatus by sixty mile tests along the Atlantic coast.

POSSIBILITY OF PEACE.

Announcement In the House of Commons Received With Cheers.

LONDON, March 25.—On a dispatch from Pretoria just made public Lord Kitchener gives his usual weekly total of captures, etc., but does not mention the Schalkburger incident.

The Daily Chronicle this morning asserts that an armistice has been arranged pending the duration of Schalkburger's mission to General De Wet and that offensive operations against De Wet, Delarey and Botha will be suspended, these three generals having agreed honorably to observe the armistice and to refrain from operations until the return of the envoys to the Boer lines.

It is believed, continues The Daily Chronicle, that the envoys, after acquainting Botha with the result of their mission, will again confer with Lord Kitchener, although no second conference with Lord Kitchener has actually been arranged.

In the house of commons the war secretary, Mr. Brodrick, announced that a fortnight ago Mr. Schalkburger intimated to Lord Kitchener his desire to be granted a safe conduct through the British lines and back in order to see Mr. Steyn with reference to the possibility of peace proposals. Lord Kitchener, with the consent of the government, had acceded to the request.

The announcement of the war secretary was received with cheers.

A FIGHT OVER A KISS.

Indiana School Seceder With Accused Principal.

BRAZIL, Ind., March 25.—The demand made by the city school board last Saturday for the resignation of Professor Muncie, principal of the city school, because of the charge made by Miss Monce, a pupil, that he kissed her, has precipitated a legal fight between the board and the principal.

Professor Muncie was forced to quit school, and the pupils struck in sympathy with him.

Professor Muncie has retained the services of lawyers to prosecute the board for damages. The school board held a meeting and secured counsel, stating their determination to fight the case.

Professor Muncie positively declines to resign. He resumed his duties this morning despite the instructions of the board to the superintendent to employ a successor.

Professor Muncie still insists that he is guilty of no wrong; that the caress was merely in a fatherly manner. He has a wife and six children, is an influential church member and has always borne a good reputation. Public sentiment is divided.

Palma President's Guest.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Mr. T. Estrada Palma, the president elect of Cuba, met President Roosevelt in his official capacity for the first time last night, when the former was the guest of honor at an informal dinner at the White House. The affair was intended as a mark of courtesy to President Elect Palma, who expressed his high appreciation of the honor shown him. The others present were Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary and Mrs. Root, Minister and Mrs. Bellamy Storer, General Leonard Wood, Senor Gonzales de Quesada and Diego Tamayo, well known Cubans, who came over from New York with General Palma. While the affair was largely of a social character, the prospective transfer of Cuba from the Americans to the new government provided for by the recent constitutional convention was discussed, and questions incident thereto received consideration.

Topeka's Mayor Horsewhipped.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 25.—Miss Blanche Boise, a protegee of Mrs. Nation, horsewhipped Mayor Parker in his office at the city building. Three times she slashed the mayor before he tore the rawhide out of her hand and pushed her into the hall. When seen by reporters after his scourging, Mayor Parker refused to discuss it. The woman who whipped him talked freely. She said: "I was in sympathy with Mrs. Nation, but did not take part in her raids. I have come to the conclusion that the only way to make public officers enforce the temperance laws is to horsewhip them. I have an organization behind me, and we have whips for Governor Stanley and Judge Hazen. I will wait and see how this dose acts on Mayor Parker before I repeat it. I think it is a good plan."

Murdered and Robbed.

KENOVA, W. Va., March 25.—Joseph Wilson, a wealthy farmer and stock raiser of Wayne county, was murdered and robbed half a mile out of Thacker, a small mining town in the mountains on Tug river. About dusk his horse came running into town, and a party went in search of Wilson, whom they found lying dead upon the public highway, his head crushed with some heavy instrument and his throat cut from ear to ear. He was known to have had more than $1,000 on his person, and robbery was undoubtedly the motive.

Gloomy Outlook For Sealers.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 25.—The gloomy outlook of the seal fishery is confirmed by fuller reports. The scattered condition of the ice floes and the soft and foggy weather operate against the efforts of the sealers to secure good catches. It is feared the present season will be like that of 1893, when only 128,000 seals were taken. This number amounts to one-third the usual catch.

Internal Revenue Collections.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The monthly statement of the collections of internal revenue show that the total receipts for February, 1902, were $18,717,659, a decrease as compared with February, 1901, of $3,942,778.

New York Leads In Production of Milk, Butter and Cheese.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The complete census statistics of dairy matters just announced show that of the 5,739,657 farms in the country 4,514,210 report dairy cows and dairy product and that in 1899 the total dairy product had a valuation of $472,369,255. Of the farms reporting dairy cows and product 357,578 were classed as dairy farms, having derived at least 40 per cent of their gross income from dairy products. The number of dairy cows was 17,139,674. The receipts from dairy products sold aggregated $281,629,958, and products consumed on the farm were valued at $190,739,297. There were produced from the dairy cows reported a total of 7,266,392,674 gallons of milk, an average of 424 gallons per cow. Of this milk 2,134,915,342 gallons were sold, for which the farmers received $184,842,292.

The farmers also report the sale of 20,768,662 gallons of cream, for which they received $8,838,776. Farms numbering 3,617,440 report the manufacture of butter, and 15,670 report the manufacture of cheese. The farms reporting butter manufactured 1,071,745,127 pounds, of which 518,139,026 pounds were sold, for which the farmers received $86,606,446. New York reports the largest number of dairy cows, 1,501,608, the largest value of dairy products, $55,474,155, and the largest number of gallons of milk produced, milk sold, cream sold and butter as well as cheese made. Pennsylvania stands second.

More Than Two Tons of Mail Burned

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Only two dozen pieces of mail were saved from the two or three tons of postal matter of all classes carried on the ill fated train No. 38 of the Southern road wrecked near Charlottesville, Va. This is the official report of the wreck made to the postal department after an investigation of the facts. The matter saved had been thrown out of the reach of the smashed and burning cars and was collected and dispatched to the destinations by Postoffice Inspector Bulla, who happened to be on the train. The immense mass of mail carried was destined for this city and eastern and northern points and came from southern and southwestern states mostly. The official report shows that all of the postal crew were injured.

TESTIMONY OF MILES

Objectionable Utterances Before Committee Cut Out.

REPORT SUBMITTED TO THE GENERAL

The Proposed Change In Army Management Declared to Be Revolutionary and Savors of Monarchic Institutions.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The statement of General Miles before the senate committee on military affairs as it will appear in the official records has been made public. The features which caused something of a sensation when published the day the statement was made do not appear, and the following colloquy at the close of the hearing explains it:

Mr. Pettus—Mr. Chairman, I think there ought to be some mode of having these notes revised.

The Chairman—That will be done.

Mr. Pettus—The report of the proceedings should be submitted to General Miles, with permission to strike out such portions as ought not to be published.

Mr. Proctor—That is it.

General Miles—I do not know that there is anything to be stricken—

The Chairman—We have been in the habit of submitting to the witness before the committee, whoever he was, the stenographer's report of his remarks for correction, of course.

Mr. Pettus—I wanted to go further than that. The stenographer has no doubt taken down correctly what the general has said, but there are some things that he said which he may desire to strike out, and I think he should be allowed that privilege.

The Chairman—He must be the judge of that.

Mr. Pettus—He should be allowed the liberty of striking out anything which ought not to be published, even if it is stated correctly in the report.

The stenographer's report was submitted to General Miles, and the official report indicates that he followed closely the written statement he had prepared and read to the committee. The main facts of the general's opposition to the war department staff bill were given at the time. Some of the features of the statement, however, not reported at the time are of interest. Concerning the inspector general's department he said:

"In the bill under consideration it is proposed to abolish entirely the corps of inspectors who have been most instrumental in keeping the army up to its high character and efficiency and in discovering defalcations, inefficiency and maladministration and, on the other hand, in encouraging and reporting meritorious conduct, efficiency and ability in all the different commands and departments of the service."

Further along General Miles said of the bill:

"It is centralization of the most pronounced type, augments the power of the staff and in effect removes it further from touch with the fighting force of the army. The scheme is revolutionary, casts to the winds the lessons of experience and abandons methods which successfully carried us through the most memorable war epochs of our history. The proposed plan is but an effort to adopt and foster in a republican form of government such as ours a system peculiarly adapted to monarchies having immense standing armies. It would seem to Germanize and Russianize the small army of the United States."

In addition to that part of the statement heretofore published showing how the president could by promotions make a captain chief of staff with the grade of lieutenant general, General Miles said:

"It seems to me you are throwing the door wide open for a future autocrat or a military despot. It is not, in my judgment, in accordance with the principle and theory of democratic government and for the best interests of the army, which has existed more than a hundred years and fulfilled all your requirements, to adopt such a scheme."

The Cholera at Manila.

MANILA, March 25.—The outbreak of cholera here does not create alarm. No white persons have been stricken with the disease. According to the report of the medical authorities there have been, all told, twenty-six cases and twenty-one deaths. Experts have gone to investigate the five cases at Malolos, just north of Manila, and the two cases at Aparri, in northern Luzon. The moving of trains on the railroad between here and Dagupan has been prohibited, and no boat will be allowed to leave Manila for interisland ports for the next five days. The object of these restrictions is to prevent a general exodus and the consequent possibility of spreading the disease.

Aunt Killed Nephew and Herself.

NEWARK, N. J., March 25.—Rather than see Stewart Hutchison, her young nephew, for whom she had kept house for many years, marry and set up a home of his own Mrs. Lillian Wilson killed him and then committed suicide. The tragedy occurred in the fashionable apartment house at 53 Academy street. Hutchison died instantly, but the woman survived until she reached St. Barnabas hospital.

Imprisoned Firebug Dead.

NEWBURG, N. Y., March 25.—William Hickey, an inmate of the Matteawan state hospital, dropped dead yesterday. He was serving a second term for arson in the first degree. He was known as a confirmed pyromaniac and was convicted in Monroe county.

OPEN AIR CONCERTS.

The time has nearly arrived for the people of Plainfield to begin considering the question of how to raise the necessary funds to give Plainfield a series of open air concerts. Each year the agitation in behalf of this very worthy movement has been started so late that there has not been time to make a proper canvass before the concerts.

For some unexplainable reason, there has been a great difficulty in securing the comparatively small amount necessary for a series of open air concerts during the summer. From the time when Former Councilman George H. Frost started the movement in Plainfield, there has been no doubt about their popularity with the people. They have furnished a healthy means of amusement during the summer, and have without doubt been greatly appreciated by those for whose benefit they were arranged. With so many generous and well to do citizens, it would seem as if there ought not to be the slightest trouble in raising the money which is required to meet the actual expenses of these concerts. Experience, however, has shown considerable difficulty in obtaining subscriptions. Such ought not to be the case.

There is now plenty of opportunity before the time comes for the concerts, to allow a thorough campaign to be made in behalf of this excellent plan. Other cities much smaller than Plainfield have been able to support such open air musical treats and there is not the slightest reason why Plainfield should not follow their example.

The fine weather has brought out the baseball enthusiasts for active practice. Never has a sacosn in Plainfield begun under such auspicious circumstances. Instead of trouble in finding candidates, the managements of the different teams have more material than they know what to do with. In several cases there have been enough players to form two teams. The practice games between the regular and scrub teams have already served their purpose well and promise to bring out stronger aggregations than have yet represented Plainfield on the amateur diamond.

Local society gives promise of one active week at least after the close of the Lenten season. Dances, teas and other social functions, with amateur dramatics and musicales, will make Easter week a busy one for the society folk of the city and borough.

The death of W R. Mattox takes from the streets of Plainfield a familiar face. There were few, indeed, who did not know the veteran constable. He always had a pleasant word for all. His loss will be mourned by a host of friends.

HOW IT WORKED.

One Advertiser Writes How Effective a Daily Press Want Ad Proved.

Almost daily messages come by 'phone or letter from people who patronize The Daily Press "want-ad" column that the desired results have been obtained and there is the request generally to stop the "ad" on this account. Some of the messages are quite complimentary, and all of them bear testimony to the efficiency of The Daily Press as a successful advertising medium.

Here is just a sample:

"South Plainfield, March 21, 1902.
Editor, Daily Press:

I sent you an order two days ago regarding the insertion of an advertisement for a farmer. I had no idea at the time that The Press was possessed of a force so potent and far reaching. Your issue of Wednesday contained the first insertion and behold nearly all day yesterday was occupied in attending to applicants. I have all I want—any more I am afraid will send me to an asylum. Will you not have pity and forbear after this week—third insertion—presenting my case to the public? I shall be much obliged if you will.

PROGRESS AT WOODLAND PARK.

Wonderful Changes Made in the Old Denton Property.

It will surprise the readers of The Daily Press to see the many changes that have been wrought at Woodland Park, formerly the Denton property, bounded by Hillside and Woodland avenues. Within two years this property has been transformed from farm land into a beautiful residential section.

It has two avenues sixty-six feet wide running parallel from Hillside to Woodland avenues, and are known as Evergreen and Martine avenues. These beautiful avenues have been macadamized under the supervision of County Engineer Hubbard. Beautiful dwelling have been erected on this property by Richard H. Depew, E. G. Voorhees, A. L. Otterson, and Mrs. Anna B. S. Pond, now occupied by Mr. Wilson, and are alone evidence of the character of this section of the city. Over 2,000 feet frontage has been sold at Woodland Park within the last two years. It has the advantages of elevation which is seventy-five feet above Park avenue, and electric lights, city water, telephone service, etc.

The S. D. Drake Realty Company, owners of Woodland Park, is offering a few choice lots on Martine avenue and Evergreen avnenue, at one half the price that other lots are offered at in this section of the city. The deeds are furnished with a guarantee title. There is no mortgage on this property.

Prospective buyers can address Mrs. Anna B. S. Pond, Park Avenue Hotel, Plainfield, N. J., who will show the property and give other information in regard to prices, terms, etc. Mrs. Pond will also show maps of property. For further information address S. D. Drake Realty Company, 10 West State street, Trenton, N. J.

A New Spring Catalogue.

One of the most complete furniture catalogues ever issued is that of Amos H. VanHorn, Ltd., 75 Market street, Newark. Of necessity, it is a difficult task to describe and illustrate the goods carried by an immense establishment like this, requiring some five acres of floor space for its one business, yet this very handsome catalogue succeeds in telling its story well by clean-cut pictures and clear descriptions. The cover is a specially drawn forest scene in two colors; there are forty pages of matter and over 200 illustrations. The Amos H. VanHorn people will be glad to send a copy free to anyone requesting one.

Removed Bridge Girders.

STILL FURTHER REDUCTIONS!

Remarkable values are being offered throughout the entire store. Deep cuts in prices of many goods have been made in order to move stock quickly.

Dress Goods suffered least from fire, but most from price cutting. Stock is new and in good condition, but must be sold at once, notwithstanding. Wash Goods are being sacrificed. To those who have seen the beautiful array of Wash Fabrics displayed on our counters this will mean much, for the showing is remarkable for variety, quality and attractiveness. They escaped the fire but have not the general sacrifice. A miscellaneous counter full of Ladies' Suits, Separate Skirts, Jackets and Shirt Waists at your own price to close. A large lot of Hosiery, the boxes of which were damaged by water, will be sold cheap. Miscellaneous articles scattered here and there throughout the stock are going for a song.

In the Basement some rare bargains in house-furnishings are to be had. Goods damaged, only slightly injured by water, but whose usefulness is not impaired.

For the Men we have our new Spring Shirts, and a finer line was never offered.

New Easter Novelties in ladies' Neckwear, showing the latest conceits in this line. Inconceivably dainty and quite inexpensive.

Our New Shirt Waists are now here. A more attractively designed showing of waists could scarcely be thought of.

FOR LEGAL SERVICES.

Reed & Coddington Won Their Suit Against Mrs. Ida Strauss in Justice Moffett's Court.

An interesting contract case occupied the attention of a twelve-men jury in Justice Moffett's court, yesterday afternoon. It was that of the firm of Reed & Coddington which sued Mrs. Ida Strauss, of Park avenue, for legal services rendered. Mrs. Strauss was represented by her husband, Frank Strauss, a practicing New York lawyer. The jury remained out but twenty minutes and returned with a verdict for the full amount in favor of the plaintiffs amounting to $50 and costs.

Mrs. Strauss testified in her own behalf that the law firm had never been retained by her and furthermore it had not rendered professional services in any way. She produced no witnesses. The plaintiffs put on the stand Counsellors Nelson Runyon, E. S. Swackhamer and William DeMeza to attest to the fairness of the amount sued for and for corroboration to the fact. The case occupied the entire afternoon.

Question of the Lie.

The Y. M. C. A. Literary Society will hold a debate at its next regular meeting, Saturday evening, the subject being a peculiar one. It is: "Resolved, That a lie is never excusable." This question was decided in the negative in a debate held at a western institution recently.

New Vault.

The new vault to be placed in the Smalley building on North avenue for the use of the city, is nearing completion and will be installed in a short time.

Annual Endeavor Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church will be held this evening in the chapel of the church.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruptions. DeWitt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy condition and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Hooper, Albany, Ga., says: "I took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness. They were just what I needed. I am feeling better now than in years." Never gripe or distress. (Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, March 25—A horse and wagon owned and driven by Charles Compton, of Metuchen, was struck by a Middlesex and Somerset trolley, at Jackson avenue and Front street, last evening. The animal was instantly killed and the driver was thrown out and rendered unconscious. He was assisted to the office of Dr. Brakeley where restoratives were applied and he eventually recovered sufficiently to be taken home.

According to the motorman of the car, Compton was evidently asleep as, after the motorman had sounded a warning gong, the horse was turned directly into the tracks. The car is equipped with a whistle and this was also blowing when the crash occurred. The wagon was completely demolished.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Shaw's hard water toilet soap prevents or cures rough, cracked or scaly skin, 207 West Front street.

That swell looking hat you noticed the other day came from I. H. Boehm's, on West Front street. It is easy to get suited there.

Stop in at Santa Claus' all the year 'round headquarters and see the wonderful collection of toys. Harpers' Bazaar, 411 Park avenue.

You'll want something lighter to wear these spring days. Why not get something nobby; made to fit. John G. Bantle, 428 Watchung avenue.

In every well regulated pharmacy, a fine line of high grade candies is a necessary adjunct. Hodge's store in the Y. M. C. A. building is no exception to the rule, a fresh supply of the famous Belle Meade sweets always being kept on hand.

Time often drags heavily with some people. This will not be true of you if you purchase your timepieces of J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler. His watches always keep one on time, and besides he repairs watches in a first-class manner.

This glorious spring weather very naturally takes one into the garden, where preparations are being made to get this attractive feature of the yard in condition. In this work it is essential that you should have the best seeds and garden implements. These you can find at the Gayle Hardware Company store.

Beware of dealers in meat and sea food who offer you goods at figures ridiculously below the market prices. The quality of the meat is bound to be poor. At Endress' West Front street market every pound of meat sold is guaranteed to be of the highest quality. Ask for quotation of Lenten prices in the sea food department.

One might as well be out of the country as to be out of fashion. Especially is this true when one considers the great bargains offered by The New York Clothing Company. Mr. Weinberger has received his full supply of spring and summer clothing for men and boys. Every garment is stylish, well made and reasonable in price.

BLAZE WAS STARTED.

But Prompt Work Prevented a Probable Conflagration.

The prompt work of John Wilson, assisted by B. Collins Firstbrook and William Newman, prevented a probable conflagration at Fred Firstbrook's store, on Liberty street, yesterday morning. Some paper which was being burned in the rear of the yard was carried by the wind to a small wood pile, which became ignited. The flames were in dangerous proximity to the store, when Mr. Wilson, who is a neighbor, saw the condition of affairs. Summoning the two young men mentioned he succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

Manhattan, flagging, forty-five cents per foot, curbing, thirty-two cents per foot, crosswalks, forty-five cents per foot. These bids were accepted and the committee will purchase the material in such quantities as desired.

The Doud Policy.

Frank Moncton was given a hearing in the borough police court last night on the charge of drunkenness. Recorder Thomas Doud fined him $5 for the offence and gave him the opportunity of earning the amount. He must report at the court Saturday evening and settle the fine.

Played Parlor Games.

A birthday party was given to Raymond Cutter, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cutter, at their home on East Second street, yesterday afternoon. There were ten little ones present and the time was passed with parlor games. Craig Blair was successful in placing the tail on the donkey.

THE PEOPLE'S MONEY

Useless Employes Devour Big Percentage of Our Revenue.

A State of Affairs for Which No Political Party Is Responsible, But Which Should Be Abolished at Once.

[Special Washington Letter.]

REVERTING to the thesis that imperialism exists in our republic, and has come to stay, there must be uttered the corollary that with developing imperialism there has developed extravagance in government expenditures which is naturally imperial in its nature and boundlessness.

One of the elements of extravagance long well known to experienced newspaper men has been the top-heaviness of the pay-rolls of the senate and house of representatives. The business of the congress might easily be transacted with one-half of the number of employes now on the pay roll. Competent men and women might also be obtained for smaller salaries; and each individual have a competence, with enough to "lay aside for a rainy day."

Only recently there came before the senate a resolution providing for the appointment of 20 additional clerks to the senate clerical force; and it would have been adopted but for the vigorous and determined opposition of Senator Allison, of Iowa, the chairman of the committee on appropriations. You must understand that each branch of the congress has a contingent fund, and out of that fund each house pays its employes regardless of what the other house may do. Neither the senate nor the house of representatives encroach upon the contingent fund of the other. Consequently, if the proposed resolution had been adopted, the contingent fund of the senate would have been increased and the additional clerks have been employed, while the general public would have known nothing of it whatever. Immediately thereafter, the house of representatives, looking after its own rights to the spoils of office, would have increased its contingent fund, and employed 20 additional clerks, although their work is not needed.

Now as to the effort to have 20 additional clerks appointed for the senate, there is one reason worthy of your attention. The senate pay roll has been increased from time to time, because the senators have so much required of them that they cannot attend to all of their duties without additional help. Instead of appealing direct to the people for additional help, the senators have anticipated that the people would object to direct additional expenditures; and so they have voted additional clerks, messengers and laborers for the senate. But those employes have not worked for the senate at all. They have worked for individual senators as stenographers and confidential clerks. Thus the senators have gained by indirection what they dared not take directly, although they were entitled to additional help.

The senators who opposed the recent attempt to add 20 clerks to the senate pay roll are in favor of going directly to the people and telling them that the salaries and emoluments of every senator ought to be increased. That is true, and it would be the more honorable course. The salaries of senators should be increased from $5,000 to $10,000 per annum.

THE HUSKY CORRESPONDENT.
(Drew $100 a Month for Folding Imaginary Documents.)

They should also have $4,000 each additional for clerical assistance. That would not add one iota to the income of senators, but would increase their efficiency for the people.

Representatives receive $5,000 each per annum, and senators receive the same. Representatives are obliged to correspond with the people of their districts, while senators are obliged to maintain correspondence with the people of entire states. The difference is very great. For example, take the state of Illinois, with its 20 representatives and two senators. The 20 representatives draw $5,000 each per annum, which is an aggregate of $100,000. The two senators draw $5,000 each, which is an aggregate of $10,000 per annum. And yet, each senator has to correspond with the people of all of those districts, covering the entire state. If each senator received a salary of $10,000, he would be obliged to spend more than half of it for assistance in the performance of his duties to the state. There would be no profit in it.

Not many years ago the senate pay roll contained the name of a prominent newspaper correspondent, who was ostensibly employed in "the folding room," where he was reported as folding all the way from 60,000 to 100,000 documents per month, at one dollar per 1,000. That meant that he was drawing from $60 to $100 per month from the contingent fund of the senate. It was known, however, that he never folded a single document, but simply drew the money on the cheques of the sergeant-at-arms of the senate.

At the same time there was a veteran newspaper man who has long

BLIND AND DECAYED.
(Was Down as a Blacksmith and Drew $75 per Month.)

been afflicted with granulated eyelids, whose sight has been so affected that he could scarcely see to read the daily papers. He was on the pay roll as a blacksmith at $75 per month, and he drew the money, although, of course, he never did any work for it. Col. Sterrett, of Texas, was here at the time and he said: "I can understand how an energetic fellow like this husky correspondent could fold 100,000 documents by working day and night all during the hot months of July and August, but I cannot understand how this blind old rascal shod any horses for the money." That was a sarcastic characterization of the looting which was flagrant and well known in the press galleries.

Now while senators need additional salaries and clerk hire there is extravagance beyond measure on the pay roll of the house of representatives. Every member of the majority party must have one appointment, no matter whether the house needs the services of a man or not. Then the older members of the house manage to work in an extra policeman or two, in order to provide places for their working constituents and political backers. There are messengers, watchmen and assistant doorkeepers galore, whose services might well be dispensed with; but they are on the pay roll because of their political pulls, and there they will remain until something like a political earthquake strikes the republic. Up to date, it doesn't seem to make any difference which party is in the majority, the loot goes on.

Twenty years ago, when we were 50,000,000 people, it cost an aggregate of $300,000,000 for the yearly expenses of the government. Now, with 70,000,000 population, the expenses of government are ranging up towards the $800,000,000 point. It may be true, as the old song says, that "Uncle Sam is rich enough to give us all a farm," but he is not rich enough to stand continual increases of expenditures out of proportion to the national growth.

Nobody needs to be niggardly in order to be economical. The government need not be niggardly to avoid extravagance. But it is not necessary to pay an army of men in the civil service salaries of from $2,000 to $5,000 per annum for services of less value and importance than are performed by men in ordinary business pursuits for approximately half of that amount.

One of the auditors of the treasury recently said to the writer: "There is a clerk here drawing $1,600 per annum who could not get more than $600 per annum in my factory at home, but he is dogging the life out of me for a promotion, and has been sending his senators after me. I won't stand it much longer, but will have him dismissed entirely for the good of the service. The work done by him is similar to work done in my factory and the employes all go to work at seven o'clock in the morning. They work until six in the evening, with an hour for dinner. They cheerfully put in ten hours of work every day. Here the clerks report for duty at nine in the morning, have half an hour for lunch at noon, and quit work very promptly at four in the afternoon. That is six and a half hours of work, but they usually loaf at least half an hour, so that they actually work only about six hours a day, and not one of them ever soils his fingers. Yet all want promotion, and a few are always fighting for it."

That is a fair characterization of the average disposition of the well-salaried government clerk. It also shows that the government is paying the maximum in salaries for the minimum in talent. It comes from a government official who is a successful business man, and whose common sense has not been warped by his temporary indulgence in office holding.
